SPEEDER FINED $50; OTHERS ARE WARNED

DeMeza Will Impose Heavy Penalties on Auto-Maniacs.

The first victim of the local authorities' crusade to stop violation of the motor speed laws in this city was Sidney B. Warrick, chauffeur for Lester B. Harris, of West Front street. Arrested last night by Patrolman Martin Flatley in South avenue, while traveling at the rate of thirty-five miles an hour, Warrick was fined $50 by City Judge DeMeza this morning, after pleading guilty to the charge. The fine was paid.

In passing sentence, Judge DeMeza said autoists in this city are daily breaking the law in regard to speeding, thereby endangering the lives of pedestrians, and added that if the imposing of heavy fines could break the practice he was going to do everything in his power toward this end.

CAMP ENDEAVOR TO BE OPENED MONDAY

Poor Boys From New York Be Entertained by County C. E. Union.

Bringing happiness into the lives of thirty-five or forty boys from the New York Baptist Mission, Camp Endeavor, located in the mountains back of Scotch Plains, will open next Monday morning. A committee of County Christian Endeavor workers of which Fred C. Lounsbury, of this city is chairman, will be in charge.

In order to accomplish a more effective work, the camp has lately become incorporated. The funds by which the camp is sustained is largely contributed by C. E. societies and Sunday schools of Union county. A concrete block building, now in the course of construction, will serve as a kitchen, dining room and store room, allowing ample room for play in rainy days. Religious services will be conducted Sunday afternoons by Endeavorers of the county.

After the Baptist boys have enjoyed two weeks of camp life, a number will be entertained from the Presbyterian Mission of New York.

PARCELS POST C. O. D. IS IN EFFECT TODAY

Washington, D. C., July 1.—Another heavy blow is dealt the business of the express companies by the C. O. D. parcels post service which the Postoffice Department puts into operation today. The regulations governing the new service are practically identical with those of the express companies. With the lower rates by parcels post it is expected that much of the C. O. D. business of the express companies will be diverted to the mails.

Under the rules of the C. O. D. postal service the sender of a package on which the postage is fully prepaid may have the price of the articles and the charges therein collected from the addressee, provided the amount does not exceed $100. The fee for each collection is ten cents, to be affixed by the sender to the package parcel post stamps, in consideration of which the contents are also insured against loss without additional charge to an amount equivalent to its actual value not to exceed $50

BRIDGE WHIST PARTY NETS $50 FOR THE S. P. C. A.

A few members of the Plainfield branch of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals gave a bridge party at the home of Mrs. Clifton Wharton, Jr., on Belvidere avenue, the latter opening her home for the occasion. There were ten tables and forty players. The women played from 11 o'clock in the morning until 1 o'clock in the afternoon, light refreshments being served.

The society will realize about $50. There were several donations in addition to the amount received from the sale of tickets. The money will be placed in the society treasury to carry on the work more efficiently throughout the summer.

HOLIDAY DANCE.

A committee composed of Tony Pagels and George Margentino has completed arrangements for the first annual dance of the Two Pals Club which will be held at Wayside Park this evening. Vocal selections will be rendered by local talent and there will be a program of dancing until 1 o'clock.

DELAY THE TRIAL OF EDITH NELSON

Rumor Hints That Case Against Mt. Horeb Girl May Be Dropped.

[illegible]beth, July 1.—Prosecutor Alfred A. Stein, in a statement yesterday made it plain that Edith Nelson, who is under indictment because of her alleged relations with the Rev. William S. MacRorie, will not be tried at this term of court. The prosecutor expects that MacRorie will appeal from the verdict of the jury convicted him last Friday night, on July 11, when he will be arraigned for sentence.

There is an apparent inclination on the part of the prosecution not to try Miss Nelson to trial, but the dismissing of the indictment against her before MacRorie is sentenced would strengthen the latter's chances in the event of an appeal.

Consequently no action will be taken in the girl's case until after the minister is sentenced. Miss Nelson is under $1,000 bail, which was furnished by Manning F. Coddington, who is also MacRorie's bondsman.

LOCAL DELEGATES TO NATIONAL CONFERENCE

Y. W. C. A Members Left for Silver Bay Semi-Annual Gathering Yesterday.

Delegates from the local Y. W. C. A. left yesterday afternoon for the semi-annual conference at Silver Bay, which will be held during the next ten days with an instructive program of lectures and demonstrations appropriate to association work. Miss Faith Parmalee, general secretary of the local association, was in charge of the party, which included Miss Beatrice Gardiner, teacher of the Y. W. C. A. housekeeping center, and the Misses Isabel Scarborough, Reba Kline, Gertrude Mair, Eva Terry, Edna [illegible], Ruth Hallock, Ricker and Evelyn Manley. It has been the custom of the local Y. W. C. A. to send a representative group from here to attend each of these gatherings at Silver Bay with a view to enlightening certain active members as to the nature of the work being carried on in other associations throughout the country which might possibly result in the introduction of new ideas in the Plainfield association.

Miss Helen Alling Davis, who has spoken in Plainfield on a number of different occasons and who is a member of the National Board, will preside at the conference, which will be officially opened tomorrow night, when Pastor LeSur of Germany, delivers the opeing address of welcome to the many delegates from all parts of the county. Among the Bible teachers at the conference will be Mrs. Charles K. Roys, of Shantung, China; Professor Albert Knudson, of the Boston School of Technology, and Professor William J. Hutchins, of Oberlin Theological Seminary.

TWO YOUNG ASSAULTED 60 YARS OLD CONDUCTOR

JULY JUMPS IN WITH TEMPERATURE OF 98

Record for high temperature were broken today when at 2 o'clock this afternoon the mercury reached 98 degrees in the shade as recorded by the termometer at The State Trust Company. Accompanied with the high temperature was a considerable amount of humidity, which was very oppressive.

The weather bureau promises relief for tonight.

HE LOCATES WATER WITH DIVINING ROD

James Coad Succeeds in His Experiment on Laramie Road.

James Coad, of 51 Laramie road, quite by accident has re-discovered his friends say, the fact that he possesses the mysterious power of operating a divining rod, whereby he is able to locate water supplies. Born in England, when a young man by chance he learned that he was able to use such an instrument with more or less success, but the fact that there was not much demand for services of this kind he followed other avocations.

While at home on Sunday, Mr. Coad recalled the fact that years ago he was able to work a divining rod and a member of the family suggested that he try the experiment again. Cutting a hazelwood stick measuring about two feet six inches, he bent it slightly in the middle, went to the cellar of his house and holding the ends of the stick in the palms of each hand, both startled and amused the members of the family with a performance they had never seen. The stick he asserts revolved quite rapidly, indicating a water supply nearby.

Going to the first and second floors and then the attic, the stick acted in exactly the same way. Then starting from the house, he says he followed a certain direction as indicated by the stick and was led a considerable distance across Laramie road to a field, showing the course of the water. As near as Mr. Coad could determine he claims the water he discovered is about twenty feet below the surface of the ground, and he says that judging by the action of the stick there is an abundant supply.

Since coming to Plainfield, Mr. Coad has been employed by W. E. Bartle, of East Second street, as a stone-cutter, but now that he has demonstrated his ability to use a divining rod, his friends are urging him to take up that work.

It was in this way, it is said, that Plainfield's present water supply was discovered at the Netherwood wells. That was in the days of the Plainfield Water Supply Company. Thomas Doud, who was connected with the [illegible] brought him to Plainfield. He was given to understand that if he discovered a supply of water sufficient for the company's needs he was to receive so much money, but if he failed he was to receive nothing. Within a short time the diviner found the present source of supply. The company immediately proceeded to sink wells and to its surprise found an apparently inexhaustible supply of water. Rod diviners are scarce, however, and there have been instances where company's or individuals have been obliged to send abroad, chiefly to Germany for them. In the experiment made by Mr. Coad at his home on Sunday, his daughter tried to use the rod and was only partially successful. Other members of the family failed entirely. The power possessed by Mr. Coad to make the rod twirl seems to be as mysterious as ever. The action of the rod in his hand would indicate an element of electricity which is possessed only by a few persons.

MORNING BLAZE DESTROYED PORTION OF LATTICE FENCE

An alarm from box 35 at West Fifth street and Arlington avenue summoned the fire department to the rear of the house located at 305 West Fifth street, where a fence had caught fire from a heap of burning rubbish. The structure, which was about six feet in heighth, burned rapidly and the fire was nearing the house to which the fence was attached when the firemen arrived.

A stream from the chemical engine put the blaze out, confining the damage, which was slight, to the rear portion of the fence.

WARREN TOWNSHIP SCHOOL TROUBLES

Charles L. Crabb Tells of the Situation and Defends His Attitude.

The following letter is self-explanatory:

Warren Township, June 27, 1913.

Editors, Plainfield Daily Press:

Calling attention to the article headed, "Talk of New School in Warren Township," published in your paper, dated June 24, I wish to give readers of the same some idea of the matters actually coming before the School Board meeting of Warren Township on Saturday, June 21, and protect myself from an absurd misinterpretation of my stand in school matters of Warren Township.

The school situation has been in a peculiar tangle for approximately four years, due to the condemnation by the State Board of Education for school purposes of the building hired by the Mount Bethel district. The only thing resulting from the demand of the State authorities to provide suitable accommodations for the children of Mount Bethel has been numerous non-productive elections, at which appropriations have been voted only to be defeated at some following election, building sites have been chosen, condemned and released and deposits paid on other sites all for the purpose of building a suitable schoolhouse at Mount Bethel. Now at the end of four years of township strife the State withholds State moneys due the township for educational purposes until such time as compliance with the law is made.

The Dead River School referred to in the article as above mentioned is located two miles from the Mount Bethel School in one direction and one and one-half miles from the far end of the township in the other direction. Enrollment of said school for past year being fourteen scholars. Location of the Warrenville School is two miles from Mount Bethel School, making distance of four miles between the Dead River and Warrenville School.

The proposition placed before the Board of Education was to close the Dead River School and build a two-room school, half way between the [illegible] Warrenville, thereby saving salary of one teacher and expense of possibly three tons of coal, or an approximate total of $525 yearly. This would make a distance of three miles from the Dead River School and nearly five and one-half miles from the far end of the township to the proposed new two-room school.

In going over list of prospective scholars for the following year I find that transportation would have to be furnished to carry aproximately twenty scholars from the Dead River district to the new school daily, with much loss of State school money, due to non-attendance on stormy days.

I will here ask any thinking man if it would be possible to transport these children two hundred days in the year for less than the actual running expenses of said school as above stated.

Another thing, the Dead River schoolhouse is at present an asset to Warren Township of approximately $2,000. It complies with the law and has been recently renovated. Should this school be closed, terms of land deed provide that ground shall revert back to original owners, making building worthless.

In regard to graded education would say that I favor graded education where it may be secured with not too much sacrifice, but I think the worth of the Dead River School may be more appreciated, the fact being known that ten per cent. of its enrollment for the past year were graduated and that it furnished the township valedictorian. It is very evident that the writer of the above mentioned article is not in harmony with my views as regards the continuance of the Dead River School, but would ask him how he justifies his attitude of "Oh, the poor taxpayer" and "economy first, children's health and education second, possibly third," if politics are included, with the fact that to build and equip a two-room school would place a debt on the township of over $6,000 while it would cost less than $3,500 to comply with the law and build a school at Mount Bethel.

I wish to add that above is in no way a politically biased statement as I do not even hold the position of representative of Dead River district on the Board of Education [illegible] at[illegible] tributed to me in the artic[illegible] taking a stand for that [illegible] think is right and for [illegible] the greatest majority [illegible] ship, the education[illegible] and protection [illegible] without benef[illegible]

COMMISSIONERS OF ROADS INCOMPETENT

S. H. Browne Advocates Placing Man in Charge Who Knows the Business.

The following communication is self-explanatory:

Editors, Plainfield Daily Press:

Col. Stevens, the State road commissioner, is being charged on all sides with incompetency and as many people see it justly so, he and most of his predecessors have been appointed by Governors regardless of their knowledge of road work and solely as I see it as a political favor. The law compelling Boards of Freeholders in the various counties, in conjunction with the State officials to spend vast sums of public moneys invites the very conditions that now exist in New Jersey. In selecting men for freeholder jobs, the public never takes into consideration their fitness and as a result we have a lot of ignoramuses in charge of road building and road improvements.

Located as we are between the great States of New York and Pennsylvania, New Jersey has failed to appreciate the importance of having its roads made broad and properly paved. A narrow highway is an abomination. It might have been all right a century ago but in these enlightened days when traffic is heavy at all times, it is an absurdity, a waste of money, to build lanes instead of boulevards.

Col. Stevens is not alone. His predecessors knew no more than he about road building.

And just another matter. An erroneous idea exists that oiling roads repairs them. The exact contrary is true. You can see it for yourself if you will look at the roads in Plainfield. There is a great opportunity, a great work, for the man of the hour, the man who does know how to build a road. The State of New Jersey needs that man and needs him badly just now. Who would think of putting a minister into a railroad engine cab to run a train? That would be no more ridiculous than putting a plutocrat politician into the office of commissioner of roads. Personally, I am not a great believer in reforms, especially when professional [illegible] or disgruntled politicians advocate them, but here is one reform that I believe in. Don't you?

SILAS H. BROWNE.

Plainfield, N. J., July 1, 1913.

ST. MARY'S PARISH FETE TO BE CONTINUED TONIGHT

The St. Mary's parish celebration which was originally scheduled to be held for three days last week was extended to last night and will continue this evening in the Washington School playground which has been transformed into an amusement center by the numerous active committees having the affair in charge. Another large crowd attended the affair last night and dancing proved a popular diversion for the pleasure seekers.

Despite the hot weather many took part in the terpischore program and the refreshment booths were well patronized. One of the foremost features of the festival is a bowling alley that has been constructed on the playground and which is the center of attraction for many of the parishioners.

FUNERAL SERVICES FOR MRS. AMELIA L. FRENCH

The funeral service of Mrs. Amelia Laugar French, widow of John H. French, formerly of this city, was held yesterday afternoon at her late home on Macon street, Brooklyn. Mrs. French had been in declining health for a long time.

Prior to removing to Brooklyn several years ago, Mrs. French resided in Plainfield. She was an active member of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church and was interested in the work of the W. C. T. U. Her husband was engaged in the clothing business here for many years. Mrs. French is survived by three daughters, a sister, Mrs. W. W. Howland and a brother, Frank Laugar, of New York.

SUMMER SCHOOLS TO BE OPENED MONDAY

The summer session of the grammar grades of the local schools, which will open next Monday morning at the Whittier School will be attended by fully one hundred and fifty delinquent pupils, including those from South Plainfield, Scotch Plains, and other suburbs. Those who pass the examinations at the end of three weeks will be dropped from the classes, while those who do not will be privileged to study in the classes for an additional period of three weeks.

The various classes will be under the direction of the following teachers:

Eight Grade—U. S. History and English, Mrs. Sarah Wardner; mathematics, W. C. McClelland, formerly of the Watchung School.

Fifth Grade—Arithmetic and geography, Miss Evalois St. John, of the Montclair Normal School.

The remaining classes will be divided between the Misses Koons and Mackay of the Somerset street, and Mrs. Strong of the Hartridge schools.

The classes at the High School will be in charge of George E. Webster, formerly of the borough.

LEONARD IS PLACED ON THEIR "BLACKLIST"

His Statement Against Suffrage Arouses the Ire of Women.

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, July 1.—Assemblyman Leonard, of Union county, has gained the enmity of the New Jersey Woman Suffrage Association and it is predicted that the Elizabeth Democrat will have a hard fight to obtain renomination and re-election. The state executive committee of the association at a meeting here passed a resolution calling upon all Union county voters in favor of woman suffrage to oppose Leonard's return to Trenton.

The grievance is that Leonard a few days ago at a meeting in Elizabeth told the anti-suffragists that should he go back to the assembly they would have nothing to fear from him. By this he meant he would fight against a referendum question.

"The suffragists make it a rule not to advocate the election of any candidate but they are not afraid to come out strongly in opposition to a candidate who attacks their right to an appeal to the people to decide on votes for women."

MOTHERS' PENSION.

SLEEPS WITH HIS FEET ON TRACKS; RUN OVER BY TRAIN

Netcong, July 1.—Silas Van Over, of Budd Lake, went to sleep with his feet lying on the railroad tracks at the Netcong Station Saturday night. A train crushed them so badly that it will be necessary to amputate one foot and possibly both.

Marks about the station show that after the train had pased over his feet Van Over got up, walked about the station and lay down in a sheltered corner, where he again went to sleep. He was found by the gatekeeper at daylight. Dr. Neldon, of Stanhope, after giving hem medical aid, sent him to Morristown Hospital.

JOB GONE, CEMETERY HEAD ALLOWS TRAIN TO KILL HIM

Atlantic City, July 1.—Discouraged by the loss of his position as superintendent of the Mt. Calvary Cemetery, Pleasantville, Jonathan K. Price committed suicide by calmly lying down in front of an electric train a mile from the Pleasantville station. His body was horribly mutilated.

For several minutes before the suicide, Price conversed on various topics with Richard Shaw, an intimate friend. Without a hint of his purpose, he left Shaw as the train was seen approaching, walked forward to meet it, and as it was almost upon him, lay with his back upon the rails. He waved a farewell to Shaw just before the train, grinding to a stop, was upon him. Price was forty years old and married.

NEWSSTAND LOOTERS CAUSE PAPER FAMINE IN METUCHEN

Metuchen, July 1.—Another skirmish in Metuchen's newsdealers' war occurred Sunday between the police force and three New York men. The feud has run several months now.

Three men arrived Sunday morning and a few minutes later "charged" the news stand of the Metuchen News Bureau, in front of the Pierson building. Grabbing almost all the papers, they made off in the direction of Rahway. Chief of Police Flaherty and Police Commission Eben H. Veen notified the police departments of nearby cities and towns, and Chief Flaherty vainly scoured the country between here and Perth Amboy and between here and Rahway. Until new supplies of papers were received there was a near-famine in Sunday papers.

HARMONY METHODISTS CALL "LIAR" AT CHURCH MEETING

Harmony, July 1.—This town is still talking of the congregational meeting in the Harmony Methodist church Friday night, when fists were shaken and the word "liar" was shouted across the pews of the historic old church with such force that people living in the neighborhood were aroused from their sleep.

The meeting broke up in the wildest disorder. Men who for years had rubbed elbows with one another in their pews shook their fists and screamed "liar;" threats of quitting the church were heard on all sides, and as the old church members went to their homes their shoulders shook with wrath.

The trouble all started because some of the members thought it about time the Board of Trustees, which, for fifty-eight years has consisted of five members, should be enlarged. Others in the church declared with no little force that what was good enough for fifty-eight years was good enough for a little while longer. A congregational meeting was called for June 20, but a storm arose and the meeting was called off. Instead of writing out and signing a new notice, it is alleged that the pastor, Rev. Arthur S. Knight, and other members merely changed the date.

So when Mr. Knight, as presiding officer, asked the secretary, Elston Stopp, to read the call for the meeting, Mr. Stopp refused. Then the storm broke. For half an hour Mr. Knight pounded his reading desk and called for order. When, at the end of that time, he found it was impossible to continue the business of the meeting, what with the belligerent attitude of some of the staid church members, he decided to call the meeting off. Then the fight surged outside and for nearly an hour the stillness of the town was broken by the shouts of the warring factions.

The dispute has been referred to Rev. Dr. J. E. Cole, of Newark, district superintendent.

SHOT AT FATHER-IN-LAW.

Westfield, July 1.—For taking a shot at his father-in-law with a revolver, Frank De Cico, of Ripley place, was committed to the county jail from the recorder's office. De Cico and his father-in-law, Thomas Louest, live together and in a discussion as to rooms each was entitled to, Louest alleges that the younger man shot at him. De Cico was unable to secure bail.

Changes in Telephone Toll Rates

These new rates bring Telephone Toll Service even more generally within the reach of everyone.

On the same date will also become effective a new method of charging for overtime on toll calls. Heretofore each period or fraction thereof beyond the initial charge-period has been considered as another call.

Under the new method overtime charges will be graded according to the number of minutes beyond the initial charge-period.

For Rates Consult Your Telephone Directory or inquire of the "Information" Operator.

ROOSEVELT TO SPEAK AT WOMAN SUFFRAGE MEET

Ocean Grove, July 1.—Announcement has been made here that Theodore Roosevelt will be among the speakers at the rally to be held in the Auditorium, July 26, under the auspices of the New Jersey Men's League for Woman Suffrage. On the list for talks are also Dr. Anna Howard Shaw, president of the National Woman's Suffrage organization; Miss Jane Addams, of Hull House, Chicago; District Attorney Whitman, of New York; Everett Colby, Champlin L. Riley, president of the Men's League, and former Mayor George W. V. Moy, of Plainfield.

OLD DRYDOCK ALSO BURNS IN GRAVEYARD OF SHIPS

Perth Amboy, July 1.—An old drydock 600 feet long was burned at the marine graveyard of the Gregory Wrecking Company. It escaped in the alleged incendiary fire of several days ago, the ruins of which are still smoking.

The drydock had been moored about 300 feet from the rest of the fleet. The fire department was helpless. No stream could reach the dry dock. No estimate of the loss can be made. It was planned to take the dock to the south shore of the bay, submerge it and burn off the super-structure, so as to use the hull for bulk-heading purposes. The hull may yet be found available.

POSTPONE NEWARKER'S TRIAL.

Elizabeth, July 1.—The trial of William F. Shuppe, a Newark business man, on a charge made by Miss Mabel Jones, of 22 Mulberry street, Newark, was again postponed yesterday in the Quarter Sessions Court. Because of the failure of the defendant to appear in court Judge James C. Connolly threatened to issue a bench warrant for him, but his counsel explained that his absence was due to a misunderstanding of counsel with the prosecutor as to when the case would be called. The trial was set for today. Samuel Schleimer, of counsel for the defense, moved for an adjournment of the case against Shuppe for the term, because Prosecutor Stein referred in the presence of the jury to the fact that Shuppe had already retracted a plea of non vult to assault and battery and substituted one of not guilty. The court denied the motion.

A LIVE NEWSPAPER.

One of the best tests of any community's intelligence, prosperity and civic standard is to be obtained by a glance at the kind of newspaper published in the town, taking into consideration, of course, the population of the place. A dead town invariably has a dead newspaper, one devoid of enterprise and progressiveism and just so, as a general rule according to the degree of life and civic pride is proportion will be the standard of real merit of the newspaper or newspapers.

This is the way in which a city is judged, says the Jersey Journal, which goes on to explain in this fashion:

"A city is usually about what its citizens want it to be. They build its houses and presumably do their best according to circumstances. Their pretty homes, attractive streets and communal facilities cannot be carried around as exhibits, but the newspapers do go almost everywhere, and a bright, newsy paper well filled with attractive ads, gives outsiders a good idea of the kind of city in which it is published.

"A newspaper does much more than provide the news. It is a salesman for countless stores, a medium of help to the housekeeper, an aid to business and a boomer for the city. No one can tell where a copy of a newspaper may be seen, and a bright, interesting home paper gives an impression of a wide-awake town.

"A dull paper is indicative of a dead town. A dead fish floats with the current; it takes a live one to head against the stream, and so it is with people and towns, and one sure evidence of their enterprise is a live newspaper."

Do you read the Plainfield Daily Press?

HARVEY THOMAS.

Some very few years ago a plucky young newspaperman went to Atlantic City and started a paper dedicating it to a fight against the gang of political highwaymen that for years had been plundering that municipality. Every conceivable sort of threat and intimidation was given him and cowardly merchants were afraid to advertise in his columns. But all this had no effect save to give the newspaperman more courage and as right will always triumph in the end, the editor had the satisfaction of seeing the corrupt officials and grafting politicians, for whom he had been gunning, placed behind the bars. As a part of the clean-up, the editor then waged a successful battle for commission government. And now the man who redeemed Atlantic City has been made its postmaster by President Wilson, who as Governor of New Jersey had given him moral support in the great fight. We congratulate Postmaster Harvey S. Thomas, editor of the Atlantic City Review, and at the same time we congratulate Atlantic City.

Attention has been called by this paper on several occasions recently to the disregard of automobilists to the speed limit laws and we are glad to record the fact that Judge William G. DeMeza in police court today fined a culprit $50 for a violation. It was still more pleasing to learn that he gave a warning to all automobilists that he would sentence all offenders in the future to maximum penalty. If some of these consciousless speed-maniacs could be sent to jail for about six months the effect would be wholesome.

Assemblyman Leonard has the women after him, or to be precise, those of the feminine sex identified with the equal suffrage movement, and it goes without saying that he will have a hard fight to land a renomination and re-election to the Assembly. His offense consists in remarks made some days ago in Elizabeth, when he declared that the anti suffragists could count on him if he goes back to Trenton. Fortunately, however, there are no militants in Union county and Mr. Leonard will escape corporal punishment.

Our "Answers to Queries" column is not infallable, but we take more stock in it than in a certain sour-minded citizen who is permitted to use the editorial columns of a daily newspaper to show how much more learned he is than a sporting editor. editor.

Think it over—how many times in the course of the day did some one greet you with this salutation: "It's Hot Today?"

Dr. Friedmann has come and gone just as Dr. Dowie and hordes of others who have found P. T. Barnum's famous saying to be true.

THE FORUM.

Editors, Plainfield Daily Press:

A statement has been recently made that the Militant Sisterhood "having succeeded in their object namely, having made Englishmen thin," intend now to remain quiescent for the future.

The result of the "thinking" has been to give a largely increased majority against equal suffrage and to convince many men both in England and this country that, aside from every other consideration, it will not be safe to trust women with the vote. As Frederic Harrison says: "What such extravagances prove is this—that under strong political inducements women, as a sex, lose their heads, their power of judgment and their self control. The immediate aim blinds them to all countervailing reasons, to all fairness, and consideration for other claims. * * * Men have now seen women in political action and they will not trust them."

PASSENGER COACH DESTROYED BY FIRE

Jersey City, July 1.—A passenger coach of a Philadelphia and Reading Railroad train of six cars, was totally destroyed by fire at 750 o'clock last night in the yards of the Central Railroad of New Jersey in the Communipaw section of this city, near Johnson avenue. Fire was discovered in a washroom of the car as the train was leaving the Communipaw station. It was filled with passengers bound for Philadelphia.

A leak in a gas pipe caused combustion and some cotton waste was ignited. It made considerable smoke that found its way into the crowded passenger compartment. Immediately there was consternation among the passengers, who ran to the forward and rear cars. Before the train had pulled out of the depot very far it was stopped.

The trainmen assured the panic-stricken passengers that there was no danger. The train was broken and the car, the third one from the locomotive, was detached. In a very few minutes it was enveloped in flames.

The Jersey City fire department was called but before the engines arrived the car had been practically consumd. The several hundred passengers of the train stood along the railroad tracks at Communipaw and watched the firemen try to save some part of the car. They worked hard, but their work was in vain because the partly oil-soaked woodwork of the car burned rapidly.

None of the passengers suffered any distress as the result of the accident. When the flames had been extinguished the railroad company had the Reading train made up again and the train that was scheduled to leave for Philadelphia at 7:50 o'clock did not get away until long after 8 o'clock.

CHECKMATING JUSTICE

An Inside View of the Way Criminal Cases Are Handled.

In "Courts, Criminals and the Camorra" Arthur Train, the author, once an assistant district attorney in New York city, says that our present system of administering justice offers no deterrent to the embryonic or professional criminal. The administration of justice is a clever game between judge and lawyer in which the moves are made with a view to checkmating justice, not in the trial courtroom, but before the appellate tribunal two or three years hence.

"My young feller," said a grizzled veteran of the criminal bar to me long years ago after our jury had gone out, "there's lots of things in this game you ain't got on to yet. Do you think I care what this jury does? Not one mite. I got a nice little error into the case the very first day, and I've set back ever since. S'pose we are convicted? I'll get Jim here [the prisoner] out on a certificate, and it'll be two years before the court of appeals will get around to the case. Meantime Jim'll be out makin' money to pay me my fee. Won't you, Jim?

"Then your witnesses will be gone, and nobody'll remember what on earth it's all about. You'll be down in Wall street practicin' real law yourself, and the indictment will kick around the office for a year or so, all covered with dust, and then some day I'll get a friend of mine to come in quietly and move to dismiss. And it'll be dismissed. Don't you worry! Why, a thousand other murders will have been committed in this county by the time that happens. Bless your soul, you can't go on tryin' the same man forever! Give the other fellers a chance. You shake your head? Well, it's a fact. I've been doin' it for forty years. You'll see."

And I did. That may not be why men kill, but perhaps it may have something to do with it.

PAINTING A HORSE.

The Scheme That Delighted Detaille Upset Meissonier.

In other days, on the Boulevard Malesherbes, Edouard Detaille and Meissonier, his master, lived in adjoining houses. Their workshops almost touched each other. It happened that Detaille was painting some cavalrymen furiously charging the enemy. He found it necessary to excite the horse posing as a model to give the appearance of a frenzied gallop. But it was in vain that the jockey, who held the bridle, smacked his tongue; the animal drowsed.

Detaille then ordered another domestic to strike upon a Chinese gong. For fully five minutes the horse was terribly frightened, and the painter was delighted. But the animal soon became accustomed to the tomtom and drowsed again. To draw the valiant steed from his torpor it was necessary to strike the bronze disk with greater force. This was done. It was as if a cannon was being fired.

On the other side of the wall Meissonier was painting, quite gently, Napoleon I. mounted upon a white horse, in repose, observing in the distance the catastrophes of an immense battle. He had mounted a horseman in a gray redingote upon the beast that served as a model. As the blows were struck on the gong in the atelier of Detaille the imperial mount shook and snorted in a fiery way, which was far from pleasing to Meissonier.

So he visited his pupil, and an arrangement was effected. Detaille was to paint his galloping horse in the morning and Meissonier his unmoving steed in the afternoon. It was in this way that Napoleon I. was enabled to keep a firm seat in the saddle.—Cri de Paris.

Advertising Overlooked.

It was shortly before the funeral of a well known person, and a certain manager had just placed a wreath in as conspicuous a position as possible. But he didn't like the look of the very small card attached thereto, and so he fastened on one considerably larger, with "From the —— theater" on it.

"How does that look now?" he said to one of his company who stood near. "Oh, it's all right," responded the actor, whose sense of humor is just as great as his unquestioned dramatic ability, "but why not add, 'Every evening at 8?'"—Pelican.

A Mighty Nimrod.

An Arkansas hunter fired one shot at a flock of ducks and brought down three. They fell in the river. He ran downstream to where there was a log and, holding to it, caught the ducks as they floated down. As he stood in the water fish wedged into the legs of his trousers so tightly that as he waded ashore a button flew off and killed a rabbit that was sitting on the bank.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

No, He Wasn't Full.

"I wouldn't shave myself today," said she quietly.

"Want to insinuate that I've been drinking, eh?" he stormed.

"Not at all, but that isn't a cup of lather you brought in from the kitchen just now. That's a charlotte russe."—Washington Herald.

In Different Divisions.

"The man who runs that store has got the right idea, all right."

"How so?"

BAYONNE FIRE LOSS $150,000 IT'S ESTIMATED

Bayonne, July 1.—Fire in the yards of the Hudson Milling Company, at Fifteenth street and Avenue B, last night, destroyed the plant and seven dwelling houses in the rear of the yards, to which the flames spread. For a time the entire town was threatened, and a call had to be sent to Jersey City for help. Fire Chief John Conway responded with two companies. The loss will reach $150,000, it is estimated.

GAME WARDEN SEEKS HIS SHARE OF FINE

William Hoblitzell, a game warden of Rahway, called at police headquarters this morning to secure information regarding Patsey Boniparte, of Cottage place, who has been arrested for killing a magpie while in an alleged attempt to steal the bird from the premises of Irwin J. Taylor, of 835 West Eighth street. The game warden said he was going to swear out a warrant against Boniparte for violating the game laws and have him arraigned before Justice-of-the-Peace Clark, of Scotch Plains. In the event of the latter imposing a fine, Hoblitzell, in accordance with the law, will receive half the amount.

Boniparte is now out on $300 bail and will be tried by jury tomorrow morning before City Judge DeMeza, on a charge of cruelty to animals preferred against him by Mrs. Stephen J. Van Hoesen, local agent for the S. P. C. A. He will be represented by John P. Owens.

AUTOMOBILES COLLIDE.

Charles P. Hendricks, of New Brunswick, a demonstrator for the Simplex make of automobile, while driving a car west on East Front street, yesterday, was run into by a touring car which bore license No. 35412 N. J., according to his report made to the local police. Investigation revealed that the owner of this license is Miss Edith Brown, of Cranford. Hendricks claims he was traveling at moderate speed, but suddenly had to stop to avoid a collision with a wagon being driven into East Front street from Watchung avenue. The New Brunswick man alleges the Brown car crashed into him and the person driving the car sped off without leaving name or giving other information.

CHAUFFEUR FINED.

Charles Fredericks, 33 years old, of 87 Thirteenth avenue, Newark, chauffer for Hanhe & Co., was arrested by Marshal Walter Dennis, of North Plainfield yesterday because a license tag was missing from the rear of the auto truck he was driving. Arraigned this morning before Recorder Gano he was fined $5.

BIG TIME EXPECTED AT PARK CLUB ON 4TH

The Park Club, as usual, has planned for an elaborate Fourth of July celebration, which will be of the "safe and sane" variety. During the morning and afternoon there will be a tennis handicap tournament men's singles, on the club's courts. In the evening at 8 o'clock there will be vocal and instrumental music by Montanelli's Venetian Quartet. The program will be as follows:

Following the music at 8.45 there will be a fine display of fireworks under the direction of Salvona Velard which promises to surpass the one of last year. A number of novelties will be shown. At 9.45 there will be informal dancing, music being furnished by Montanelli. The committee in charge comprises J. Brognard Betts, Nelson A. Miller and Horace M. Fisher. Refreshments will be served during the afternoon and evening.

TOWNSHIP'S AGREEMENT.

All moneys derived from taxes assessed on the disputed territory recently awarded to North Plainfield Township, following an investigation but which has heretofore been collected by Warren Township, will be utilized for the combined benefit of both municipalities. This was decided last night at a meeting of the North Plainfield Township Committee, when resolutions to this effect were adopted.

TWO BIKES STOLEN.

David T. Kenney, of 12 Rockview avenue, reported to the local police today that his bicycle was stolen from in front of the City Building, in North avenue. Leo Ayers, an employe of the Public Service Corporation, also notified Chief Kiely that his wheel was stolen from in front of the premises at 303 West Fourth street.

BUILDING CONTRACTS.

—Every day is "Election Day" with the shoppers of this city. Every day some store receives a vote of confidence, presaging continued support, from the housewives. The store whose ads present the widest variety of opportunity news is "elected," always. For such a store brings ACTUAL RELIEF to the people from the oppression of high prices—not, as is often true in politics, mere promises of relief!

CLIFTON SUFFRAGE WORKERS ORGANIZE TEMPORARY BODY

Passaic, July 1.—Clifton had its first woman's suffrage meeting yesterday afternoon, when almost 100 advocates of votes for women met in the quarters of the Clifton Fire Company No. 1.

The meeting was held under the auspices of the Passaic Women's Suffrage League. After addresses had been made by Mrs. Dr. Mary Hennessy, of Orange, and Mrs. J. V. Z. Anthony, of Jersey City, a temporary organization was effected to embrace all the followers of the movement in Acuackanonk Township. Another meeting will be held later in the week to perfect organization.

HIGH COURT HEARS APPEAL OF WIFE-SLAYER OVERTON

Trenton, July 1.—The conviction of William Overton for killing his wife, Cora B. Overton, in Newark, was reviewed before the Court of Errors and Appeals, yesterday. Mrs. Overton and her infant child were hanged to a bed by a clothesline.

In his argument for the condemned negro yesterday, Frank M. McDermit pointed out that the State claimed as a motive for the crime that Overton killed his wife because he had been forced to marry his wife. The defense in the case was insanity.

It was first contended by Mr. McDermit that the trial court erred in denying the motion for a change of venue and for an adjournment of the trial, and for not allowing counsel to submit evidence upon this motion.

In support of this contention Mr McDermit said that the prosecutor, upon the day preceding the trial of Overton, had made a statement in open court, when Antonio Fiore was to be tried for murder, that he had no confidence in the panel of jurors that had been summoned.

Mr. McDermit insisted that such a statement made before the jurors themselves was prejudicial to the rights of Overton. He submitted that such a statement might reasonably be expected to bias the minds of the jurors against Overton.

ANNIVERSARY OF BATTLE OBSERVED BY PATRIOTS

Tennent, July 1.—The final ceremonies in the observance by the New Jersey Society, Sons of the American Revolution, of the 135th anniversary of the battle of Monmouth, were held Sunday at the historic Presbyterian church here. About 1,000 members of the order attended.

Attorney-General Edmund Wilson made an address, as did John Leonard Merril, president of the society, and Rev. Frank R. Symmes, pastor of the church. The members of the society gathered in front of the edifice on a road that the minute-men of '76 traversed in pursuing fleeting British. Not far away in the church's graveyard, lay the bones of Revolutionary heros. Molly Pitcher's well is also nearby.

The celebration Saturday took the form of a banquet at the Coleman House, Asbury Park, among the guests at which was Mrs. William Cummings Story, of New York, president-general of the Daughters of the American Revolution. The speakers included David L. Pierson, of Orange, historian-general of the national society of the sons; Rev. William Force Whitaker, chaplain-general; Colonel William Libbey, Mr. Merrill, Mrs. Charles B. Yardley, Mrs. John R. Weeks and Mrs. Matthias Steelman. The last named is president of the United States Daughters of the War of 1912.

Previous to the banquet, a reception was tendered to the national and State officers.

VETERAN SHOWMAN RETIRES.

Peru, Ind., June 30.—"Uncle Ben" Wallace, reputed to be the wealthiest circus man in the world, forever quit the show business today, when his controlling interest in the Hagenback-Wallace shows was transferred to a newly formed corporation known as the United States Amusement Company. Wallace entered the circus business more than a quarter of a century ago and has been on the road every season since without intermission. His home and the winter quarters of his circus are in Peru. The veteran showman is said to be the only man who ever successfully bucked the "circus trust." The corporation which takes over the Wallace show is composed of capitalists in Chicago, Kansas City, Indianapolis and Davenport, Ia. At the head of the corporation is John O. Talbott, formerly a newsboy in Indianapolis and now a millionaire.

BRAKEMAN'S NARROW ESCAPE.

Metuchen, July 1.—George Sullivan, a Pennsylvania brakeman of Jersey City, narrowly escaped serious injury in the Bonhamton yard of the Pennsylvania Railroad, Saturday night. Sullivan, with his crew, was drilling cars, and while clinging to the tender of the locomotive of his train he was scraped off the footboard by a pile of lumber standing close to the track, and thrown to the ground. He barely escaped the wheels of the locomotive. The man was picked up unconscious and after treatment was sent to his home in Jersey City.

WHY DON'T YOU LOOK "BLUE" SERGEDLY SPEAKING?

Of the former I know but little, but about the latter I'm expert.

Rothberg's Serges are priced as low as $12—as high as $25. But at $15 we have a very special "Special" that has proved itself a winner this season.

Nothing like it at the price has ever been offered anywhere—and remember, EVER is a long time, and ANYWHERE a big place.

And also remember this: Every garment you buy carries the Rothberg label—our guarantee of quality—money back without argument should same prove unsatisfactory.

You should see these Serges—for your own profit as well as ours.

as directed and required by the Ordinance of the City of Plainfield, entitled "An Ordinance Concerning the Construction and Repair of Sidewalks and Curbs," approved July 15, 1910, as amended, not having been completed, the Common Council of said City has directed such improvement to be made under the direction and supervision of the Street Commissioner, and further directed notice of such contemplated improvement to be given to the owner or owners of any lands thereby affected, and further directed that if such improvement shall not be completed within the time and in the manner directed in this notice, the Street Commissioner shall thereupon forthwith proceed to cause such improvement to be made by the city under his direction, as authorized by said Ordinance and the Act of the Legislature hereinafter referred to. The foregoing is a description of your property affected, sufficiently definite in terms to identify the same and the following is a description of the required improvement, viz.: the construction, adjoining said property, of a sidewalk to be laid as directed in said Ordinance (to which ordinance and the record thereof in the City Clerk's Office reference is hereby made for greater certainty), at the expense of the abutting land owners, composed either (1) of bluestone flagging, smooth and even on the surface, and properly laid under the direction of the Street Commissioner, said bluestone flags to be not less than four feet long transversely to the length of the street, not less than two feet wide lengthwise of said stret, and not less than one and one-half inches thick in the thinnest part; or (2) of concrete to be laid in conformity with the specifications for cement sidewalks as set forth in "Standard Specifications for Portland Cement Sidewalks and Curbs," filed in the office of the City Clerk, April 11th, 1910.

The Street Commissioner shall give the correct lines and grades in all cases.

Notice is further given that unless said improvement shall be completed within thirty days after the publication of this notice, it is the intention of said City to make said improvement or cause the same to be made, pursuant to the authority of the Act of the Legislature of the State of New Jersey, entitled, "An Act to authorize cities to construct and repair sidewalks and curbs, and to provide for the payment of the cost thereof," approved April 13, 1908, and acts amendatory thereof and supplemental hereto.

Proof under oath of the publication or service of this notice will be filed within two days thereafter in the Office of the City Collector, being the officer charged with the duty of making official searches for liens.

Said Act of the Legislature provides that in case of non-payment of the charges authorized thereby, the land and real estate subject to the liens of such charges may be sold in the manner provided for the sale of lands for the non-payment of assessments.

Dated Plainfield, N. J., June 28, 1913.

Mid-Summer Canning.

The best time to can fruits, fortunately, is when they are freshest and cheapest; hence this is the time to plan to lay in a supply of midsummer fruits for the pantry shelves.

Before raspberries disappear from the markets try this recipe for preserved raspberries. Weigh them, and weigh an equal amount of granulated sugar. Put the fruit in a saucepan, bruise it with a wooden spoon. Put it over the fire, and let it boil, carefully, so that it will not burn, for fifteen minutes. Add the sugar and boil until the syrup jellies when it is poured on a cold plate. Skim it thoroughly as it boils.

Pour the preserves into sterilized jars, lifting them out of boiling water just before you fill them, and place the jars, uncovered, in the sun to cool. When the fruit is cold, cover it with paraffine.

Another Raspberry Recipe.

Raspberry shrub is easy to prepare and can be used for many refreshing concoctions when it is opened. To make it put three quarts of red raspberries into an earthen jar and pour over them a quart of cider vinegar. Let the mixture stand twenty-four hours and then strain through a jelly bag, pressing out all the juice. Pour this juice over three quarts of fresh berries, and let them stand for twenty-four hours. Strain again. Add granulated sugar, in the proportion of pint to pint and boil twenty minutes. Store the shrub into bottles like canned fruit. Dilute it with three times its quantity of water when serving.

Preserved Cherries, Gooseberry Jam.

Preserved cherries prepared in this way are delicious: Stone them and save all the juice. Weigh the fruit and juice and fruit and to each pound allow three-quarters of a pound of granulated sugar. Put the mixture into a preserving kettle and let it stand for three hours. Then bring it to the boiling point, skim it from time to time, and simmer it until the cherries are cooked clear. Pour it in sterilized jars and seal while hot.

Gooseberry jam is delicious. To make it boil six pounds of fruit with a cupful of currant juice—fruit and juice always in this proportion for an hour. Then add three-fourths of a pound of loaf sugar for every pound of fruit and boil three-quarters of an hour more.

If You Like Mint.

If you like mint, gather it just before it blossoms and chop it, with vinegar, salt and sugar to taste. Can it without heating it, and you will have a delicious mint sauce among your canned goods.

FASHION HINT

By JUDIC CHOLLET

The Norfolk coat is being very much worn this summer as a "sport coat" as it is called.

For the outing costume, jackets of this kind in bright colors are liked over white skirts, and entire gowns in white or color with the blouses made in this way are extremely fashionable.

Again, the Norfolk blouse of white linen or pique or white serge makes a satisfactory wrap to be slipped on when the day is cool.

NORFOLK SPORT COAT.

For the medium size the blouse will require five yards of material twenty-seven inches wide, with half a yard extra for collar and cuffs.

This May Manton pattern is cut in sizes from 34 to 42 inches bust measure. Send 10 cents to this office, giving number, 7919, and it will be promptly forwarded to you by mail. If in haste send an additional two cent stamp for letter postage. When ordering use coupon.

Some Cookery Suggestions

CUCUMBERS IN NOVEL WAYS.

LUNCHEON MENU.
Minced Veal, Scalloped.
Baked Sweet Potatoes.
Cucumber Salad.
English Muffins, Toasted.
Preserves and Crullers.
Tea.

THOUGH a comparatively tasteless vegetable, the cucumber may be combined with other foods to supply a desirable hot weather food.

Tempting Side Dishes.

Cucumbers and Radishes.—A pretty way to serve cucumbers is to cut them in halves lengthwise after peeling and place them in cold water. Lay them with the flat side down in the dish in which they are to be served. Slice without destroying the shape. Pour over them a French dressing. Garnish with small radishes or slices of radishes to form a border.

Cucumbers With Bechamel Sauce.—Pare and cut cucumbers into small cubes and cook until tender in salted water. Then throw into cold water a moment to crisp. Drain well and reheat in bechamel sauce and serve on slices of toast or in little bread cases fried in deep hot fat.

Cucumber Salad.—Those who are fond of gelatin will like a cucumber salad made by placing thin slices of cucumber and a small quantity of chopped celery in a clear white jelly, serving on lettuce leaves and garnishing with broken nuts. Mayonnaise or a French dressing is good with this.

Fried and Roasted.

Cucumber Fritters.—Grate the cucumbers and put through a coarse sieve to remove the seeds. Then add beaten egg, flour and seasoning of salt and pepper, making a batter that will drop from the spoon into a hot griddle and spread out easily. Fry like pancakes.

Roast Cucumbers.—Boil large cucumbers about ten or twelve minutes, then cut them in halves lengthwise, scoop out the seeds and fill the cavity with forcemeat, using remnants of roast meat, fowl or boiled ham with breadcrumbs and seasoning and a little egg to bind it together. Tie the halves neatly together. Dredge with salt, pepper and flour, lay them in a buttered baking pan and bake in lower part of oven of oil or gas stove. Baste frequently with butter. When they are tender and brown arrange on a hot platter, remove the strings so they will not fall apart and serve with a rich brown gravy poured around them.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—

The Flower Weather Prophets And the Rain.

Daddy Looks at the Morning Glories.

DADDY sniffed the air. "Rain tomorrow," he announced.

Jack and Evelyn looked disappointed. "We wanted to go picnicking tomorrow in the woods," they said.

"Well," daddy advised, "when you get up go out into the garden, take a look at the morning glory vine, then trot over to the patch in the garden where the pimpernels are growing. After that take a look at the celandine, then go out in the field and hunt some bindweed. Should the flowers of these plants be closed I should say do not go to the picnic.

"Some flowers are good weather prophets. Many a morning daddy has started out without an umbrella. Perhaps the sun may have been shining. If, however, the morning glories by the gate had not opened their little cups your daddy would step back to the house and get his umbrella. Many a time he has thus escaped a drenching. The pimpernel is the safest weather prophet of all. Some one has named it the 'poor man's weather glass.'

"Why do the flowers close before rain? Well, some say because of the moisture in the air the sun does not then shine so brightly as usual. Your daddy does not really know whether it is because the flowers want more light or do not like the dampness in the air.

"Perhaps this little story may answer your question. Once on a time there was a little morning glory that wished to do as she pleased.

"When you saw her lovely purple cup you thought her the most beautiful of her kind. The little morning glory was vain. She wished every one to see and admire her.

"The bumblebees and the honeybees that stopped at her door for something to eat were very flattering. She was too silly to know that these winged tramps only praised her because they wanted food.

"'You would better close your door today,' the pink morning glory on the next vine said to her one day. There were clouds in the sky, and they looked like storm clouds.

"'No, indeed,' the purple morning glory answered; 'I like to see the world. Close your own door if you like, but mine shall stay open.'

"'It is going to rain, and you will be sorry,' warned the pink morning glory, not noticing the snub.

"'I don't care,' the purple morning glory said, and just then the shower began. It rained, and it rained, and because she had not closed up as the other morning glories did her cup was soon filled with water. All her lovely bloom was washed off, and when the sun came out a battered and dying morning glory drooped on that stem, while the others, unharmed, opened up to drink in the warm sunshine again."

Hobbies Fine For One's Health.

Have you a hobby? If you haven't you should have, for a hobby is the short cut to health.

So says a woman with a hobby, and she ought to know.

The woman who broods on her troubles, who broods on her poverty, who broods on her wealth or her health, is likely to suffer for it. Poor health becomes the poorer for thinking of it. Poverty becomes the harder to bear when it is continually contrasted with somebody else's plenty. A hobby will give the mind something else to dwell on and so will avert all health breaking worries.

"You know," said this woman who advocates hobbies for health, "we are a good deal like animals. We are influenced by one idea at a time. You know the story some one tells of the donkey who wouldn't go. Coaxing and beating were both useless. Then some one came along and forced a clod of earth in his mouth. He got so interested in the unusual thing in his mouth that he trotted along without knowing it.

"Well, if we have hobbies to think of we go straight ahead and live our lives as we ought to live them without knowing it."

Any sort of hobby is healthful. If you are interested in photography make that your hobby, only go at it with a purpose. Take up one subject and keep to it. Perhaps it is trees or sailboats or children or cats or doorways. Take all the photographs you can, sort and classify them and compare them, and the work will be engrossing.

Or perhaps you are interested in flowers. Go in for roses or bulbs. Collect them in the winter, grow them in the summer, read about them, write about them, cut clippings about them and sketch them, or, if you are interested in books, haunt the book shops, go to old book stalls and buy a few books judiciously. Catalogue your own books and read until your eyes are tired.

If you pursue a hobby faithfully it will help you out of all your troubles.

Moreover, a hobby produces results of actual money value sometimes or of artistic or scientific value, which is better. A woman who had always been interested in genealogical matters suddenly realized this fact. She had gone about from graveyard to graveyard making impressions of old tombstones; she had copied records in old churches and courthouses; she had questioned old inhabitants of all the towns she had ever visited. Her taste for ancestors gave a point to her traveling and an interest to her life. And finally she found that she had copies of records which no one else had and a vast collection of material well sorted and classified which was of real value.

Have a hobby. Stick to it and it will bring you happiness. Candlesticks or bookbooks, puppies or primroses—anything will do. Only—have a hobby.

TWO PRETTY OUTING DRESSES.

THE summer girl who goes fishing should choose a costume which will be cool, comfortable and unharmed by water. The charming girls shown in the picture are arrayed in gowns of white duck, a handsome sweater like the one shown on the figure to the left being donned on cool days. A panama hat was worn in one case, and a hat of white duck draped with a silk scarf trimmed the other one.

WHAT THE BABY NEEDS.

Sleeping robes for babies in sizes up to two years are made of soft white wool eiderdown, with satin ribbon bindings of pink, blue or white. They are shaped something like grownup sleeping bags, with a hood over the head, and are excellent for the baby carriage, for the crib or for use on any occasion when the baby should be kept out of a draft.

Folding bathtubs made of rubber on light wooden frames and used for babies are especially serviceable for use in small quarters or when traveling. They are water tight.

Nowadays little blankets for babies can be had decorated with bears and bunnies, chickens and other objects of interest to small people.

Wooden pens, inside which a baby can play, safe from harm, are made of white enameled bars. In the center of each of the four sides is placed a group of cut out animals—cats, horses, dogs or squirrels.

A baby's bath robe is made of coarsely quilted cheesecloth on cotton wadding, with a dainty touch of color in the form of baby ribbon rosettes. Being of cotton, it is washable, yet it is thick enough to be really warm.

THE TEA TABLE.

It Is Incomplete Without a Pretty Handmade Cozy.

The summer tea table is really incomplete unless the owner possesses a tea cozy, and when once she makes one of these dainty articles she will continue fashioning them until all her friends are supplied. Very pretty heads of porcelain are procurable at the needlework shops and come in a great variety of designs, including Watteau shepherdesses, Louis XIV. court ladies, Dolly Vardens and 1830 beauties. Being importations, they cover a wide range of prices, so that the tea cozy can be made an expensive gift if you desire.

Purchase five-sixths of a yard of silk in a delicate striped or flower sprigged design, and from this fashion the wide skirt. At the bottom stitch an inch wide hem, using a blind stitch, and above this stitch a two inch band of lace insertion. Border the top and bottom with a pinked ruching of the silk. These are made by joining strips of silk an inch and a half wide together, pinking the edges and shirring the strips through the center. Now join the ends together neatly and run a drawstring through the top and fit it to the dainty lady's bodice.

"The lass with the delicate air" is now ready to lend her ample skirt to form a tea cozy.

If you enjoy dressing dolls the pretty tea cozies will appeal strongly to you, for it is most fascinating work.

SUMMER GOWNS.

Linen and Silk Are Not Good Warm Weather Garments.

Those women who feel most the heat seem to know nothing of what is really cool to wear. There is a demand for linen gowns, which would be lessened if the shoppers knew that linen is a nonconductor and therefore one of the hottest materials available. Instead of allowing the heat of the body to escape, as would be the case with other summer materials, it retains it. Consequently the wearers of linen find themselves suffering in an increased degree when the thermometer stands at 90 degrees or over in the shade.

Muslin, voile, batiste, crash and delaine are cool so long as there is no silk lining, silk being another nonconductor.

A very lovely cool gown recently appeared on the street. It was made of striped cream and green batistes lined with lightest white lawn. Made all in one, it was slightly short waisted at the back, but the fronts were continued in a decreasing width to the hem of the skirt, framing in a front of embroidery in tones of yellow, scarlet and mauve on pale green.

SMART AFTERNOON GOWN.

The loud tones of this embroidery seemed to aid the cool effect of the rest of the costume. The hat was, of course, black tulle. It cast a becoming shade over the forehead and eyes and was assisted in doing so by a black tulle sunshade.

The return of flounces is foreshadowed by the wide use this summer of what is known as the tiered skirt. The afternoon gown shown in the picture has a two tiered skirt in embroidered net. Smart touches are the little coat effect on the bodice, the wide sash and the use of colored embroideries with the white ones.

It pays the housekeeper to get the best bedsprings and mattresses in the market, even if she has to economize somewhere else.

PROGRESSIVE LAWS.

Bismarck, N. D., July 1.—Several public welfare movements that have been agitated in many of the States became accomplished facts in North Dakota today, with the putting into effect of the measures enacted at the last session of the Legislature. One of the most important is the new marriage law which provides that a woman, unless she be over 45 years old, and a man, except he marry a woman over that age, cannot be married if either be a common drunkard, a criminal, an imbecile, an epileptic or insane. The law requires that each applicant for a marriage license shall submit a certificate from a physician certifying that the applicant is physically fit for marriage. A heavy penalty is to be imposed upon clergymen or civil officers performing marriage ceremonies in violation of the law.

GOULD BUYS CLAM ISLAND.

Point Pleasant, July 1.—Allen Ridgeway, a New Jersey Central railway conductor, acting for George Gould, has purchased Clam Island, a favored gunning point in the Barnegat Bay. The sale was held to settle a question of ownership, and Gould's representative paid $10,150 for the group of six islands, comprising 110 acres. Less than two years ago they were sold for $1,600 to a number of local gunners jointly. It is understood Mr. Gould intends using the islands for the headquarters of his friends, and will probably erect a clubhouse.

AUTOISTS DISCOVER LOST BOY.

Paterson, July 1.—While persons were scouring the woods at Glen Rock for five-year-old Martin Ramatz, the lad was taken to Ridgewood police headquarters by automobilists. A few minutes after the Ridgewood police had taken the youngster in charge they were informed from here of the circumstances, and the boy was turned over to his father, Peter Ramatz, of Straight street. Ramatz took his family out to the rock picnicking. Martin strayed beyond sight of his parents, and finally reached the Goffle road. He was there seen, sobbing, by the autoists.

WIRELESS ON FREIGHTERS.

New York, July 1.—Practically all of the ships now in port have been equipped with wireless telegraph apparatus in compliance with the act recently passed by Congress, and which went into effect today. The new law requires that all freight steamships foreign and domestic, touching at American ports, carrying more than 50 persons in their crew shall be equipped with wireless apparatus. The law also makes it necessary to have two operators on board, so that the wireless apparatus will never be without the service of an operator.

Queries, Comment and Answers

Sporting Editor:

Query—To whom must I write to obtain tickets for the Giants' games at the Polo Grounds? D. Y.

Answer—To John B. Foster, secretary of the New York Baseball Club, National Exhibition Company, 200 Fifth avenue, New York.

Sporting Editor:

Query—Where is the Y. M. C. A. State Camp located and to whom must I apply in order to register my book as a camper? D. L. M.

Answer—The Jersey Boys' Camp is located on the shore and island of Lake Waywayanda in Sussex county. It is in the extreme northern portion of the State about twelve miles from Greenwood Lake and eight miles from Warwick, N. Y. Write for registration to C. William Bingeman, Associate Director, Jersey Boys' Camp, New Milford, Orange county, N. Y.

Sporting Editor:

Query—Is Sunday the first or last day of the week? Y. O. L.

Answer—Sunday is the first day of the week under the law of the New Testament. Under the Old Testament the Sabbath was the last day of the week. Sunday is not the Sabbath, though.

Sporting Editor:

—Please tell me the value of a half dollar dated 1875? T. A. R.

Answer—Your coin is worth its face value, or fifty cents.

Sporting Editor:

Query—Who do you think will win the National League pennant? L. M. N.

Answer—From this distance Pittsburg, don't tell anybody, though.

Sporting Editor:

Query—Are the Union county tennis championships mentioned in your query column last week opened to anyone and to whom must I write for entrance? What are the events? G. O. P.

Answer—The event, which consists of a doubles championship, is opened to anyone in Union county who pays the three dollars entry fee. Write to Harold C. Keys, 623 North Broad street, Elizabeth, N. J. The championships will be contested on the Elizabeth Town and Country Club courts.

Sporting Editor:

Query—Are all editorials in newspapers written by the editor. L. R.

Answer—Yes, real editors of real newspapers write their own editorials. The other kind will sometimes clip news items and print them as editorials. They have even been known to take a communication from a sour-minded but harmless crank and run it as an editorial when the subject matter is a cowardly way of getting back at a real newspaper.

Sporting Editor:

Query—Would you please state who is the best sprinter and broad jumper in the local High School?

Answer—Arthur Van Zandt is without a doubt the best broad jumper, but the sprinting record is a matter of contention. William Peacock is acknowledged to be a speedy individual on the cinder path, but Craig Blair recently defeated him in a 100-yard match race. It was said at that time, however, that Peacock was not in the best of condition and furthermore he ran in his baseball uniform. I think you can class Peacock as the best.

Sporting Editor:

Query—Where is the Newark, N. J., Y. M. C. A. located? G. H.

Answer—At 107 Halsey street, Newark, N. J.

Sporting Editor:

Query—What is the actual length of the course given below: Y. M. C. A. north to Mountain avenue, Mountain avenue east to Terrill road, Terrill road south to Front street, Front street west to the Y. M. C. A., the Y. M. C. A. beng the starting and finishing point? P. M.

Answer—It is 4.6 miles.

Sporting Editor:

Query—When will the next Sunday-school excursion be run from here to Asbury Park and who runs it? S. T.

Answer—On July 10, under the auspices of the First and Temple Baptist Sunday-schools.

HUNTING AND FISHING

We have learned that about two dozen weakfish were taken at Great Kills Sunday. The fish were all caught on the top of the water and every one of them belonged to the tiderunner family. This will surely be good news to the Staten Island fishermen, as they have been patiently waiting for something to bite.

July is the month that brings in the lafayettes. While the little pests are never welcomed by the fishermen that go after weakfish and bluefish, because of their stealing the bait, still there isn't a fisherman that would not welcome them now. Never was Raritan Bay so void of fish. Out of a dozen boats that went out Sunday only a few fluke were brought in. There are hopes, however, as the weakfish are biting well in Barnegat Bay and they should be our way in a few days.

There is a peculiar phenomena being observed along the shore. We have had many changes in the wind every day for about six weeks, and the changes seem to come when the tide changes. When the tide is going out the wind comes from the west or goes out with the tide, and when the tide changes and comes from the east it seems to bring the wind in with it. Another peculiar point noticeable is that the east wind doesn't stay long enough at one time to produce rain. Just when it looks as though rain was about to fall the tide changes and runs out and the east wind disappears, the west wind taking its place.

There is a great deal of grumbling in the State by gunners because of the proposed changes in the water fowl and shore bird shooting season by the Federal authorities. The idea is to cut out all spring shooting and to shorten the seasons all around. The changes will be welcomed, however, by the sportsmen that believe in the protection of these birds during the mating seasons. Many of the latter aided in getting the government to take over the control of all migratory birds because of the spring shooting. One of the acts that led to the change was the failure of the New Jersey Legislature to continue the law that prevented spring shooting. This law was in effect just one year when a successful effort was made to change it. The new seasons will show in a few years whether the waterfowl and shore birds are to come back. Many predictions are made that the golden plover will again be seen in its glory on the meadows that are not overcrowded with industrial plants. Newark is done as a shooting preserve for not only has pollution rendered the meadows unfit for feeding places, but the constant travel over the meadows by teams has driven the birds away entirely.

CITY LEAGUE MEETS AT WEST END CLUB

Many Important Matters Will Be Disposed of at Tonight's Meeting.

An important meeting of the City Baseball League will be held in the rooms of the West End Athletic Club tonight when several matters regarding the running of the organization will be finally disposed of. The game that has been protested against the Royal Giants will be settled and following the announcement of Manager Pete Simmons that his team will withdraw from the league should it be decided against him, a successor will probably be selected should this circumstance come to pass.

It is said on good authority that the Public Service baseball team that was one of the contenders for the Manufacturers League title last season, is hankering for an opportunity to take a City League franchise and in the event of the Royal Giants withdrawing, which seems more than plausible, the gas company employes will probably be given a right to enter the league. It is expected that a schedule of games for the Fourth of July will be definitely mapped out tonight and umpires assigned for the holiday games. As many of the players in the league have made out of town engagements over the Fourth it may be decided to suspend all league contests over that day and play the day following, Saturday.

GIANT'S MANAGER IS HANDED A KNOCKOUT

John J. McGraw, manager of the New York Giants, was knocked down by two blows on the jaw delivered by Brennan, a pitcher of the Phillies, after the game yesterday, which the New York team won and thereby went to the front in the National League pennant race.

McGraw was walking across the field, talking with another Philadelphia player, and nearly all the spectators had left the grounds, when Brennan suddenly sprang toward him and swung his right hand to McGraw's jaw, landing above the chin, and followed it quickly with a second blow from his left hand, which landed below the ear.

McGraw dropped before he could see who had hit him. Later he declared that he must have been kicked but other players, who quickly pulled Brennan away, declare that only two blows were struck. McGraw soon recovered and went to his hotel.

Brennan declares he was exasperated beyond the limit of endurance by taunts directed during the game by the New York manager at members of the Philadelphia team.

FIRST DEFEAT FOR THE LOCAL LEAGUERS

Plainfield Loses to Brunswick in Y. M. H. A. Organization at Riverside.

Captain Jake Abrams took his crew of Y. M. H. A. ball tossers to Riverside Park, Sunday afternoon, to fight for first place honors in the Y. M. H. A. Baseball League with the New Brunswick nine and although padded up to some extent the local team had to be content with the smaller end of the final score which was 13 to 8. So formidable did the Plainfield aggregation appear when it took the field that the New Brunswick ball tossers began to scrutinize the Queen City individuals and succeeded in finding some who were not of Hebrew nationality. These were promptly benched and the local team took the field minus some of their stars.

The game was played at the park before a record breaking crowd of enthusiasts and when the New Brunswick ball tossers got to Rosenson in the fifth inning the home cohorts went wild. This was the second of the series of games to be played between these two rivals, the third to be contested some time in the near future.

CANADIAN GOLF TITLE.

Toronto, Ont., July 1.—The nineteenth annual tournament of the Royal Canadian Golf Association, to decide the Dominion amatuer championship, opened auspiciously today on the links of the Toronto Golf Club. The finals in the tournament will be reached Saturday. The winner will receive the association gold medal emblematic of the championship. The Earl Grey championship trophy will remain in the custody of the winner's club for the year.

BASEBALL NOT WHAT SOME PEOPLE CLAIM

Many of the Local Teams do not Know the Finer Points of the Pastime.

Captain Britt Marin, of the Saurer baseball team, leaders off in the City Baseball League, dropped into the office yesterday morning and in a fanning bee outlined what he thought to be the trouble with local baseball this season. For some reason or other the Plainfield teams have not been getting the kind of support they have been treated to in former years and many and varied have been the suggestions to produce a change. Some thought that there were too many teams in the city while others assign the disinterest to the calibre of ball being produced and the latter seems to be the plausible solution to the question.

Martin said it was surprising to find out how many teams there were in this city who did not have even a schoolboy's knowledge of the National pastime and yet they were playing in organized leagues. Many of the league teams have not got a single man who can keep a box score and keep it accurately and several go so far as to "dope" out an official box score after the contest is over. If the fans could see the many and varied examples of so-called box scores that are turned in to the sporting editors of the newspapers every week-end they would not take the time to read many of them on Monday as in several instances the scores are little more than what the manager sees and remembers at the game and when he gets home he dopes out the averages, no matter how unfair they might be to some of the players.

Martin recited a little incidence of City League playing that savored of the sand lot variety which occurred in the Saurer-Royal Giant game of two weeks ago. A man was on first base and the batter was given his base on balls, thus forcing the man to second. The manager of the Royal Giant team claimed that the runner on first had to make the bag in going to second and insisted on tagging him out. This seemed ridiculous to anyone who knew baseball and it was so treated by many but still a few others sided with the Giant's manager.

While there has not been any great degree of dissatisfaction shown over the decisions of the umpires in the City League during the past season, this defect has evidenced itself stronger in the other leagues in this city and there is an apparent woeful need of some first-class officials.

NONPARIEL CLUB CELEBRATION

The Nonpariel Junior Club of Boys will give its first reception at the clubhouse on St. Mary's avenue, three doors from Berckman street, Friday night. During the day there will be athletic games and two games of baseball with teams from Cranford and East Orange, at 10.30 and 2 o'clock. The clubhouse will be open all day. The committee in charge comprises Leon Jones, chairman; Edward Davis, John Smith, John Carey, Edward Venable. The officers of the club are: President, Leon Jones; treasurer, John Smith; secretary, Charles Jeiter.

LEAGUE WAS CUT TO FOUR TEAMS

Central New Jersey Organization Drops Bound Brook and New Brunswick.

GAMES FOR HOLIDAY

Somerville Appears Twice Over the Week End—Much Routine Business Disposed of at Last Night's Meeting Held in Bound Brook.

Contending that it was better to have a four-club circuit with a quartet of first-class baseball teams scrapping for the bunting, than to have a six team organization with a pair of trailers pulling up in the rear, the governing board of the Central New Jersey League decided to drop New Brunswick and Bound Brook at last night's meeting and to foster a league consisting of Plainfield, Dunellen, Somerville and High Bridge, four of the aggregations that have been playing gilt edge ball and are now in the midst of a tight race for the Central League pennant. Neither of the eliminated teams has won a game to date and therefore their ommission will probably not have any effect on the race for the championship which is now well under way in the four remaining clubs' territories.

Ever since Bound Brook and New Brunswick entered the organization there has been more or less confusion over the playal of games and the fact that the New Brunswick combination had no home grounds made it necessary for some team to entertain the Brunswick delegation in each game it played. During the time that Manager New and his crew have been affiliated with the organization he has shown nothing but the best of sportsmanship and it was with regret that his club was dropped last night. He, however, accepted it in good part and should the league become a reality again next year New Brunswick would probably be among the first to be invited to take out a franchise

Last night's meeting consisted of the disposal of a lot of routine business that had accumulated during the past week and everything is now in readiness for the holiday and Saturday games over the week-end.

Plainfield fans will be given their first opportunity of seeing the Somerville team which is now leading the league in action in this city over the week-end when the Somervllians appear here in a double bill. Friday morning as a holiday attraction the Somerset County Seat aggregation will lineup against the Pets on Parker Field and Saturday afternoon they will once more appear in this city to do battle against the Plainfielders. Fourth of July will be a busy day for the Plainfield team as they go to Dunellen in the afternoon to assist in the civic celebration at that place, while Somerville plays in High Bridge in the afternoon.

On Saturday Somerville will appear here and Dunellen will go to High Bridge. Should the Plainfield team succeed in winning all of its contests over the week-end it would be assured of the top rung berth in the league for at least a week, and according to Manager Dorflinger the team has a good chance of taking the triple bill.

CITY ORCHESTRA REHEARSES

The Municipal Orchestra met last night at Washington School for a regular rehearsal, twenty-five members being present. The Junior Orchestra will meet tonight at the same place. The public is invited to these rehearsals. It is now anticipated that the organization will be able to give a concert on Labor Day.

COLLINS AND SPEAKER CLOUTING THE PELLET

This Pair is Doing Even Better With the Stick Than Cobb and Jackson.

During the first tour of the East by the Western clubs of the American League, the baseball statiscians heralded daily the achievements of those eminent sons of swat, Tyrus Raymond Cobb and Joe Jackson, the purveyors of dope evidently forgetting that Edward Trowbridge Collins and Tristram Speaker were striking telling blows for their teams and doing even more valiant work with the willow than the two whaling Westerners. The Georgia Peach hit at a .311 clip on the trip, the city in which he enjoyed his least success in manufacuring hits being Philadelphia. The Quaker City also was a hoodoo town for the clouting Clevelander, who hit for .286 on the jaunt. Jax's batting average shrunk when he faced the Washington pitchers, but went up when he batted against the Boston boxmen.

Collins piled up an average of .377 at Shibe Park against the Western hurlers, batting most effectively in the St. Louis series and least so in the set-tos with the Naps.

Speaker, in the games at Fenway Park, amassed a percentage of .373, having a record of .750 in the Detroit series, .312 in the St. Louis series, .300 in the Chicago series and .231 in the Cleveland series. The man who won the Chalmers American League trophy last year got nineteen safeties in the games against the Western teams while Collins procured twenty. E. Trowbridge scored fourteen runs to Tris' thirteen. Cobb, in the games against the Eastern teams, made the same number of hits and runs as Speaker, but went to bat ten more times. Jackson's record was ten tallies and fourteen safeties in forty-nine journeys to the platter.

Collins led the quartette in timely hitting, driving in ten runs as against nine for Cobb, seven for Speaker and six for Jackson. Cobb showed the way in long distance punching, his nine lengthy blows being good for eighteen extra bases. Speaker got nine long clouts that yielded fourteen extra bases, Jackson eight that yielded fourteen and Collins seven that yielded twelve.

Of these four men the one hardest to pitch to evidently is Speaker. He drew fourteen passes and was winged once. Jackson trudged twelve times, many of the gifts he received being purposely awarded. Cobb got eight bases on balls and was hit once and Collins secured six complimentaries and was hit twice. Oddly enough, Mack's second sacker passed through the 1912 campaign without once reaching first on a casualty pass.

In the inter-sectional clashes Cobb struck out seven times, Speaker thrice and Jackson and Collins each twice. The Clevelander was whiffed by Joe Wood and Walter Johnson, the Philadelphian by Willie Mitchell and Joe Lake.

These figures show what Collins and Speaker did to the Western pitchers and what Jackson and Cobb did to the Eastern artillerists:

EDDIE COLLINS.

At bat, 53 times; runs, 14; hits, 20; doubles, 3; triples, 3; homers, 1; runs batted in, 10; bases on balls, 6; hit by pitched balls, 2; struck out, 2; batting average, .377.

TRIS SPEAKER.

At bat, 51 times; runs, 13; hits, 19; doubles, 4; triples, 5; runs batted in, 7; basses on balls, 14; hit by pitched balls, 1; struck out, 3; batting average, .373.

TY COBB.

At bat, 61 times; runs, 13; hits, 19; doubles, 2; triples, 5; homers, 2; runs batted in, 9; bases on balls, 8; hit by pitched ball, 1; struck out, 7; batting average, .311.

JOE JACKSON.

At bat, 49 times; runs, 10; hits, 14; doubles, 5; homers, 3; runs batted in, 6; bases on balls, 12; struck out, 2; batting average, .286.

PARK GOLF CLUB'S PLANS FOR FOURTH

The Park Golf Club is planning for a big day at the club on Friday, when in addition to the regular competitions there will be a new contest known as the "Tombstone" handicap, eighteen holes, medal play. Each competitor playing in the morning will be allowed to play again for the trophy in the afternoon.

Each competitor is allowed a certain number of strokes, which will consist of bogey plus his handicap. When his allotted number of strokes has been played, a little wooden "tombstone" is placed to mark the location of his ball, and the "tombstone" which is furtherest advanced wins the cup. If the eighteen holes is completed in less than the allotted number of strokes, the competitors plays as much further on his third round as he can go with the remaining strokes.

In the afternoon there will be the usual approaching and putting contest, open to the members and their guests. There will be an informal reception at the clubhouse as well. In the evening the members are invited to be the guests of the Park Club at its exhibition of fireworks and dance.

STAGE ILLUSIONS.

Not the Least of These Are the Banquets on the Boards.

Nothing is so deceptive as the stage meal, although the art of the property man makes such repasts appear deliciously appetizing.

A favorite stage substitute for meat is sponge cake, which cut into the shape of cutlets or steaks and judiciously browned with sauce, presents a most genuine appearance. The advantage of such material is that it is easy for the actors to consume and does not present any difficulties to the carver.

Cutlets composed of soft toast are also popular in stage culinary circles, and when decorated with dainty paper frills and parsley look quite the real thing.

Do not let your mouth water at the sight of those dainty slices of ham reposing on lettuce leaves on the baron's festive board. Ham is invariably represented on the stage by strips of linoleum, the reddish under side of which makes a convincing substitute for the real article. As to the surrounding lettuce, that is generally represented by white leaves from the humble cabbage.

The larger and more impressive the stage edible, the greater the fake. Huge pies which when cut produce a cloud of realistic steam are absolutely uneatable. The crust is merely colored papier mache, which incloses a dish of hot water and sometimes a few boiled potatoes, which supply the necessary steam. The big sirloin of beef, which apparently weighs pounds, has about six ounces of eatable meat about it. The joint is a wooden affair, over which a few thin slices of genuine beef are placed, giving the impression of a really fine piece of meat.

Were you to obtain a peep behind the scenes just before a banquet scene was to be staged you would find a number of stage hands busily slicing up tomatoes and bananas. You would see those slices being laid out on plates surrounded with parsley or white cabbage leaves. Under the glare of the limelight this dish assumes an astonishing resemblance to lobster salad, and in similar fashion sliced banana is a general substitute for fish, entrees and hors d'oeuvre.

One of the most astonishing illusions with regard to stage food, however, is where soup is concerned. This is invariably sawdust, which when ladled out of a tureen has all the appearance of a thick liquid.

No banquet would be complete without a turkey. A loaf of bread delicately browned and decorated with pegs covered with browned dough, saves the management the expense of running up a poultry bill. Moreover, the comedians can with comparative safety sling this asset to the feast about the stage without damage to life or property.—Philadelphia Ledger.

The Government Printer.

When it comes to printing your Uncle Samuel takes first rank among the nations. He has a $15,000,000 printing office that is the best equipped in the world. Although certain private publishing houses in this country exceed the 1,000,000 copies of printed matter sent out weekly from the United States government printing office, no plant approaches the multitude of different publications that it prints and mails. Over a thousand publications are issued from the presses in the course of a year, appearing daily, weekly, monthly, annually or at irregular intervals. For the purpose of mailing them more than a thousand different mailing lists must be kept in the file room.—New York Sun.

Who Would 'a' Benn 'Er!

Some hundred years ago a small boy, one of four brothers, heard a visitor say to his mother, "What a pity one of your boys had not been a girl." Dropping his game, so the story runs in Woman's Work In America, he called out: "Well, I'd like to know who'd 'a' benn 'er! I wouldn't 'a' benn 'er; Ed wouldn't 'a' benn 'er; Joe wouldn't 'a' benn 'er; Jim wouldn't 'a' benn 'er, and I'd like to know who would 'a' benn 'er."

Campaign Material.

Political Boss—Well, did you discover anything in Stump's past life that we can use against him? Detective—Not a thing. All he ever did before he came here was to sell awnings. Political Boss—Why, that's just what we want! We'll say that he has been mixed up in some decidedly shady transactions.—Judge.

Hasty Conclusion.

Beautiful Maiden—You think I'm an angel, Geoffrey, but some day perhaps you will find out that I am an exceedingly trivial, ill natured, commonplace mortal. Disconsolate Lover (with trembling eagerness)—Then you do intend to marry me, do you, Lillian?—Chicago Tribune.

Expensive.

"She says she thinks she could learn to love me."

"Yet you do not look happy."

"It is going to be expensive. Had her at the theater last night, with a little supper afterward. The first lesson cost me $25."—Kansas City Journal.

Turned Down.

Young Man (whispering to jeweler)—That engagement ring I bought of you yesterday— Jeweler—What's the matter with it? Didn't it fit? Young Man (cautiously)—Sh! It didn't have a chance. Gimme studs for it.—London Telegraph.

There is no better ballast for keeping the mind steady on its keel than business.—Lowell.

LIQUOR AIR SHOWN AT THE PROCTOR HOUSE

Liquid air, the wonder worker which Fred Andrews uses in his "Magic Kettle" at Proctor's this week, is mystifying large audiences. Ice cream is made in a few seconds and served in the audience; cranberries, rubber balls and flowers are frozen, dropped and broken, a silver half-dollar is melted and taken into the mouth and scattered over the floor. Ice is made and then set on fire, giving a novel effect.

Mr. Andrews not only drinks the liquid air, but lights his cigar with it, in fact he can do most anything with this peculiar composition. The liquid air contained in a vaccum bottle has a temperature of 325 degrees below zero.

SOME IMPROVEMENTS AT NETHERWOOD STATION

As a result of conferences held between Robert A. Meeker, of Belvidere avenue, and officials of the road, the Jersey Central has ordered more improvements to be made at its Netherwood Station. These will include the tearing up of the plank walks leading from the eastbound station to South avenue and the substitution of concrete walks. As also requested, electric lights will be placed half-way, on each side, through the small park.

DUNELLEN'S BIG 4TH CELEBRATION

An All-Day Demonstration is Arranged for Borough for Independence Day.

PARADE A FEATURE

Formal Exercises, Athletic Events, Prizes and Other Attractions Scheduled to Take Place on Friday in Suburban Community.

Promising to eclipse any thing of the kind ever attempted in the borough, the Dunellen Fourth of July Celebration will be held on Friday under the auspices of the Dunellen Board of Trade. The elaborate program will start at 9 o'clock in the morning when a monster civic parade will be held. Patriotic exercises at which prominent men will speak will be staged at 11 o'clock in Washington Park. A field and track meet, for both young and old, band concerts, baseball games and fireworks are included in the other attractions.

The Parade.

The civic parade will be one of the features of the celebration. Representatives of fraternal organizations, civic government bodies, Civil War veterans, the borough firemen, and decorated floats of various descriptions will be seen in the line of march. Prizes will be given for the most novel and attractive automobile and float in the parade and suitable souvenirs will be given for the best decorated place of business and residence.

The formation of the parade will be as follows: Platoon of Police headed by Chief Marshal William J. Davenport; standard bearers, grandmarshal and aides; members of the Borough Council; the Dutch Arms Band of the Trinity Reformed church of Plainfield; members of the Board of Trade; Dunellen Court of Foresters; Plainfield Court of Foresters; Bound Brook Court of Foresters; Warren Court of Foresters; Watchung Court of Foresters; Union Court of Foresters; T. A. B. Fife and Drum Corps; St. John's Holy Name Society; Trades Division—Merchants Wagons; Exhibit of the iron workers; William S. Holton Council, Jr. O. U. A. M.; Plainfield Council, Jr. O. U. A. M.; Somerset Council, Jr. O. U. A. M.; New Market Fire Department; band of Jr. O. U. A. M.; Friendship Council, Jr. O. U. A. M.; Franklin Council, Jr. O. U. A. M.; Benevolent Council, Jr. O. U. A. M.; Pioneer Council, Jr. O. U. A. M.; Dunellen Fire Department; P. O. S. of A. Band; Washington Camp, No. 98, P. O. S. of A.; Visiting Camps, P. O. S. of A.; float division; Newark band; Slovak societies; vehicles containing veterans of the Civil War; automobile division.

The Prizes.

PATRIOTIC ORGANIZATION HOLDS ANNUAL PICNIC

Members of Camp No. 1, Patriotic Order of America held its first picnic on the lawn at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew McDowell on Plainfield avenue yesterday. A large number of members and their families were present, beside many who are not members of the organization. All enjoyed the social features to such an extent that many took application blanks home with them to fill out. There were also visitors from Millington.

Among the other organizations represented were the Patriotic Order Sons of America, Daughters of Liberty, Jr. O. U. A. M., and Knights of the Golden Eagle. Much credit for the enjoyable affair is due Mrs. McDowell, who was assisted by Mrs. Theodore Van Pelt and Henry Thorn in decorating the lawn and arranging the tables. Old Glory floated from all parts of the lawn. There was a large tent on the grounds equipped with everything necessary for the occasion. Dinner was served at 12.30.

During the afternoon there were games of various kinds, piano selections by Miss Adele Freeman and Miss Ethel Windel, and Mrs. Van Pelt gave Vitaphone selections all of which were greatly enjoyed. The company left for home in the autobus at 5:30 o'clock after expressing its thanks to the hostesses for such a good time.

VIOLATES ORDINANCE.

A. W. Collins, of 515 Grant avenue, complained to the police this morning that a cow running at large had destroyed his garden. Investigation revealed, according to the police, that the bovine was the property of I. W. Rushmore, of West Seventh street. The latter will probably be charged with violating a city ordinance.

HOTTEST JULY 1 ON RECORD SINCE 1874

Mercury Soars High With Relief Promised for This Afternoon.

Although a weak little breeze from the southwest moved hesitatingly across the city shortly before noon today, it brought little relief to the suffering residents who have been forced to endure a temperature that has soared as high as ninety-nine degrees during the past two days. Yesterday was the hottest July 1 known to the Weather Bureau since records were first made in 1874 and although the temperature was scheduled to drop when induced by threatening rain today, little difference was felt and many claim that it is still hotter today. The pitiless glare of the sun sent the mercury bubbling up to the one hundred and twenty mark at noon today and in the shade the thermometer registered ninety-nine degrees at 1 o'clock.

The suffering was intense throughout the State last night and the humidity made clothes a burden and a bath only a delusion. Many people took to the open air in the hopes of getting a little sleep but it was nearly as close in the open as it was indoors. While the weather forecaster held out promise of somewhat cooler weather for today and has predicted local thunder showers for this afternoon or evening.

WILL NEW JERSEY BE ACTUAL "RENO"?

Senator Reed so Hints in Argument in the Now Famous Pittis' Divorce Case.

Trenton, July 2.—That Reno will have lost its distinction, and wives need journey no further than Newark in the event of an affirmance of the decree under which Mrs. Ida Caroline Pittis obtained a limited divorce from Dr. Albert Pittis, of Plainfield, was one of the statements made before the Court of Errors and Appeals by Charles A. Reed, counsel for Dr. Pittis.

This remark was made during the argument of the appeal of Dr. Pittis from the decree granted to Mrs. Pittis by the Court of Chancery upon the ground of cruelty. Besides the separation the decree included an order under which Dr. Pittis is compelled to pay his wife alimony of $2,000 a year. The decree was advised by former Governor John Franklin Fort, to whom the case was referred as advisory master.

Mr. Reed insisted that the only act of cruelty or violence proven in the case was on one occasion, when Dr. Pittis slapped his wife's face when provoked beyond forbearance by her repeated and persistent charge resulting from the jealousy of Mrs. Pittis toward a sister of the doctor.

M'LOUGHLIN WON FINALS AND WILL PLAY WILDING

Wimbleton, England, July 2.—Maurice E. McLoughlin the American tennis champion, defeated Stanley N. Doust in three straight sets here this morning to decide who should meet A. F. Wilding, the All-England champion, for the title. McLoughlin defeated the Australian Davis Cup team captain by scores of 6-3, 6-4 and 7-5.

TAXI-CAB IN COLLISION.

A taxi-cab operated from the North Avenue station, while being driven around the corner of Park place and Duer street, the borough, this morning, got the best of the driver and ran headon into a tree. The machine was damaged to such an extent that it had to be taken to a garage for repairs. The driver was not injured. There were no passengers in the machine at the time of the accident.

HE'S SOME CANOEIST.

Vacations for members of the North Plainfield police department will begin next week when Marshal Frank Swody will depart for the Adirondacks to spend two weeks. Swody is an adept canoeist and accompanied by a party of friends will journey by canoe through the Hudson-Fulton chain of lakes.

LANDMARK GOES.

The old Martine building, for many years a landmark on West Front street, recently purchased by Harry Dreier and Morris Abrams, is now being demolished.

MORE FIRE HOSE.

The North Plainfield Fire Department received this morning 300 feet of new fire hose, which was recently ordered by the Borough Council.

CHEAPER 'PHONE RATES IN EFFECT

Company Estimates That Reduction to Subscribers Means Half Million.

NEW OVERTIME PLAN

Charges to Be Graded After First Call Time Limit—Lower Rates to Various Points Announced—The Particulars.

Telephone subscribers in Plainfield are receiving today with their July 1 bills notices calling attention to the new schedule of toll rates that the company put into effect yesterday throughout its territory and the new method of charging overtime on toll calls that is established, which was told in this paper yesterday.

Considering its territory as a whole, the New York Telephone Company estimated that the reductions in its toll charges will amount to a saving for those who use the toll services of over one milion dollars a year, based on the present volume of traffic.

On June 6, the New York Telephone Company announced that a general revision of its toll rates that would mean a saving to toll users of over $650,000 a year would go into effect July 1. This revision was made for the purpose of making toll rates uniform for uniform distances throughout the company's territory. The new rates based on air-line distances between toll points eliminates the discriminations and inequalities in toll charges that had grown up under the varying schedules heretofore in effect.

On July 13, the Public Service Commission order certain reductions in telephone rates for messages between the five boroughs of New York city. The company estimates that these reductions will effect an annual saving to telephone users in New York city of $350 000.

Since the order of the Commission, the telephone company has voluntarily made further reductions in its toll charges from several points in Westchester county to Lower Manhattan. It is estimated that these last reductions will mean a saving to telephone toll users of $75,000 annually.

Coincident with this revised schedule of toll rates, the new method for charging overtime on toll calls is established. Heretofore each period or fraction thereof, beyond the initial charge period, has been considered as another call. Under the new method, however, overtime charges are graded according to the number of minutes beyond the initial charge period.

The revision of these telephone toll scheduies and the introduction of the new method of charging overtime on toll calls will serve to bring Plainfield and the several towns and cities in this section into even closer relationship with each other and with New York city. The more convenient and accessible telephone service is, the more it tends to bring the several communities into one big neighborhood.

HE BEAT HIS WIFE; REAL MAN BEAT HIM

The police department was asked yesterday to send aid to Mrs. Frank McCaffry, of Halsey street, who, it is alleged, was being beaten and otherwise mistreated by her husband Patrolman Martin Flatley was sent to investigate and when he arrived, McCaffry turned his pugilistic efforts in the "copper's" direction much to his sorrow, because—well. A local physician took several stitches and used much court-plaster to mend the troublesome one's countenance.

Arraigned this morning before City Judge DeMeza on a charge of disorderly conduct and resisting arrest, McCaffry was sentenced to pay a fine of $20 or spend sixty days in the county jail.

DANCE AT P. C. C.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter L. Righter, of Watchung avenue, gave an informal dance at the Plainfield Country Club, last night. There were about fifty guests. The dancing began about 9 o'clock and continued until nearly 1 o'clock this morning. The music for dancing, which was a feature, was furnished by Van Eps Brothers.

RUBBISH FIRE.

A slight fire in a box of rubbish in the rear of the store located at 521 West Third street was extinguished by the local fire department this afternoon. The blaze was put out with chemicals with no damage resulting.

—Neuman Bros. are receiving daily large shipments of choice fruit and among the offerings for tomorrow will be strawberries, raspberries, blackberries, huckleberries, currants, cherries, Rockyford melons, oranges and grape fruit.—Adv.

PLAINFIELD'S VETS ENOYING THE TIME

"H. C. S." Writes Newsy Letters of the Old Soldiers and Their Doings.

The Plainfield veterans who left here Sunday morning for the Gettysburg reunion arrived at their destination at 1:30 o'clock Monday morning, fifteen minutes ahead of schedule time and were located in their headquarters a half-hour later. Since then they have been enjoying every minute of the time and not a case of illness has been reported among the number. It is the opinion of the local delegation that the Jersey vets are standing the heat and excitement of the reunion much better than those from any other section of the country.

"Left Reading 2:55 a. m. Took on six extra coaches 'loaded' for the Gettysburg 'scrap.' Just passed Miller's pure rye distilling plant. Conductor would not stop. The miles and miles of beautiful fields of wheat, rye, oats, corn, potatoes and hay are a sight. You can bet Pennsylvania can feed two Gettysburg reunions twice a year.

"Lebanon, Pa., 10:36 a. m., town closed up and gone to church. A company of 1861 soldiers was at the station. Did not stop for them. Another special train following will pick them up. 11:45 a. m., passing Harrisburg. Changed engines and crew. 12:05 p. m., just reached Carlisle Junction. Now we are on the 'one-legged push and pull railroad. If we get over the mountains all right we wil get into Gettysburg on time.

"The Reading Railroad gave us a surprise by giving us better service than we expected. When we arrived at Allentown the company hustled us out of the New Jersey Central train and put us on a special flyer, making only two stops. We arrived at Gettysburg fifteen minutes ahead of scheduled time, 1:30 a. m., and were located in quarters at 1:45.

"It is almost the unanimous opinion, especially among the Confederate vets, that all reporters and publishers cannot say too highly the work of Uncle Sam, the Gettysburg Commission, the noble State of New Jersey and the big heart of our big hostess, the great State of Pennsylvania, for the noble provision, care and great honors conferred on the '61-'65 veterans in the almost perfect care, comfort and attention. There are thousands of Boy Scouts to assist and wait on the old vets.

"There is but one complaint that could be listened to. Some of the beefsteak is a little tough for some of the tender mouths of the vets, but the juice is as sweet as can be. If you hear of any growling or criticism, bet your entire 'wad of doe' that nine out of every ten such complaints come from high bounty subs or tin soldiers that never smelled powder. Every true blue volunteer veteran that did the work of fifty years ago, never thought nor asked for pay, pension nor plenty and took what came and was always ready for any orders.

BENNETT BUYS PARTNER'S INTEREST IN GROCERY

J. L. Bennett, who has been a member of the grocery firm of J. G. Williams & Co., of West Front street, for the past two years, has bought out the interest of Mr. Williams, the change taking effect yesterday, and he will continue to conduct a first-class grocery. Mr. Williams will remain in the employ of Mr. Bennett for the present.

Mr. Bennett prior to his present business connection was employed by one of the leading grocery firms of the city for twenty years and has had an extensive experience in the business. His present store is one of the oldest in the city.

GOING TO ENGLAND.

Somerville, July 2.—James Kermode, formerly of Plainfield, but a resident of this place for several years, accompanies Ernest Talbot, who left for London, England, today, in response to a cablegram informing them of the serious illness of Mr. Talbot's father. On account of his father's age, about eighty years, it is feared that he may not recover. The elder Mr. Talbot is the father of ten children, three of whom are in this country. This is the first threatened break in the family. Mrs. Kermode left for England a few months ago. Mr. Kermode and Mr. Talbot expect to return in two months.

PLANNING ANNUAL PICNIC.

Arthur Utzinger, of West End avenue, an employe of the International Motor Company, went to Staten Island yesterday to make arrangements for the employes' annual picnic to be held a little later.

BORO'S MAYOR 42 YEARS WED

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Clark, Jr., Quietly Observe Marriage Anniversary.

ARE CONGRATULATED

Retired Hat Manufacturer Identified With Many Organizations Here and is Extremely Popular Among His Fellow Townsmen.

Mayor and Mrs. Robert Clark, Jr., of the borough, are today quietly celebrating the forty-second anniversary of their wedding, and receiving the congratulations of friends and nieghbors. No special celebration was arranged, in accordance with the wishes of the couple, but at noon they were guests at dinner of their son and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Edward O. Clark, of Watchung avenue. The affair was in the nature of a family gathering and was marked by many pleasing features. This afternoon, the Thimble Club, of which Mrs. Clark is a member, met and the latter was showered with congratulations and good wishes.

Mr. and Mrs. Clark have been residents of the borough since 1898, having removed there from North Plainfield Township in that year. For ten years prior to that they lived in the township. The couple was married in Newark forty-one years ago today. Rev. Isaac G. Brokaw, who at present lives in Somerville, performed the ceremony.

For many years Mr. Clark was engaged in the manufacture of men's hats in Newark, his factory being one of the largest in this section. A few years ago he gave up active business and had planned to live in retirement, when at the earnest solicitation of friends he consented to become a candidate for the Republican Mayoralty nomination in the borough a year ago last fall. He was successful at the primary and election, defeating S. St. John McCutchen, the Democratic candidate, by a good majority.

Since taking office, Mr. Clark has been active in looking after the interests of the borough and he has been ably supported by the Council and other friends. Both Mr. and Mrs. Clark are active members of Trinity Reformed church, and interested in the various societies. Mr. Clark has served the church as an elder for several years. He is also a member of Plainfield Lodge, No. 885, B. P. O. E.

By the union three sons were born to the couple, Robert M. Clark, a lawyer, living in New York, and Edward O. and Albert C. Clark, of the borough.

BOROUGH GETS AFTER AUTO SPEED MANIACS

Mayor Robert Clark, Jr., of North Plainfield, has ordered borough police to strictly enforce the automobile speed laws. In an interview with a Daily Press reporter today the Mayor said that violations have been frequent in the streets of the borough, especially on Mountain avenue, and that he has started a crusade against the violators.

"The schools are now closed," the Mayor said, "and many of the children seek the streets in which to frolic and carry on their games. The lack of suitable playgrounds to attract the youngsters from the traveling thoroughfares causes this condition to exist, but regardless of these facts and regardless of the fact that children's parents should not allow their youngsters to play in the roadways, automobiles should drive at reasonable speed and thus protect the borough's inhabitants from serious injury or death."

HOURS FOR USING A HOSE.

The hours for using a hose for the lawn as fixed by the Plainfield-Union Water Company, are from 6 to 9 o'clock in the morning and from 5 to 8 o'clock in the evening and from 6 to 9 o'clock as stated yesterday. During the past week the company's representatives have discovered that people have been using their hose out of hours and accordingly the water supply has been shut off.

IN POLICE COURT.

James DeCamp, of 663 West Fourth street, was released on a suspended sentence when arraigned this morning before City Judge DeMeza on a charge of non-support preferred against him by Overseer-of-the-poor Henry L. DeForest. DeCamp was scored by the court for deserting the plumbing trade to take a position in a cafe.

THE TEMPERATURE.

The temperature report from The State Trust Company today is as follows: 9 a. m., 85 degrees; 11 a. m., 93 degrees; 1 p. m., 99 degrees.

PUBLIC NOW ASSURED OF BIG EXHIBITION

Funds Raised Sufficient to Warrant Carrying Out of Elaborate Program.

Additional contributions received by the playground commission for its pyrotechnical display and band concert on the evening of July 4 have been sufficient to assure the local public of one of the greatest fireworks display ever given in this city and the money raised is sufficient to pay for the elaborate program that was originally drawn up and for which voluntary contributions were solicited. To date a total of $302 has been raised and any amount that may remain after the Fourth of July expenses are defrayed will be used in purchasing equipment for the easterly side of Parker Field which will be converted into a park for Sunday afternoon outings.

A program of fireworks consisting of ninety-two pieces and set pieces has been arranged and Naylor's band which proved to be such a feature of the demonstration last year has been re-engaged for next Friday night.

Contributions received to date:

Mayor Percy H. Stewart	$100 00
J. W. Jackson	10 00
West End Civic Ass'n	5 00
W. H. P. Veysey	5 00
Previously acknowledged	32 00
City appropriation	150 00

LAWSON'S SENTENCE ON FRIDAY, JULY 11

Misunderstandnig as to Date Leads Prosecutor to Have Time Deferred.

Dr. James F. Lawson, of East Third street, who was convicted recently by a jury on the testimony given by Miss Karin Anderson, the complaining witness, was to have been sentenced today, at Elizabeth, according to notice given by Prosecutor Alfred Stein to William Newcorn, counsel for the colored physician. This was evidently a misunderstanding, however, as Mr. Newcorn was of the impression that his client was to learn his fate Friday, July 11, the same day that Rev. Willis S. MacRorie, will be sentenced. Newcorn wrote to Stein to this effect and succeeded in having the date changed.

Although Dr. Lawson was indicted on another similar charge he will not be tried until October. The prosecution wanted both cases disposed of at this term of court, but Judge Newcorn raised the question that this would be unfair to his client because a conviction in the first case, he said would without mistake prejudice the jury that would try the doctor on the second charge.

MABEL McNEIL.

Miss Mabel McNeil, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gaston McNeil, of Elk and West Fourth streets, died at her home this morning, following a short illness of complication of diseases. She was fourteen years old. Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock at her late home. Interment will be made in Hillside cemetery.

OPENING SERVICE AT THE HOME.

Rev. Dr. Philip B. Strong, of the First Baptist church, will speak at the Netherwood Fresh Air Home Sunday afternoon at 3.45 o'clock, the opening service of the season, and the choir of that church will sing. All persons interested are invited to be present.

OUR O. K. ON THIS.

A petition is being circulated today among the grocery and meat stores to declare a half-holiday on Thursday afternoons during the summer, thus giving the clerks a little well earned recreation. A number of merchants have already signed the petition.

ANNUAL PICNIC JULY 10.

The annual picnic of the Missionary and Aid Society of Warren chapel will be held on Thursday, July 10, at the summer home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph W. Gavett on the Watchung Mountains. The trip will be made by stage.

MRS. BOGERTMAN'S FUNERAL.

The funeral of Mrs. William Bogertman was held at the late home, 302 Orange place, at 2:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Rev. Dr. Philip B. Strong, pastor of the First Baptist church, officiated. The burial was in Hillside cemetery.

WHY THIS CHANGE IN DEPARTMENT?

Overseer-of-the-Poor DeForest "Fires" His Assistant and Reason is not Known.

SUCCESSOR IS NAMED

Ousted Appointee Declines to Be Interviewed But Public Would Like to Get the Inside Facts of the Matter.

William B. Gilbert, of Crescent avenue, an artist, beginning tomorrow, will be the assistant to Henry L. DeForest, the overseer of the poor, succeeding Garrett T. Dunham, of West Front street, who has held the position ever since Mr. DeForest took charge of the poor department. The announcement of the change came as a surprise to the friends of Mr. Dunham, who believed that he was thoroughly competent and was performing the duties of his office in an efficient manner.

Efforts were made today to interview Mr. DeForest regarding the change and to learn the reason therefor, but he was out of the city. Mr. Dunham, when questioned, said that he did not care to discuss the matter at present and therefore had nothing to say.

Mr. DeForest, when he succeeded Alexander D. Ayers as overseer of the poor, under an appointment of former Mayor G. W. V. Moy, offered the position of assistant to Mr. Ayers but the latter declined to serve for personal reasons. Mr. Dunham was then offered the place and he accepted.

It is understood that Mr. Dunham's services have always been satisfactory and that the change is not due to any fault that could be found with his work. He has been familiar with all the details of the office with which his knowledge of people here has peculiarly fitted him for the place.

The new appointee has been a resident of this city all his life. He was graduated from the Plainfield High School. In recent years he has met with some success as an artist. A few months ago, Mr. Gilbert injured his leg and was a patient in a Philadelphia hospital, and only recently returned to his home in this city.

Mr. Gilbert is a cousin to Miss Helen Lovell, one of the secretaries of the Charity Organization Society, in which Mr. DeForest is deeply interested.

AUTO SPEEDER FINED $25 IN BOROUGH COURT

A. D. Runyon, of Millington, arrested in North Plainfield a week ago on a charge of reckless driving and speeding of an automobile, was fined $25 by Recorder Gano, in the borough court, this morning. It was alleged that Mr. Runyon drove his car directly into a party of three cyclists, Miss Sophie Carrar, Miss Marie Bicknell and Fred Kirchman, and they appeared in court as witnesses.

William R. Codington, appearing as counsel for Mr. Runyon, made a strong plea for clemency, claiming the charge to be the result of an unavoidable incident. Mayor Clark recently issued strict orders to the police to enforce the motor vehicle law and accordingly Recorder Gano gave the offender the limit of penalty.

ALBERT EARLE WILL SUCCEED B. J. PHELPS AS PRINCIPAL

Albert Earle, an assistant instructor in the North Plainfield High School during the past year, was promoted to the position of principal at a meeting of the North Plainfield Board of Education held Monday night, to fill the vacancy caused by Benjamin J. Phelps' resignation. Paul E. Mertz, instructor in English, was advanced to the position of teacher in Latin, which was vacated by Mr. Earle.

The following new teachers have been engaged for next year: Miss Helen K. Ray, of Huntington, L. I.; Miss Agnes Boxold, of Brooklyn; Miss Grace N. Winnie, of Fort Edwards, N. Y.; Miss Nancy Woodward, of Belleville, N. J., and Miss Edith Beers, of East Orange.

PLANS FOR STATE CONVENTION.

L. B. Woolston, of the firm of Woolston & Buckle, who is a director of the New Jersey Master Painters' Association, attended a meeting of the executive board held at Newark, when the program for the State convention to be held at Asbury Park, July 8-11, was approved. The program is one of the most attractive in recent years and will be full of interest for the members. The convention will be given an address of welcome by the Mayor of Asbury Park.

PLAINFIELD CAMPERS WON ATHLETIC HONOR

Local Boys Made Good Showing in Lake Wawayanda Meet Yesterday.

Henri Welle, engineer at the local Y. M. C. A., returned this morning from Lake Wawayanda, where he has been for the past two weeks installing a pumping plant at the Jersey Boys' Camp. Mr. Welle was the guest of honor at a gathering given by the campers last night on the eve of his departure and he was presented with a framed p[illegible] of the camp site by the boys and [illegible]lers in recognition of his work [illegible] during the two weeks he has [illegible]en installing the new feature w[illegible] was the gift of James Peacock, [illegible] West Seventh street, this city. [illegible]rles R. Scott, supervisor of the [illegible]p, made the presentation on beh[illegible] of the campers and Mr. Welle w[illegible] cheered when he accepted the gi[illegible]

Speaking of the [illegible]infield fellows at the camp Mr. [illegible]lle said this morning that every[illegible]e of them was enjoying the best of [illegible]ealth and having the time of his [illegible]e. He was one of the officials a[illegible] the atnletic meet held yesterday [illegible]ternoon and commented particul[illegible]y on the work of Godfrey Clay, [illegible] of the smallest members of the [illegible]infield group, who took three first [illegible]zes in the class in which he was [illegible]red. Clay receives three ribbons [illegible] his performances besides a silve[illegible]medal for highest point scorer. [illegible]mes and Witter Clawson and [illegible]ans Stevens, also of this city, won [illegible]ces in the athletic meet and the [illegible]afielders expect to add additional [illegible]phies this afternoon when the a[illegible]atic meet is held.

Many visitor[illegible] have attended the camp during the [illegible]me it has been in session, including Mr. and Mrs. Veysey, of this city, [illegible]ho have a boy at the State rendezvous, and many more Plainfielders are expected to visit the boys on Friday, which has been designated as the first section's visitors' day. C. William Bingeman, boys' work director of the local Y. M. C. A., who is the associate director at the camp, caused no little amount of amusement for the campers last week when he was getting ready for a trip to Plainfield to complete arrangements for the local boys' trip to camp on Thursday. Mr. Bingeman had been living for a week or more in true camper's fashion and had accumulated a pair of "sideboards" that made him resemble Robinson Crusoe but when he began to make himself presentable for the homeward journey via the barber route he found he had been the victim of a practical joke for his razor was nowhere in sight. He soon concluded, however, that pleadings were more likely to bear fruit than scoldings and after much coaxing the mischief makers finally consented to let him have the instrument and he either forgot to mention the incident when he came to Plainfield or else his modesty prevented his from doing so.

One of the Paterson boy campers caught a huge snapping turtle while fishing for pickerel in Lake Wawayanda yesterday that weighed nineteen pounds and the prize was stored away in the ice box to be served tonight for supper. When the youthful fisherman went to look for his prey this morning, however, he found that it had mysteriously disappeared and it was finally concluded that the shelled fish had escaped from the box and made its way back into the waters of Wawayanda.

TAPS FROM THE GAVEL

The following fraternities meet tonight: Plainfield Lodge, No. 885, B. P. O. E. Queen City Lodge, No. 226, I. O. O. F., at K. of P. Hall; the installation of officers will take place at this time. W[illegible]chung Council, No. 552, K. of C., at Columbus Club. Royal Council, No. 77, O. U. A. M., at [illegible]al; the installation of officers together with several items of important business will occupy the attention of the meeting. Plainfield Council, No. 2[illegible], at Junior Hall, will install officers.

Routine business and the installation of officers for the ensuing term took place at Martha Washington Council, No. 23, D. of A., last night, at Coward[illegible] Semi-annual reports were [illegible], showing that the lodge wa[illegible] in good condition. Its membersh[illegible] at present is 102. These are the off[illegible] Associate councilor, S. H. Allen [illegible] councilor, Mrs. C. E. Deal; asso[illegible] vice councilor, Mrs. Mary Hoff[illegible] recording secretary, G. B. Allen [illegible]stant recording secretary, Mr[illegible]bel Goodman; financial secret[illegible] G. Welsh; treasurer, John [illegible]an; conductor, Mrs. Mary Wels[illegible]rden, Mrs. Anna Kettenring; in[illegible]entinel, E. E. Townley; outsi[illegible]tinel, Harry Nolte; trustee fo[illegible]teen months, Harry Nolte; rep[illegible]ative to State Council, G. B. Allen.

The Daughters of Scotia will conduct a dime social at Fireman's Hall tonight. The lodge business session will be opened at 7.30. The affair is to mark the first anniversary of the fraternity.

Court Plainfield, No. 1144, I. O. Foresters, will meet at its rooms, Friday morning, at 8 o'clock to visit Court Dunellen and join in the civic celebration at the latter place.

BUILDING PERMITS FOR THE MONTH OF JUNE

The month of June has been a busy one as far as the granting of building permits are concerned. Fourteen permits were granted for the erection of dwellings and stores, the aggregate cost of which will be $66,000; four permits for garages and stables to cost $3,443; one permit for a tenement house to cost $15,000, and one permit for a theatre to cost $10,000. Eight permits were granted for alterations and additions to various buildings, the total cost to be $[illegible]8,892. The grand aggregate cost of the buildings for which permits have been granted is $113,345.

To Morris Rabinowitz, for brick tenement at 538 West Third street, to cost $15,000; to Charles C. Burke, for alterations at 648 Belvidere avenue, to cost $800; to Mrs. Gertrude Patterson, for frame garage and stable at 710 West Eighth street, to cost $3,031.

Captain Greenhut Goes to Gettysburg

Cutting short his European stay for the purpose, Captain J. B. Greenhut will attend the fiftieth anniversary of the Battle of Gettysburg, which will be held at the scene of hostilities on July 1st, 2nd, 3rd and 4th.

Captain Greenhut was especially appointed by the Governor to represent the State of Illinois.

Serving with the Union forces, his army career was a notable one. One of the first to enlist from the State of Illinois at the call of Abraham Lincoln, he won his spurs in the remarkable engagement on July 2nd, 1863.

On that memorable day, he was selected by his commanding officer, to lead a body of about 50 picked volunteers, to dislodge Confederate sharpshooters from the shelter of certain houses about 100 yards in front of the Union line, from which gunners and officers on the fighting line were being picked off.

It is quite recently that ex-Secretary of War Stimson paid belated tribute to Captain Greenhut's gallant conduct on the occasion named.

STYLISH—RELIABLE

WHY DON'T YOU LOOK "BLUE" SERGEDLY SPEAKING?

Of the former I know but little, but about the latter I'm expert.

Rothberg's Serges are priced as low as $12—as high as $25. But at $15 we have a very special "Special" that has proved itself a winner this season.

Nothing like it at the price has ever been offered anywhere—and remember, EVER is a long time, and ANYWHERE a big place.

And also remember this: Every garment you buy carries the Rothberg label—our guarantee of quality—money back without argument should same prove unsatisfactory.

A Word to the wise is—Rothberg's.

SIGNS OF SICKNESS

Symptoms That May Alarm and Yet May Not Be Serious.

CAUSED BY SIMPLE AILMENTS.

Spots Before the Eyes, For Instance, May Mean Brain Disease, but the Chances Are Thousands to One That They Arise From Some Slight Cause.

A doctor, writing in London Answers, says:

People often come to me nowadays in very great dread, because they hear ringing in the ears, see spots before the eyes, or suffer from some other symptom which they suppose to signify serious disease.

Nearly always I find that something very slight, or nothing at all, is the matter; but I do not always succeed in so convincing my patients.

These groundless fears make a great many people so nervous and miserable that an explanation of a few of the commonest symptoms of ill health may be of some service.

Noises in the ear, as of bells ringing, whistles blowing, hooters sounding, etc., most commonly arise from nervous exhaustion, slight increase of the blood supply of the brain, caused by a fit of flatulent indigestion, temporary thickening of part of the ear and nervous strain. All these are not of the least account and should cause no alarm.

No doubt some really serious disease, such as enlargement of the heart muscles does sometimes exist. But every one who feels alarm about his health should remember that almost any dangerous illness will show itself unmistakably, not by one, but by half a dozen symptoms.

Spots before the eyes may signify brain disease, but the chances are one hundred thousand to one that only some very slight cause is responsible, such as a torpid liver, weariness of the nervous system, insufficient sleep or some little congestion of the brain.

Flashes in the eyes form another source of anxiety, and they are really very startling. But, while sometimes due to eye disease, one of the commonest causes is catarrh of the stomach.

Another little eye trouble is blurred vision, which makes a nervous person think he is becoming blind. It may, of course, be due to bad sight; but, happening now and again, it is usually caused by a sluggish liver or nervous dyspepsia.

Shortness of breath gives rise to extreme distress, for the first thought is of consumption. But this is an effect of a multitude of disorders, great and small. Congestion of the liver, anaemia, obesity may cause it. It is common in chronic bronchitis—a troublesome, but by no means dangerous disease.

Sometimes, of course, it signifies more serious maladies. But then there are many other symptoms to tell the tale.

Dizziness nine times out of ten results from a disordered digestion, catarrh of the stomach especially, or from sluggishness of the liver, jaundice or temporary decrease of the blood supply of the brain. I find my patients who thus suffer turn their thoughts at once to something very grave, such as locomotor ataxia or Meniere's disease.

Confusion of mind and sleeplessness give rise to the fear of approaching insanity.

It is really wonderful how people always seize on the most fearsome explanation. But sleeplessness may be due to a hundred and one trifles and is most commonly the result of some very innocent cause.

It may be occasioned by nervous dyspepsia or catarrh of the stomach, torpid liver, excitement of the brain from overwork, tea or coffee taken late in the evening, too much smoking, too heavy bedclothes, cold feet, a badly ventilated room. I could go on for an hour writing the common causes of this trouble.

Confusion of mind may result from too little sleep, a torpid liver, indigestion, too little or too much blood in the brain and other minor things that are of no real consequence. Drowsiness makes some people think they are in for softening of the brain or some other dreadful disease. It most often arises from slow digestion, an inactive liver or from temporary decrease of the blood supply of the brain. The commonest cause of all these, though, is an oversensitive nervous system.

Occasionally, no doubt, confusion of the mind or drowsiness may be a symptom of diabetes or other serious disease, but such cases, it may be said, are the exception.

In all these cases the only sensible rule is to put an isolated symptom down to some simple and harmless cause. If there is anything seriously wrong it will make itself known by many symptoms.

"No doubt any of the things enumerated above may be the first sign of something of real gravity; but the chances are thousands to one that the cause is a mere trifle.

Which?

"If you feel chilly," said he as they strolled, "remember I have your shawl here on my arm." "You might put it around me," she said demurely.—Philadelphia Press.

I'll not confer with sorrow till tomorrow, but joy shall have her way this very day.—T. B. Aldrich.

WARM WEATHER ADVICE.

Some good advice is given by the Bureau of Chemistry, Department of Agriculture, of the Federal Government, which it will be well to heed particularly as the thermometer mercury is flirting with the 100 degrees mark. It pertains to the care and preparation of foods and is as follows:

"In hot weather bacteria multiply far more rapidly than in cold weather an produce chemical changes in foods that sometimes makes them unfit for human consumption. There is no quick, absolute way of determining the presence of hurtful bacili in food or of obtaining positive evidence of the presence of ptomaine poisons. The housewife will find eyes and nose the safest practical detective of bad food in hot weather.

"If any article has the least suspicion of taint, or doesn't smell, look or taste just right, avoid it. People eating in doubtful restaurants should be particularly careful about fish or meats cooked in spiced sauces to disguise their flavors.

"Meat, soft, slimy or spotted should be avoided; milk deteriorates rapidly under summer heat and should be kept carefully.

"All food should be covered or wrapped and always kept out of reach of the flies, deadly carriers of disease.

"People should avoid uncooked foods as a general rule and do not let the children eat the skins of fruits, especially if they have been exposed to flies or street dirt on push carts.

"People who go away on vacations get the idea that everything in a summer resort is necessarily pure. The danger of typhoid in the country is great. Insist on boiled water. If you cannot get it make sure of the source of the spring or well. Refuse water which comes from near an outhouse or stable.

"Do not be misled by the 'Guaranteed Under the Pure Food Laws' label. Examine 'Guaranteed' goods as carefully as any other kind."

A WARNING.

Not only is the practise of using the muffler cut-out a positive annoyance to others but it is a dangerous piece of fool-hardiness for it frightens horses and thereby menaces human life. There is a law against it but like many other automobile regulations it is disregarded to a great extent. The violations have been so particularly numerous of late that Police Chief Kiely today issued a warning and he has instructed his men to make arrests. This means that the offenders will pay a heavy fine for City Judge DeMeza has said from the bench that he proposes to go the limit in sentencing violators of the auto laws.

Just think of all the fun Senator Reed is denying to the local public by advising the Common Council to abandon its [illegible] proceedings in the Madison avenue widening matter for we have all been amused and entertained by that printers' ink debate between William Jeffery and Fred Endress.

The West End Avenue Sage has sent in this with a request for publication: "It may have cost Uncle Sam $150,000 to send those veterans to Gettysburg but just think what he will save in pension payments when the list of fatal heat prostrations is recorded."

This constant begging to McCombs to accept the French ambassadorship is becoming wearisome to the American public. Can it be that he is the only man in the country sutiable for the post?

We can admire former Congressman Fowler for not mincing his words in his characterization of Mulhall, whom he says is "an unmitigated, slanderous, diabolical liar."

Plainfield man, as told in this paper yesterday, located water by use of a divining rod. He could make more money if he would discover some cold waves.

How Hearst must grieve over the fact that he did not secure exclusive rights to those N. A. M. letters.

Now be honest; how many times today have you let others in on the secret by saying "It's hot?"

ROSSMORE'S BANSHEE.

Its Terrifying Wail Heralded the Death of His Father.

In "Things I Can Tell" Lord Rossmore relates that he himself was born in Dublin in 1853. His father was the third Baron Rossmore, who married Miss Josephine Lloyd of Farrinrory, County Tipperary, and whose death was duly heralded by the banshee:

"Robert Rossmore was on terms of great friendship with Sir Jonah and Lady Barrington, and once when they met at a Dublin drawing room Rossmore persuaded the Barringtons to come over the next day to Mount Kennedy, where he was then living. As the invited guests proposed to rise early they retired to bed in good time and slept soundly until 2 o'clock in the morning, when Sir Jonah was awakened by a wild and plaintive cry. He lost no time in rousing his wife, and the scared couple got up and opened the window, which looked over the grass plot beneath.

"It was a moonlight night, and the objects around the house were easily discernible, but there was nothing to be seen in the direction whence the eerie sound proceeded. Now thoroughly frightened, Lady Barrington called her maid, who straightway would not listen or look and fled in terror to the servants' quarters. The uncanny noise continued for about half an hour, when it suddenly ceased. All at once a weird cry of 'Rossmore, Rossmore, Rossmore!' was heard, and then all was still.

"The Barringtons looked at each other in dismay and were utterly bewildered as to what the cry could mean. They decided, however, not to mention the incident at Mount Kennedy and returned to bed in the hope of resuming their broken slumbers. They were not left long undisturbed, for at 7 o'clock they were awakened by a loud knocking at the bedroom door, and Sir Jonah's servant, Lawler, entered the room, his face white with terror.

"'What's the matter—what's the matter?' asked Sir Jonah. 'Is any one dead?' 'Oh, sir,' answered the man, 'Lord Rossmore's footman has just gone by in great haste, and he told me that my lord, after coming from the castle, had gone to bed in perfect health, but that about half past 2 this morning his own man, hearing a noise in his master's room, went to him and found him in the agonies of death, and before he could alarm the servants his lordship was dead.'"

LOST IN THE LAST LAP.

He Queered Things Just as the Winning Post Was in Sight.

There lived in Detroit a man who was the champion letter writer to the newspapers and to the heads of all public enterprises. One of his fads was to write every day to President Ledyard of the Michigan Central railroad and tell Ledyard wherein he was failing in the conduct of his road.

There was a letter for Ledyard every morning. They annoyed him, and he sent for his general counsel one day and said: "Russell, I'm getting tired of these letters. I will give you $3,000 more a year if you will find that man and stop him for twelve months."

Three thousand dollars more a year appealed to Russell, and he went out to find the letter writer. He found him and made a business proposition. "Now, see here," he said, "I want you to stop writing letters to Mr. Ledyard. If you will quit for a year I will give you $1,500."

The letter writer consented gladly. Things went along swimmingly for eleven months. Ledyard was happy, and Russell was happy. Then there was a wreck on the road. The letter writer could not resist the opportunity, and he wrote to Ledyard and told him what he thought about the road and its president and its management.

Ledyard sent the letter to Russell with this indorsement: "This is where you lose $3,000." And it was.—Saturday Evening Post.

THE ART OF POISONING.

Subtle Methods Used by the Natives of Central Africa.

The Central African native is a master in the art of poisoning and always on the watch for it. He will never take a drink of water or beer or eat of a dish, even when offered by a peaceful acquaintance, until the host has eaten or drunk some of it to pledge its harmlessness. He is always in fear of treachery, and with good reason, for an assassin is cheaply hired. Vegetable poisons may be made by almost any one, and the methods of administering them are cunning beyond description.

One of the cleverest ways, often resorted to when a man gets into his head an idea that a neighbor is injuring him by witchery, is to kill the unsuspecting victim by means of poisoned stakes and at the same time avoid suspicion, which would inevitably lead to a similar vengeance.

Procuring little sharpened sticks, the murderer hollows their points and inserts poison (usually made by boiling down the juice of certain shrubs or creepers) into the cavities. These he secretly plants upright, but leaning a little along the path which leads from the doomed negro's hut to his garden.

Sooner or later the intended victim slightly lacerates his bare foot by hitting one of these sharp stakes. He takes no notice of the scratch, for he is used to such trifling injuries, but in a few moments his foot and leg begin to swell, and an hour or so later he expires in agony.

The bark and roots of several trees and shrubs yield virulent poisons when properly brewed, one of which has the peculiar effect of at once paralyzing the organs of speech. The gall of the crocodile when dried in the sun and pulverized is also very deadly. The most fatal poison, however, is that prepared from an ugly, whitish tree called ujungu in German East Africa. It grows in only a few localities, and few natives will venture to cut it down, for a mere prick with a splinter will cause terrible and sometimes fatal inflammation. The negroes say that neither moths nor snakes will go near it and that birds never rest in its branches.

To make this poison the wood is burnt and its ashes are mixed with water and then boiled down to a thick paste. The natives will travel hundreds of miles to procure this paste, with which hunters anoint their arrows and spears and the bullets of their guns, dipping them after the smearing in hot beeswax to form a protective covering against loss of power as well as against accident.—Harper's Weekly.

Scattering Disease.

Dr. Leonard Hill of London holds that it is an "offense against society for any one with a cold to cough, sneeze or even talk without covering his mouth with his handkerchief. Colds kill tens of thousands every year," the doctor adds, "and yet we persist in taking no special precautions to escape them. We go to great trouble to prevent the spread of diphtheria or scarlet fever or smallpox, but the person with a cold, who is scattering deadly microbes everywhere, we treat as perfectly harmless. I thoroughly agree that during the sneezing, coughing stage the person with a cold should be isolated, so that the germs he is constantly scattering may not be breathed in by his neighbors."—New York Tribune.

A Pet Dog Cemetery.

Dead dogs fare better than many men in one town in England, where there is an exclusive cemetery for rich women's pets. Expensive dogs must have showy graves, and the owner of a toy spaniel, blue blooded Pomeranian or a French poodle doesn't think anything of paying $100 for a burial plot in the first stop on the way to the canine Valhalla. Pink headstones are stuck up over the last resting place of the aristocratic doggies, and the epitaphs are as appreciative as if they were on tombstones over the graves of the best French chefs.—New York Press.

Quaint English Surnames.

There are still the quaint surnames redolent of the soil or the early experiences in the hill country of the Cotswolds. A correspondent tells me that there are four men working on one farm on the Cotswold hills named respectively Pill, Fouracre, Pothecary and Greengrass—men clearly who have gained their surnames from some kind of idiosyncrasy or fact, men who may some day send the surname of Pill into fame.—London Telegraph.

Not Becoming.

"I didn't think Mrs. De Browne looked very attractive at the opera last night," said Dubbleigh.

"So? Why, usually she is radiant. What did she have on?" asked Winkletop.

"A large sized grouch," said Dubbleigh.—Harper's Weekly.

Unconventional.

"But, Maria, why should we make a trip abroad when we've seen so few of the places of interest in our own country? Let us visit those first."

His Absentmindness.

Professor (after dinner, looking at his empty plate in a rage)—There, we've had spinach and egg again! You know perfectly well, Amelia, that I can't eat it!—Fliegende Blatter.

Toil, feel, think, hope. You will be sure to dream enough before you die without arranging for it.—J. Sterling.

MARIE ANTOINETTE'S TOMB.

It is Located in "the Saddest Spot in Paris."

A contributor to the Manchester Guardian has been visiting the Chapelle Expiatoire, in the Rue des Mathurins, which he describes as "the saddest spot in Paris." He had got it into his head that the remains of Louis Seize and Marie Antoinette had entirely disappeared, but he was undeceived:

"This little chapel was built, after the restoration, on the site of the old burial ground of the Madeleine as an act of expiation for the horrors of the revolution and especially for the murder of the king and queen. In that graveyard it was that they were hastily buried in open coffins filled with quicklime. But loving eyes and hands watched and marked the spot, and the day came when the poor remains were brought to light. Even quicklime is not all powerful, and there remained the skulls, a bone or two and—pathetic detail—the elastic metal garters which the unhappy 'Autrichienne' was wearing when Sanson's tireless ax fell upon her beautiful neck.

"Nor was that all. The lime had formed a hard crust upon the open coffins and around the bodies, and there embedded lay all the rest."

The visitor descended a flight of steps to a subterranean chapel, dim and chilly, and he continues:

"There before me, in a tiny circular space just beneath a little stained window, stood a white marble altar. Enshrined in that altar, minus the relics at St. Denis, lie all that cruelty and hatred, time and nature, have left of Louis Seize and Marie Antoinette. All was silent. The stray visitors above had gone. The traffic penetrated not to this barren and almost secret cell. I was alone with the injured dead, with the irresolute king who was his own worst enemy, with the frivolous, fascinating, suffering, martyred queen, in whose behalf the 10,000 swords for which Burke cried out in his agony never leaped from their scabbards—alone with the poor remnants of perhaps the most historic woman in history."

This spot is seldom visited. "You wonder," says the writer, "how much the people on the boulevard a few yards away know or care about it all."

WOMEN'S LEAGUE DANCE.

The Women's League of St. Joseph's church will hold a shirtwaist dance tonight in Sebring's auditorium. A busy committee has perfected elaborate arrangements for the affair and Paroubek's orchestra has been engaged to play the terpischore music.

Plainfield Aerie, F. O. E. [illegible]

HERE AND THERE

Mrs. Andrew McDowell, of Plainfield avenue, one of the officers of the Patriotic Order of America, is proud of the fact that she is a great granddaughter of a Revolutionary soldier, his name being William Lyons, who was born at Manalapan, near Freehold, in 1753. He enlisted at the age of seventeen years and served as Gen. Washington's body guard for seven years, seven months and seventeen days and was at the surrender of Cornwallis.

Mr. Lyons possessed a chair which has been handed down to the fourth generation and is now believed to be in the family of a cousin at Princeton. Mr. Lyons lived to be nearly one hundred years old and was blind for a number of years. He died at Gravel Hill and was buried in the old Tennent church yard. This cemetery was part of the battlefield of Monmouth and the church was used as a hospital during the Battle of Monmouth.

Mrs. McDowell's grandfather, William Lyons, Jr., was in the War of 1856. During the great massacre a great uncle Joseph Lyons, and a family of seven was murdered. Thomas Beda is a Civil War veteran and four uncles, two of the name of Lyons who are dead, make the third generation that was in the war. Mrs. McDowell's brothers and father are at Gettysburg.

Mr. McDowell's grandfather, Jacob Dean, was a Revolutionary soldier. He was born near Plainsboro, this State, in 1754, and died at Grave Hill in 1827 at the age of 77 years. Mr. Dean enlisted when sixteen years old, too young for battle, but during the Battle of Princeton he was engaged in bringing salt to the soldiers. When old enough he was placed in the ranks and fought during the remainder of the Civil War.

Miss Roberson has also resigned from the First Reformed choir, of which she had bee. a member for some time. Since residing in this place Miss Roberson has made a host of friends, who will learn with regret her departure from Somerville. Possessed of a sweet soprano voice, Miss Roberson has been much in demand at various church enterprises, and she will be greatly missed.

An alarm of fire was sent in about 11.30 last night, a spark having lodged on the roof of a dwelling house near the railroad on Bridge street close to the coal yard of the Consumers' Supply Company. The slight fire was soon put out, even before the alarm had sounded. Owing to the heat of the evening, the streets were soon lined with people, very few having retired. The damage to the roof is only slight. It is thought the spark was lodged there by a passing locomotive.

PRESIDENT DECIDES TO INSPECT CANAL

COL. GEO. W. GOETHALS

Colonel George W. Goethals, chairman of the Isthmian Canal Commission, has urged President Wilson to make a trip to the canal this summer. The President told Colonel Goethals he intended to inspect the canal as soon as Congress adjourned. Colonel Goethals said he did not deem it advisable to bring any important questions relating to canal work to the President's attention until both Mr. Wilson and Mr. Garrison, Secretary of War, had inspected the canal.

WOMEN WORKERS ARE SLAVES, SAYS MRS. RAYMOND ROBINS

MRS. RAYMOND ROBINS

After she had enlivened a session of the Missouri State Wage Investigation Committee at St. Louis, Mo., by engaging in a spirited debate with Lieutenant Governor Painter on the question of the alleged wage slavery of women, Mrs. Raymond Robins, of Chicago, was today reelected president of the Woman's National Trades Union League.

SENATOR ASHURST, OF ARIZONA, SPECIFIES OKLAHOMA MAN AS LOBBYIST AND SAYS HE COULD GET A FEE OF $3,500,000

J. F. McMURRAY

When recently asked to specify a lobbyist, Senator Ashurst, of Arizona, a democrat, under oath picked upon J. F. McMurray, of McAlester, Okla. Said Senator Ashurst:—

"I have reason to believe, and suspect, and do believe, that one person at least is attempting improperly to influence legislation. I refer to a man named McMurray, who has appeared before the Indian Committee several times and I believe has been attempting improperly to influence the action of members of Congress with respect to preventing the cancellation of a certain pretended contract he has with some Indians, whereby, if this legislation is not put through, he would get a fee of $3,500,000. I might add that he is the smoothest lobbyist I ever met. He could carry a bundle of eels upstairs and never drop one."

BRIGANDS IN SKIRTS.

Robbers In Europe Who Dress Like Grand Opera Ballet Girls.

There are places in the world where women dress in men's clothing and men don women's apparel.

Even in Paris there are women dressed in cheap, coarse, masculine attire, working as teamsters and day laborers. While it is against the law, the police wink at the fact and allow them to earn peaceably their daily wages.

In Persia in some of the interior parts the women wear the strangest, oddest trouser garments. They seem to like them, too, from the fact that they cling to them in spite of all efforts to make them don feminine attire.

Then there are the Alpine dairy maids, who dress as men when they go about their work and look pretty, if we are inclined to take evidence from the numbers of men who yearly persuade them to cast off their masculine dress and put on more clinging costumes. But then their eyes are so bright and their cheeks so red that they couldn't really look homely in anything they might choose to wear.

Again, far in the north, where it is freezing cold most of the time and people dress to be comfortable and not to look pretty, the women are actually forced into trousers to keep warm.

The ancient women warriors always wore trousers. But their reasons were purely military. Besides, they were half masculine in manner and appearance and dressed to accentuate their qualities. They had to make themselves into fierce looking creatures to terrify the men on the opposing side, and from all accounts they succeeded admirably.

As for the stronger sex, there still seem to be men in existence who wear women's garb and enjoy it. In certain parts of Greece, Spain and Albania there are bands of desperate brigands who, when they are decked out for attacks on strangers or neighbors, look for all the world like grand opera ballet girls in their short, brightly colored skirts, which are made very full and sometimes even ruffled a bit. They seem tremendously proud of their attire, and rival bands strive to surpass each other in vividness of patterns and newness of styles. — Exchange.

DISAPPEARING GUNS.

Ease With Which These Coast Defense Monsters Are Operated.

Three kinds of big guns are used on the coasts to defend us from hostile invaders. When a gun is fired over an embankment or parapet it is called a barbette. The earliest guns were of this order. The parapets were notched so that the firing could be done over their top. When the gun is discharged through a port or hole in the embankment it is called a casemate. The newest kind of heavy artillery is the disappearing gun, which drops back behind its wall as soon as it is discharged.

The man who aims the gun has a little platform to one side of the machine. Things are arranged so that he can control all operations of the gun from where he stands. Electricity is used for bringing the gun up and getting it into position, and all the mechanism can be regulated by the gunner. So wonderfully is the big machine under control that it cannot be fired by any person whomsoever unless it is raised up and in firing position. When it is not in firing position it is called "out of battery."

So nicely is the gun mounted that all its great mass can be handled by two men. From the time they start loading it until the gun is mounted and ready to fire only six seconds intervene. One of the big guns can discharge a thousand pound projectile every fifty-two seconds and put a battleship out of commission six miles away.—Exchange.

The Fastest Growing Tree.

Hard, fine grained, durable wood usually grows slowly. A most remarkable exception is the eucalyptus, and this it is that gives the tree its great value as a means of reforestation. It is said that the eucalyptus grows five times as rapidly as any other tree. Seedlings have been observed to make an average growth of six inches in height a day, and one tree in California attained a height of 125 feet and a diameter of thirty-six inches in nine years. The eucalyptus will not thrive where there are frosts, but in the south it promises to go a long way toward filling the place once occupied by other hardwoods, which have been greatly reduced by demands for furniture, carriage and cooperage stock.—Harper's.

Gave Himself Away.

During a football match in the north of England a spectator persisted in making loud remarks about the conduct of the referee. At last the official went up to him and said, "Look here, my man; I've been watching you for about the last fifteen minutes!" "Aw thort so!" came the scathing reply. "Aw thort so! Aw knew very weel thou wasn't watching t' game!"—London Tatler.

Equal to the Emergency.

Indignant Wife—I wonder what you would have done if you had lived when men were first compelled to earn their bread by the sweat of their brows! Indolent Husband—I should have started a little notion store and sold handkerchiefs.—Chicago Tribune.

AVOID USELESS HEAT
USE A GAS RANGE

A coal fire makes useless heat this weather. And the useless heat costs money.

With a Gas Range you burn fuel only when you need it. There is no waste building a fire and no waiting for the fire to burn out.

Light a match, turn a valve and your fire is ready. Another turn of the valve puts the fire out and stops the expense instantly.

Large ranges for large families; small ranges for small families.

All are efficient, convenient, economical and low priced. Sold on easy terms.

NOTES FROM LABOR FIELD

The Alberta Federation of Labor will meet at Medicine Hat on July 11.

The annual convention of the American Flint Glass Workers' Union will meet next week in Newark, O.

In British Arabia a native laborer earns from 12 to 16 cents a day, on which he supports himself and his family.

Rev. Edgar G. Murphy, noted as the founder of the National Child Labor Committee, died recently at his home in New York.

Arrangements have been completed for the convention of the National Association of Postoffice Clerks in Cleveland next week.

The Great Lakes members of the Brotherhood of Steam Shovel and Dredge Men have been granted an eight-hour day with twelve hours pay.

Bookbinders in Wilmington, N. C., have organized and have received a charter from the International Brotherhood of Bookbinders.

The Canadian membership of the American Federation of Labor is about 93,000, or one-twentieth of the whole membership of that organization.

International labor organizations in North America number 148, and 99 of these have affiliated locals in the Dominion of Canada.

All workers in the provision trades in Victoria, Australia, including bakers, butchers, confectioners and grocers, have united into one union

About 5,000 tailors in New York city, who recently organized as the International Alteration Tailors' Union, have made demands for a new scale of wages and working conditions.

The postoffice and telegraph employes in Sydney, Australia, have demanded a six-hour day for those employed in the general postoffice and six and one-half hours for those employed outside.

About 200 Italian barbers in Boston who recently went out on strike with 1,300 I. W. W. barbers, have pledged themselves to secede from the I. W. W. organization and conduct a strike of their own in the near future.

The total membership of trades unions throughout the world is estimated to be close to 12,000,000. Germany has more members than any other country. Great Britain comes second in the list and the United States is third.

Atlanta labor organizations are preparing for the entertainment of the delegates to the annual convention of the Amalgamated Sheet Metal Workers' International Alliance, which is to be held in that city the first week of August.

The Swiss Federal Council has decided on September 15 next as the date for the meeting of a conference of delegates from the governments of the principal industrial countries in Europe, by invitation of the Swiss Government, to consider the drafting of an international agreement to prohibit the employment of girls and boys below specified ages and to fix a maximum ten-hour day for workers within certain other ages.

NEW PROVIDENCE PROGRAM.

New Providence, July 2.—President Arthur G. Balcom, of the New Providence Athletic Association, acting chairman of the safe and sane Fourth of July celebration committee, has announced the program for the Fourth. The exercises will be started at 9 o'clock in the morning, when about 500 members of the Uniformed Rank of the Jr. O. U. A. M. companies from Newark and Elizabeth, encamped here, will parade for an hour. A new liberty pole will be dedicated with exercises. A prayer will be offered by Rev. W H. Evans, pastor of the Methodist church; the Declaration of Independence will be read by Mayor Fred R. Rubsamen, and an address will be made by Dr. Willis Fletcher Johnson. There will be singing in the intervals and the crowd will sing "The Star-Spangled Banner" as the flag raises for the first time on the new pole. A baseball game between the New Providence A. A. and the Plainfield Royal Giants at 11 o'clock is on the program. On Passaic Oval in the afternoon a review of the First Brigade, U. R., N. J., Jr. O. U. A. M., will take place, following which another game will be played between the New Providence and the Royal Giants.

FUGITIVE SURRENDERS

Rahway, July 2.—Wesley Wells, who escaped from the New Jersey State Reformatory April 22, Monday returned to the institution and gave himself up to Superintendent Dr. Frank Moore. He said he was tired of wandering around and wished to return, serve out his time, and make a man of himself. Wells came from Medford, Burlington county. He was urged by his parents to give himself up. Wells made his escape from the barn of the reformatory with a companion, and during his absence had been to Cleveland, Philadelphia and other cities.

Queries, Comment and Answers

Sporting Editor:

Query—A player has been at the plate three times, each time being walked, giving no "times at bat." On his fourth and last trip to the platter there are no outs and a man on third. The player hits a long foul fly to right field which should have been easily fielded by the outfielder, and which in the judgment of the scorer would have resulted in the man on third's going home on the play. The fielder muffs the fly, but according to the rules the player is to be credited with a sacrifice anyway. On the next ball pitched, the batter makes a single. Now the player in question has not been "at bat" during the game, yet he has made a hit. Is this possible or is there a fallacy in my argument? C. B.

Answer—There is a fallacy in your argument. If the fielder muffs the foul fly and the batter afterwards got his base through a hit, the fielder gets an error and the batter a hit. The batter is not credited with a sacrifice because none was made and he is given a hit and one time at bat making his batting average for the day 1.000 per cent.

Query—There was some agitation here for the opening of Parker Field for outings on Sundays. When, if ever, will the recreation field be thrown open to the public on Sundays? D. W.

Answer—On Sunday afternoon, July 13.

Sporting Editor:

Query—What makes it so hot in Plainfield? W. B.

Answer—Such questions as the one you ask.

Sporting Editor:

Query—I had a bet on the Plainfield-Dunellen Central New Jersey League game played here two weeks ago but the contest was played under protest. Should the bets be paid? W. C.

Answer—All bets should be called off until after the protest is decided by the Central New Jersey League governing board.

Sporting Editor:

Query—Who do you think will win the International League pennant this year? U. L. M.

Answer—The Rochester team is the real class of the International organization.

Sporting Editor:

Query—The game of golf is a universal one and yet I do not understand how it is played. Will you briefly describe it through your columns and greatly oblige, S. T.

Answer—Golf is a delightfully fascinating game for those who play it, but for those who don't it is looked upon as a rather namby-pamby sort of endeavor. To describe it would take up too much space in a paper, and the fact that you can buy an excellent book on golf for ten cents at any of the sporting goods stores will perhaps be all the information you desire. I have been told it is a grand game and have been offered all kinds of inducements to spend an afternoon batting a little white pellet with my driver and perform the various evolutions with niblick and massie and brassie, but I have yet to play my first game of the "bally" sport.

Sporting Editor:

Query—How can I obtain a position at the Panama Canal? T. S.

Answer—Write to the Isthmian Canal Commission, Washington, D. C., for your information.

Sporting Editor:

Query—With a man on third and a batter up, one of the players, coaching on the third base line suddenly runs towards home in an endeavor to draw a throw from the pitcher. Is this act on the coacher's part a transgression of the rules, and if so, what is the penalty covering the same? P. B.

Answer—Rule 56, section 18, reads: "If, while third base is occupied, the coacher stationed near the base shall run in the direction of home base or near the base line while a fielder is making or trying to make a play on a batted ball not caught on the fly, or on a thrown ball and thereby draws a throw to the home base, the base runner entitled to third base shall be declared out by the umpire for the coacher's interference with and prevention of the legitimate play."

Sporting Editor:

Query—Is it possible to go to Lake Hopatcong by trolley and if so will you kindly tell me how to make connections? C. B.

Answer—Go from here to Newark on the Main Line trolley car and there take a Springfield avenue or South Orange avenue car to Maplewood and Morris County Traction Company car through Springfield and Summit to Madison. There is a break at Madison which can be either covered by the Lackawanna Railroad or auto bus to Morristown. From Morristown the line is intact through Dover to Lake Hopatcong.

BASEBALL NOTES

Fred Snodgrass, of the Giants, has boosted his batting average one hundred points during the past three weeks.

Eddie Collins, of the Athletics, has passed Jos. Jackson and is now the leading run-getter in the American League.

The best of the talent of the defunct Mink League has been signed up by the Nebraska State and Kansas State Leagues.

The Waterloo club, of the Central Association, has released Pitcher Ed Jokerst. Ed might try changing his name and taking a fresh start.

The Chillicothe and Lexington teams are traveling neck and neck and putting up a great battle for the Ohio State League flag.

Captain Bill Sweeney, of the Boston Braves, has been disabled many times this season and only his grit has kept him in the game.

Since he became a regular in the Pirates' ranks, Jimmy Viox has clouted his way to the top of the National League's list of heavy batsmen.

Manager "Wild Bill" Donovan is right on the job this season keeping his Providence Grays well up in the race for the International League pennant.

Clyde Milan, of the Washington team, has stolen twice as many bases as has "Hi" Myers, of the Braves, who leads the pilferers in the National League.

The champion Red Sox have not been able to land a good substitute for Charley Wagner at short. When Captain Heinie is out of the game the Sox curl up and wither.

Several major league clubs are after Pitcher Cantwell, of the Oshkosh club in the Wisconsin-Illinois League. It is said that Oshkosh has refused $3,000 for the youngster.

Among the players recently added by Manager Kelly to his tribe of Indianapolis Indians are Catcher Ira Payne, formerly of the White Sox, Tom Downey, the former Cub, and "Red" Nelson, the former spitball flinger of the Browns.

Southpaw Pate, of the Texarkana Texas-Oklahoma League team, was presented with a diamond pennant fob recently in recognition of his excellent work in shutting out the Sherman team in an 18-inning game.

Ancient dope shows that Yale did not make an intercollegiate record by winning 17 straight games. The Princeton nine of 1897 won 17 straight and the Harvard varsity nine of '85 put over 19 straight victories.

Rumor has it that charges may be filed against the Decatur club for violation of the Three-I League salary rule. If Decatur is over the salary limit the players should be pinched for copping money under false pretenses.

In the seventeen years that Honus Wagner has been in the game Larry Cheney, of the Cubs, is the only pitcher ever heard to declare that Honus has a weakness at the plate. Larry claims that Honus can be crossed when there are two strikes on him.

FINAL STANDING OF COLLEGE BALL TEAMS

Yale Won the Most Diamond Battles During the Past Season.

The standing of the college baseball teams purely on a basis of games won and lost and only with other college teams is appended. This is not necessarily their true ranking, as the strength of teams played and equality of schedule is not considered.

VETERAN DUNELLEN SCHOOLMASTER WILL APPEAR IN "COME-BACK" ROLE FRIDAY

Recorder David S. Campbell, who was Dunellen's champion athlete forty years ago, ad who, by the way, celebrated his seventieth birthday on Saturday, has announced that he will try to "come back" in the sporting events that are carded for the town's Independence Day celebration on July 4. In his younger days the suire won laurels galore as being the speediest sprinter in these parts, and on Friday next he will endeavor to duplicate his successes of past years when he competes in the 60-yard dash, a sack race and a potato racing contest.

The judge has forwarded his entry to William Deering, chairman of the celebration committee, and he is confident that he will make some of the youngsters sit up and take notice.

"I went 100 yards in close to 10 seconds thirty-five years ago and cleaned up $50 on a race, and by goll, I believe I'll come home with the bacon next Friday."

"But you're 70 years old," suggested the reporter.

"That's nothing. I feel just as good as I ever did, and by heck, if I don't make some of our schoolboys and others go some in the 60-yard race I'll eat my hat, don't you forget it," replied the judge with a twinkle in his eye.

"Sure you will," chirped in Postmaster Henry S. Garretson, who is also carded to enter some of the contests.

Despite his age Campbell is active and works every day for a local concern as its chief bookkeeper.

The recorder is a veteran schoolmaster, having taught for close to fifty years in the district schools in Warren and North Plainfield Townships. Three years ago he quit teaching to accept his present position.

Pitted against the recorder in the 60-yard dash will be his son, John Campbell, a Plainfield bank clerk, who is 20 years old.

The Board of Trade has completed all arrangements for the celebration, which will be the most elaborate affair in the town's history. There will be a mammoth procession, which will be participated in by fraternal orders of Dunellen and neighboring towns, and many business floats. There will be a contest between the Dunellen and New Market fire departments for a silver trumpet.

One of the big features at the conclusion of the parade will be the burning of an enormous paper hammer. This act will typify the end of knocking in Dunellen. Representative T. J. Scully will deliver a patriotic oration at the ball park and the festivities will be wound up with a grand fireworks display.

SAURERS PROTESTED AND GAME WILL BE REPLAYED

Members of the City League governing board decided at last night's meeting, held in the rooms of the West End A. C., to throw out the protest filed by the Saurer team against the Royal Giants and to replay the game at the end of the season should the standing of the clubs at that time require it. The contest in question will be thrown out of the percentage column until replayed.

Owing to the satisfactory settlement effected at last night's meeting the Royal Giants will not withdraw, as they threatened to do should the protest be decided against them, and the Public Service nine, which is looking forward to an opportunity to take out a City League franchise, did not get the opportunity to enter.

RITCHIE-RIVERS BATTLE.

San Francisco, Cal., July 2.—With the near approach of the date for the fight between Willie Ritchie and Joe Rivers public interest in the battle has increased to a noticeable extent. It will be the only contest on the entire Fourth of July calendar in which a title is involved and will be the first fight in which Ritchie has engaged since he won the championship from Ad Wolgast. The prevailing opinion that Rivers is capable of giving the champion a hard fight for the title and the long end of the purse adds to the interest that is being manifested in the bout. Eddie Graney, who is the promoter of the contest, expects a record-breaking crowd at the ringside. Both of the fighters completed their hard work of training today and will take it easy until the gong calls them into the ring Friday afternoon. Judging from the reports given out at their respective training quarters there is little to choose between the two fighters so far as physical condition is concerned.

NEW LEAGUE SECRETARY.

John Denny a member of the West End Athletic Club, is acting as secretary of the City Baseball League in the absence of C. C. Thompson, who was the former occupant of this position.

PLAINFIELD CREDITED WITH PRODUCING ANOTHER JINX

New York sporting writers continue to take their regular cracks at Plainfield and its ball players, and every time a pitcher is pounded to the four corners of the lot or a batter whiffs the empty air with two down and two on with a hit needed to win the game, they are sure to connect these personages with the City by the Hills. Thus it happened yesterday afternoon, when the illustrious Ershine Mayor, until lately regarded as a jinx destroyer in the Philadelphia camp, was announced as a native of Plainfield, N. J., by this morning's New York Press in mentioning the game played between the Philas and Giants yesterday afternoon.

In the sixth, when Rixey began to wigwag, Mayor was sent to the rubber with two down, but before this new addition to the athletic history of the Queen City could ring up an out he had three hits chalked against him.

SLOCUM AT HIGH BRIDGE.

Since it was announced yesterday that Bound Brook and New Brunswick had been dropped from the Central New Jersey Baseball League, the various other teams in the organization have been looking out for the material that formerly made up these combinations in order to strengthen the remaining clubs. Louis Slocum, of this city, who has been twirling for the New Brunswick team, is wanted by High Bridge and in all probability he will wear a High Bridge uniform on the Fourth of July. High Bridge has been short a twirler for some time past and Manager Dorflinger, of the Plainfield team, has been supplying moundsmen for each of the contests.

DUNELLEN NEEDS A CATCHER.

With the announcement of Louis Dixon's leaving for the Empire League, Bob Bogardus is on the trail of another man to fill his place behind the bat, and from all reports he seems to have his eyes focused on Bill Samuels, who caught Slocum on the Brunswick aggregation before that team was dropped from the league. Should Bogardus succeed in signing up Samuels he would have a man who would greatly bolster his team both in the field and at the bat.

BIG HENLEY REGATTA OPENS ON THE THAMES

United States Not Represented in Annual Races in London.

London, July 2.—The annual Henley regatta opened today and will continue through the remainder of the week. No oarsmen of the United States are entered in the regatta this year, but Canada is better represented than ever before and it would not be surprising if one of the coveted trophies was captured by the Canadians.

Most interest centers in the contest for the Grand Challenge Cup, which for seventy-five years has been considered the "blue ribbon" of amateur rowing. The trophy is now held by an Australian crew and was previously won by a Belgian crew several times. This year an eight-oared crew from the Argonaut Rowing Club of Toronto, will endeavor once more to score a victory for the Dominion. The only foreign entry in the Grand Challenge event is that of the Paris Rowing Club.

An Argonaut four is entered for the Stewards' Challenge Cup, while in the Diamond Sculls competition the same club will be represented by their crack single sculler, Everand B. Butler.

The race for the Diamond Sculls will bring together many of the foremost amateur single scullers of the entire world. In addition to the entries from the United Kingdom the participants will include representatives of Canada, Tasmania, Germany, Russia, France, Italy and Monaco.

When Plainfield Citizens Show a Way

There can be no reason why any reader of this who suffers the tortures of an aching back, the annoyance of urinary disorders, the pains and dangers of kidney ills will fail to heeds the words of a neighbor who has found relief. Read what a Plainfield citizen says:

Mrs. E. Dorflinger, 400 Clinton avenue, Plainfield, N. J., says: "The first symptom of kidney trouble in my case was a dull, heavy pain in my back and head. This was followed by a tired, languid feeling and I knew that my kidneys were gradually giving out. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised and getting a box at Randolph's drug store, I began using them. Before long I improved and I continued until I was cured. I hold just as high an opinion of Doan's Kidney Pills now as when I gave my former testimonial. The cure they made has been permanent."

Saturday Half Holiday.

During June, July, August and until September 20, the Plainfield Daily Press will go to press promptly at 1 p. m. on Saturdays. Our readers and advertisers by getting copy in the office early on that day will greatly assist the management. Classified advertisements will be received until noon on Saturdays.

SALT LAKE CITY IN GALA ATTIRE FOR CONVENTION

Salt Lake City, Utah, July 2.—Salt Lake City is dressed in holiday attire and thronged with the advance guard of the army of teachers who are to attend the annual convention of the National Educational Association. Although the business of the convention will not get under way until Saturday there are already many arrivals. The early visitors will devote the time preceding the opening of the convention to seeing the sights of Salt Lake City and vicinity.

The State of Utah as well as the citizens of Salt Lake City has appropriated money to meet the expenses of the convention. The result of this double expenditure is attended by the perfection of details looking to the entertainment of the thousands of pedagogues who will be here from every part of the country.

The general sessions of the convention will take place in the great Mormon Tabernacle. Numerous other halls will be used for the meetings of the various departments of the association. Every department will have its separate meeting place, and special rest rooms, reception parlors, information bureaus and the like will be provided.

INTERNATIONAL FESTIVAL OPENS WITH MANY VISITORS

Pittsburgh, Pa., July 2.—The international eisteddfod, the great Welsh musical and literary festival, was opened in this city today. The predictions that the gathering would be the largest and most representative of its kind ever held in America have already been fulfilled. Nearly every State of the Union and many of the provinces of Canada are represented among the visitors. From Wales has come a large and distinguished delegation headed by Rev. Evan Rees, of Cardiff, the chief bard of Wales.

Mr. Rees has come to the eisteddfod on a special mission to supervise the establishing of an American branch of the Bardic Gorsedd, an ancient institution composed of all the leading literati of Welsh descent in the world. Mr. Rees, who is the archdruid of the order, will assist the Welshmen of America in the ceremonies, which will embody all the old rites and customs of the parent organization in Great Britain.

The prizes offered at the present eisteddfod for musical and literary compositions are larger and more numerous than ever before. The program provides for competitions for men's choirs and women's choirs. The Welsh societies of Chicago, Buffalo, Cleveland, Columbus, Utica, Harrisburg, Altoona, Pittsburgh, Scranton, Youngstown, Philadelphia and a number of other cities are entered. The famous Porth Choir of Wales also will take part.

The greatest interest of the week centers in the chief choral competition, which will take place Friday, the last day of the eisteddfod. The prize amounts to $7,000, and each competing choir is required to learn the choruses in Sir Edward Elgar's "King Olaf," a work of 200 pages.

PROGRESSIVE CONFERENCE.

Newport, R. I., July 2.—The so-called summer capital today became the mecca for noted leaders of the Progressive party from many sections of the country. They have come to Newport for a two days' rally and conference which promises to be the most notable gathering of the party leaders since the Chicago convention last fall. In addition to the conference of the leaders the program calls for a series of public rallies in the new convention hall, with a monster clambake as the chief feature of entertainment. Colonel Roosevelt is on and and this afternoon he delivered a non-partisan address on the subject of the American navy. Former Senator Beveridge, Gifford Pinchot and several other Progressives leaders of national prominence are scheduled for addresses tomorrow.

CITY MAY BUILD WAITING-ROOM

Jersey City, July 2.—Mrs. William D. Edwards, of this city, yesterday received word that Supreme Court Justices Swayze and Bergen have decided that the city of Jersey City has the right to erect a waiting-room in the triangle plot at Montgomery street and Bergen avenue, Jersey City. The opinion was written by the justices in the case of Thomas H. Gardner vs. the Mayor and aldermen of Jersey City and others. When the triangle was taken over by the city it started to erect a public comfort station and waiting-room. Gardner and Miles Beemer certiorarried the action of the city on the ground that the waiting-room should be built by the Public Service Railway Company, if it was built at all.

CUTS THROAT, BUT NOT DEEPLY.

Elizabeth, July 2.—Patrick Coogan, thirty-one years old, an engineer, living at 316 Elizabeth avenue, attempted to end his life yesterday by cutting his throat with a razor. Members of his family prevented him from inflicting a serious cut. Patrolman Kelly sent Coogan to the Alexian Brothers' Hospital by ambulance. The wound extended from ear to ear, but is not deep. Coogan was overcome by heat two years ago and Monday's hot spell is believed to have affected his mind temporarily.

FLEET TO BECOME REAL COUNTRY FAIR, PERHAPS.

At last the "little navy" men of the House have come to a realization that the battle ships of the American navy possibly may be of some use. Representative W. S. Goodwin, of Arkansas, a democrat, has evolved the marvellous scheme of turning the fleet into a travelling exposition of the products of American farms and factories and sending them to foreign ports.

If Mr. Goodwin's enthusiasm should sweep Congress off its feet England, France, Germany, Japan and the Latin-American republics will be edified in the near future by the sight of piles of Indiana pumpkins in the magazines of American battle ships instead of fourteen inch shells. When a battle ship is "dressed" instead of flags there will be suspended from the dressing line strings of shoes from Massachusetts factories. Armor belt just above the water line will be painted in large letters, "Made by the United States Steel Corporation."

Instead of smokeless powder and torpedoes the battle ships will carry flour from Minnesota and Wisconsin and corn meal from the "corn belt." Prize pigs from Iowa might occupy pens on the quarterdeck.

Favors and Fun for the Fourth.

Now that the "Sane Fourth" is the rule of the day, patriotic mankind must find some other means than noise and fire for expressing his satisfaction with his country. A picnic, a tramp through the woods or fields, a luncheon, a canoe trip, or a festive family dinner—one of these means of merrymaking may be planned to make the day pleasant for old and young alike.

Paper Favors.

The most easily made favors are those of crepe paper. This comes in various patriotic designs—eagles, cherries, hatchets, flags, stars and stripes—and it can be daintily manipulated into various sorts of favors. A simple place card can be made by cutting eagles or shields or flags or some other patriotic emblem from the crepe paper, pasting them on stiff paper, and barring each with a small stripe of white paper on which the name of the guests are written.

Pretty favors are small paper cases covered with frills of red, white and blue crepe paper, ruffled about the cases and half in place with paste and ribbon. These can be filled with sugared cherries, or with salted nuts. To make the sugared cherries, wash ripe fruit without stemming them and dip each in pink icing made of the white of an egg beaten stiff, thickened with fine confectioner's sugar, and colored with a little cherry juice.

A menu for the Fourth of July dinner, at which paper baskets, filled with sugared cherries, and the place cards described might be used, is as follows: Clear tomato soup, roast shoulder of lamb, mint sauce, green peas, new potatoes, surprise tomato salad and cherry ice, with small cakes.

The color note of this meal would be red. The surprise tomatoes, skinned, and served on beds of white lettuce leaves, with French dressing, could be filled with minced green pepper, and chopped nuts, mixed with mayonnaise. The cherry ice could be served in sherbet cups, with a tiny American flag stuck in each mound of ice. The cakes, like the sugared cherries, could be iced with pink icing, and half a candied cherry could be placed on each.

Cauliflower With Sauce.—Wash and blanch a compact cauliflower by boiling it in salted water for about five minutes. Then boil it in milk (head downward). Remove as soon as it is tender and drain thoroughly. Melt a tablespoonful of butter in a saucepan and stir into it a little flour, then moisten it with some of the milk in which the cauliflower was cooked. Stir the sauce until it is smooth and thick, season it with salt and pepper and add a little grated Parmesan cheese and a few drops of lemon juice and strain it over the cauliflower.

With Onion Sauce.

Fried Cauliflower.—Cut the stalks of the cauliflower from the central stem. Use only the tenderer portions. Slice these lengthwise into strips not more than a quarter of an inch in thickness and fry in butter at least half an inch in depth. In removing from the stove dust with salt, pepper, cinnamon, nutmeg and finely granulated sugar.

A sauce for this dish is made by chopping six small onions very fine, mashing them into a pulp and adding six tablespoonfuls of butter, salt and pepper to taste, half a teaspoonful of sugar, the yolks of three hard boiled eggs, one quarter teaspoonful of grated nutmeg and six well crushed cardamom seeds. Stir over a slow fire until the onions are cooked, then add the juice of one lemon and serve hot.

Baked In the Oven.

Cauliflower au Gratin.—Take several cauliflowers of medium size. Remove the leaves and trim the stalks. Put the cauliflowers, head downward, in boiling salted water and boil for thirty minutes. Take out and drain thoroughly. Break the cauliflowers into a dish, putting the flowers uppermost.

Melt in a saucepan two tablespoonfuls of butter, then mix in two tablespoonfuls of flour, and when smooth add two cupfuls of milk, half a teaspoonful of pepper and a little salt. Bring to boiling point, stirring constantly. Then add six tablespoonfuls of grated cheese, stirring it in well. Pour the sauce over the cauliflowers to cover them smoothly and sprinkle the top of each with grated cheese. Put the dishes in a hot oven to brown and serve hot.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—The Gilded Chick on the Weather Vane.

The Wind Blew the Chick to the Vane.

"HAVE I ever told you the story of how the rooster got his place on the weather vane?" asked daddy.

Jack and Evelyn could not remember that he had, so he began:

"Once upon a time there was a mother hen who was noted for her handsome chicks. Every one admired them, and she was very proud of her little ones.

"Once she did not have her usual luck with a setting of eggs. When the little chicks came out of the shells there was one egg out of which came a little half chick. He had one eye and one wing and one leg.

"One day the little half chick said to his mother: 'I'm going traveling. I'm tired of this old barnyard.'

"'This barnyard may be dull, but it's a very safe place,' his mother answered.

"'I shall be quite safe. I'm going to visit the king,' the half chick said.

"'You are very foolish,' his mother warned him. 'The king doesn't care anything about chickens except in pies.'

"But the little chick paid no attention to his mother and started out to visit the king. He had not gone far till he came to a spring that asked him to clear away the weeds that were choking it. He answered that he had no time and hurried on.

"A little farther along he came to a fire that was being smothered with damp sticks. The fire asked his help. 'I'm going to see the king, and I can't be bothered with you,' the half chick told it.

"Then he came to a bush in which the wind was tangled, and when the wind wished the chick to help free it he hopped right on, paying no attention.

"And when he came to the king's palace the cook was making a pie for his majesty. The king was wonderfully fond of chicken pie, and, seeing the little half chick, the cook caught it and threw it into the pot to boil for the pie.

"The chick begged the water not to drown it and the fire not to burn it, but these answered that when they were in trouble he would not help them. So the chick was burned to a crisp, and when the cook saw this she took the pot and threw him out.

"The wind was passing just then, and it took the chick and whirled him round and round. The chick begged the wind to let him go. The wind replied that when it had asked the chick to free it from the bush he had refused and now he need expect no favors from it, and the wind whirled the half chick to the top of the church tower, and there he stood, turning round and round, keeping his head toward the wind so that he might hear what the wind said. And since then there always has been a one legged fowl on weather vanes."

VOTES FOR WOMEN

Conducted by the Equal Suffrage League of Plainfield and North Plainfield.

The following item appeared in the Anti-Suffrage Column of the Daily Press on Saturday, June 21:

"Women voted from 1776 to 1807—why not now? The preamble to the resolution taking this vote from them gives the reason, 'In order to secure greater quiet, order and dignity at the elections.' Repeating, it is said, was a common practice, young women voting as such in the morning and then,, dressed as men, voting again in the afternoon."

Let me state the case as it appears to a suffragist. Women repeated at an election in the year 1807. Men dressed as women repeated at the same election, therefore women ought not to vote Q. E. D. And, by the way, the result of the election was allowed to stand, thereby procuring for Newark the court house so dearly desired by Elizabeth.

That was justice in 1807.

In 1913, I hope we should have called for a new election. But let us not rake up the discreditable past in New Jersey. Let us rather look to the bright future when both men and women will faithfully perform their duty on Election Day.

At a meeting in Morristown the other evening, Miss McIlvaine said that if women were enfranchised she would feel it her duty to vote.

"If others feel as you do that is a good reason for woman suffrage," replied Miss Carpenter.

This is the situation as the writer see it. The antis would vote if they were entitled to vote. They would feel that their country had need of them. But the same need is present whether we are enfranchised or not. To be good citizens we ought to vote and therefore we ought to try to obtain the vote.

In this country idiots, criminals minors and aliens are denied the ballot. It is self-evident that the majority of women are not idiots, criminals or even minors. Many are, however, voluntarily classing themselves among the alien class.

Some times I have become very indignant with English friends who would not become naturalized and give their full loving allegiance to this country. They pay taxes and receive in return a certain amount of protection. So do many women. Are not the cases very similar? But when it comes to calling it "my country" and casting a vote and being personally responsible for its welfare, they balk.

The difference between a suffragist
And her anti friend is droll.
The suffragist sees the doughnut,
The anti can see but the hole.

At the "hearing" in Trenton, Dr. Anna Shaw with her strong passion for service, said that as a young woman she had always wished to be a policeman. The other day I heard that an anti-suffragist, a very fine philanthropic woman, is a policeman in Mount Vernon. This high desire for service, then, animates the suffragist and the anti-suffragist alike and takes them out into the world to help. Perhaps we shall come together after all. Our only difference, as it seems to me, is the value we place upon the ballot. Will it be a power? The suffragists believe it will. We believe, not in force, but in government directed by the will of the people, which will is expressed at the polls.

When I think of the many able women who class themselves among the antis, I like to fortify my judgment by recalling that Mrs. Alexander, after her wide experience, is a suffragist; and also Miss Bradford, of Whittier House "the Jane Addams of New Jersey," and Mrs. ——— president of the Consumers League of New Jersey.

Going out of our State, Owen Lovejoy, Jane Addams and Florence Kelly come to mind as prominent suffragists.

In closing I would like to quote from the report of the Woman Suffrage Committee to the U. S. Senate on June 13.

Class Deserves Ballot.

We do not feel called upon in this report to discuss (if, indeed, it be debatable) the question as to the equality or inequality of the two sexes from an intellectual standpoint. It is, or at least ought to be, an axiom of American liberty that a class of persons so ready and willing to obey the laws as are the women, a class which has a peculiar care for the rights of others, a class liable as it is to be taxed in its labor and property for the support of the Government, liable as it is to punishment for acts which the law makes criminal, a class learned and in a large measure capable of the highest degree of efficiency in the useful arts and sciences, a class patient beyond estimate, and constantly pouring forth costly sacrifices for the common good of the species, should not be denied a voice in the enactment and enforcement of the laws and concerns of the Government.

By JUDIC CHOLLET

The loose or "sport" coat is in great demand this year. The illustration shows it at its best. In one view the fronts are cutaway and there is a belt, and in the other the fronts are straight and the belt is omitted. Nothing could be better for traveling or motoring and for general utility wear.

For the medium size the coat will require six yards of material twenty-seven inches wide, with five-eighths for the collar and cuffs.

LOOSE COAT WITH BELT.

This May Manton pattern is cut in sizes from 34 to 44 inches wide. Send 10 cents to this office, giving number, 7911, and it will be promptly forwarded to you by mail. If in haste send an additional two cent stamp for letter postage. When ordering use coupon.

German Princess to Wed Ex-King Manuel.

PRINCESS AUGUSTINA VICTORIA.

The handsome deposed ruler of Portugal, ex-King Manuel, although unlucky in war and state, seems to be lucky in love. His engagement to the pretty Princess Augustina Victoria of Hohenzollern has recently been announced, and the royal lovers are said to be very devoted to each other.

Little is known of the Princess Augustina in Berlin, as all of her life has been spent in the south of Germany. There is much talk in German court circles, however, as to what title she will bear as Manuel's wife. Some experts declare her rank will be only that of duchess, with the title of royal highness, while other well posted authorities assert she will share her husband's courtesy title and be known as Queen Augustina Victoria.

The young couple will be able to set up housekeeping in good style, as ex-King Manuel has a pension of $3,300 a month and the family of the princess is wealthy.

The store whose ads present the widest variety of opportunity news is "elected," always. Clothes Moth Easy to Kill.

The moth that destroys clothing has been studied by the Pennsylvania division of zoology to such good purpose that Dr. Surface gives this advice about its destruction:

"You can destroy the clothes moths by saturating with benzine or gasoline the fabric which they infest. If you will dissolve a very slight proportion of corrosive sublimate in alcohol, using not more than one part by weight to 100 parts of water and pour or sprinkle this over a cloth it will poison it and render it immune to them.

"Where clothes moths infest articles that can be spread and shaken it is a good plan to take them into the sunshine in an open yard and whip them thoroughly with strong whips and air them well. If one can place small articles in an oven and watch the temperature that it does not get higher than something like 150 to 160 degrees he can kill this pest by heat. Where the articles are small enough to put them into a closed vessel a very excellent method is to put them into something that can be closed tightly and pour over them or set upon them a shallow pan containing the liquid known as carbon bisulphide and let it stand and fumigate three or four hours or more. At least one pound of this should be used for each 100 cubic feet of space and more will do no harm. Keep fire away from it, as it is explosive, the same as the fumes of benzine or gasoline.

"A barrel will do very well for this purpose, fastening over the top of it two or more sheets of oilcloth, holding it in place by a hoop placed outside. As a last resort for household pests we can fall back upon fumigation with hydrocyanic acid gas, which is certain to be effective if properly done, but which is both expensive and somewhat dangerous when used by careless persons."

Make Your Own Lace Blouse.

Every woman who can set a stitch is laboring frantically now to fashion herself a handmade lace blouse like the Paris models that are so distractingly pretty in the shops. These French blouses are discouragingly costly, some running up to $60 and $70, a tidy price to pay for a separate shirt waist, to be sure. The distinction lies in the exquisite fineness of the material, usually all over, shadow or val lace, and in the hand stitchery, which is always expensive. Such blouses are mounted over slips of flesh colored chiffon, and the becoming and soft effect of such a blouse over shoulders and arms makes every woman who sees one on another woman determined to possess such a blouse forthwith.

Keep Down the Ice Bill.

With every return of warm weather big ice bills are bound to come in this land of frozen desserts and chilled salads and cold drinks, for there is no way to meet the demand for iced food excepting by keeping the icebox well stocked with ice. Many of the drivers of ice wagons and the handlers of the ice charge for more ice than they weigh out. The ice companies are seldom to blame. The handlers, if dishonest, charge for short weight, sell the ice so saved for cash and keep the extra money.

Basket or Crock Holder.

Cut strips of crape paper about three inches wide and braid tightly. Fasten to the flower crock or basket with glue. Sage green or brown would be pretty.

For the Children

Ruth Gaynor, Daughter of New York's Mayor.

The friends and acquaintances of the bright looking girl in the picture say she is a "chip of the old block." She is Miss Ruth Gaynor, youngest daughter of Mayor William J. Gaynor of New York city. Being the youngest, Ruth, of course, is the pride of the family. It was at the Piping Rock horse show on Long Island that the camera man found her, and with her was her loved companion, an Airedale terrier. Although but nine years of age, she is already an accomplished horsewoman and may be seen almost any morning galloping along the country roads near her father's estate at St. James, N. Y. At the recent dedication of the national Maine monument in Central park, New York, Ruth had the honor of laying on the memorial a wreath of flowers contributed by the city. With an appreciation of the honor conferred upon her the little girl performed her part of the ceremony with grace and dignity.

Pass It Along.

A lively game that makes a pleasant change after some contest of wits is the following:

At each end of the room have an empty clothes basket and one filled with articles of all sorts and sizes, large and small. Two captains are chosen, who select their teams till an equal number of players stand in two lines facing each other. A full basket is at the right hand of each of the captains and an empty one at the left of the player at the other end of the line. At a signal to begin each captain selects an article from his basket and hands it to his next neighbor, who passes it on down the line as rapidly as possible. One object after another is passed on in feverish haste and dropped into the empty baskets at the ends of the lines. If any article is dropped in its transit it must be handed back to the captain and started over again.

The side which first lands all the objects safely in the basket wins, and it adds much to the excitement if some noncombatant stands by and calls out which side is ahead, or two persons may take this part, taking sides and shouting lustily for the sides they have taken, like the fans at a ball game.

How, When and Where.

One of the company goes out of the room while the others choose a word to be guessed, one with two or three different meanings being the best.

We will suppose that the word "spring" has been chosen. When the person who is outside the room is recalled he (or she) asks each one in succession, "How do you like it?" The answers may be, "Dry" (meaning the season), "Cold and clear" (a spring of water), "Strong" (a watch spring) and "High" (a jump).

The next question is, "When do you like it?" The answers may be: "When I am in the country," "When I am thirsty," "When my watch is broken."

The next question is, "Where do you like?" and the answers may be: "Anywhere and everywhere," "In hot weather," "In the clock." The game is to try and guess the word after any of the answers, and, if right, the player last questioned takes the place of the one who is guessing; if wrong, the questioner must keep on trying.

Why is a cigar loving man like a tallow candle? Because he will smoke when he is going out.

Why is a little dog's tail like the heart of a tree? Because it is farthest from the bark.

What's the difference between an Irishman frozen to death and a Scottish highlander on a mountain peak in January? One is kilt with the cold, the other cold with the kilt.

as directed and required by the Ordinance of the City of Plainfield, entitled "An Ordinance Concerning the Construction and Repair of Sidewalks and Curbs," approved July 15, 1910, as amended, not having been completed, the Common Council of said City has directed such improvement to be made under the direction and supervision of the Street Commissioner, and further directed notice of such contemplated improvement to be given to the owner or owners of any lands thereby affected, and further directed that if such improvement shall not be completed within the time and in the manner directed in this notice, the Street Commissioner shall thereupon forthwith proceed to cause such improvement to be made by the city under his direction, as authorized by said Ordinance and the Act of the Legislature hereinafter referred to. The foregoing is a description of your property affected, sufficiently definite in terms to identify the same and the following is a description of the required improvement, viz., the construction, adjoining said property, of a sidewalk to be laid as directed in said Ordinance (to which ordinance and the record thereof in the City Clerk's Office reference is hereby made for greater certainty), at the expense of the abutting land owners, composed either (1) of bluestone flagging, smooth and even on the surface, and properly laid under the direction of the Street Commissioner, said bluestone flags to be not less than four feet long transversely to the length of the street, not less than two feet wide lengthwise of said street and not less than one and one-half inches thick in the thickest part; or (2) of concrete to be laid in conformity with the specifications for cement sidewalks as set forth in "Standard Specifications for Portland Cement Sidewalks and Curbs," filed in the office of the City Clerk, April 11th, 1910. The Street Commissioner shall give the correct lines and grades in all cases.

Notice is further given that unless said improvement shall be completed within thirty days after the publication of this notice, it is the intention of said City to make said improvement or cause the same to be made, pursuant to the authority of the Act of the Legislature of the State of New Jersey, entitled, "An Act to authorize cities to construct and repair sidewalks and curbs, and to provide for the payment of the cost thereof," approved April 13, 1908, and acts supplemental thereof and supplemental thereto.

Proof under oath of the publication or service of this notice will be filed within two days thereafter in the Office of the City Collector, being the officer charged with the duty of making official searches for liens.

Said Act of the Legislature provides that in case of non-payment of the charges authorized thereby, the land and real estate subject to the liens of such charges may be sold in the manner provided for the sale of lands for the non-payment of assessments.

Dated Plainfield, N. J., June 28, 1913.

VERDICT CUT IN HALF.

Trenton, July 2.—A verdict of $1,250 obtained in behalf of Marie Lewis, a young girl, who was run down by an automobile, was affirmed by the Supreme Court yesterday. The suit was brought against the National Cash Register Company and was tried in the Hudson Cicuit. The jury originally returned a verdict of $2,500, whereupon the trial court gave the plaintiff the option of accepting $1,250 in lieu of granting an application for a new trial. The Supreme Court held that the lesser verdict fixed by the trial court was not excessive and should be allowed to stand.

WHEN APPOINTING YOUR EXECUTOR OR TRUSTEE REMEMBER that an individual may die just when he is most needed; or he may have neither the time nor ability to properly conserve your estate; or, having both time and ability, he may blunder through inexperience.

To overcome these difficulties, there has been evolved the modern trust company, an institution whose existence is perpetual, whose time is not restricted, and whose experience is broad. This Company is receiving an increasingly large number of trust appointments. May we also serve you?

HOLIDAY EVENTS HERE TOMORROW

Amusement of Every Kind Arranged by Organizations and Individuals.

PYROTECHNICS GALORE

Central League Baseball Here in the Morning—No Postoffice Deliveries—Library Reading Rooms Opened in the Afternoon.

Hopeful that the weather observer's report of cooler weather for tomorrow will come true, Plainfielders who have sweltered and baked during the last few days are beginning once more to take interest in life and are looking forward to a fairly good holiday program. Elaborate plans have been outlined for the observance of the Queen City's first "safe and sane" Fourth of July and the program of events includes every known variety of amusement and entertainment with baseball, athletics, fireworks and numerous other diversions occupying their respective places prominently and completely on the schedule.

Although the thunder storm that was promised for last night failed to materilize, the wise ones pedict that it has blown over and that the Fourth will be fair with a cooler temperature prevailing, making it an ideal day for outings both on land and sea.

Holiday for Mail Carriers.

Postmaster Elias H. Bird has announced that Plainfield will have no mail deliveries on the Fourth for the first time in the history of the city. In all other respects the department will be carried on in the same manner as on other holidays, mail being dispatched and the lobby being opened until 10 o'clock in the morning for general delivery and for lock-box holders, but not for the delivery of any other mail except that with special delivery stamps affixed.

Children's Entertainment.

Arrangements have been completed for the "safe and sane" Fourth of July entertainment which will be given at Proctor's theatre tomorrow morning under the direction of Councilman Fred Endress, who conceived the idea of supplying a good time for the boys and girls of the city. There will be two performances, one at 9 o'clock and another at 10:30 o'clock, red tickets admitting to the first and blue tickets to the second. Children under fourteen years of age only will be admitted, but not children in arms. A feature of the program at both entertainments will be fancy dancing by Charles R. Paglione, of this city, the youngest vaudeville singer and dancer.

The rest of the program will include music by the Municipal Orchestra led by Martin A. Korff, an address by Mayor Percy H. Stewart, singing by the Turner twins, and two reels of moving pictures. The finale will be the rendition of the song, "America" by the band.

A civic firework display will be held at Parker Field in the evening, this having been made possible through an appropriation from the Common Council and voluntary subscriptions from citizens. A program consisting of the discharge of ninety-two pieces and set pieces will be presented, and Naylor's orchestra will render musical selections. The band concert will start at 7.30 o'clock and the firework exhibition at 8 o'clock. No admission will be charged to the field but a fee of ten cents will be levied for seats, the receipts to be used in equipping the easterly side of Parker Field for recreative purposes. Parker Field is large enough to accommodate thousands of persons and it is expected that the large attendance of last year will be surpassed tomorrow night.

Independence Day at the Park Club will be elaborately celebrated with a safe and sane program which will include tennis in the morning with music furnished by Montanelli's orchestra and a band concert and fireworks exhibition in the evening followed by dancing.

At the Park Golf Club there will be a special competition in the morning and afternoon followed by an exhibition of fireworks and dance in the evening. The club house will be opened in the afternoon when an informal reception will be held for club members and their friends.

For the observance of the Fourth of July in Dunellen, the ever-busy Board of Trade has aranged a program of events that is likely to surpass any celebration ever held in the borough. The boroughs of Lincoln, Middlesex, New Market and Piscataway Townships and Bound Brook will send representatives to take part in the demonstration. The first attraction on the all-day program is a parade which is scheduled to form at 9 o'clock in the morning. In the line of march will be religious, civic, fraternal and patriotic organizations; Mayor C. E. Richards and members of the Council; members of the police

HEPTASOPHS HONOR J. V. E. VANDERHOEF

Plainfielder Made a Member of the Order's Executive Committee.

J. V. E. Vanderhoef, of this city, has just received word from the Supreme Archon of the Improved Order Heptasophs, that he has been appointed a member of the supreme executive committee. This committee is composed of ten of the supreme officers and two members who are selected from the membership by the supreme archon. As the order numbers over seventy-five thousand, one can appreciate the high honor that comes to Mr. Vanderhoef and it is in recognition of the valuable services that he has rendered the order that he has been appointed.

The executive committee has general suprvision of the affairs of the order and one of its most important duties is the keeping invested of its reserve fund which amounts to nearly a million dollars. Mr. Vanderhoef has been an active member of the order for over sixteen years. He was a charter member and helped to organize Somerville Conclave, No. 476, and has always kept his membership there. He held the office of district deputy supreme archon for ten years and upon retiring from that office was appointed a member of the committee on credentials, mileage and per diem and during the past two years was chairman of this committee.

The Improved Order Heptasophs is one of the strongest fraternal insurance orders and numbers among its membership some of the biggest men in the country in business and professional life. It has paid out to beneficiaries since organization over twenty-one millions of dollars and during the past two years has paid out $3,250,000. Of this amount $199,000 was paid in New Jersey. The total amount of insurance in force is $99,281,000 and in New Jersey, $5,838,500. During the past two years the order has made great progress, having added 13,283 new members, of which 1,050 were from New Jersey. The order has no grand lodges, the subordinate conclaves being represented direct in the supreme conclaves. The cost of running the order is nominal, the total expense being a little over a dollar per member a year.

MISS BELLE QUAILEY HAS PASSED AWAY

Miss Belle Quailey, for many years a resident of Plainfield, died at Muhlenberg Hospital yesterday afternoon, following a tedious illness, which was marked by patience and the absence of complaint. Miss Quailey was born in New Providence Township, but spent the greater part of her life in this city. For eighteen years she lived with Rev. Dr Cornelius Schenck, of West Front street, becoming endeared to the members of the family through her retiring and generous disposition.

In late years Miss Quailey engaged in the profesion of nursing in which she was successful. She was a member of the Congregational church, and when able attended the services regularly. She was a devout Christian. She is survived by two sisters, Mrs. E. V. Day, of Millington, and another living in California, and two brothers, Charles Quailey, of New York, and George Quailey, of Brooklyn. The funeral will be held at the late home, 560 West Front street, Saturday morning at 10:30 o'clock and the burial will be in Millington.

FINED FIVE DOLLARS FOR BRUTAL ATTACK

An argument over the price of some vegetables led Morris Zazoria, of 515 West Third street, a vegetable dealer, to become so enraged that he struck 61-year-old John Mair, of East Front street, several times about the face and head. Patrolman Mernagh stopped the brutal attack on the aged man and arrested Zazoria. This morning the latter was fined $5 when arraigned before City Judge DeMeza on a charge of disorderly conduct and fighting.

INSTALMENT PLAN FINE.

Elizabeth, July 3—Albert Peterson, colored of Plainfield, was fined $50 by Judge Connolly in the Court of Common Pleas this morning, on a charge preferred against him by 14-year-old Margaret Lane, also colored, of Plainfield. He will have one year in which to pay the amount. The defendant was represented by Robert Newton Crane, of Plainfield.

ANTI-SUFFRAGISTS MEET AT WESTFIELD

Leaders Give Talks and Plans Are Made for Organization.

Westfield, July 3.—An enthusiastic anti-suffrage meeting was held yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Paul Q. Oliver in this place. Mrs. Sherman B. Joost and Mrs. Charles L. Sykes representing the Plainfield branch of the State association and Mrs. O. D. Oliphant, State secretary, were among the visitors. They gave interesting addresses on the work of the Association Opposed to Woman Suffrage.

Before the meeting adjourned an organization was affected and Mrs. George B. Lamb was chosen temporary chairman for the summer months. In the fall a meeting will be held to elect officers for the year. Those who were instrumental in arranging yesterday's meeting say that they have found a large number of women here who are in sympathy with the association and its work and they are confident a strong organization will be affected. Mrs. Oliphant, in addressing the women, brought many interesting facts concerning the work throughout the State.

DID THE P. S. C. LIVE UP TO ITS AGREEMENT

Has the Public Service Corporation, which was given permission to install a "Y" at East Fifth and Richmond streets, fulfilled its part of the agreement? That is the question just now among some of the members of the Common Council. Councilmen Fred Endress and P. J. Revillie believe that according to the agreement, the company was expected to pave the whole intersection at the corner, instead of only a part of the section as it has done.

Mr. Endress says that the brick pavement should be carried to the intersecting tracks and not only the crosswalks. The company has paved up to the Amiesite, which is a part of the county road and to the crosswalks. Street Commissioner A. J. Gavett, when questioned about the matter, said that he was not sure of the wording of the agreement, but intends to find the agreement to settle the dispute.

It is said that the work of paving the intersection was part of a special agreement made by the company with the city, this to cover also the installation of a "Y" at West Front street and Grant avenue. While the question cannot be settled until the agreement is found, both Mr. Endress and Mr. Reville still believe that the company agreed to pave the whole intersection which they say it has failed to do in making the improvement.

PROCTOR'S HOLIDAY BILL.

Proctor offers a big bill of vaudeville and motion pictures for the Fourth and rest of the week, it being full of ginger and "bomb" comedy. John Hanson & Co., offera riproaring comedy sketch, "That Boy Fritz," especially written for hot weather. Samuel Ash, one of the best lyric tenors on the vaudeville stage, will sing a number of clasical and popular ballads. "Pat" Baker and the "Turner Twins" will present a novel singing and dancing skit. The twins are clever and will appeal to young and old. Belleclaire & Herman, a team of comedy acrobats, will help along the holiday fun and Balzac & Baker, a pair of boys in a piano and violin act will surely please. The photo-plays will be a feature.

NEWARKER FORFEITS BAIL.

W. J. Rileq, of 188 Mulberry street, Newark, arrested yesterday afternoon on West Front street for peddling without a license and told to appear this morning before City Judge DeMeza to answer to the complaint, failed to show up and forfeited a bond of $15 which he had deposited with Chief Kiely.

CONTAGIOUS CASES IMPROVING.

Edward Smith, of 110 West Second street, who was a patient at Muhlenberg Hospital under treatment for scarlet fever, has recovered and returned to his home. There are now six patients in the contagious disease ward at the hospital and all are improving.

NO OUTDOOR SERVICE.

The outdoor services which have been so successfully conducted on Grace church lawn on Sunday afternoons will be discontinued until further notice.

THE TEMPERATURE.

The temperature report from The State Trust Company today is as follows: 9 a. m., 78 degrees; 11 a. m., 89 degrees; 1 p. m., 93 degrees.

—Martin Snyder, of 929 Prospect avenue, reported to the police this morning that his wheel was stolen yesterday from Parker Field.

IRON FLIES FROM BURNING BOX CAR

SOME NARROW ESCAPE

Two violent explosions following each other in quick succession aroused the residents of the West End at 9 o'clock last night and hundreds of persons rushed en masse to the railroad, from whence the terrific noise had come. The commotion was caused by exploding of two tanks of ammonia in a box car which was travelling east and when the first explosion occurred almost directly opposite the Loizeaux Lumber Company on Rock avenue the car became ablaze and exploded in flames and passersby sounded two alarms, one from box N[illegible] and the other No. 46. The fire continued on, the second outbreak occurring near the Ransome Concrete Company's plant, and when the blazing train reached Dunellen it was run off on a siding, where the flames were soon extinguished by streams from the Dunellen and New Market fire departments, which had answered a call and were awaiting the arrival of the moving blaze when it pulled into the yards at that place.

The first explosion set fire to the cross-trees of the telegraph pole on Rock avenue and flying pieces of burning wood coming from the box car set fire to a quantity of lumber in the Loizeaux yard, but this blaze was soon extinguished and the whole stock of lumber was saved by two women in the employ of the company who rushed to the yard with buckets of water and dirt which they threw on the fire. A vivid description of the second explosion is furnished by Harry Bogart, who lives a short distance from the Ransome Concrete Company's plant and who was one of the first to rush to the railroad. In making his way through the fields to the tracks Bogart was startled by a whizzing and whirling sound and just had time and presence of mind enough to fall to one side as the giant cap of the torpedo shaped tank passed at lightning speed over his head, burying itself several feet in the ground a short distance from where he stood.

The tank, which was seven feet long, was shot from the box car almost on a direct line for a distance over 250 feet and so great was the speed of the flying missle that it tore up the ground and shattered the limbs of trees during its ride through the air. When shot from the freight car it struck the end of a passenger train on the siding at Rock avenue and tore the rear platform off and tore down a number of electric wires, spreading peril in its path. Bogart afterwards examined the giant piece of iron, which was red hot and upon measuring it found it was seven feet long, and eleven inches in diameter at the point and weighed over 200 pounds.

Aside from the damage done to trees and electric wires the explosion completely wrecked the box car and the passenger coach will also have to undergo extensive repairs. The Plainfield fire department responded to the alarms that were sent in from boxes in this city but returned to headquarters when it was seen that the Dunellen and New Market departments had the blaze under control.

ENGINE RUNS WILD.

A Jersey Central Railroad engine which calls the passenger train leaving the local station about 1:30 o'clock in the morning, became disabled yesterday, when the driving rod came loose. Unable to stop the throbbing piece of mechanism, Fred Wilcox, the engineer, blew the necessary signals and the trainmen brought the line of coaches and engine to a stop near the East Bound Brook station, by applying the air brakes.

HENRY CORLESS.

Henry Corless, aged 65 years, a well-known machinist, died last night at his home, 412 Spooner avenue, following a lingering illness from an incurable disease. He had been a resident of Plainfield for many years. He is survived by a wife. Rev. C. H. Mallery, rector of the Church of the Heavenly Rest, will officiate at the funeral service to be held at the late home, Saturday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock. The burial will be in Hillside cemetery.

NO PAPER TOMORROW.

Tomorrow, Independence Day, will be a public holiday. The Plainfield Daily Press will not be issued.

DEFOREST IS SILENT ON DUNHAM RELEASE

Overseer-of-the-Poor is Real Sorry That Publicity Was Given His Action.

William B. Gilbert, an artist living in Crescent avenue, today began his duties as assistant to Overseer of the Poor Henry L. DeForest, in place of Garret T. Dunham, who, for an unknown reason, was discharged by his superior. As Mr. Dunham has often proven his efficiency and as his long residence in this city peculiarly fitted him for the position, the announcement that he was to be succeeded by Mr. Gilbert came as a surprise and many are awaiting an explanation.

Mr. DeForest was reached by telephone this morning by a Daily Press reporter at his office, 30 Broad street, New York, but he refused absolutely to discuss the change in his department.

"You know there is considerable discussion going on regarding your action in discharging Mr. Dunham," he was told, "and many are anxious to know just why you 'fired' your former assistant."

"I know and I am sorry," Mr. DeForest replied," but no explanation is necessary and it wasn't necessary to put anything in the paper about it, either."

He referred to the exclusive story in this paper yesterday.

FORMER CITY PHYSICIAN BILL "O K'D" BY REED

Acting upon the advice of Corporation Counsel Charles A. Reed, the Councilmanic finance committee has decided to recommend the payment of a bill of $275 claimed to be due Dr. C. B. Lufburrow for services rendered by him when he was city physician. The bill is said to include services in the care of the poor of the city. It is now six years old and the reason it was not paid before, is said to be because it was not presented at the time the services were performed. Consequently it has been passed on from one committee ton another until it reached the present one.

The matter was finally referred to Mr. Reed and he has advised the finance committee that the bill is a just one, that the city owes it and it should be paid. The Council at its meeting Monday night, July 7, is expected to pass the bill.

NELSON GIRL'S TRIAL POSTPONED UNTIL FALL

Elizabeth, July 3.—Upon the request of Assistant County Prosecutor Martin O'Connor, Judge James C. Connolly in the Union County Court, this morning, postponed the trial of Miss Gertrude Nelson, with whom Rev. Willis S. MacRorie, was found guilty of wrong-doing, until the fall term of court. The fact that the State intends to press the charge against Miss Nelson, will tend to strengthen its case against MacRorie. Judge Connolly expects to sentence the suspended minister on July 11.

There was a rumor that MacRorie might take an appeal, but as yet no announcement of such action has been made. In case the indictment against Miss Nelson was dismised, MacRorie might be able to make out a stronger case on appeal.

DENIES WILSON ASKED WITTPENN TO QUIT RACE

Trenton, July 3.—Job H. Lippincott, asistant secretary of State and press agent for H. Otto Wittpenn, Democratic Gubernatorial candidate, yesterday denied that President Wilson has asked Mr. Wittpen to withdraw from the Gubernatorial race.

"No such suggestion was ever made by the President," M. Lippincott says.

FRANK RIMMER WEDS MISS EDNA ECKERT

Rev. Dr. Zelie Performs Ceremony at Couple's New Home.

Surrounded by relatives and friends among whom were some fellow Christian Endeavor workers, Miss Edna Eckert, daughter of Mrs. Ona Eckert, became the bride of Frank Rimmer, last night, Rev. Dr. J. S. Zelie, pastor of Crescent Avenue church, officiating, the ceremony taking place in the couple's new home on West Fifth street. They were attended by Miss Eunice Eckert, sister of the bride, as bridesmaid, and Harold Brownell acting as best man. The bride carried a bouquet of white roses, while the bridesmaid carried lavender sweet peas.

As the bride and groom approached the floral altar in the parlor, "Faithful and True," from Lohengrin's Bridal Chorus was impressively rendered by choir of Hope Chapel, of which the former is a member. Thomas M. Jones, of the borough, who presided at the piano, played Mendelssohn's wedding march at the conclusion of the ritual.

Miss Eckert, for some time, has been active in church work at Hope Chapel, being a member of the choir and superintendent of the Beginner's Department of the Sunday School. For the past two years she has taught school in the Dunellen primary grades.

Mr. Rimmer is an employe of the New York Central lines. He has been associated with the work at Hope Chapel for a number of years, being treasurer of the Sunday-school. He has also acted as manager of several athletic teams representing the chapel.

Mr. and Mrs. Rimmer were the recipients of many beautiful gifts, several being sent by various organizations of Hope Chapel. Guests were present from Rutherford, Newburgh-on-the-Hudson, New York and this city. The couple left last night for Lake George, N. Y., where they will spend their honeymoon.

ITEMS OF INTEREST TO SEVENTH-DAY BAPTISTS

Rev. Eli F. Loofboro, receently of Riverside, Cal., will preach at the Seventh-Day Baptist church Sabbath morning at 10:30 o'clock. Mr. and Mrs. Loofboro with their children are in the East on a visit. Mrs. Loofboro is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. DeValois St. John, of Division street.

The leader of the Christian Endeavor Society meeting this week will be the newly-elected president, Frank A. Langworthy. Rev. Edwin Shaw, the pastor of the church, will speak at the Italian Mission at New Era, Sabbath afternoon and he will omit his chalk talk to the young people and children this week. Communion service will be celebrated at the close of the morning sermon on Sabbath Day and the church covenant meeting will be held tomorrow night at 8 o'clock.

COLORED AUTO THIEF GETS SIXTY DAYS IN JAIL

Elizabeth, July 3.—William Banks, colored, of Plainfield, charged with reckless driving and with the theft of an automobile belonging to George Clark, also of Plainfield, from a garage owned by William R. Overland, of 205 East Fifth street, in that city, was found guilty on both charges this morning in the Court of Common Pleas. Judge Connolly sentenced him to thirty days in the county jail on each charge, making a total of sixty days the prisoner will be imprisoned for the offenses. A short time previous to his arrest Banks had his chauffeur's license revoked for speeding. He was arrested in Newark while driving the Clark car at night without lights. Accompanying him was Raleigh Cruse, colored, and James F. Lang both of Plainfield.

CITY TO RENEW CONTRACT.

The Councilmanic Finance Commitee at the July meeting of the Common Council will offer a resolution authorizing a renewal of the contract with L. EVERETT COLBY CONSENTS TO RUN

Former Senator Will Be a Candidate at the Progressive Gubernatorial Primaries.

PERSONAL PLATFORM

His Political Opinions and Policies Will B His Own and Will Be Announced at a Public Meeting Shortly.

Orange, N. J., July 3, 1913.

I wish to announce my candidacy for the nomination for Governor in the Progressive primaries.

EVERETT COLBY

Former State Senator Everett Colby announced today his candidacy for the gubernatorial nomination, following a conference of State leaders at a dinner given by Mr. Colby at his home in Orange, last night. The enthusiasm of the leaders present together with the encouraging reports received from not only Progressives, but Republicans and even Democrats from all parts of the State had great weight in leading Mr. Colby to enter the race. Those present at the dinner last night discussed with Mr. Colby his candidacy and it was the unanimous opinion that he should stand for the nomination at the September primary.

Everett Colby.

After Mr. Colby decided that he would enter the race, he announced that he would present his platform within a few days. A committee on State organization of the Colby League was named to outline a skeleton form to be presented to a larger committee, the membership of which will be comprised of representatives from all parts of New Jersey.

The enthusiasm and unanimity of opinion regarding Mr. Colby's candidacy surprised even his most ardent friends and there did not appear to be a shadow of a doubt but that the former Senator was the strongest man that could be selected to seek the gubernatorial nomination. Steps will be taken at once to form branches of the Colby League in every county throughout the State with the idea of perfecting the organization in preparation for the fall campaign.

There were sixteen guests at last night's dinner, among them being Assemblyman Frank B. Jess, of Camden; Andrew Knox, of Hudson county; J. A. H. Hopkins and Charles Ennis, of Morristown; former Mayor G. W. V. Moy of this city; Judge Edward Lyon, of Middlesex county; William A. Lord, of Orange; former Sheriff William Bright, of Cape May; Judge Algernon T. Sweeney, chairman of the newly formed Colby League of Newark; Irving Taylor, of Orange; George M. Judd, of Newark; Borden D. Whiting, of Orange, and Edgar A. Knapp, of Elizabeth.

Mr. Colby in discussing the matter last night before announcing his willingness to stand for the nomination, said:

"I am free to say that the reports are very encouraging, and they indicate that if I should decide to run I am doing so in accordance with the general wish of the people. Nevertheless I am not prepared at this hour to make a statement which would bind me, because it is one of my maxims on the eve of any important decision not to let my enthusiasm nor that of my friends cause me to headlong plunge into a matter.

"I have made it a rule to sleep over a matter before passing ultimately on its merits or demerits. Many times, for example, I have prepared a speech at night which I thought covered its subject properly and in the morning, reviewing it critically, have completely changed it."

Senator Colby said tody that his platform will voice his own personal ideas on current political questions. This platform will be announced by him at a public meeting to be held shortly in Newark.

STYLISH—RELIABLE

"THE 4TH OF JULY"

In 1776 was the day in which we declared our Independence.

Why we should celebrate it above other days I never could understand.

Any men or body of men, can make a declaration—it's to "get away with it" that counts.

Making a declaration to be free, and fighting to be free was a matter of eight long weary years, stretched across many a blooded battle field.

The day we ought to celebrate is the one when Washington cornered Cornwallis at Yorktown—when the British General on one knee heard to Referee of Justice count the fateful ten seconds over him.

But let it go at that—what's the difference? A holiday, after all is only an excuse to give vent to our pent-up patriotism, or good will as is the case as Thanksgiving, Christmas and New Years.

So let's all celebrate tomorrow—but remember mere noise doesn't show patriotism.

Celebrate happily, but sanely—and cut out the tetanus packages.

ASK FOR POLICE TO QUELL RELIGIOUS DISTURBANCES

Bernardsville, July 3.—Admission by both Rev. Joseph A. Ryan, rector of the Church of Our Lady of Perpetual Help, and Rev. Tommasso Barbieri, pastor of the Italian Presbyterian church, that there is serious factional trouble in the Italian settlement that necessitates the presence of special policemen, caused a stir at the meeting of the Bernards Township Committee at Basking Ridge.

The Presbyterian pastor submitted a petition signed by eleven residents, asking that two special policemen be appointed, and suggested the names of Michael Ricciardi and Antonio Orlando. Committeeman David Buist disapproved the suggestion, saying that as there is religious strife in the settlement the committee should name policemen unaffiliated with either faction. Father Ryan said he was anxious to have order maintained, but that he believed the committee was capable of naming a suitable man.

After considerable discussion, in which it was brought out that religious feeling had aroused no little unrest in the colony, it was voted to postpone action until the next meeting on the appointment of special policemen.

Father Ryan obtained permission to hold a Holy Name Society rally in Bernardsville the second Sunday in October. Permission was also granted to the local Hungarian society to sell refreshments at its dance this evening in Bernards Inn.

The resignation of Committeeman Allen, who is going abroad, as chairman of the committee was laid over to the next meeting.

WON'T GIVE NAMES IN JURY.
Jersey Ctiy, July 3.—Sheriff Nicholas P. Wedin, yesterday, refused to give out for publication a list of the names of prospective grand and petit jurymen which he has forwarded to Justice Swayze. There are 500 names on the grand jury list and 700 names on the petit jury list.

Mrs. Martha B. Colhar, of Duer street, is spending a few days with her brother, John Van Nest, of Martinsville.

Mrs. John Roberts and son, John Lester Roberts, are visiting the parents of Mrs. Roberts, Mr. and Mrs. John Van Nest, of Martinsville.

MENDING A CABLE

The Snapping of a Submarine Line Entails Hard Work.

LOCATING THE BREAK IS EASY.

This is Accomplished by the Use of Sensitive Instruments, and Then Comes the Difficult Task of Grappling and Raising the Severed Ends.

The 700 mile cable that connected Hamilton, Bermuda, with Halifax, Nova Scotia, had snapped. Somewhere under many fathoms of water lay the two broken ends, perhaps only a few inches apart—more likely half a mile or so from each other—carried from their accustomed bed by the wash of the waves. Until the two ends were connected the thousands and thousands of dollars invested in the cable were bringing no income.

As the result of the accident Hamilton was practically isolated from the rest of the world, for the only other cable went to Jamaica. By sending a message to Jamaica and having it relayed to Newfoundland and thence by telegraph to New York it was possible to get a few words through in a fairly short time. But the tolls were enormously high.

The moment the operator at Halifax found that the key on the Bermuda cable did not respond to his touch he reported the fact to his superior in the Halifax office. Orders flew back and forth, telephone bells rang, messengers scurried in and out of the office, and in a few hours the cable repair steamer was on its way to Bermuda.

The operators at Halifax and Hamilton had located the break. It was about six miles from the Hamilton end of the cable. This they calculated with sensitive instruments used to record the "resistance."

The writer was in Hamilton when the Mackay-Bennett steamed into the harbor and through the courtesy of the captain was on board when the steamer went out and grappled for the ends of the cable and restored it to usefulness.

Even when the captain of a cable repair ship knows that the break is about six miles from one end it's no easy affair to pick up the big wire ropes. The floor of the ocean is uneven, and he must allow for slack.

The crew was ready when the ship stopped. With a splash the big grapnel went overboard, and yard after yard of line was paid out until the hook touched bottom. The water was 120 fathoms (720 feet) deep at that spot.

Luck was with the cable ship. So well had the captain calculated that the very first cast of the hook brought up one end of the broken cable. It was hauled on board. The electricians attached their instruments and called Hamilton. The station answered immediately.

A huge buoy was attached to the heavy wire rope and lowered into the water. Then we set out to find the other end.

Cast after cast of the grappling hook and not even a nibble from the missing part of the cable. Farther and farther the cable ship worked away from the buoy. At last, after three hours' work, the grapnel resisted the pull. The fish had been caught. There was a cheer from the crew as it was pulled on board, about a quarter of a mile from the other end.

This end was connected with a telegraph instrument, and the operator at Halifax, about 700 miles away, answered. There was nothing more to do except to join the broken ends.

A new section of cable was carefully spliced to the cable that had just been picked up. The cable was paid out over the stern as we steamed back to the buoy. This was hauled on board and the broken end spliced to the new piece of cable, an operation consuming less than half an hour. The repaired cable, as good as new, was dropped overboard to resume its place on the ocean's bed.

Rarely does a cable repair ship have such good luck. Often storms arise which drive the ship from her course, tear the buoys from the ends they hold and compel the work to be done over again.

In northern waters these conditions are felt at their worst. The ship becomes crusted with ice, it is difficult to maneuver and doubly so to deal with a cable on bow or stern when the roll of the seas threatens to fracture it again, and the launching of boats with men in them to buoy a loose end is hazardous.

From these causes occasionally cable ships get short of coal and have to abandon work temporarily at critical periods, or they are enmeshed among the ice floes or bergs and have to let go all and retreat.—Karl K. Kitchen in New York World.

A NEW BIRTH OF FREEDOM.

It is appropriate on this day, the fiftieth anniversary of the victory at Gettysburg, which marked the turning of the tide of the Great Rebellion, that Abraham Lincoln's address at the dedication of the Gettysburg National Cemetery, on November 19, 1863, be read by all patriotic citizens:

"Fourscore and seven years ago our fathers brought forth on this continent a new nation, conceived in liberty, and dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal.

"Now we are engaged in a great civil war, testing whether that nation, or any nation so conceived and so dedicated, can long endure. We are met on a great battle-field of that war. We have come to dedicate a portion of that field as a final resting place for those who here gave their lives that that nation might live. It is altogether fitting and proper that we should do this.

"But, in a larger sense, we cannot dedicate—we cannot consecrate—we cannot hallow—this ground. The brave men, living and dead, who struggled here, have consecrated it far above our poor power to add or detract. The world will little note nor long remember what we say here, but it can never forget what they did here. It is for us, the living, rather to be dedicated here to the unfinished work which they who fought here have thus far so nobly advanced. It is rather for us to be here dedicated to the great task remaining before us—that from these honored dead we take increased devotion to that cause for which they gave the last full measure of devotion; that we here highly resolve that these dead shall not have died in vain; that this nation, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom; and that government of the people, by the people, for the people, shall not perish from the earth."

HE'S "GOING BACK TO TRENTON."

It seems but a few short years ago that a young man, born to the purple as it were, led a political revolt that marks an epoch in the history of government in New Jersey. Blessed with riches and an unusually magnetic personality, he declared war against th eestablished order of things regarding practical politics and political custom. He threw down the gauntlet to the political grafter, the unfaithful public official and the power mightier than the people's servants, the boss. The shot he fired rang throughout the State and there was a call to arms. It was "the new idea" that was heralded abroad.

Great changes have taken place since that day. New Jersey stands redeemed. But had it not been for the rebellion which that one young man instigated, who can say that the countless progressive acts in our statute books today would ever have been enacted? This fearless and gifted young man blazed the way. He fought for the right as God gave him the power to see the right. And he freed New Jersey.

Glance for a moment at the political graveyard studded with the tombstones of political bosses. Carl Lentz was the first to fall mortally wounded in a heated campaign. Then another dropped and then another and so on until now very few are left and they are shorn of much of their former power. The might they once possessed, which none dared to question, is now exercised by its rightful owners, the people.

Everett Colby was "the man of the hour" then. Everett Colby is "the man of the hour" now. Once upon a time Carl Lentz told him he could not go back to Trenton. But he's going back to Trenton and he's going back to be Governor of New Jersey.

The action of Overseer-of-the-Poor Henry L. DeForest in dismissing Garret T. Dunham as his assistant has made him the subject of severe criticism. No fault is found as concerns the choice for Dunham's successor, but in the absence of any apparently satisfactory reason as a justification for the discharge of Dunham, the public does not take kindly to the change to say the least. But it should be remembered that DeForest pays his assistant out of his own pocket and therefore he has a right to do as he pleases in the matter.

CHRISTIAN FIELD.

Rev. Mr. Turner, of Canada, has been engaged to take charge of the meetings of Christian and Missionary Alliance for the summer. These meetings are held at the German Reformed church, Duer street and Craig place, Friday afternoons, at 3 o'clock, and in the evening at 7.45 o'clock.

Rev. C. Prentice Parker, of Kentucky, will be the celebrant and preacher at the Church of the Holy Cross, Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. There will be no evensong during July.

The local corps of the Salvation Army will entertain 250 mothers and children on their annual picnic to Wayside Park, Dunellen, tomorrow.

The Misses Burnett, of Madison avenue, will conduct the service at Rescue Mission tomorrow night. Rev. Charles Goodrich will preach at the Mission tonight.

PERSONAL.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Mulford, of Division street, are the parents of a five and-a-half pound boy. The little stranger appeared last night.

MISS JESSIE WILSON AS WHITE HOUSE BRIDE

Lancaster, Pa., July 3.—The engagement of Miss Jessie Woodrow Wilson, youngest daughter of the President, to Francis B. Sayre, of New York, will be announced at the White House on July 4, according to an authoritative statement made here last night.

Miss Wilson and Mr. Sayre have been visiting the latter's aunt, Miss Blanche Nevin, the sculptress, at her summer home, "Windsor Forges," at Churchtown, a few miles from here. Miss Wilson has returned to Washington and Mr. Sayre to New York, where he is an assistant in the office of the district attorney.

Mr. Sayre is a graduate of Princeton law school, class of 1912.

THE RACING PARSON

By M. QUAD

Copyright, 1912, by Associated Literary Press.

Moses Barrows was a well off farmer living on the outskirts of the village of Hartsville.

One day as Farmer Barrows sat on his veranda smoking his pipe a stranger driving a horse and buggy came along. Just opposite the house the horse suddenly halted and refused to go on.

"Seems to be trouble here," said Moses as he walked down to the gate.

"I should say there was!" exclaimed the stranger. "Consarn his pesky hide, but if you'll lend me an ax I'll cave his head in."

"Had him long, stranger?" was asked.

"About three weeks, and this is the third time he has balked on me. Say, now"—

"Purty good lookin' hoss," said Farmer Barrows after he had looked him over. "Where'd you get him?"

"Traded with a feller."

"Mebbe we can swop. I've got a hoss that"—

"Then trot him out. I'll trade you even up for anything with hide and hoofs."

The exchange was made without further words, and the stranger drove off. Farmer Barrows had said that there was a cause for a horse balking. It is generally understood that it is in his training.

The new owner began to practice a system of kindness. The horse did not get a harsh word and was asked to do only light work. In the course of a couple of weeks his sullenness had quite vanished, and he was hitched to a buggy to be driven to town. He took about twenty-eight steps and then stopped. He expected to hear swearing and to feel the whip, but nothing of the sort followed. He was given a lump of sugar and patted on the back as a reward of merit.

The next day he was hitched up again. This time he took a hundred steps before balking. No swearing nor whipping. More sugar and more petting. Farmer Barrows even sung the first verse of the "Sweet By and By" into his left ear. So it went every day for a week, and the farmer then said to his wife:

"That hoss is all right now and will give no more trouble."

"I hope not."

"I have always contended that kindness would do it, and here's a plain case of it. I shan't have a mite of trouble driving to town and back."

On the road to the village and half a mile from Farmer Barrows' house the highway crossed a swamp by a narrow corduroy road. Only one vehicle could pass at a time for a distance of forty rods. The new horse ambled along as if it were a joy to live until he reached the middle of the causeway, and then he stopped as suddenly as if hit by a bullet.

"By thunder!" exclaimed Farmer Barrows.

He gave the horse five minutes and then asked him to please go on.

No use.

Then he descended and gave the animal a lump of sugar and toyed with his ear and asked him as a personal favor to resume his amble. Not a resume; not an amble.

Travelers came up and stopped at either end of the blocked highway and called out:

"Say, you, what in thunder is the matter?"

"Horse has balked on me."

Farmer Barrows used the whip lightly, apologizing to the horse at the same time. No good. He moved his coat and vest, spat on his hands and was preparing to give that horse the licking of his life when the parson of his church drove up with:

"Hello, Brother Barrows. What's the matter?"

"It's this infernal horse! He balked with me!"

The parson got down and gave the new horse a looking over and said:

"Brother Barrows, you've got a sulky at home, haven't you?"

"Yes."

"Come on back and hitch that horse to the sulky. I think I know what ails him."

"Can't I kill him first?"

"No—come right along."

"You'll never get him ten feet."

The parson mounted the sulky as if he had been there before, and the horse cheerfully started off at a good trot.

A traveler came along with a good trotter and attempted to pass, but was left in the dust in great shape. The parson overtook two or three well known steppers and beat them to it handsomely.

"Well, how many times did he balk on you?" the farmer asked as the rig came back.

"Brother Barrows, you are a good man, but you have no eye for horses," smiled the parson.

"How do you mean?"

"You've been treating this animal as if he were a plug of a horse and thereby humiliating him."

"But ain't he a plug?"

"My dear brother, he can go a mile in 2:30 this very day."

"You—you mean"—

The parson nodded his head.

"But I'm a church member and can't even go to races."

The parson advanced and laid a hand on his shoulder and whispered in his ear:

"Horse racing is very, very wicked, Brother Barrows, unless—your nag comes in ahead!"

And he came in ahead at the next county fair.

BOY SCOUTS PLAN "GETTYSBURG" FIGHT

Scoutmaster Allen E. Beals Announces Novel Program for Independence Day.

In order to impress upon the boy scouts of this city the fact that this is the fiftieth anniversary of the Battle of Gettysburg, Troops Nos. 5, 8, 9 and 10, of this city, will participate in a miniature reproduction of the historic struggle at Bloody angle on Independence Day. There will be about a hundred scouts in the skirmish, which, instead of typifying battle will be symbolic of peace and resourcefulness in accordance with the plan of the national scout movement.

The boys will assemble in secret dens which have already been selected by their leaders at 4 o'clock Friday morning when the march to "Gettysburg," which has been fixed, for the occasion, in Scotch Plains notch, will start. The boundaries of the battlefield will be the base of the Watchung mountains and the westerly side of Green brook. The "Bloody Angle" has been fixed as the roadway bridge below the ice house at the upper dam. Ten patrols will participate in the contest, which involves getting through ambushes set by opposing patrols and up to the bridge without capture and then to hold the bridge against attack until 10.30.

Prisoners taken in the contest, will be set to work to prepare a barbaque in which the scouts will cook their own "eats." After this part of the day's events is finished, the boys will be called upon to solve a difficult constructive engineering feat, to bridge a thirty foot waterway in half an hour and get the entire body of scouts over and out of danger. The boys will not be permitted to take fireworks, pistols or any kind of explosive and the entire day's events will be in charge of the local Scout Commissioner, Allen E. Beals, assisted by Scoutmasters W. A. W. Thomsen, E. W. Poinee and Frederick Smith of Trinity Troop 10.

Scouts have received orders not to use their whistles in the city limits on Friday morning, or at any other time, and to exercise great care in pasing through fields under cultivation. The order regarding the whistles was issued to avoid confusion among residents, arising from the fact that the sound of a scout whistle is very similar to that of the type of whistles used by patrolmen. The scouts will return to the city by 3 p. m.

HOLIDAY EVENTS TOMORROW

department and many decorated automobiles and business wagons.

The borough today presents a gala appearance, nearly every place of business and residence being appropriately decorated with American flags and red, white and blue bunting, all contesting for the attractive prizes that have been offered for the best showing made by the enthusiastic citizens in this respect. Following the parade, which will wind up at Washington Park, speeches will be made by prominent speakers and other exercises held. An athletic meet, concerts, fireworks, etc., will conclude the program at about 10 o'clock.

BACK FROM GETTYSBURG.

Fire Chief T. O. Doane returned today from Gettysburg, Pa., where he attended the gathering of the surviving soldiers of the Blue and the Gray armies engaged in the battle fifty years ago. He reported that Uncle Sam is caring for the veterans in fine fashion and that all the Plainfield G. A. R. men are well and are enjoying the time.

MAYOR'S ORDER.

Mayor Robert Clark, Jr., of North Plainfield, has issued an order prohibiting the discharge tomorrow of blank cartridges in any form and all offenders will be prosecuted.

GUN CLUB SHOOT.

The Independent Gun Club will hold a shoot tomorrow on their grounds in North Plainfield.

MUMMY TRAINS OF BAGDAD.

Bearing the Dried and Salted Dead to Sacred Soil For Burial.

Finding myself not long ago at Bagdad (old home of Sindbad the Sailor), I decided to see for myself just what Eden looks like today, notes a writer in the Christian Herald, and to get acquainted with the people who now inhabit the old traditional homestead of Adam and Eve. I wanted to see Babylon, too, and the excavated palace of King Nebuchadnezzar—where the handwriting appeared on the wall—and I wanted to get a picture of the tower of Babel, which still lifts its battered head above the flat, empty plain of Mesopotamia.

So I crossed the odd pontoon bridge that spans the yellow Tigris at Bagdad, slipped through the massive west gate, passed the supposed tomb of Zobedia and mingled with the pilgrim horde on the great Shia caravan trail that stretches down from Turkestan and Persia, crosses Chaldea and enters the golden domed mosques at Kerbela and Nedjef. Millions have passed this way in the centuries, bringing with them the salted and dried bodies of their dead for burial in the sacred soil outside the walls of their holy Shia cities. Two hundred thousand mummified human bodies have passed through Bagdad in a single year, borne by these Shia devotees.

For miles along this strange highway our "arabanah," drawn by four galloping mules, passed these weird death caravans, silent and mysterious. The bodies of departed relatives were carried in oblong bundles, lashed to the backs of pack animals. Veiled women rode in queer, cagelike boxes, slung one on each side of a mule or a camel. The men, clad in the round, hard caps and padded clothes peculiar to Persians, marched behind, prodding any lagging donkey or camel.

VIGOR AT SEVENTY.

Great Works Performed by Men Even Beyond That Ripe Age.

Who talks of fifty years as the culminating point in man's career? Were all the great work performed by men even beyond seventy erased from history the human race would be bereft of some very proud achievements.

Jefferson founded a university by his own activity after he had passed threescore years and ten. John Quincy Adams, although he had been president of the United States and five times a foreign minister, wrought as a congressman by far his greatest deeds after he was sixty-five. His robust father sat in a constitutional convention when he was almost a nonagenarian. Franklin did valiant service in helping to frame the constitution of the United States after he had turned a serene and contented eighty.

Seventy saw Gladstone so vigorous that he was still good for the greatest battle of his political life and a premiership.

Germany's first emperor, the venerable William, saw Waterloo as a soldier, but fifty-five years later was directing armies at Sedan and welding an empire after the fall of Paris. John Bigelow at fourscore was mentally as virile as a boy, and his powers as an author were not dimmed.

Frederick Fraley was an active business man, president of a bank and the national board of trade since the Spanish-American war, and yet he was prominent enough in 1844 to serve on a committee that welcomed to Philadelphia Daniel Webster.

Science is making lives longer than they were in the days of our grandfathers and also far more comfortable. The same agency that prolongs bodily vigor will surely lengthen the age of man's most virile mental labor.—Philadelphia Ledger.

The Heaviest American Brain.

Dr. Edward A. Spitzka, the brain specialist, credits the late Edward H. Knight with having the heaviest American brain on record. Mr. Knight was well known in Washington and was a patent attorney of note. At the time of his death his brain weighed 1,814 grams. General Benjamin F. Butler had a brain which weighed 1,758 grams, the next heaviest recorded, according to Dr. Spitzka. The heaviest brain on record anywhere in the world is given as that of the Russian poet and novelist, Turgenev, which tipped the scales at 2,012 grams.

Sand Cure For Fatigue.

One of the most efficacious cures for fatigue from overwork consists in walking barefoot in sand. The nerves of the sole and heel are slightly irritated by coming in contact with the grains and accelerate the circulation of the blood in all parts of the body. The effect produced is highly invigorating. Besides this, the monotony of an ample extent of yellow sand exercises a soporific effect on the brain which induces sleep.—Exchange.

The Sponsor.

"Say, you told me Balleigh was married and had a large family, and I find him to be a confirmed bachelor."

"He is, in a manner of speaking, but he is wedded to his art, and he has a large family of unpaid bills. Why, man, I stood for most of them."—New York Times.

Modern Cleverness.

"There goes one of our cleverest men."

"Why clever?"

"Well, he's done all his stealing legally."—Detroit Free Press.

Silk Producing Insects.

There are more than 200 species of silk producing insects, though very few of these are of any practical value to mankind.

Of Interest to Women and the Home

The Housewife's Daily Economy Calendar

FRANCES MARSHALL

The Use of Net In Summer Clothes.

Net is one of the distinguishing materials of this summer's frocks. In almost every one of the new ones, whether they are made for morning, afternoon or evening wear, a touch of net is found. It is such an attractive material, so inexpensive, and so easily used, that every woman should be thankful for the style.

In a recent fashion opening, where imported clothes were shown, much of the underwear was made with ruffles or insertions or frills of net. This is a fashion that could be easily copied. A band of plain white wash net, between two strips of muslin, one of them edged with valenciennes lace, makes a dainty ruffle and is far easier to make than one rowed with tucks.

Fichus and Frills.

Net fichus are a part of many of the thin summer frocks. Silk, crepe de chine, ratine lawn—all the popular thin fabrics are made into frocks with which net fichus are worn. Net fichus can be bought ready made, or they can be easily made of net by the yard, and edged with net frilling. Net is also used in all manner of frills on lingerie frocks. Sometimes white lawn is combined with yellow, pink, mauve or blue lawn for waists. The waist itself is made of white lawn. The collar, cuffs and the frills at the front closing are all made of pleated net, edged with a narrow band of the colored lawn.

The objection frequently made to the use of pleated frills on lingerie dresses and waists that they are difficult to launder, is easily met if you possess yourself of a little device sold for ten cents with which these frills can be pleated. The work of adjusting the frill takes but a few moments.

Net Waists.

All net wash blouses are comfortable and practical for summer wear. They can be worn over a slip of chiffon. They are more easily laundered, even, than lawn blouses, for the net needs no starching if it is ironed damp and does not wrinkle easily. They should be made separate from the slip over which they are worn, as this is not so easily cleaned. The slip can be made of wash silk, and this sort is more practicable, for it can be as easily washed as the net.

The Daily Press for Thursdays containing the column on Mother's Work will be sent by mail for one dollar a year, in advance.

The crown of life was placed on woman by the Creator when to her He gave the highest function given to humanity—the bearing and nurture of children. Many are the women today who fail to grasp the great honor, the great duty, which God has given them. To realize that one is not working alone, that spiritual forces, unseen, yet more real than those that are visible, are working with us in the development of the children is a source of help and inspiration. To seek for light and knowledge as to the needs of these little ones, to fit one's self to meet them wisely is the duty of every mother. Instinct may give the love for one's own child, but it does not give the knowledge which is essential to his best development. A mother's first duty is to learn what is requisite in making the baby strong and well. She should keep herself calm and observe the laws of health in order that her child may come into the world healthy and vigorous. The mortality of infants is so great that physicians and nations are giving it serious thought and the main cause is mothers' ignorance as to baby's needs. Every mother should know that a baby has just ten times the chance to live if the mother nurses it. It is worth while to give up everything that interferes with the regular nursing of the baby. Improper food causes the death of the largest number of babies. Every mother should know that cleanliness, fresh air and healthful, sunny rooms are necessary for the baby. Ventilation is most important, and if it is possible to have the baby's naps in the open air it is very beneficial—an upper porch can often be utilized for this purpose. The first months of the baby's life should be very quiet, habit forming begins at once. The hours of feeding should be regular, the daily bath with fresh simple clothing and sleep afterwards should begin the day. The baby will go to sleep far better in his own little bed than to be rocked to sleep. It is not possible for any woman to know the requisites of a wholesome, healthful home unless she makes a study of the requirements. Mothers, have you ever thought of the breadth of motherhood? Have you ever traced the results of unintelligent motherhood? The mother who feels that her duty ends when she has provided food, clothing and a home, the mother whose view of life is limited by her own home, has not risen to the heights of motherhood. There is no knowledge too great, no education too broad, for the mother who would open to the children doors of opportunity through which they may advance to all that is true and good and useful.

A little boy in Georgia, ten years old, took a five cent bottle of soda water in nineteen ten. He was arrested and sentenced to a reformatory until he was twenty-one. The father has striven in vain to have the sentence changed. The Supreme Court has affirmed the sentence as perfectly legal. The wrongs to children in the name of law and justice have been many but it is difficult to believe that in America today there can be men who have so little appreciation of the proper treatment of childish offenses as to deprive one poor child of his entire youth for one offense. Help not punishment is the need of children. The whole future of a human son darkened, doomed to misery is a crime far greater than that committed by a child. It is by such methods as this that criminals are made. Those who would help this child so heavily oppressed, may petition Governor Brown, of Atlanta, Georgia, to grant a pardon. The boy is Ollie Taylor. His welfare is of vital moment to every American. "Whosoever shall offend one of these little ones, it were better a millstone were hanged about his neck and that he were drowned in the depths of the sea."

Every child has a right to life, and to be protected from abject poverty and all temptations that such a State forces upon it. Organized motherhood seeks to study the social conditions and to try by means of passing such laws as the widows' penson bill to give the child the material necessities to which it is entitled. Every child in the State has a right to the personal interest and aid of every adult in the State. Believing this is the only way to create a better State, parents, teachers and law-makers are becoming active parts of this child welfare organization.

SARDINE SAVORIES.

SARDINES make attractive side dishes to give relish to an otherwise flat meal. Often in an emergency the housewife is able with them to concoct dishes that can take the place of more substantial goods.

In Attractive Shapes.

Sardines In Cases.—Take six sardines, remove the bones and pound them in a mortar with a lump of butter, dessertspoonful of anchovy sauce, cayenne pepper and a tablespoonful of cream. Put the mixture into china or paper cases, sprinkle over with breadcrumbs, put a few tiny bits of butter on top and bake for five minutes or so in a hot oven.

Sardine Fingers.—Take six sardines. Skin and bone them carefully. Make some puff paste, roll it out thin and cut into small squares. Put a sardine on each piece of pastry, sprinkle with lemon juice and season with cayenne. Then roll up, dip in egg and breadcrumbs and fry in boiling fat for about ten minutes. Serve hot.

Sardine Croutes.—Skin and bone one dozen sardines and pound in a mortar. When smooth add the yolks of two hard boiled eggs, a little cayenne pepper and, drop by drop, enough olive oil to make a paste. Add a few drops of mushroom ketchup and Worcester sauce. Toast some slices of bread, butter and cut into neat rounds; then spread with the sardine paste and sprinkle the top with the finely chopped whites of the hard boiled eggs.

Garnished With Cress.

Sardines In Paste.—Put the sardines on blotting paper to drain; then remove the skin and sprinkle with flour. Make a paste by putting the beaten yolk of one large egg in a pan with one-half ounce of butter. Put the pan in a saucepan of boiling water and stir until the eggs thicken. Then remove from the fire and stir in one-half teaspoonful of curry paste, a little cayenne pepper and a few drops of lemon juice. Mask each sardine with the paste, dip in egg and breadcrumbs and fry in deep boiling fat until a golden brown. Serve each sardine on a finger of hot buttered toast and garnish with watercress.

Anna Thompson

He Threw Net and Crab Overboard.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—The Clever Crabber and the Giant Crab.

THEY were going to the seashore some day with grandpa, and Jack and Evelyn could talk of nothing else for a week ahead. Grandpa and a friend were going crabbing. The friend lived at the seashore and owned a boat.

"Be careful the crabs don't catch you," daddy warned.

"Why, we are a heap bigger than they are," Jack said.

"Crabs don't catch people," Evelyn added.

"Well, some crabs are most large enough to catch folks. I once knew a man who was very fond of crabbing. He had crabbed every since he was a very small boy.

"When he had spare time and wished to amuse himself he would go crabbing. So it was quite what might be expected that when he went to Japan on business one of the first things he should ask about was the crabbing.

"The little brown fishermen shook their heads. They did not go crabbing for fun. My friend did not have much of an opinion of the Japanese after this.

"'I'll hire a boat some day and go out and get some crabs,' he said.

"He took the boat and went out. He fished with a net known as a seine, and it was a good thing he did.

"After the boat reached what he thought might be a good place over went the net.

"It seemed as if this crab must have been prowling around under the water waiting to hop into that net so soon did he catch it.

"When he felt the net grow heavy the man dragged it up. As it reached the top of the water he drew it over into the boat, but not without some trouble. When he saw what he had caught he almost fainted.

"The crab was a huge fellow and was struggling to get out of the net. He looked so fiercely at his captor that my friend just took the net and dumped it overboard. Then he made for shore as fast as he could.

"He had lost his net, and when the old Japanese fisherman from whom he had rented both boat and net asked for his seine he was ashamed to tell him. He had been so frightened that he had thrown it overboard with the crab he had gone to catch.

"This gentleman lived in Japan to learn about the giant crab. It can deal hard blows with its big claws. The Japanese fishermen are very careful when they go out to catch it, for a crab can give them a painful wound if it gets a chance.

"In the American Museum of Natural History in New York there is a crab which is twelve feet long, and crabs have been seen which are sixteen or eighteen feet across. These, I am sure, would not be nice for small boys and girls to meet on the seashore when the crab was in a bad humor."

FOR BUNGALOW OR SUMMER PORCH

Distinctive Furnishings In a Great Variety of Pretty and Comfortable Models Now Make Outdoor Living a Joy.

HOUSES are built with such attractive porches that the porch furnishing fad has come to be general. The porch sitting room, provided the porch is spacious enough, may be fitted up like the sitting room of the ordinary bungalow. Protecting eaves and wide awnings screen it from sun and rain, while bamboo or canvas porch shades keep out the chill when days are a little raw.

For the bungalow or outdoor living room greens and browns or willow in natural color are preferable to the willow furniture painted a dead white.

A stationary porch seat built against the wall and fitted with a tufted cushion or with pillows is desirable.

Next to the question of seats in the furnishing of the outdoor room comes the question of tables. At least one table that can be used for both work and play should be provided. If it is of good size and fitted with a lower shelf it may be used for books, afternoon teas, card playing and for even an occasional outdoor breakfast or luncheon.

There are tables designed for every use, including the tea wagon and the new table that is made in two parts.

Each of these parts is triangular in shape, making a convenient little table that fits in to a corner, but when placed together makes a square table of good size.

No porch is really furnished without rugs and screens or awnings. The rugs are made more attractive each year. The grass rugs are popular; then there are the rugs of Algerian fiber.

For porches of mountain camps and of summer homes where there is practically no very hot weather the Navajo blanket makes a nice floor covering.

In the way of protection from the sun, as well as the neighbors and passersby, awnings are preferable to vines, which are sometimes used for this purpose. Vines must be grown so thick that they necessarily keep out a great deal of light and air.

BUNGALOW SITTING ROOM.

For porches where awnings are not a necessity the sun screens of flexible fiber are most satisfactory.

Flowers and plants are as necessary to a living porch as books to a library. Porch boxes filled with scarlet geraniums and nasturtiums in a variety of colors are most attractive. Potted plants are good and palms and ferns also if the porch is of ample dimensions. Hanging pots filled with ferns or vines are very practical, as they do not crowd the place and get in the way like plants that are standing around.

The rocking chair has given way to the broad, comfortable chairs in wicker and splint settees. Then there are various adaptations of the steamer chair.

Padded covers of denim or cretonne will transform the most uncompromisingly hard steamer chair into a thing of solid comfort for the porch. Porch furniture is of necessity moved about so much that it is important that it be light in weight and easily handled.

Willow furniture is generally popular for summer furnishing. Chairs are made in all varieties and sizes, with settees, swinging seats, tea tables, work tables, book and magazine tables, flower stands, tabourets and baskets, and the general scheme of furnishing is limited only by the designs of the cretonne and the colors of the stains available for the furniture.

A charming corner in a summer bungalow is illustrated here. It shows the attractive shapes in which wicker furniture may be obtained. The corner settee is finished at either end with a tall wicker stand on which is placed a wicker box lined with zinc and in which plants may be grown. A long wicker flower box is placed on the shelf back of the settee. Washable cushions make the settee comfortable as well as bright and attractive. The same idea might be modified for a porch furnishing.

AGED COUPLE RECONCILED AFTER SUIT FOR SEPARATION

Jersey City, July 3.—Arm in arm an elderly couple emerged from the Union Trust building, Jersey City, yesterday, and walked away. They were Mr. and Mrs Thomas Gaertner of West Hoboken, reconciled only a few moments before by Vice Chancellor Lewis, aided by Assemblyman Charles M. Egan and George Decker, lawyers for the two sides in a separation suit brought by the wife.

The Gaertners quarreled last November, when Mrs. Gaertner left her husband and commenced a suit for separate maintenance, charging that he beat her and was so exceedingly stingy with money that she did not receive enough to buy food for their household.

Both are about sixty years old. Gaertner promised to pay a bill of $350 contracted by his wife for her maintenance since they separated.

WOULD READJUST SIGNALS AT RAILROAD CROSSINGS

Trenton, July 3.—Readjustment of warning signals at railroad crossings, with a view to affording greater safeguards to automobilists, has been suggested by Charles R. Neidlinger, of New York, in a letter written to Commissioner Lippincott, of the State department of motor vehicles.

Mr. Lippincott has referred the communication of Mr. Neidlinger to the Board of Public Utility Commissioners, with a request that the suggestion be given such consideration as it seems to warrant.

Pointing out that railroad companies are obliged to display warning signals at railroad crossings, Mr. Neidlinger remarked that in most instances the signal is placed at a distance insufficiently removed from the rails, thus making it practically impossible for a motorist to approach the crossing with any degree of safety, because the warning is not given in time.

Mr. Neidlinger suggested that legislation be passed, or action taken by the Public Utility Commission making it obligatory for the railroads to move the signals now displayed, to a distance of not less than 150 feet from the nearest rail, and compelling that they be displayed on the right hand side of the road approaching the tracks.

AGED FARMER KILLED BY HEAT.

Whitehouse, July 3.—While at work in the barn on his farm at Lamington, William D. Field, seventy-six years old, was stricken by heart disease, superinduced by the excessive heat, and died a few minutes later. He was found unconscious by his sister. Mr. Field had lived in that section nearly all his life. He was successful as a farmer, and had always taken an active part in the work of the Presbyterian church at Lamington, of which he had been an elder for forty years. For forty-nine years he had sung in the choir. He never married, and was one of eight brothers and sisters, three of whom have died within a year and a half. Mr. Field leaves four sisters, the Misses Hannah and Harriet Field, who live at home; Mrs. M. A. Weldon, of New Germantown, and Miss Sarah Field, of Somerville, and a brother, John Field, also of Somerville. The funeral will be held at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning at his late residence. Rev. John T. Scott, pastor of the Presbyterian church at Lamington, will officiate, and burial will be in the local cemetery.

RULINGS IN TWO AUTO CASES.

Trenton, July 3.—The drivers' license of George Lapp, of 300 Central avenue, Jersey City, has been summarily revoked by Commissioner Lippincott, of the department of motor vehicles. Lapp was charged with having stolen the car of C. S. Prosser from a garage on the Hudson boulevard in North Bergen Township. A summary revocation of license has also been ordered by the commissioner in the case of John S. Prost, of Morristown, who was charged with running his car at the rate of forty-five miles an hour near Morristown.

OFFICIAL SUES FOR DIVORCE.

Hackensack, July 3.—County Clerk Charles F. Thompson, of Ridgefield Park, Bergen county, has instituted a suit in the Court of Chancery for a divorce from Mrs. Della L. Thompson. Mrs. Thompson lives at 29 Union place, Ridgefield Park. The Thompsons were married in New York in 1893 and moved to Ridgefield Park in 1901. He charges his wife with a statutory offense in New York. The couple have one daughter, Margaret Farr Thompson, age twelve years, who is in her father's care.

DIVORCE TO BE RABBIS' TOPIC.

Atlantic City, July 3.—Fully 100 Jewish rabbis, representing practically every State in the Union, were at the Central Conference of American Rabbis at the Hotel Rudolf yesterday. Marriage and the divorce laws are to receive a great deal of consideration by some of the most eminent men in the Jewish faith in this country. It is also believed that the question of displaying motion pictures objectionable to members of the Jewish race will be discussed.

Queries, Comment and Answers

Sporting Editor:

Query—Where can I get a game with some fast amateur or semi-professional baseball team playing Sundays and holidays? I can play any position, but prefer third base or catcher. A. J.

Answer—I will hold your name and address and refer you to any manager who may apply for an infielder.

Sporting Editor:

Query—Is there an athletic meet arranged for Somerville on the Fourth of July? T. P.

Answer—A meet will be held at Duke's Park on that date, a full account of which is given in another column.

Sporting Editor:

Query—Is swimming allowed in the South Plainfield pond? S. D.

Answer—No.

Sporting Editor:

Query—Has the Brooklyn team been first in the race for the National pennant at any time during the present season? S. E.

Answer—Brooklyn was first once this season, occupying the top of the ladder April 18.

Sporting Editor:

Query—How can I find the date of my birth? It was about 1853 in this State, but I do not know the exact date? F. S.

Answer—Write to the bureau of vital statistics, State House, Trenton, stating the name of the city, town or village in which you were born.

Sporting Editor:

Query—Two teams in two different leagues are to play two games on the Fourth of July. A bets B that his team will score more runs in the two games than B's will. Now if the team that B has plays and makes five runs, and the team A has plays one game and makes six runs. When the bet was made they agreed that there would have to be two games played. Now, will that make any difference in the event of this condition coming to pass? H. A.

Answer—The bet is off the minute either team plays only one game. Inasmuch as A could not lose when his team played but one game, he is not entitled to a win.

Sporting Editor:

Query—Is it too late to send in my entry for the Parker Field meet to be held on the Fourth of July? D. P.

Answer—It is not too late, but you had better get busy at once.

BUSY WEEK END FOR THE CENTRAL LEAGUE

Two Crackerjack Games Due to Be Decided on Parker Field.

CENTRAL NEW JERSEY BASEBALL LEAGUE.

Games Tomorrow.

Morning:
Somerville at Plainfield.
Afternoon:
Plainfield at Dunellen.
Somerville at High Bridge.

Games Saturday.

Afternoon:
Somerville at Plainfield.
Dunellen at High Bridge.

Standing of Clubs.

	W.	L.	P. C
Somerville	5	1	.833
Dunellen	4	3	.571
Plainfield	4	3	.571
High Bridge	2	4	.333
Bound Brook	0	2	.000
New Brunswick	0	2	.000

Plainfield will have three week-end contests to play off in the Central New Jersey League race tomorrow and Saturday, two of which will be played in this city and will have a direct effect on the standing of the clubs in this organization. Somerville comes here tomorrow morning and returns for another tilt Saturday afternoon, while the Pets go to Dunellen to assist in the big celebration there tomorrow afternoon. In the event of the Plainfielders taking the Somervillians into camp it would mean a sojourn on the top rung for the Queen City representatives, while a win for the present top notchers would mean a bolstering of their average and a firmer grip on the pinnacle of loftiness.

Manager Dorflinger will have both Cliff Randolph and George Ortlieb ready to do mound honors over the week-end and it is probable that both of the heavers will be used. A new stunt that ought to be a popular move will be tried in the organization tomorrow for the first time. This new feature includes an assignment of umpires which will be unknown to anyone except President Williams until game time and the managers or players will not see the officials until game time.

WEEK END BILL FOR CITY BALL LEAGUE

Saturday Schedule of Two Games Announced—Revised Standing of Teams.

CITY BASEBALL LEAGUE.

Saturday's Games.

Spicer vs. Saurer.
West Ends vs. Royal Giants.

Standing of the Clubs.

	W.	L.	P. C.
Saurer	4	1	800
Royal Giants	3	1	750
West Ends	2	2	500
Spicers	0	5	000

With the standing of the clubs revised following the throwing out of the Royal Giants-Saurer contest which was played under protest several weeks ago, the City Leaguers will play off another round of games Saturday afternoon no games being carded for the holiday.

On Saturday the Royals will take on the West Ends while the Spicer aggregation will tilt with the league leaders. Both contests should be good ones and will probably have some decided effect on the standing of the teams when the results are turned in.

MANY ENTRIES HAVE BEEN RECEIVED FOR PARKER FIELD FOURTH OF JULY TRACK MEET

A list of entries that has already surpassed the half century mark and gives promise of being doubled before the meet starts tomorrow afternoon at 2.30 o'clock, is in the possession of George W. Wriston, who is supervising the field and track competition to be held on Parker Field at that time as a holiday celebration. Every one of the long list of events carded in the three divisions classified according to weight has a number of entries ready to compete for the three prizes offered for each event and the trophies will no doubt produce the keenest of competition among the junior and senior athletes in this city.

Seventeen starters have entered for the mile race and an equally large number will toe the mark in the century. In order to give everyone an opportunity to enter Mr. Wriston will receive names up to the last minute tomorrow afternoon and as there is no entry fee attached it is expected that there will be an over-abundance of material on deck when the first crack of the starter's pistol is heard.

The entries and prizes follow:

Open to anyone:

One mile run—first prize, silver vase, contributed by Ritz; second prize, military brushes, contributed by the Walsh pharmacy; third prize, umbrella, contributed by George Finger.

100-yard dash—first prize, copper cup, contributed by J. W. Gavett; second prize, electric drop lamp, contributed by Powelson & Jones; third prize, silver shaving cup, contributed by Leo Slonim.

Running high jump—first prize, one pair diamond tires, contributed by J. Hervey Doane.

Running broad jump—first prize, order for a straw hat, offered by Greer & Greenwood; third prize, leather wallet, contributed by M. M. Dunham.

Running broad jump—first prize, wicker suit case, contributed by Tepper Brothers; second prize, cane, contributed by Schwed Brothers; third prize, antique candle stick, contributed by Mulford Estil.

100-pound class:

100-yard dash—first prize, fishing rod, contributed by Harry Dreier; second prize, Boy Scout knife, contributed by A. M. Griffin; third prize, fob, contributed by Moraller & Son.

LETTER FROM TOMMY MULLIN FULL OF ENCOURAGEMENT

We received a postal from Tommy Mullin, the local boy who is playing with the Brunswick team of the Empire League, this morning, and his message states that the first half of the league season has just closed and the Brunswick team finished in fourth place, four games behind the third team. Mullin has beeen burning things up on the Empire circuit and he has earned a permanent place on the third corner for himself.

Mullin was looking forward to the arrival of Grimes and Dixon, who have been signed by the Brunswick team, when he wrote the letter, and at that time he expected that the former Central Leaguers would be on the job Wednesday (yesterday).

HOLIDAY GAME FOR ROYAL GIANTS AT NEW PROVIDENCE

Manager Pete Simmons, of the Royal Giant City League baseball team, has gathered together a stellar combination of ball tossers to do battle against the New Providence nine at the latter place tomorrow afternoon as the holiday attraction. The local team will be accompanied by a large delegation of rooters who are optimistic of a victory coming their way.

The Royals will have the following cast of characters: Maiden cf., Kline p., Ford c., Simmons 2b., Coleman rf., Somerset lf., Allen 1b., Cecil 3b., McClenhan ss., and Hall p.

WEEK END SCHEDULE FOR S. S. LEAGUERS

No Games Tomorrow but the Regular Saturday Contests Will Be Played.

SUNDAY-SCHOOL BASEBALL LEAGUE.

Saturday's Games.

Hope Chapel vs. First Baptist.
Park Avenue vs. First Presbyterian.

Standing of Clubs.

	W.	L.	P C.
Hope Chapel	4	1	.800
First Baptist	2	1	.666
Monroe M. E.	3	2	.600
First Presbyterian	1	2	.333
Park Avenue	0	4	.000

Tomorrow will be an off-day in the Sunday-school Baseball League, but two contests will be played Saturday afternoon, which ought to have some direct bearing on the league standing. Hope Chapel will stack up against the First Baptist combination and as this is the only aggregation that has succeeded in downing the Chapelites this season a good contest is naturally expected.

On Hyde Field the Park Avenue Baptist will endeavor to shake their jinx and break their losing streak at the expense of the First Presbyterians who are at present traveling along at a speedy clip.

FAST ENTRIES RECEIVED FOR NEW BRUNSWICK FIELD MEET

Among the speedy cinder path followers that the local trio of athletes that have entered in the New Brunswick athletic meet at Neilson Field tomorrow afternoon, will have to compete against will be N. Taub, who holds the half mile and one mile records, and the cross country championship of the Evening Schools of New York city and many other New York athletic club stars.

The local trio consists of Tonnes Dennison, Jack Fritts and Alfred Day. Fritts will run against Taub in the mile and Dennison will be one of his opponents in the 880.

SOMERVILLIANS TO HAVE COMPLETE HOLIDAY CARD

Somerville will be treated to a mammoth field and track meet on the Fourth of July at Duke's Park and the cream of the athletic talent in that vicinity has entered to compete for the valuable prizes that have been offered. There will be a complete program of events in the morning and another one in the afternoon, consisting of every known kind of athletic stunts and entertainment. The program follows:

MORNING—10 a. m.
100 yard dash—Junior.
220 yard dash.
Running high jump.
Standing high jump.
Standing broad jump.
Three-legged race.
Sack race.
Canoe race.
Swimming race
Tub race.
Tug-of-war.
Bicycle race.
Modified Marathon.
Long Roll (Military).

AFTERNOON—2:30 p. m.
Woodland Scene.
Dance of Butterflies.
Columbus at the Court of Ferdinand and Isabella, seeking aid for his long-projected voyage in search of a new world.
Arrival of Columbus on American Shores, with Sailors. They plant the Spanish Flag and take possession in the name of the Queen of Spain. Friendly Indians welcome them.
Settlement at Jamestown. Capture of Captain John Smith. His rescue by Pocahontas.
Dance of the Fairies.
William Penn and the Quakers buy land of the Indians which later forms part of New Jersey.
Massachusetts Colony. John Alden and Priscilla.
Benjamin Franklin arrives in Philadelphia.
Dance of the Gypsies.
Franklin at the Court of France. Courted by the ladies in the garden of Versailles. Minuet.
Parade of all parts pants.

as directed and required by the Ordinances of the City of Plainfield, entitled "An Ordinance Concerning the Construction and Repair of Sidewalks and Curbs," approved July 15, 1910, as amended, not having been completed, the Common Council of said City has directed such improvement to be made under the direction and supervision of the Street Commissioner, and further directed notice of such contemplated improvement to be given to the owner or owners of any lands thereby affected, and further directed that if such improvement shall not be completed within the time and in the manner directed in this notice, the Street Commissioner shall thereupon forthwith proceed to cause such improvement to be made by the city under his direction, as authorized by said Ordinance and the Act of the Legislature hereinafter referred to. The foregoing is a description of your property affected, sufficiently definite in terms to identify the same and the following is a description of the required improvement, viz., the construction, adjoining said property, of a sidewalk to be laid as directed in said Ordinance (to which ordinance and the record thereof in the City Clerk's Office reference is hereby made for greater certainty), at the expense of the abutting land owners, composed either (1) of bluestone flagging, smooth and even on the surface, and properly laid under the direction of the Street Commissioner, said bluestone flags to be not less than four feet long transversely to the length of the street, not less than two feet wide lengthwise of said street and not less than one and one-half inches thick in the thinnest part; or (2) of concrete to be laid in conformity with the specifications for cement sidewalks as set forth in "Standard Specifications for Portland Cement Sidewalks and Curbs," filed in the office of the City Clerk, April 11th, 1910.

The Street Commissioner shall give the correct lines and grades in all cases.

Notice is further given that unless said improvement shall be completed within thirty days after the publication of this notice, it is the intention of said City to make said improvement or cause the same to be made, pursuant to the authority of the Act of the Legislature of the State of New Jersey, entitled, "An Act to authorize cities to construct and repair sidewalks and curbs, and to provide for the payment of the cost thereof," approved April 13, 1908, and acts amendatory thereof and supplemental thereto.

Proof under oath of the publication or service of this notice will be filed within two days thereafter in the Office of the City Collector, being the officer charged with the duty of making official searches for liens.

Said Act of the Legislature provides that in case of non-payment of the charges authorized thereby, the land and real estate subject to the liens of such charges may be sold in the manner provided for the sale of lands for the non-payment of assessments.

Dated Plainfield, N. J., June 28, 1913.

DUNELLEN PEOPLE HAD REAL FOURTH

Parade, Exercises, Athletic Meet, Band Concert and Fireworks.

PRIZES ARE AWARDED

Borough the Scene of One of the Best "Safe and Sane" Celebration in This State—Citizens Were Delighted.

Far surpassing anything of its kind ever given in the borough, the Fourth of July Celebration held yesterday in Dunellen under the auspices of the Board of Trade will go down in the annals of local civic demonstrations as an auspicious event. Favored by the excellent weather conditions the event was a brilliant one and will be long remembered by the residents of not only Dunellen, but of Lincoln, New Market and Piscataway, who viewed the spectacle and enjoyed the exercises.

The day's festivities started promptly at 9 o'clock when the parade, the initial event on the program, formed in Washington avenue facing south and extending from First to Fifth streets. Led by Chief Marshal William J. Davenport and grand marshal Arthur J. Hamley and his aides, William N. Apgar and G. Sumner Smith, all mounted, the parade continued down Washington avenue to New Market road, to Centre street, to Prospect avenue, to Grove street, to North avenue, and thence through the business section of the borough as far as Jefferson avenue, through Jefferson avenue to Front street, to Lincoln avenue, to Dunellen avenue, and continuing to Washington Park, passed in review before the judges and other officials.

In the line of march was representatives of St. John's Holy Name Society and other religious organizations, fraternal organizations, T. A. B. Fife and Drum Corps, merchants' and business wagons, iron-workers exhibit of the Levgar Manufacturing Co. of [illegible] the Department floats, Slovak socities, G. A. R. division and decorated automobile section. The floats and automobiles were numerous and elaborately decorated. The judges showed god taste in awarding the electric chafing dish, donated by E. B. Latham, of Dunellen, for the best appearing float in the line-of-march to the Daughters of Liberty, of New Market. The prize-winning vehicle was a scene of patriotic significance harmoniously portrayed in National colors. The Levgar Structural Co., and Smalley Brothers, the Dunellen hardware dealers, won first and second places respectively for the best appearance in the Trades' Division.

The prize for the best decorated automobile in the parade went to Samuel M. Titus, of East Front street, Dunellen, and the second prize was awarded to Smalley Brothers. The P. O. S. of A. had a large delegation in the parade and aided by this fact and their neat uniforms, easily won the large silver cup offered by Leo Slonim, the local jeweler, for having the best all-around appearance of any organization in the line of march. The electric fan, donated by the Public Service Corporation, for the most elaborately decorated place of business, was won by the First National Bank, of Front street, Dunellen, and James M. Maier, the wholesale liquor dealer of 348-359 North avenue, won second place, and the umbrella stand donated by A. E. Force & Co., the local dry goods dealers. The Morris chair offered by Shirley & Johnson for the best decorated residence was awarded to Gerome S. Dumont of Penfield place.

Exercises at Park.

The immense crowd which had witnessed and followed the parade along the streets of the borough congregated at Washington Park, where exercises of a patriotic nature were held. Judge Freeman Woodbridge was the orator of the day and made a notable address which rang with patriotism. He spoke with tears in his eyes of the Civil War veterans, many of whom assembled at Gettysburg during the past week to observe the fiftieth anniversary of one of the greatest battles recorded in history. The speaker told the young people to always stand by their country and be ready at all times to render it service. He spoke of the G. A. R. men as a splendid example.

Mayor C. E. Richards made the address of welcome, during which he complimented the Board of Trade on its successful undertaking and said he felt it an honor to be the chief executive of a municipality that could boast of such a civic demonstration. Others who spoke are Rev. Dr. W. A. Knox, pastor of the Dunellen M. E. church, Rev. E. R. Brown, of New Market, and Rev. E. J. Dunphy. The school children sang the "Star Spangled Banner" in chorus and were given appro-

ENDRESS IS HOST FOR THE CHILDREN

Putting into practical effect the theory of a "safe and sane" Fourth, one thousand children were entertained at Proctor's theatre yesterday morning with vaudeville and moving pictures, Councilman Fred Endress acting as host. Proctor & Sanderson donated the use of the playhouse to the children, while Mr. Endress arranged the program. Each child received an American flag as they entered the hall, the gift of Mr. Endress.

The show was opened with a selection by the newly organized municipal band, followed with a short patriotic talk by Mayor Percy H. Stewart. The vaudeville features were the Turner Twins and Master Paglucca, the Plainfield boy singer, and dancer. Two films, one comedy and one historic, were thrown upon the screen, much to the enjoyment of the youngsters. The program closed with the singing of "America." Two performances were given.

That the children appreciated the interest in their behalf as shown by Mr. Endress was evidenced by the way they enjoyed the entertainment. Every detail in the plan to give the children a good time was carefully attended to. All the youngsters were delighted with the pictures, as well as the vaudeville numbers. Mr. Endress was assisted by Councilman P. J. Reville, J. O. Schinkle, John Caulfield as well as the regular attaches of the playhouse in looking after the children.

ELEVEN ARRESTED FOR 4TH OF JULY OFFENSES

Eleven violators of the city's "safe and sane" Fourth of July ordinance were arrested yesterday by the local police. Except in one instant all were apprehended for shooting blank cartridges in revolvers. John Terence, of [illegible] was arrested for the act of placing a giant cracker behind the heels of a mule. He was fined $5. The other offenders are Clarence Morton, of 414 East Front street; Greese Gobdard, of 230 West Second street; Jewel Richards, of East Third street, (arrested two times); Russell Lawton, 109 Watchung avenue; Edward Schultz, 120 Madison avenue; Sidney Butler, 511 Sixth Second street; Royal Banks, colored, of 637 West Third street; Leroy Jordan, colored, 311 Filmore avenue; David Ford, 109 East Fifth street, and Tony Oral, of 225 Madison avenue. These offenders, when arraigned this morning before City Judge DeMeza, received suspended sentences.

BONNIE BURN WORK DURING MONTH OF JUNE

Dr. J. F. Runnells, superintendent of Bonnie Burn Sanitorium, has presented the following medical report for the month of June: Twelve patients were admitted, nine men and three women, classified as follows Incipient, one woman; moderately advanced, five men and one woman; advanced, four men and one woman.

The largest number of patients present during the month was seventy-eight, and the smallest number, seventy-three. Eight patients have been discharged, six men and two women.

Of this number, one was sent to Muhlenberg Hospital for observation, one became insane and was returned to his home for commitment to the asylum and two were discharged for misconduct. Two were discharged with the disease apparently arrested and one of them remains to work. Two left against advice, with disease unimproved and prognosis is bad in these cases. There have been six deaths, two men and four women.

BILLY GREEN SEEMS TO BE FOND OF HOSPITAL

"Billy" Green, aged four years, a typical pickinniny, who has spent most of his short life at Muhlenberg Hospital, was removed to that institution yesterday suffering with a fractured arm, the result of a fall at his home on West Second street. "Billy," who was the mascot at the baseball game between the doctors and dentists, is a favorite at the hospital and it is surmised that he would rather be at the institution than at home.

"Billy" underwent an operation last February and was in the hospital until May. He was out only a few days when he contracted pneumonia and again became a patient at the hospital. The little fellow has a sunny disposition and is cheerful despite his misfortunes.

'BUNK' STORY ON CONGRESS FIGHT

'N. A. M.' Claims Credit for Defeat of Charles N. Fowler by Wm. N. Runyon.

"MGR. BIRD" FIGURES

Expose as Concerns Fifth District Contest is Amusing—Runyon Never Knew Bird or Mulhall. Never Knew Bird or Mulhall—Did Anyone Else?

Among the prominent men mentioned in the New York World expose of the National Association of Manufacturers' scandal are Charles N. Fowler, of Elizabeth, and William N. Runyon, of this city. Col. Martin M. Mulhall, the former field agent, lobbyist and strike breaker, turned over the documents and furnished other statements to the World, which are being published daily and are being supplied to the United States Senate lobby investigation committee.

In the course of its story published yesterday, the World said:

"On July 13, 1910, General Manager Bird wrote Col. Mulhall expressing the hope that Judge Runyon wiuld be nominated for Congress in the Elizabeth, N. J., district rather than Charles N. Fowler. Bird expressed the opinion that Judge Runyon "is not afflicted with any of the isms that afflict Fowler," and added: "There is no question but that Fowler will put up a very hard fight at the primaries, but he is in bad favor with the organization." Judge Runyon was nominated in place of Fowler."

Like most people to whom Col. Mulhall has referred, Judge Runyon said he never heard of either Mulhall or the N. A. M., and as for George Manager Bird, who is supposed to reside in Plainfield, he said "did you ever hear of him, I haven't."

As a matter of fact, Assistant Corporation Counsel W. L. Hetfield, Jr., then assistant prosecutor of Union county, was the first to mention Runyon for the nomination, and County Chairman Frank H. Smith, a close friend of Hetfield, found that the sentiment in the district was strongly against Fowler and that it was considered that Runyon was the best man to pit against him for the nomination. Runyon won out easily but so far as any man knows "General Manager Bird" and Col." Mulhall were myths in that campaign.

Runyon's defeat was due to the Wilson landslide, but not to the man Bird or the man Mulhall, neither of whom is known here apparently.

SUMMER TEACHERS FOR HIGH SCHOOL

Miss Sarah Wardner Will Again Have Charge of the Lower Grade Work.

A special summer school course for those who failed final examinations or wish to make grades for one reason or another before the fall term of school starts in September will be opened in the Stillman Grammar School and Plainfield High School buildings Monday morning at 8 o'clock. A record enrollment has already been received and this year is expected to be the largest since the idea was first inaugurated.

Non-resident pupils will be received as far as they can be accommodated but early registration is advised in these cases. The following teachers wil have charge of the High School work: Principal and instructor in mathematics, George E. Webster; French and German, A. M. Houck; history and English, Samuel B. Rowe; science, P. J. VanArsdale. Latin, Miss Helen Pierce; Miss Sarah Wardner will have charge of the grade work in the Stillman School.

BAPTISTS' EXCURSION ON THURSDAY, JULY 10

The annual excursion of the First and Temple Baptist Bible Schools to Asbury Park is announced for Thursday, July 10, and everything points to the most successful outing in the history of these two schools. It is expected that the First Baptist school will take the largest number of members to the shore in many years, as the enrollment campaign has increased the membership to a great extent during the past few months. The Temple Baptist school is also increased in membership.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest R. Ackerman, of West Eighth street, left today for Europe. Before returning they will visit South America. They will be away most of the summer.

MOTORCYCLISTS HURT WHEN AUTO IS STRUCK

Miss Kate Thompson and Edward Honeyman the Victims of Mishap.

Miss Kate Thompson, of Central Valley, N. Y., and Edward Honeyman, of The New Madison, while turning the corner of Monroe avenue and West Sixth street, yesterday on a motorcycle, had a collision with an automobile owned and driven by Daniel Manning, of Myrtle avenue. The cyclists were thrown off their machine. Miss Thompson suffered a slight concussion of the brain and was unconscious for a time. Mr. Honeyman's foot was badly crushed and he will be laid up for several weeks. The automobile was only slightly damaged. The accident was described as an unavoidable accident.

Miss Thompson was anxious to learn to ride a motorcycle and Mr. Honeyman was giving a demonstration. The young woman was riding on the front of the machine and it is said became confused when she met the automobile coming toward her. Mr. Honeyman was taken to his home, where he is under the care of Dr. D. C. Adams, while Miss Thompson was taken to the home of Mrs. Elizabeth Conway at 920 West Seventh street, where she is a visitor. Dr. B. Vanb. Hedges was summoned at the time of the accident and cared for the young woman. Her condition is greatly improved today.

FRACTURED ANKLE BY A FALL IN ROAD

Korff Suffers While Returning From a Choir Picnic.

Alfred M. Korff, son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin A. Korff, of Watchung avenue, and Preston Dunning, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank O. Dunning, of Mountain avenue, while returning from an entertainment given by the choir at the Mary E. Wilson Memorial chapel, last night, fell in a hole on the new road leading to L. K Hyde's new house on the mountains. Korff sustained a double fracture of the ankle, while Dunning escaped with a few slight scratches.

Dr. Newman, a visitor at the home of Rev. Dr C. A. Eaton, was with the young men and with Dunning's assistance took the injured man home. The young men were taking a short cut from Watchung to their homes and neither one saw the big opening in the new road until too late to prevent falling. Dunning by jumping escaped more serious injury. Korff will be laid up for several weeks.

DELIGHTED THAT COLBY BECOMES A CANDIDATE

Former Mayor George W. V. Moy expressed himself as highly elated over the decision of former State Sentaor Everett Colby to become a candidate for the Progressive party gubernatorial nomination. He asserted that after many Progressives had pointed out to the original exponent of the New Idea theory in government that it was his duty to answer the call, Colby consented and Moy is among those who predict that he will not only land the nomination but will win at the gubernatorial election.

"Mr. Colby," said Mr. Moy, "is a clean man. He has the right ideas in government matters and political economics. He is always to be trusted as the friend of all right-thinking citizens who want their State to be pure and progressive. I am highly pleased."

Other Progressive leaders expressed themselves in the same vein when intrviewed by a Daily Press reporter.

HAYES—MILLWATER.

Miss Edna May Hayes, of Brooklyn, and Philip Henry Millwater, of this city, were married at 11 o'clock this morning by Rev. J. O. McKelvey at the home of the officiating minister on Grandview avenue. Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hawk, of this city, attended the couple as witnesse. After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Millwater left on a trip. They will live in this city.

REFUSE TO PAY THE SMALL BOARD

IS UNCONSTITUTIONAL

City Clerk MacMurray Serves Notice That Ballot Boxes Will Be Needed for the Progressives at Next Election.

Elizabeth, July 5.—Acting on the recommendation of its auditing committee the Board of Freeholders at a meeting Thursday afternoon voted not to pay the salaries of the members of the ousted small board or the salaries of its appointees. Freeholders Fay and Bourdon, Democrats, who were members of the small board, were excused from voting. Freeholder Pierson, also a member of the small board, voted in the negative.

The committee's recommendation was based on an opinion furnished by County Attorney William R. Coddington who held that the Griffin Compensation Act, passed at the special session of the Legislature, was unconstitutional in that it was inconsistent with Paragraph 19, Article 1, of the State Constitution which provides "that no municipality, county, city, borough or township can give or loan monies to an individual corporation or association." In other words the County Attorney held that such payment would be in the nature of a "donation" which was forbidden by law. The small board's appointees are affected by this ruling because they were not authorized to perform their duties by the presnt board.

City Clerk James T. MacMurray, of Plainfield, notified the Board that in the event of the Progressives having a ticket in the field in Plainfield at the primaries eighteen more ballot boxes would be needed there. The matter was referred to the elections committee.

PLAINFIELD DOCTOR HELPED CONFEDERATE

Incident at Gettysburg Recalled 50 Years Afterwards at Blue and Gray Reunion.

Col. Andrew Cowan, of Louisville, Ky., who acted as the presiding officer at the exercises held at Gettysburg, yesterday, told several interesting stories that brought smiles to the lips of his hearers. Col. Cowan was a nofficer in a Union battery which played a part in the Gettysburg campaign.

One of his stories, which follow, will be read with interest by Plainfielders, the physician referred to being Dr. Gillett, who for many years had an office on West Second street:

"On the third day of the battle," he said, "two of my officers were wounded on Cemetery Ridge. I went with them to a hospital nearby and before I left a wounded confederate officer was brought in.

"Just before I left with my battery in pursuit of Lee I went to him and told him that everything possible would be done for him.

"I wish you would see to it that no reports go out that I have been wounded,' he said. 'My wife is ill, and I'm afraid if she heard about it it might kill her.'

"I went to the doctor in charge and told him the story, and he promised to do all he could.

"Twenty-three years later that Union doctor was sitting in his office in Plainfield, N. J., (I forget his name), when a boy walked in.

"'Doctor,' he said, 'I want to shake your hand. I am going to school over at Princeton, and my father told me when I came up here to look you up. He said you saved his life.' "'Doctor,' he continued, 'I'm the boy.'"

FRACTURED HIS ARM.

D. W. DeForest, aged 58 years, living on R. F. D. No. 1, fell yesterday at his home and fractured his arm. He was taken to Muhlenberg Hospital, where under the direction of Dr. N. W. Curry an X-ray plate was made to locate the exact point of the break. Afterward the patient returned home.

CAMP CHILDREN ARRIVE.

The Netherwood Fresh Air Camp will open this afternoon, when the mothers and children will arrive from New York on an early afternoon train in charge of Miss Sara Curry, the matron. All is in readiness at the camp for the comfort and convenience of the guests.

THURSDAY CLOSING PLAN FALLS THROUGH

Two Concerns Would Not Agree and Retail Clerks May Organize Now.

A tentative agreement calling for the closing of grocer and butcher shops Thursday afternoons at 1 o'clock during July and August has been made among the business men. The rapidity with which the signatures were attached to the petition seemed to indicate that the plan whereby the clerks wiuld receive a weekly half-holiday during the summer months would be adopted. It appears, however, that two of the grocery houses would not give their sanction to the movement.

The majority of the store-keepers, upon being interviewed, have expresed their opinion that the amount of business on Thursday afternoons during the summer does not justify a negative action in the matter and that the closing at one o'clock on that day need not inconvenience their customers to any extent.

As a result of the refusal to take favorable action, several clerks have expressed themselves as being agreeable to organizing a retail clerks' association for the purpose of securing the half-holiday and uniform hours in all the stores. An organization similar to the one suggested existed in the city when "close at six" was the slogan of the clerk. Lack of interest, however, permitted the association to die. No definite action has been taken in regards to the matter as yet, the clerks preferring that the employers be given sufficient time to adjust matters satisfactory.

NETHERWOOD FRESH AIR HOME OPENS TOMORROW

The opening services at the Netherwood Fresh Air Home will be held tomorrow afternoon at 3:45 o'clock. The speaker will be the Rev. Dr. Philip B. Strong, pastor of the First Baptist church, and it is expected that Charles W. McCutchen will preside. The Children's Choir will be a feature of this and all the services at the Home during the summer. Their singing has always been one of the enjoyable parts of these services. During the winter a new dormitory has been erected especially for babies, and this will insure greater comfort for the little ones and make the burden of care for Miss Curry very much lighter.

A committee of women from the different churches in town has been busy making the necessary furnishings, and everything is in readiness for what Miss Curry hopes will be the most successful season in the history of the work. The program for the coming week includes two services on Tuesday evening in charge of I. B. Hill and Friday evening in charge of the Rev. E. C. Conover. The usual entertainment on Wednesday evening will be in charge of Miss Mary Alexander. The public is cordially invited to this and all services of the Home, and Miss Curry will gladly welcome all visitors at the Home at any time during the week.

LITTLE POOR ENTERTAINED BY THE SALVATION ARMY

The hearts of over 200 poor children who were gladdened yesterday through the efforts of the local Salvation Army, which gave a picnic for the youngsters in Wayside Park, Dunellen. In charge of Mrs. Herbert Wall and George Jackson, the small army of children made the journey by special trolley to the nearby resort where athletic events were held; refreshments served and a program of entertainment was enjoyed.

A parade preceded a musical performance and M. A. Korff, leader of the Y. M. C. A. orchestra, delivered an address on "The Flag," during which he mentioned the Battle of Gettysburg and the 50th reunion. Walter Sisty, proprietor of Wayside Park, donated the use of his park and directed the tennis matches, croquet and baseball games and the field and track events. Appropriate prizes were given.

THEIR HORSES WON.

In the Union County Industrial horse parade held yesterday in Elizabeth under the auspices of the S. P. C. A., the exhibits of J. J. and C. A. Higgins, the local undertakers, captured first and second places in the liverymen's and undertakers' division. The horses and casket wagon used by that firm in this city won the first event and another team attached to a coach, succeeded in landing the second best prize.

NEW SITE CHOSEN FOR Y. M. C. A. BLD.

Big Tract at East Fifth and Sycamore Streets Will Be Purchased.

FINANCING CAMPAIGN

The Present Structure is Not Adequate and a Modern House is Needed—President W. D. Murray Tells of the Plans.

The Young Men's Christian Association has taken the first step in its campaign for a modern building by making an agreement to purchase from the estate of Warren Ackerman the lot on the south corner of East Fifth and Sycamore streets. This lot was selected for a number of reasons. The price is within the amount allowed by the association for land, the size and shape of the lot are right for the new type of association building and its proximity to the railroad station and trolley lines makes it convenient of access. This latter feature had a good deal to do with the selection of this particular lot, we understand, because it is proposed to have in this new building from fifty to eighty dormitory rooms where young men can live at moderate cost amid the best surroundings. The rent of these rooms will, we are told, go far toward maintaining the association and will relieve the secretary of a good deal of financial solicitation. The purchase of this lot means the present association building, on the corner of Front street and Watchung avenue, is in the market. Its location should appeal to some business concern.

On being asked to say, in a few words, why the association is not satisfied to stay where it is, President Murray said:

"The shape of the present building does not lend itself to economical administration, and the building does not and cannot contain the facilities which are appealing to young men nowadays. The building is not homelike and cannot be made so without the expenditure of almost as much money as the proposed new building will cost.

"The present building will not accommodate more members; we ought to be ministering to two or three times as many men and boys as we are now reaching. Plainfield has grown a good deal since the present building was opened twenty years ago.

"Boys and men cannot be separated now. They should each have their own quarters. This is planned for in the new building.

"The present sanitary arrangements, including the showers, pool and locker rooms, would not be tolerated, in erecting a building today. Great advance has been made in this important matter within the past few years.

"The present equipment is practically worn out. An expert architect recently examined the present building and estimated that it would cost $125,000 to turn it into something like a modern structure, but it would still be an old building.

"The date of the building campaign has not been definitely decided upon. The officers of the association are seeking advice from men familiar with financial affairs as to when such a campaign can be wisely undertaken."

GIANT FIRE CRACKER WENT OFF WITH PAINFUL RESULT

As the result of the impromptu explosion of a giant dynamite firecracker almost at his feet, George Hummel, the fourteen-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Hummel, of 121 Duer street, is confined to his bed today suffering from a badly bruised leg. Young Hummel, in company with several other boys of the same age, was playing with the explosive when it suddenly went off, tearing a portion of his shoe away and injuring him painfully, though not dangerously.

The wound is not thought to be a serious one but it will probably confine him to his bed for several days. Other youngsters standing near when the accident happened were hit glancing blows by the flying wads of paper but none were injured seriously.

200TH ANNIVERSARY OF PERRY'S VICTORY

Erie, Pa., July 5.—During the week beginning tomorrow Erie will turn back the pages of her history a hundred years, to the stirring events that occurred at Lake Erie in the War of 1912, ending with the battle of Put-in-Bay and the victory of Commodore Perry. It will be a week of celebration in honor of the Perry centennial and the first of a series of such celebrations that are to be held in numerous cities and towns along the lakes this summer.

Erie was appropriately selected for the beginning of the celebrations, as it was here that Commodre Perry's flagship, the Niagara, was built and launched one hundred years ago, and from Erie the celebrated naval hero started out in search of the enemy.

After having lain beneath the waters of Misery Bay, near here, for nearly a century, the Niagara was recently raised and restored by the State of Pennsylvania in order that she may figure in the centennial celebrations about to begin. The historic old ship is to be placed on public exhibition here and at the other points where the celebrations are to be held.

A museum of Perry relics has been established on the ship. Among these relics and mementoes are Commodore Perry's sword, now the property of Perry Belmont; the Commodore's pistols, his appointment as a captain in the navy, signed by President Madison, and the Jarvis portrait of Perry, which is the property of the Navy Department at Washington.

—There's no job in this city that cannot be filled by a really capable worker—and all capable workers, temporarily out of work, watch the Press want ads closely.

INDEPENDENCE DAY AS PARK CLUB ENJOYS IT

Independence Day at the Park Club proved to be one of the most enjoyable in recent years. The program included an afternoon tea, with social features and music, while an elaborate program was arranged for the evening. There was an unusually fine display of fireworks under the direction of Salva Velardo, including a number of set pieces and novelties.

Interspersing the fireworks, Montanelli's Venetian Orchestra gave a program of vocal and instrumental music. The musicians responded generously with encores. They were attired in the Venetian costume. The attractive grounds of the club were decorated with flags and hundreds of Japanese and Chinese lanterns. During the afternoon the members and their guests were served with refreshments. Folowing the display of fireworks dancing was enjoyed until a late hour, music being furnished by Mantanelli's orchestra.

HIS SELF CONTROL.

Mr. Brown was excitable by nature, but he often prided himself audibly upon his self control. One night while the family were gathered at the tea table the chimney began to roar. The furnace draft had been opened and forgotten. Straightway a panic ensued.

"Don't lose your heads—keep cool!" cried Mr. Brown. "It's nothing serious."

He dashed up the stairs, discovered that the metal cap over the only unused stovepipe hole was already red hot, and dashed down again faster than he went up.

"Keep cool!" he gasped as he passed through the room where the family had gathered in nervous apprehension. "I'll be back in a minute."

He was back in less than that time, having observed that the flames were spouting several feet high from the chimney and that a shower of sparks was falling upon the roof.

"Wh-where's the stepladder?" he panted.

He was gone before any one could answer the question and presently was heard bellowing from the roof of the wood shed. He presented a heroic figure in the glare of the blazing chimney.

"I've got one end of the hose," he called. "Some one attach the other end and turn on the water—quick!"

Two long minutes passed.

"Why doesn't some one do as I ordered?" he thundered. "Do you want the place to burn up?"

"We can't, Henry," called Mrs. Brown tremblingly. "You haven't got the hose. You've got the cow rope. It was hanging next to the hose in the shed, and anyway the roof is covered with ice, and I don't think there's any great danger outside. You'd better go and watch the chimney from the inside."

A half hour later the family were again at the tea table.

"If this had happened in some homes," remarked Mr. Brown, "the family would have lost their heads completely and sent in an alarm. Self control is an excellent thing and far from common."

"Indeed, it is," agreed Mrs. Brown emphatically.

NATION'S EDUCATORS AT SALT LAKE CITY

Salt Lake City, Utah, July 5.—The capital of Utah became the educational centre of the country today. Thousands of teachers have arrived for the fifty-first annual convention of the National Educational Association. Every State in the Union is represented. Many college presidents are among the delegates. Nearly one hundred regular meetings for discussions on educational topics will be held during the ensuing six days, with several speakers for each, and the social features which have been arranged for the entertainment of the visitors are very numerous.

Acting as a forerunner of the convention proper, which will formally be opened Monday, the annual meeting of the National Council of Education began this morning. Reports of officers and committee were made, and the arrangements for the convention were surveyed and approved. The committee reports dealt with economy of time in education, health problems in American schools, tests of efficiency and the Suzzallo plan for the reorganization of the American teaching profession.

During the coming week every conceivable topic that could come within the general subject of education will be discussed by the noted teachers and scholars in attendance on the convention. From the kindergarten child to the college post-graduate, the artist to the artisan, all kinds degrees and phases of instruction will be considered.

SHALL WE GIVE OUR PRISONERS WORK?

In the fall of 1911 a conference of the Governors of the various states was held at Spring Lake, New Jersey, at which the Governors of thirty states were present.

On one of the closing days of the conference the question of Prison Labor was discussed, and, in the course of the discussion, Governor Stubbs, of Kansas, made this very significant statement:

"We have hundreds of men in our penitentiary who have been convicted of crimes who have three, four, five or six children at home without any means of support. A wife of one of these convicts came to my office and made a pitiful appeal for aid and yet the State was making profit out of her husband's work. I believe that the State commits a crime when it does this and I propose to keep at this thing until it is shown to me that the State has the prime right to the profit of its convict labor. I believe that the wife and children of the convict have the right to the profit," and the sentiment so tersely expressed was followed by similar views on the part of other Governors.

It seems to be a generally conceded fact that our treatment of criminals and the criminal classes has not kept pace with the general onward movement of the times.

This fact was emphasized at the International Prison Congress held in Washington a year ago when the President of that Congress, speaking of America's prisons, said, "In these jails it is hardly to much to say that many of the features linger which called forth the wrath and indignation of the great Howard at the end of the eighteenth century," and the recent investigation of conditions prevailing in Sing Sing Prison would seem further to bear out the truth of this statement.

It has taken many years of strenuous effort, for example, before the passage of an enactment such as now appears in the statute books of the State of Colorado, which defines a delinquent as a "person misguided, misdirected, who needs aid, help, assistance and encouragement," and it is only recently that the public conscience has become awakened to the immense necessity of dealing in a more enlightened manner with the problem of the men and women who, because of violations of law, are incarcerated in county and state institutions.

If the sole object of the criminal law were to punish the offender, that object is, of course, met by keeping such offender in close solitary confinement within prison walls.

If combined with the desire to punish there is added an attempt at reformation, then that attempt must be accompanied with an opportunity to the offender to do something more than to sit idly in the narrow confines of a jail. And if, in addition to this, having in mind that the family of many men who are so incarcerated, are, by that very act, made dependents of the county or State, it is desired to meet the further problem of the proper support of the family so situated, then the problem becomes one of how, at the same time, to give work to the criminal and to apply some portion of the profits of such work to the support of the family.

The difficulty in reaching a solution of this problem has heretofore been occasioned by the great antipathy to what has become known as the "contract labor system," a system by which prison labor was farmed out to the contractor to his immense money benefit, but with no appreciable good to the state or prisoner and certainly none to the prisoner's family.

Of that system it is sufficient to say that in many states it never existed and, by force of strong public opinion, is fast disappearing in the twenty-nine States which have tolerated it. In its stead, as recently stated by Dr. Whitin, General Secretary of the National Committee on Prison Labor, "The economic progress in Prison Labor shown in recent legislation is toward more efficient production by the elimination of the profits of the lessee and the curtailment of the slave system by the provision for wages, and choice of occupation for the man in penal servitude."

Another objection to the general scheme of work by prisoners has been advanced by the labor interests. It is to the effect that paid labor cannot compete with the labor of denizens of the jail and that paid labor must, therefore, suffer by any such scheme, and there is manifest justice in this criticism.

For example in one State, Missouri, the output of convict labor shops in one year was valued at $4,708,102, and it was shown that some seventeen hundred wage earners were thrown out of work in that State during that time with a consequent loss in wages to the laborers, as computed by the Labor Commissioner of nearly $800,000.

To meet the situation recent legislation has contemplated limiting the work done to work of such a character that it will not compete with the wage earner, nor disturb the market and market prices. Such work is the manufacturing of articles for public intitutions, employment on state farms, making stone for roads and labor on the roads themselves.

To this class of prison work the attitude of the labor union is distinctly friendly and of this class of work John Mitchell, who is the peer of those interested in the welfare of the laboring classes, has recently said:

"Under it, prisoners may be self-sustaining, as presumably they were, on the whole, while at liberty. The suffering of those dependent upon them may be alleviated through a part of their wages. The prison products do not disturb the markets, the effect of supplying the public institutions amounting only to a slight restriction of the selling field for certain manufacturers. The factory wage-earners are not exposed to convict competition. The convicts may be kept steadily at work, while undergoing a helpful manual training. Limitations are set to the temptations, or opportunities, on the part of prison superintendents, wardens, commissioners—of whatever title—for a vile and cowardly graft. Manufacturers operating their own plants are rid of a discreditable class of competitors."

The suggestion in the last quotation that by the modern method the sufferings of the dependent family may be alleviated, brings us to a consideration of what is, after all, the strongest reason for the system of prison labor advocated by modern criminologists.

The dependent family has been too long overlooked in our system of legislation. It is safe to say that a large percentage of the cases which are brought to the attention of the Charity Organization Societies of this and other cities, are cases of families whose bread winners are in jail or prison, and whose families are consequently charges on the bounty of others. To many a lazy man and continuous malefactor it is no catastrophe to live on the county in an institution and to thus leave the burden of the support of the family to others.

Governor Tener, of Pennsylvania, gives an illuminating account of a prisoner in that State who had developed into a particularly industrious work under the law which permitted prisoners to work, and alloted some portion of the wages to the family. He did so exceptionally well in prison that many requests were made for his pardon and the Governor was about to pardon him when he received a letter from the wife of the convict requesting that the pardon be withheld because the prisoner was supporting her and her family better in the penitentiary than he had ever supported her outside of it.

As compared with this instance there is the case of the man incarcerated in the jail of another State where prisoners did no work, who wrote home to his wife, "I get three square meals a day and a warm place to sleep. What do you get?" I do not know what answer the wife made to that question but clearly the answer that the State should make would be to put that man on a job, to keep him at it, and to see that a goodly portion of the compensation for his work was paid over to his family for its support.

The results of such an answer would be four-fold: First, the family would be cared for by the person whose duty it was primarily to so care for it; second, the prisoner would be kept in good physical condition and would so be the better equipped to work on leaving the institution; third, such a course would have a deterrent effect on the large army of individuals who seem to be quite content to loaf in jail at the expense of the State while their families are left in want; fourth, instead of the brooding and bitterness engendered by solitary confinement, there would be the continuing incentive which steady occupation brings with the consequent change for the better in the mental and moral attitude of the prisoner.

New Jersey is not behind other States in its efforts at reform on these lines. It has abolished contract labor. It has appointed two commissions, a prison labor commission and a convict labor commission. It has, as an experiment, taken a company of men from the State prison and had them work on State roads with most satisfactory results, but there are county jails in each of the twenty-one counties of the State and in those jails practically no work is being done by the prisoners.

It is because of this situation that a conference was called at Elizabeth some few weeks ago to discuss this general question. At that conference, attended by Judges, city officials and representatives of various organizations of Union county, it was the unanimous opinion of those present, as expressed by a resolution then passed, that steps should forthwith be taken by which those who had come under the weight of the law should be put to work and some portion, at least, of the money so earned by them should go to the support of their families.

A committee of five was appointed at that meeting to wait on the Board of Freeholders with the request that action be taken along these lines, and it is greatly to be hoped that the request for this long needed reform will meet with a ready response by that board.

There can seem to be no possible objection to the plan other than that of expense, but the evidence of the men who have given this whole question careful study, seems to indicate clearly that the initial expense of such an undertaking would be as nothing compared with the consequent return to the State, the county, the families of those concerned, and the prisoners themselves.

No one has better summed up the question of prison labor than Attorney General Cosson, of Iowa, in an article recently contributed by him on this general subject from which, in conclusion, the following quotation is taken:

"The question of prison labor is the very foundation of all reformation. All other questions are incidental. The ultimate thing to be obtained is, so far as possible, to make the offender right the wrong which he has committed, but in doing this to see that another and greater wrong does not follow as a necessary consequence. This can be done only by requiring and compelling every offender to work at some productive, healthful labor, not unduly prejudicial to the free laborer, free producer and manufacturer, and by paying him a wage which will enable him to support himself and contribute toward the support of those dependent upon him."

What Not to Do on Vacation.

Don't bathe the feet immediately after a meal. At least two hours should elapse before you enter the water.

Don't bathe in strange waters, especially if you are a poor swimmer. Swift currents and a heavy swell cause many accidents, while rivers are often thick with weeds.

Don't start out on your holiday with a rush. Go easy the first few days or you will return feeling worse than before you went away.

Don't try to cover too much ground afoot or on the cycle. Rest during the hottest hours of the day and do only as much as you can with comfort.

Don't take friends out rowing unless you can manage a boat, and, above all, don't change places once you've started.

Don't let the children paddle late in the evening when it may be getting chilly, as they are likely to catch a cold which will not be shaken off for weeks.

Don't travel with a lot of jewelry. It is quite unnecessary, and thieves are not unknown in boarding houses and hotels, while you may drop a valued gift in some unknown place.

Don't read in the blazing sun. If you take a book with you to the parade or cliff seek out a shady corner where the sun will not fall on the page or get in your eyes. Also don't keep up your reading too long. Give your eyes a rest now and again.

Don't go to a place merely because Smith or Jones went there last year It may not suit you.

We Gave Away a "McDougall" Kitchen Cabinet Thursday Evening

Mrs. H. V. A. Hall, of 64 Norwood avenue, was the lucky member of the club to receive it. There was 26 members who joined the club. Mrs. Hall gets her Cabinet absolutely free. Our object in giving the Cabinet away was to advertise the fact that "McDOUGALL" KITCHEN CABINETS were superior to other makes. Every purchaser of a "McDougall" is a satisfied one. We heartily congratulate Mrs. Hall on her good fortune.

"STARVE THE FLY" IS SLOGAN OF WAR ON THE WINGED DEATH

Pest Once Called Nature's Scavenger Now Known and Feared.

Slaying and Starving Creatures Now Prevents Millions Coming Later.

By RODGERS T. GURNEE.

SPRING days are upon us, and once more the cry of "Swat the fly" is sounding from every point of the compass. Far-sighted housewives are bringing out their window screens, and boys and girls are busy devising new and deadlier traps for the war of extermination.

Not many years ago the fly was a welcomed guest in our homes. We called him "nature's scavenger." Now we call him "the winged death" and "the world's greatest murderer." There are still a great many people who, either through ignorance or some weird and unexplainable reasons, contend that the crusade against the fly is nonsensical. When it is recalled that a single fly carries 6,000,000 germs about with it and that flies as a whole cause 100,000 deaths a year the seriousness and necessity of the campaign is shown.

Last summer a great deal of money was spent in bringing the danger before the public, and the majority of towns instituted "swat" contests with more or less success.

This year a new slogan is being preached from the various headquarters of extermination. It is "Starve the fly."

Perhaps you noticed last year after a long siege of swatting that despite your numerous conquests there was no apparent diminution in the fly population and by next morning things were worse than ever. That is because the winter fly was allowed to breed at will and doors and windows were not properly screened.

Two flies now mean a million next August.

Therefore the logical thing to do is exterminate the flies now. How that can best be done is a problem.

Cleanliness Is Important.

Absolute cleanliness is the first and most important rule in any fly fighting campaign. If you have a stable be sure that all sweepings are removed twice a day and that the manure pit is emptied at least once every three days. The pit should be made of concrete and tightly covered. It is a good plan to sprinkle the manure with green vitriol, iron sulphate, chloride of lime, paris green or kerosene.

The next important consideration is the garbage. This should be kept away from the house in air tight tins. Keep the covers firmly on except when a fly trap is used. Chloride of lime treatment should be generously applied to the garbage cans to make sure there are no lurking maggots.

Abolish the old fashioned outhouse. It is the worst menace to health. Where this is impossible, however, liberal application of unslaked lime must be made daily.

The chicken house and sheep or pigpen must be handled much in the same way as the stable, care being taken not to poison the animals.

All open drains should be abolished and cesspools carefully covered.

"Swat" Flies In the House.

Now we come to the house. Every fly in the house is a menace to life. Seventy-five per cent of the infant mortality during summer months is caused directly by flies. Born in the filth of the manure pit they invade the nursery or the dining room and track their hairy germ infested feet across the food and bathe in milk.

Then it is time to use the "swatter." A few of the pests are bound to get in, no matter how well screened the windows are. Get after them promptly before they have had time to lay eggs or your troubles will be more than doubled.

The greatest care should be taken of all uncooked food in the kitchen, especially meat, where the mother fly loves to lay her eggs. The milder forms of poison can be used indoors, and although sometimes inconvenient the sticky fly paper is very effective.

The baby's bed should be very carefully screened and every one of its eating utensils cleansed in boiling water. The nipple of the milk bottle is very often a source of infection and should be kept in a safe place and frequently cleansed in peroxide and water.

It is a common complaint that although the citizen puts his best efforts to cleaning up and killing the fly his next door neighbor may be so lax in his methods that the good work is nullified.

That's the time to get after the town authorities. If they can't or won't do anything, put it up to the county or state officers.

Seven Important Rules.

The fly fighting committee of the American Civic association has issued the following seven rules for starting and conducting an anti-fly campaign which will be advantageous in a case of this sort:

1. Educational work should be begun at once in schools, women's clubs and other civic organizations, because if you wait until the flies appear in the spring they will be multiplying by the million while you are doing organization work that ought to have been done during the cold weather. This committee, as in former years, will co-operate with local committees, furnishing literature and answering questions as to methods of individual campaigns, etc.

2. In your movements for passing of general cleanup and anti-fly ordinances first secure the interest of the state health department. If you find difficulty in doing this by mere force of suggestion employ other legitimate means of stirring them to action—petitions from local or state organizations, boards of trade, women's clubs, town improvement societies, etc. If the head of the state health service is not cordially co-operating with you he can be shamed into it.

3. Employ similar tactics, if necessary, with the health authorities, aldermen and other officials of your city or town.

4. Get ordinances passed (state if possible, local at any rate) for the screening of foodstuffs, the chemical treatment and removal of manure, etc., but do not think that because you have an ordinance it will enforce itself. Eternal vigilance is the price of freedom from filth and flies. Probably even the most energetic and sympathetic health officer will be unable with the force of inspectors at his command to discover all the violations of the ordinance. You must help him by volunteer inspection and reports. If then he is lukewarm in the prosecution of offenders make his position uncomfortable. If the magistrates refuse to impose fines for proved violations make it uncomfortable for them too. It's all very simple if you are in earnest.

5. Colorado and Texas have instituted the custom of state wide "cleanup days." Induce the governor of your state by proclamation to set aside a day for such a purpose, and if he cannot be induced to do so—but he probably can if proper representations are made to him—at least get your mayor to proclaim a local "cleanup day."

6. If you must have "fly swatting" contests to stimulate interest in your local campaign let them be held as early in the spring as possible, while there are comparatively few flies. If you could find and kill all the spring flies—as of course you cannot—there would be none to trouble you in the summer.

7. Be careful to brush up any flies that may be lying around with their feet up in the air, looking as if they were dead. They may be playing possum. The only safe way is to burn them. Do not throw them out or into the garbage can, as they will become active as soon as the temperature rises.

Various Successful Plans.

Many town and city health boards carried on the fight through the medium of exhibits and moving pictures. St. Johnsbury, Vt., had a novel scheme for gaining the co-operation of its tradespeople. Every store, market, restaurant and hotel in the town was visited, and the proprietors were asked to sign a card which read as follows:

We, the undersigned, desire to co-operate with the townspeople in placing our goods before you in the most sanitary manner possible. We hereby agree to keep our windows and doors properly screened, to keep all food, fruit, meat and bakery goods screened and to keep fly traps set—in short, to do our part in helping rid the town of our enemy the fly.

A list of all the signers was published in a local newspaper.

This is an excellent plan. The published list not only induces others to sign the card, but also spurs them to greater efforts.

Fly Killing Contests Harmful.

The fly fighting committee through its chairman, Edward Hatch, Jr., also says:

"I sincerely hope there may be no more fly killing contests. They were useful when the public needed to be stirred up to a realization of the deadly activities of the fly, and their success as an advertisement of the movement has been immense, but they have served their purpose, and now that the people are generally enlightened as to the nature of the fly pest they do actual harm by clouding the real issue of extermination.

"This is the opinion of Professor Herms of the University of California, who has been interested in the anti-fly campaigns in a number of California towns. He and his scientific associates feel that the work has been hampered this year by the prevalence of fly swatting campaigns, the result of which is to encourage people to kill flies, whereby they lose sight of the only efficient method of diminishing the pest—that is, cleaning up their breeding places.' Professor Herms stated that in one town a good campaign had been interrupted by the substitution of 'fly swatting' for cleaning up.

"Our good friends the newspapers (to which the committee realizes its deep indebtedness for the publicity which has made the fly fighting campaign so signally successful thus far) can do far better work this year than they did last summer. Instead of instituting fly killing contests, which sometimes have the result of stimulating the breeding of flies by enterprising contestants, let them give prizes for clean back yards, well screened stables, covered garbage cans, or, if their journalistic ingenuity is not equal to the task of making such prize contests serve the purpose of the circulation department, let them at least urge in their news and editorial columns, even more than they have done before, the starvation plan of campaign."

Good Work by Women.

It is also a field of endeavor where women can really help. This was clearly demonstrated in Spencer, Ia., where the Women's club inaugurated one of the most satisfactory campaigns of the season. They first distributed a letter setting forth their aims and how they might be attained to every house in town. At the same time letters were sent to the mayor and aldermen telling them of the work and asking them to use their influence to protect citizens from the evils of insanitary conditions.

The mayor fell in with the plan at once, issuing a notice that all premises must be carefully cleaned and backing up this order to the limit of his authority. Thus was Spencer transformed into a veritable "spotless town" and made a desert to the deadly fly. This is an instance of what the weaker sex can accomplish. The boys and girls have also performed nobly in the fight and deserve a great deal of credit. The boy scouts in many towns have formed the nucleus for sweeping reform, and the same applies to various campfire girl clubs and church auxiliaries.

Every one can help somewhere. Co-operation is the basis of success in everything, and so long as one narrow minded member of a community is allowed to lag behind and maintain an Eden for the filthy fly upon his premises, just so long will that community continue to be subject to discomfort, disease and death.

Insects In League With Death.

"Science has issued an edict which should be as unalterable as the laws of the Medes and Persians," declares Dr. Henry Smith Williams. "It is 'kill every creeping, flying thing that looks to you for board.' Various insects have been found to be in league with death—to be, in fact, the only means whereby some of the world's most virulent diseases are carried from victim to new victim.

"Persistent, never let up warfare against them is the only way to rid man of these dangerous enemies. They won't let you alone. Get after them and don't let mercy temper your warfare. Kill!"

This is splendid advice to follow.

There are two very important things to be remembered—one is that cleanliness is next to godliness, and the other "An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure."

Athletic Meet.

The field and track meet in the afternoon produced two stars, Miss Evelyn Dix and Arthur O'Leary. Miss Dix won the potato race open to the residents of Dunellen and New Market and the 100-yard dash for school children of Dunellen and Piscataway. O'Leary rose in the air higher than any other resident of Middlesex county and won the standing high jump. He also finished second in the 220-yard dash closed to Dunellenites; 100-yard dash open and hop, step and jump, open. A skirt and shirtwaist donated by J. J. Varley and J. A. Fass, went "a-beggin," as no competitor appeared for the clothes-hanging contest, for which event they were offered. All the races and jumps were closely contested and proved enjoyable entertainment not only for the crowd in the grandstand and surrounding the field, but the contestants as well.

Following the athletic events the Dunellen baseball team, despite the encouragement it received from the thousands who cheered for a Dunellen victory, went down to defeat at the hands of the Plainfield aggregation by the score of 5 to 3. By defeat for one and victory for another, Plainfield took first place in the Central New Jersey Baseball League aided by virtue of its "win" in the morning over Somerville by the score of 8 to 2.

At night the Dutch Arms Band furnished music during an elaborate display of fireworks. This part of the program was in the hands of experts and the beauty as well as the noise attracted for miles around. A salute that sounded like the firing of a hundred cannon ended Dunellen's greatest celebration.

The committee which made the arrangements for the auspicious event was composed of William P. Deering, chairman; E. B. Latham, Earle M. Jones, Joseph G. Walton, Harry J. Swackhamer, Lewis Schnvider, Edward J. Dusel, Augustus F. Todd, Thomas J. Hogan, Edwin H. Dean, G. Sumner Smith, Henry S. Garetson, John P. Fener, Ellsworth Hayes, Frank Bennett, J. FABULOUS TABLE ANIMALS.

Such as Welsh Rabbit, Scotch Woodcock and Mock Crab.

When one comes to think of it, it is surprising how many fabulous animals come regularly to the dinner table or supper table.

Among them, of course, the most familiar is the Welsh rabbit, which in its original form was merely toasted cheese. Some folks declare that the name is a corruption of "rarebit," but this has never been proved.

Then there is the golden buck, which is a Welsh rabbit with a poached egg on top. Chinese rabbit is a Welsh rabbit with rice in it, and a Mexican rabbit (otherwise known as a Spanish rabbit) contains tomatoes and onions.

So much for rabbits. But how many people are familiar with the Cape Cod turkey? Plenty in New England, where codfish goes under that name.

Scotch woodcock is two slices of hot buttered toast, with an anchovy on each slice and a sauce made of half a pint of milk and the yolks of three eggs poured over them.

Less familiar perhaps is English monkey, which is made by soaking a cupful of breadcrumbs in a cupful of milk and adding a tablespoonful of melted butter, a beaten egg and half a cupful of grated cheese, the whole, with salt and pepper added, being poured over toasted crackers.

The mock turtle is one of the most familiar of fabulous table animals, being served in the form of soup. In "Alice's Adventures In Wonderland" will be found a striking picture of this remarkable reptile, represented with the body of a turtle and the head of a calf.

Mock duck is a roll of chopped meat and breadcrumbs baked. Mock crab is made by mixing equal parts of grated cheese and butter, seasoning with salt, pepper and vinegar and adding a few drops of anchovy sauce. The paste thus prepared is spread on slices of dry toast or sometimes served in crab shells.

Last, but not least remarkable, of these mythological animals, known only to the kitchen naturalist, is the corn oyster, which is a small fritter of green corn fried like a real oyster.—New York American.

GOLD NUGGETS.

There Is a Curious Resemblance Between Them and Meteorites.

How do nuggets of gold originate? Sometimes a mass of the precious metal worth a thousand dollars or more is found. By what process was so much gold compacted into a lump?

An attempt was made not long ago to answer this question. An investigator in Australia cut and sliced and polished gold nuggets with the sole purpose of finding out just what is their structure. The first thing he discovered was that there is one curious point of resemblance between gold nuggets and meteorites. Both, when polished and etched with chlorine water, exhibit a crystalline structure. In the case of meteorites the lines thus exhibited on the etched surface are called Widmannstattian figures, and their presence is said to be one of the most invariable characteristics of those metallic bodies that fall from the sky to the earth.

But it is not meant to be implied that gold nuggets have fallen from the sky because they exhibit a crystalline structure recalling that of meteorites. The resemblance is apparently only superficial, and the crystals of the nuggets differ in form from those of the meteorites.

Another curious fact is that when a nugget is heated in a Bunsen flame explosions take place on its surface. Blisters are formed which continue to swell until they burst with a sharp report and bits of gold are violently scattered about. It is evident that the nuggets contain either gases or some liquids or solids which are easily converted into the gaseous form, the expansion of which produces the explosions.—Harper's Weekly.

Fake Curios.

Dr. Wakeling, the Egyptologist, tells us that it is useless to warn the tourist against the fake curio. He buys and is sold with an unfailing regularity, and hardly any imitation is too gross to deceive him. Dr. Wakeling tells us of a lady who bought a scarab from a boy who assured her that he had himself stolen it from the excavations in the temple of Aknaton. And she displayed her treasure triumphantly and always with the words, "And I am sure it must be true, for he had such an honest little face."—Argonaut.

No Use For the Doctor.

"Why did you send the doctor away without permitting him to do anything for you?"

"He said he could get me up and out in three days," the sufferer groaned, "and my accident insurance amounts to $30 a week more than my salary as long as I'm disabled."—Chicago Record-Herald.

A Business Tip.

Pessimistic Thought.

Every rose has its thorn. And the mean part of it is that the thorn stays on the job when the rose has withered.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

A Theory

By GRACE OGLESBY

This is an age of reform or at least new formations, and such an age is always attended by a certain amount of hysteria. When people leave a beaten track to strike out into new paths they are liable to bewilderment, and so when they find or believe they have found that they have been influenced by false ideas in seizing new ones they are prone to jump from the frying pan into the fire. More than this, they are liable to jump from terra firma into water altogether too deep for them.

One of the new departures of the present day is a dissatisfaction with marriage as we in America have known it. Kent Blakeman's father and mother had lived together comfortably, bringing up half a dozen children. Kent at twenty-five discovered that they had taken a great risk in binding themselves so closely together that there was no easy way for them to break the chain. In their case fortunately they had not wished to break it. But, as for him, he did not intend thus to tie himself up. He believed in experimental marriage. If he married he would reserve the right to leave his wife as soon as he ceased to love her, and she should have the same privilege with regard to him.

Miss Estelle Woodruff, being about the same age as Blakeman, also grew up in the same atmosphere of hysterical reform. She heard persons talking about the frequency of divorce, marriage being a failure and kindred subjects, and her mind was very susceptible to absorb new theories. Blakeman found few women to sympathize with him in his notions about marriage—most reforms begin with a paucity of numbers—and when he met Miss Woodruff and made an easy convert of her he was much pleased with her—that is, he was much pleased with himself for having struck into a new path—and considered the girl above the ordinary in that she had appreciated his ideas.

There is an infinite variety of mental structure among human beings. Blakeman, who married Miss Woodruff, was of a different brain. He kept on developing in his anti-marriage theories, while she, with the coming of children, ceased to take an interest in them and at last turned against them.

Perhaps it was the discovery that he had been mistaken in his wife's mental caliber that started him in his idea that they were not fitted for each other. Their union had lost its romance and was becoming humdrum. It seemed to him that the connubial kiss morning and night had lost its zest. He had asserted when a bachelor that the honeymoon should last always and that when it had completely waned it was time for the couple to separate and each find a new mate.

Time came when Blakeman concluded to "be true to himself," as he put it, and claim the privilege he had reserved for himself when he married. He made several attempts to get his courage up to a point where he could tell his wife that she was not his affinity and that he proposed to free himself from her and make another trial to find a real and lasting mate. At last he succeeded.

Between a passing influence in youth and a woman who had been made over, so to speak, by the possession of two little children—a boy and a girl—there was an enormous difference. She was not only surprised by her husband's announcement; she was thunderstruck. But if she had not developed she had insensibly come into a lot of horse sense. To attempt to argue her husband out of his nonsense she knew would be futile. To oppose him would be equally so. Moreover, she remembered that at the time of her marriage she had coincided with his views. It was he who had been consistent, she who had changed. It had been mutually agreed that when either wished for freedom it should be granted.

She held to her agreement, though she recognized the outcome as a great misfortune. But she was a plucky as well as a proud woman and gave no sign of what a blow she suffered. The prenuptial agreement gave the children—if any came—to the mother, and this was, of course, a godsend to her. She wondered as she looked back when the provision was made that she had very nearly assented to a conditional proposition to divide the children between husband and wife.

When all preliminary arrangements had been made Mrs. Blakeman and her children—the little ones being ignorant of the separation of their parents—took a train for the mother's birthplace, where they expected to live. Blakeman saw them off and as the train was starting kissed them all and left the car.

He stood on the platform, looking after them as they rolled out of the station, and all of a sudden a great light broke in upon his brain, and he said to himself:

"What an addle pated ninny I have made of myself!"

Going to the ticket office, he bought a ticket for the next train to follow them, and the same night, when the mother was ruefully hearing the children say their prayers, the father swooped down on them like a cyclone and took them all in one embrace.

Has Blakeman given up theory? Never! His theory now is that the family is all there is in the world worth living for, and hereafter he proposes to live for his family only. Since his theory is sound all are happy.

Hot Days In the Garden.

Many amateur gardeners start out enthusiastically with the spring to have a garden. They hoe and rake and plant and water and weed energetically and systematically for a few week. Then warm weather comes; their energy slackens. Hot weather arrives; they let the garden go to weed and rankness and parched surfaces and stay in the shade.

To begin with, do your hot weather gardening early in the morning or late in the evening. The morning is preferable, because then you are more suitably dressed for gardening than at night. If you work for an hour before the sun is hot, or half an hour or for twenty minutes, according to the size and pretensions of your garden, you can accomplish everything that is necessary.

Avoid Burning.

The greatest harm in very warm weather comes to the garden through burning. The use of string or brush, to hold vines, instead of chicken wire, saves some plants. For the wire becomes burning hot under the intense heat of the sun and so burns and shrivels the vines on it. Many a row of sweet peas which has begun the season promisingly, has shriveled and dried, for no apparent cause, simply because its wire support had become almost red-hot.

Another and very obvious way to keep plants from burning and drying out is to give them plenty of water. This should be given in the evening, after the ground has cooled a little from the effect of the day's heat. Just water, however, sometimes kills instead of cures. For the wet soil is often caked by the hard sun and then gradually baked until it is almost as hard as a brick; of course, struggling stems and roots give up the struggle in surroundings of this kind, and die. So, early in the morning, after wetting the garden the night before, go about breaking up the surface of the soil. A small, five-cent weeder is useful for this purpose, or a long handled one—the weeder is shaped much like a hand, the five fingers bent and rigid—can be used with greater comfort to the back. This method of keeping the surface of the ground carefully broken in hot weather not only makes it possible for tender shoots and stems and leaves to push through it but it also makes the soil hold the moisture longer about the roots of the plants, just where it is needed.

The use of grass clippings—the short grass that is raked from the lawn after it is cut—about the roots of some vines and thin-foliaged plants also helps to keep them from burning. It should be piled thickly about the roots of sweet peas.

Some one not long ago wrote an article on the use of cheesecloth in gardening, suggesting that it be kept on hand to spread over lettuce and young or transplanted seedlings when the sun was hot, to keep them from withering. A few strips of cheesecloth, at five cents a yard, could be used in this way throughout the summer and would save the lives of many tender plants.

Some Cookery Suggestions

WHAT TO DO WITH TOMATOES.

TOMATOES are probably the most popular of all summer fruits, for they really are a fruit, though we are accustomed to think of them as vegetables and serve them as accessories to meats.

Panned Tomatoes.—Wash and cut in half good sized, solid tomatoes. Place skin downward in a buttered baking dish. Put a lump of butter on each tomato, sprinkle with salt and pepper and bake until soft, but not browned. Have ready as many slices of toast as tomatoes and lay the tomatoes on the toast. Make a rich cream sauce, pour over the tomatoes and serve.

Baked In a Dish.

Tomatoes and Macaroni.—Take a quarter of a pound of macaroni, four or five tomatoes, one ounce each of butter and grated cheese, pepper, salt and breadcrumbs as required. Boil the macaroni in salted water till tender, but not soft. Butter a shallow fireproof dish, sprinkle with breadcrumbs, then put in a layer of macaroni, then another of sliced tomatoes, seasoning all with pepper, salt and cheese and adding a few little bits of butter. Continue till the dish is full and sprinkle breadcrumbs lightly over. Bake for half an hour and serve at once.

Tomato Hash.—Take two cupfuls of tomatoes, chopped; two cupfuls of cooked diced meat, one and one-half cupfuls of stale breadcrumbs, two tablespoonfuls of butter, one teaspoonful of onion juice, three saltspoonfuls of salt, one-eighth saltspoonful of pepper. Melt butter and pour over breadcrumbs. Add salt and pepper, then stir in tomatoes, meat and onion juice, seasoning to taste. Place mixture in buttered baking dish, covering with a few of the buttered crumbs, and bake until brown.

Flavored With Mushrooms.

Baked Tomatoes.—Take tomatoes of even size, smooth and round in shape. Cut each tomato crosswise into halves, scoop out the seeds and part of the pulp. Chop the solid pulp and for six tomatoes add a heaping tablespoonful of grated cheese, two fresh mushrooms, a large spoonful of fine dry breadcrumbs, one tablespoonful of chopped parsley, pepper, paprika and salt. Blend all together with a tablespoonful of butter, chopping the mushrooms fine. Fill the tomatoes with this and place in a buttered baking pan; add seasoning and bake in a moderate oven.

The Boys Were Soon Quarreling.

Daddy's Bedtime Story — The Story of The Great Grasshopper War.

THE crickets were chirping outside in the grass. Evelyn turned to the window. "Grasshopper Green can't go to sleep tonight, can he?" she said to daddy.

"That isn't Grasshopper Green," Jack retorted. "That is a cricket."

"Come," interrupted daddy; "we don't want to have another grasshopper war here. The cricket is a cousin of the grasshopper, and their voices do sound something alike."

"What was the grasshopper war?" Jack asked. "Did the grasshoppers kill one another?"

"Well," daddy went on, "there was only one grasshopper in this war. Suppose I tell you about it.

"Long ago, when the pilgrim fathers came from England and settled at Plymouth, Mass., the country was a wild place.

"Each Indian tribe had its country and was very particular that another tribe should not hunt and fish on its land. Many Indian wars were fought on this account.

"And this was the way this war started: One summer day an Indian woman of one of the tribes that lived in Massachusetts started out with her little boy to visit an Indian woman friend in another tribe. As she stalked through the woods, with her little boy at her side, the chirp of a grasshopper was heard. The boy caught sight of the insect and, starting off after it, soon had it in his hand.

"The boy carried the grasshopper with him to the Indian village which they were going to visit. While his mother was talking to her friend he played with the friend's little boy. Soon he was showing the grasshopper which he had caught. The other little boy at once wanted it. The visiting boy refused to give it to him, and a quarrel started.

"The mothers came to the door. Each mother took her own boy's part, and soon they were quarreling. Then other Indians came up, and, of course, they took the part of the woman and boy of their own tribe.

"Grasping the hand of her boy, the visitor started home in great anger. She told her husband and friends how she had been treated. The chiefs of the tribes took up the quarrel about the grasshopper, and then there was war.

"Men were soon killing one another and homes were being burned all because two foolish little boys had quarreled about a grasshopper. And the pilgrim fathers, who were no doubt glad that the Indians (of whom they were afraid) killed one another, said that before the war was over nearly every one in the two tribes at war was dead."

ANTI-SUFFRAGE

Conducted by Plainfield Branch New Jersey Association Opposed to Woman Suffrage.

We who are opposed to woman suffrage are sometimes a little startled by the curious way in which a perfectly simple statement is misunderstood by our opponents, and so changed that we can hardly recognize our own utterances. To quote Mrs. Riley, in the Press of July 2nd:

"At a meeting in Morristown the other evening, Miss McIlvaine said that if women were enfranchised she would feel it her duty to vote.

"'If others feel as you do that is a good reason for woman suffrage,' replied Miss Carpenter.

"This is the situation as the writer sees it. The antis would vote if they were entitled to vote. They would feel that their country had need of them. But the same need is present whether we are enfranchised or not. To be good citizens we ought to vote and therefore we ought to try to obtain the vote."

Now we who are opposed to woman suffrage always maintain that the vote, if forced upon us, would carry with it a duty to be performed, but a duty which the government has no right to demand of us, unless under some urgent necessity. That necessity has not arisen. A noisy, and in many cases, hysterical minority are clamoring to have this extra work thrown on us. We protest quietly but earnestly and the way in which thinking women are coming, almost unsought, to our support, proves our contention that the mass of our women not only do not wish to vote, but emphatically do wish not to vote.

But supposing the vote is forced on us, I think there is no doubt that we who are opposed to it would conscientiously try to do the extra work (which implies a great deal more than the mere voting), imposed upon us. But judging by results, I very much doubt whether the women now campaigning so loudly and vigorously woud do the same. Even in California where, if anywhere, enthusiasm should bring out the vote, we hear (and my account came from a suffragist) that a great opportunity for the enlargement and improvement of the playgrounds in Berkeley was defeated through the apathy of the women voters.

It was a suffragist who wrote in answer to the Outlook's proposal to have the question of woman suffrage put to the women themselves, protesting against this plan: "Women will not vote on the school question, but let there be some real issue, and the vote comes out." To us ignorant anti-suffragists the school question seems rather a "real issue," and one that ought to interest women especially.

Poor Judge Ben Lindsay! He seems to be the football of the suffrage game. Just now, the antis seem to have him, judging from the following item in the N. Y. Times for July 2nd. At the Cathedral Conference of Church Workers, Mrs. Morton S. Lewis, vice-president of the Girl's Friendly Society, was one of the speakers. In discussing the work of the organization she said it has been found there was an enormous increase in numbers to be considered in the "girl problem," Judge Lindsay, of Colorado, having found that the present feminine agitation tendered to swell the ranks of those who were marketing vice.

It is a pity we have no umpire to decide just when the ball belongs to us and when we have to give it to the other team.

And speaking of Colorado, Mrs. O. D. Oliphant, corresponding secretary of our organization, told us at Westfield, the other day, that when in Colorado lately, she found theatres open on Sundays, two performances being given and that children instead of coming out of Sunday-school were constantly to be seen coming from the theatres. And the actors, including women and children—for there is no law in Colorado forbidding the employment of child actors—have to work on Sunday without extra pay. A little protection might be well given there. The moving picture shows, also, are open morning and afternoon and they are uncensored.

ELIZA W. SYKES.

It is noteworthy that woman suffrage and Socialism are very closely allied. There are some few women suffragists in the United States who are not Socialists, but I think there are no Socialists who are not woman suffragists. Charlotte Parkins Stetson has gone so far along the Socialistic lines as to advocate institutional rearing of children. The first result of that, of course, would be the utter and the final destruction of the home.

FRANCIS MARKROE SCOTT.

I have two friends, sisters, one of them living in Utah, the other in Colorado—both suffrage States. The one in Colorado belongs to the indifferent vote. She is too busy to vote, and doesn't believe in it, anyhow. The one in Utah goes to the polls regularly, not because she wants to vote, but because as she says "The Mormons vote all their women solidly, and we Gentiles have to vote as a duty—and how we wish we were back again under manhood suffrage." Is the State benefited by an unwilling electorate such as that?

MISS E. P. BISSEL.

Many women who feel strongly on the suffrage question fear to give their names to the cause because they are afraid that we may be tempted to adopt equal-suffrage tactics. At our first regular meeting therefore, it was agreed to give the following guarantee, when desired, with the slip to be signed. Signing slips does not involve publicity. You will never be asked to take part in any parade, or other spectacular demonstration. Your name is asked solely to add one more to the vast number opposed to woman suffrage recorded at the New Jersey State Association at Trenton. You are invited to attend all meetings of the Plainfield Branch.

Slips signed only by women of twenty-one years and over, may be sent to Mrs. Iremonger, chairman of enrollment committee, 657 Belvidere avenue. Subscriptions to the "Woman's Protest," $1.00 a year, are to be sent to Miss R. A. Lawrence, 510 Stelle avenue.

Points for Mothers

Let the Baby Learn to Walk Himself.

Please don't do it! There is probably not one case in a hundred of distressingly bowlegs that cannot be laid to the fault of a proud mother or some eager relative who has not only allowed but encouraged the victim, when a baby, to walk too soon.

One can sympathize with very pardonable pride and eagerness with which young parents watch the first efforts toward walking on the part of the baby, but it is not easy to pardon the ignorance displayed in forcing the fat baby to stand and walk before the bones are strong enough to bear the weight of the heavy little body.

The baby allowed to learn to walk and to make his first experiments of his own accord without undue forcing or teaching will develop naturally, with small legs sufficiently strong to bear the weight of the sturdy body when walking time comes.

It must be remembered that it is not merely want of strength that prevents an infant from walking at first. The natural shape of the legs renders it impossible. The feet are turned in, so that the inner sides are upward. When placed upon its feet while the baby is very young the soles will not rest upon the ground. But this need not occasion any alarm on the part of the mother. In a short time the position of the feet will change, and they will become fitted for the purposes of locomotion. Then each process in "learning to walk" should be allowed to develop naturally.

Dr. Bull, the child specialist, said, "The best method of teaching a child to walk is to let it teach itself." This it will do readily enough. It will first learn to crawl—a procedure which exercises every muscle in the body and does not fatigue the child. The crawling process has the additional advantage of imparting vigor and strength without throwing undue weight upon the bones. The more upright creeping follows the crawling.

Then, having the power, it will naturally wish to do more. It will endeavor to lift itself upon its feet by aid of a chair, and, though it will fall again and again in its attempts, it will persevere until it accomplishes the feat.

Gardens For Little People.

Many mothers are now planning to have a little garden for John and Mary because this summer they will be big enough to profit by it, says Jessie Wright Whitcomb in the Mother's Magazine. Many mothers are also ruefully remembering the crash of hopes last summer, so far as the children's gardening was concerned, and are wondering whether it will be worth while to try it again. They remember seeds dug up or drained off with excessive watering, flower plants ruthlessly jerked up and weeds left standing, dried and parched and cracked little beds or tangles of triumphant jimson, dandelions and knot grass.

Or perhaps it may recall anxious little workers and sorry disappointment over poor, spindly, flowerless plants. We have had all sorts of experiences in our family, and I feel as though a succession of summers had drilled into me exactly what is what for a small child's garden.

The main thing is to have a very limited variety of seeds and those of a strong, hardy, free blooming sort. A child of three, four or five years can have a satisfactory garden of three sorts of seeds, so that he can learn the leaves of three plants and then weed out everything else.

Children love flowers, but they do not love disappointment, and the way to make contented little gardeners, even of children who perhaps have but little affinity with the soil, is to limit the varieties of seeds you give them and to have those varieties all bright, free bloomers.

Baby an Important Patron.

Everywhere baby is receiving proofs that he is the most important person in the community. Moreover, it is being taken into account that baby does not stay at home, as he used to, except for occasional and brief airings.

Even the hotels, which are generally thought of as soulless and indifferent and which formerly thought they were making ample provision for the infrequent and undesired baby visitor if they provided a high chair or two, have awakened to the fact that the baby of the twentieth century is a person to be reckoned with and to be catered to.

"A cot!" was the reply to a request of this kind recently at one of the large hotels. "Yes, we can put a cot in your room if you desire. But would not your child be more comfortable in a crib?"

The mother, who had been worried lest her baby should not sleep well on an improvised bed in a strange place, almost fell on the hotel man's neck as she expressed her gratitude for his suggestion. Soon the porter brought in a little white cradle, with comfortable mattress and pillows, just like the one at home, and the parents were won as permanent patrons of that hotel.

In the splendid new railway stations that have been built recently, too, the fact that baby travels has been remembered, and in the well equipped and supervised rest room there are dainty cribs for the baby that has been fretted and wearied by his unaccustomed railway journey.

Woman's World

Mrs. Robinson First Woman State Senator.

MRS. HELEN RING ROBINSON.

Mrs. Helen Ring Robinson is the first woman to be state senator and is the representative of the county and city of Denver in the Colorado state senate.

Mrs. Robinson does not, however, like to be termed "senator," nor does she wish any one to suppose for one minute that she has turned the Colorado state senate upside down. "Why shouldn't a woman be in the legislature?" is her answer to all questions pertaining to the oddity of her office. She discounts her accomplishments and refuses to acknowledge that mainly through her efforts the minimum wage law and the educational reform bill were passed.

"I introduced the minimum wage bill before the senate," she said, "but I cannot and will not say that it passed through my efforts. Why, I was even too ignorant to draft the measure. I confess that if it hadn't been for my masculine colleagues the bill could not have passed.

"One thing I did work for with special zeal, however—namely, the appointment of a woman to the commission of three which investigated wages and the cost of living—and I was successful. The minimum wage law in its present form does not arbitrarily fix wages. Conditions govern the regulation of wages."

The revision of the educational system which Mrs. Robinson fought for provides a six months' term as the minimum length of a school term and a minimum salary of $50 for all teachers.

The woman senator is a Democrat in politics and was elected upon that ticket. Her hardest fight, she says, was in the primaries. For years Mrs. Robinson was a reporter on the Rocky Mountain News of Denver.

Jewelry For Summer Girl.

The girl who possesses one of the new lucky winkle bracelets should consider herself fortunate, for they are truly pretty. They are made of little gold winkle shells held together by slender chains, and inside each shell there is an opal, pearl, turquoise or some other gem. The opal looks specially pretty, because it has the semblance of an iridescent dewdrop. The shells are beautifully modeled, and even the "grain" shows.

Coral is very fashionable now and is used for all kinds of jewelry, from polished pear shaped eardrops to carved pieces set in brooches and bangles.

A pretty bracelet seen the other day was made of gold set with three carved pink coral roses, two small and one large one.

Another new form of jewelry which should not be forgotten is the butterfly kind. It is made of real butterflies' wings of the brilliant Brazilian varieties set behind rock crystal.

A very pretty necklet is made of narrow bars about three-quarters of an inch in length of bright blue butterflies' wings attached by silver chains. Whole butterflies are treated in this way and are used as brooches.

A Useful Picnic Stove.

Picnic cooking, if in inexpert hands, will undoubtedly be better over a stove than an open fire, states an article in "Picnic and Camping" in the June Woman's Home Companion. But you cannot carry a stove on a picnic or camping expedition, nor need you. A piece of thin sheet iron thirty inches long by eighteen inches wide is all the stove you want. This, laid across two little banks of earth with the fire between or two logs with the fire between, forms an excellent stove and not only makes it unnecessary to wait for embers for good cooking—since the flames cannot reach the food through the sheet iron—but is in itself an excellent griddle for making toast and flapjacks.

To Decorate White House.

As a rival to the historic east and blue rooms the White House is to have a room decorated largely with the handiwork of the mountaineers of the south.

Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, who is interested in the work of the Southern Educational association, has ordered duplicates of many of the exhibits of weaving on view in the association's rooms in Washington. The wife of the president and Mrs. Marshall, wife of Vice President Marshall, visited the exhibition frequently.

If your back gives out;
Becomes lame, weak or aching;
If urinary troubles set in,
Perhaps your kidneys are "in a bad way."

Doan's Kidney Pills are for weak kidneys.

Local evidence proves their merit.

A. K. Mattis, 127 West Fourth street, Plainfield, N. J., says: "I gave Doan's Kidney Pills my endorsement five years ago, after receiving a cure through their use and today I confirm all I then said in their favor. The cure has been permanent. I was troubled for years by a dull backache and pains in my head. I believe that it was due to a great measure to a bad fall I had. Nothing seemed to help me and when I read of the good work Doan's Kidney Pills were doing in similar cases, I got a supply at Randolph's drug store. They drove away the aches and pains and my experience gave proof of their merit."

SOMERVILLE EASY FOR PLAINFIELD

Local Contingent Scores Eight Runs Against Visitor's Couple of Tallies.

LONG HITS FEATURE

Eddie Stallings Pulls Off Some Heavy Walloping—Randolph Never in Danger—Kraft's Strikeout Record Smashed.

Clouting the pellet like demons and treating Eddie Kraft to one of the most unmerciful receptions he has been up against this season, the Plainfield ball tossers broke the winning streak of the Somerville Central Leaguers and incidently made way for their entrance into first place at the hands of the Dunellen aggregation in the afternoon, when they came out ahead on the bigger end of an 8 to 2 score. After Cliff Randolph had the visitors scared so that they couldn't think of hitting the mill, "Rus" Stewart was sent to the mound to finish the contest but little remained for him to do, so one-sided was the score.

Eddie Stallings' collection of bingles, including a home run and two triples, was the real thing along the hitting line and the local left fielder once more firmly planted himself in the good graces of the Queen City fandom. "Big Six" Nelson was also on deck with a four base clout and Garretson was nipped at the plate trying to stretch a three bagger to a homer but later got a triple and a double to make up for this.

Eddie Kraft's record for strikeouts was somewhat dimmed on this occasion, the visiting heaver getting but six alongside of Randolph's even dozen. Both teams fielded well and but one error was made by Plainfield while Somerville held their misplay column down to two without much effort. Somerville appears on Parker Field again this afternoon and a fight for the top notch honors is due to take place as a victory over the locals would mean a re-entrance into the first chamber by the Somerset county seat delegation.

Query—If I enlisted in Company K at this time would I be eligible to go to camp at Sea Girt with the company this summer? G. K.

Answer—It is too late now.

Sporting Editor:

Query—When a player on third scores on a sacrifice fly, should he be credited with a stolen base? The rule which covers the matter says that a stolen base shall be credited to the base runner whenever he advances a base unaided by a base hit, a put-out, etc. Inasmuch as a sacrifice is always a put-out it seems evident that no stolen base should be credited. Please settle this question. C. B.

Answer—Your reasoning is correct. He should not be credited with a stolen base.

Sporting Editor:

Query—I am a stenographer and I find it difficult to determine the right use of "who" and "whom," as in the following sentences. Will you kindly make it clear? (1) You will, of course, recall that Jones is the corporation's counsel, who (or whom) Smith cut out of a $1,000 retainer fee recently. (2) At a meeting of the committee the application of your son, who (whom) we understand is in college at Princeton was discussed. Is there any way I can be absolutely sure of my position each time, even when the dictator insists on the arrangement of his original dictation? X. Y. Z.

Answer—In sentence (1), "whom" is required, for the reason that it is the object of the verb. In sentence (2), "who" is required, for the reason that it is the subject of the verb "is." Yes, you can be absolutely sure of the correct uses of who and whom if you will use the following test: "When in the answer the pronouns I, he, she, we or they, can be used, employ 'who.' When in the answer the pronouns, me, her, him, us or them can be used, employ 'whom.'"

Sporting Editor:

Query—May a drawing be folded when sent to a newspaper office? A. M.

Answer—If you wish to have it published I'd advise you not to fold it.

Sporting Editor:

Query—Where are the executive offices of the Western Union Telegraph Company located? S. T.

Answer—At 195 Broadway, New York city.

Sporting Editor:

Query—What is the proper way to clean a rubberized raincoat? D. R. T.

Answer—Lay the coat flat on the table and wash with soap and water, using a brush. Rinse several times.

Sporting Editor:

Query—Please tell me what course is necessary to have one's given name changed? D. P. L.

Answer—Make application to the Court of Common Please, located in the Court House at Elizabeth. There is only one way to change your name Della, to the church.

MANY NEW PLAYERS IN CENTRAL LEAGUE

Familiar Faces Greeted the Fans Both at Parker Field and at Dunellen.

A number of new faces appeared in the Central New Jersey League teams' lineups yesterday morning and afternoon and many former stars got back into the National pastime as Central Leaguers. "Chick" Boyd, who played the outfield for the local team two years ago, was perhaps the most prominent of the returned prodigals and he made his return auspicious by doing some clever work in the outgarden and cracking out a pair of scorching bingles. VanZandt, a former Plainfield High School catcher and pitcher, played part of a game in left field for the Pets yesterday morning, but was not given a chance to show what he could do either in the field or at the bat.

"Snapper" Bergen, the former Plainfield outfielder who has been playing with the New Brunswick team until it disbanded last week, caught for Somerville against his old pals yesterday morning and displayed his right to a catcher's degree as well as that of an outfielder. He was also one of the lucky ones to get a bingle at the expense of Randolph. Bob Bogardus sprang several surprises in the way of shifts, sending Coyle to the outfield and replacing him by McDicken and later Frezza. Samuel, who formerly caught for New Brunswick occupied Dixon's place behind the bat, the latter having left to join the Brunswick team of the Empire League.

RANDOLPH EARNED DOUBLE LAURELS

Twirling Two Games in One Day He Comes Out Ahead in Both Contests.

DUNELLEN DEFEATED

Good Contest With Bogardus' Crew—Both Twirlers do Good Work—Home Nine's Fielding Good—Many Long Hits by Plainfielders.

In a contest featured by tight pitching and tighter fielding, the Plainfield baseball team took the lead in the Central New Jersey League by defeating the Dunellen aggregation on its own grounds by a count of 5 to 3 yesterday afternoon. Just as the battle of a week previous was so much the favor of the Dunellen clan, the game of yesterday was as equally as much Plainfield's. Although the Dunellenites put up a stiff losing fight, they could not connect with Randolph's shoots when hits meant runs and this spelled defeat for them, the home sluggers dented the local heaver's delivery for just five of the safe variety, while the veterans Warry McLaughlin, who held the Queen City crew hitless and runless last week, was touched for nine this trip, while his fielders played errorless ball behind him.

Joe Harter played short for Plainfield, a position that is not at all new to the local star, for in days gone by he was a crack infielder and showed by his work yesterday that he has not gone back an inch. Harter's centre field position was filled by "Chick" Boyd, a recent addition to the local contingent who is not at all unknown to the Plainfield fans. Boyd is fresh from a minor league and put up a stellar fielding game yesterday, and also cracked out two hits.

Dunellen had Samuel, the former Brunswick catcher, doing Dixon's work behind the platter, and McDicken and Frezza divided up the second base work while Coyle took possession of the left garden. With "Home Run" Wolf back on the job after a two weeks' vacation Dunellen presented its most formidable lineup of the season and was a big favorite before the battle started, probably due to its victory over the Plainfielders the previous week.

Somerville at Plainfield.
Dunellen at High Bridge.

Somerville's double loss and a similar dose of victory for Plainfield put the local aggregation in first place in the Central New Jersey League standing yesterday, the Somerset county nine taking a step back into the second berth just forty-one points below the leaders. Should Plainfield lose to Somerville this afternoon the latter contingent would again attain the pinnacle of fame and head the organization for another week but the result of today's battle, which is due to be a cocker, remains to be seen. As so much hinges on the outcome both contenders will have their strongest teams on the firing line ready to bear the burden of the fight.

By losing to Plainfield yesterday afternoon, the Dunellen herd relinguised all claim to second place and slid gently back into third but Bob Bogardus will try to close up that gap at High Bridge this afternoon. One of the biggest surprises of the holidays came at High Bridge when the team of that place trounced Somerville to the tune of 11 to 1, this being an altogether unlooked for happening, the Somerset county seat nine being a big favorite all the time. This was the first series of games under the four team circuit ruling and it bids fair to be a success as all of the present contenders are closely bunched and are making a strong bid for pennant honors.

Y. M. A. A. EASY FOR NETHERWOOD'S TEAM

Many Hits Make Victory a Cinch for the Heavy East End Delegation.

Hitting the ball almost at will to the four corners of the lot, the Netherwood A. C. baseball team had little trouble in chalking up an 18 to 3 victory over the Y. M. A. A. ball team on the Centre street field yesterday afternoon. The winners proved to be too heavy for the light Y. M. A. A. aggregation, but the latter gamely stuck it out, although always destined to finish a poor second. Big scoring sessions in the fifth and seventh sewed up the game for the Netherwood team and they circled the bases at liberty in those stanzas, getting five in the former and an even half dozen in the latter.

Coughlin Coon and Brown did some excellent sticking for the winners, while the five hits made by the Y. M. A. A. combination were well scattered, no player getting more than one. Besides holding the hits to five, Coughlin fanned fourteen of the opposition while he occupied the mound, against the other two pitchers' six.

BOUND BROOK NINE DEFEATED MONROES

Sunday School Leaguers Are Easy Prey for the Y. M. A. Combination.

Playing at Bound Brook yesterday, the Monroe Avenue M. E. church's baseball team, of the Sunday-school League, was defeated in a holiday clash to the tune of 8 to 2 by the Young Men's Association nine of that place. Both teams hit the ball hard, the winners getting eleven against the Plainfielders' ten, while the local team made seven errors against their rivals' six. Hefti and Van Arsdale, two well known characters in the Sunday-school League, did the twirling honors for the losers, while E. Mathews occupied the mound for the winning team.

Mathews did some good work along the three strike line, disposing of an even dozen batters via this route, while Hefti and VanArsdale between them scored eight strikeouts. Two base bingles were credited to J. Mathews, W. Mathews, Koechlein and W. Brown.

WATCHUNG A. C. VICTORIOUS IN HOLIDAY BASEBALL GAME

Two teams organized for the holiday played a good game of exhibition baseball at Watchung yesterday morning, the Watchung A. C. winning out by a score of 15 to 12 over the Local A. C. The game was featured by heavy individual batting which accounted for the high score rolled up by the respective aggregations. Schmidt, Armstrong, Rosenson and Stier were especially effective with the willow for their respective teams and got in some opportune work with the stick.

Both teams fielded raggedly, especially the losers, who had eight misplays chalked up against them when the contest was curtailed, while the Watchung representative had an even trio. Each twirler allowed nine hits, but most of these were timely

GLENNEY BROTHERS TO MEET IN FINALS

Golf Championship Play the Attraction at Country Club.

The continuation of play for the club championship in golf was the chief event at the Plainfield Country Club, yesterday. It was a big day at the club and the various outdoor events was followed by a dinner-dance in the evening, which was egralaltbddneff.ycmfwypshrdlucmfw largely attended by the members. The clubhouse was appropriately decorated for the day and throughout the afternoon many members and their friends enjoyed the social features provided by Superintendent Eke. Music for dancing was furnished by Van Eps Brothers, which was a feature.

The championship play also included competition for the second and third sixteens and the beaten eights. The results:

First sixteen—second round—J. R. Shoemaker beat R. G. Morse, 5 and 4; W. Lester Glenney beat W. A. Engeman, 6 and 5; R. S. Rowland beat H. D. Hibbard, 3 and 1; Will T. Glenney beat Frank O. Reinhart, 2 up; semi-final—W. Lester Glenney beat J. R. Shoemaker, 6 and 4; Will T. Glenney beat R. S. Rowland, 3 and 1. This will bring the Glenney brothers together this afternoon in the finals for the championship and it should be a fine match.

Second sixteen—second round—S. H. Patterson beat R. H. Cox, 3 and 1; H. G. Lapsley won from L. H. Gates, by default; Dr. F. E. DuBois beat J. E. Erickson, 1 up, (21 holes); James P. Murray beat H. F. Fox, 4 and 3; semi-finals—S. H. Patterson beat H. G. Lapsley, 2 and 1; Dr. F. E. DuBois beat James P. Murray, 2 and 1.

Third sixteen—second round—C. W. King won from R. C. Blancke, Jr., by default; W. F. Merrill beat T. S. Wheeler, 1 up; H. G. Phillips beat A. W. Kleinecke, 6 and 4; W. W. Coriell beat R. C. Brown, 5 and 4; semi-final—W. F. Merrill beat C. W. King, 3 and 2; W. W. Coriell beat H. G. Phillips, 2 and 1.

Beaten eight of the first sixteen—second round—H. E. Butler beat C. B. Morgan, 3 and 1; J. Whitney Baker beat M. J. Dumont, 2 and 1; S. T. Ferrin and H. R. Stockton defaulted; L. G. Carman bat D. O. Rogers, 5 and 4; semi-final—J. Whitney Baker beat H. E. Butler, 4 and 3; L. G. Carman won by default.

Beaten eight second sixteen—second round—C. M. Church won from H. G. Lapsley by default; G. M. Holstein beat D. H. Rowland, 4 and 3; B. C. Kenyon won from C. C. Riggs by default; H. A. Fiske and C. Wharton, Jr., defaulted; semi-final—C. M. Church beat G. M. Holstein, 2 and 1; B. C. Kenyon and H. A. Fiske defaulted.

These scores were posted in the golf sweepstakes:

S. H. Patterson, 82, 12-69; R. H. Cox, 92, 24-69; W. W. Coriell, 98, 27-71; H. E. Butler, 83, 11-72; G. M. Holstein, 91, 17-73; H. D. Hibbard, 83, 10-73; Frank O. Reinhart 81, 6-75; D. H. Rowland, 93, 17-76; H. A. Fiske, 100, 17-84.

ALL-PLAINFIELDS BROKE EVEN WITH SOMERVILLE

Playing a double holiday bill at Somerville yesterday, the All-Plainfield baseball team broke even with the Klinker A. C. of that place, winning the morning game and losing the afternoon tussle. The Plainfield victory was tallied with a score of 7 to 2 while the home nine came back with a 3 to 2 win in the afternoon.

At noon the Plainfield team was the guest of the Klinker Club at a luncheon. Both games were well played and witnessed by a large crowd of fans.

GREAT GAME AT THE OVAL THIS AFTERNOON

Somerville Will Have to Bat Against the Slants of George Ortlieb.

Elaborate preparations have been made by the Plainfield baseball club officials to receive Somerville at Parker Field this afternoon and when game time arrives it is expected that a record crowd will be on hand to see the Pets either rise or fall. Should they drop a game to the Somerset County Seat delegation it woud mean a drop into second place and should they win from the opposition this afternoon it would mean a strengthening of the shaky one-half game lead now enjoyed.

Seldom does it happen that such a formidable opponent as Somerville appear on the local field on two successive days and the visitors this afternoon are out with bells on to even up matters with the Plainfield team for the trouncing administered on Parker Field yesterday morning. George Ortlieb will do relief duty for the hard working Cliff Randolph this afternoon and under the guidance of this veteran twirler who has just returned from a seasoning up trip with the Lawrence team of the New England League the Pets ought to shine equally as well as they did against the Somervillians yesterday. Torpey will be back behind the bat for Somerville.

"JIM" CALLAHAN, CHICAGO

JOHN J McGRAW

When James J. Callahan, of the Chicago American Baseball Club, called on President Wilson to explain the proposed world tour of the White Sox and the New York Giants Mr. Wilson expressed his approval, not only because he said he considered himself a baseball "fan," but because he thought the movement might result in the creation of an international league in a large sense. The trip begins next November and includes visits to the Philippines, Japan, China, Australia, France and Ireland. The teams will return about March 1, 1914.

JUNIOR ATHLETES ON CINDER PATH

COMPETITORS APLENTY

Under Supervision of Playground Commission—Prizes and Prize Winners—Greatest Event of Its Kind Ever Conducted Here.

More than 500 people witnessed the greatest junior field and track meet ever held in this vicinity at Parker Field yesterday morning, held under the auspices of George W. Wriston, supervisor of Plainfield's popular playground. Never before in the athletic history of the city has so formidable an array of juvenile athletes been gathered together for an event of any nature and never before has such a prize list been made through the generosity of Plainfield merchants and personal solicitation on the part of playground officials. All of the effects produced keen, though sportsmanlike rivalry which added greatly to the success of the affair.

A complete list of the prizes and winners of the same is given below:

One Mile Run (open)—First, Burar, silver vase; second, Schuyler, military brushes; third, Casner, umbrella. Time—5 min., 2 3-5 sec.

100 Yard Dash—First, Mann, copper cup; second, G. B. Hooley, electric drop lamp; third, G. Holstein, silver shaving cup. Time—11 -5 sec.

Running High Jump (open)—First, Marsten, pair diamond tires; second, Blair, order for straw hat; third, Holstein, leather wallet. Heighth, 5 ft. 2½ in.

Running Broad Jump (open)—First, Mann, wicker suit case; second, Green, cane; third, Garner, antique candle stick. Distance—18 ft. 4 in.

100 Yard Dash (110 pound class)—First, Carmichael, pair running shoes; second, Campbell, light suit case; third, Berse, watch fob. Time—12 3-5 seconds.

Running Broad Jump—First, McDowell, tennis racquet; second, Campbell, penknife; third, Doogan, cuff links. Distance 14 ft. 3 in.

Fifty Yard Dash—First, L. Benton, baseball bat; second, Baker, twenty-four soda checks; third, Lee, scarf pin. Time 6 4-5 seconds.

Running Broad Jump — First, Baker, watch; second, Traynor, belt; third, Lee, stick pin. Distance—11 ft. 11 in.

PRINCE SHOWED SPIRIT OF INDEPENDENCE DAY

The horse that for several years has been pulling the police ambulance selected the Fourth of July as a fitting day to make a break for independence. Driven by Patrolman Frederick Baeder yesterday afternoon en route to the home of a sick man living in Jackson avenue, who was to be taken to Muhlenberg Hospital, "Prince," as the police horse is known, ran into a tree at Watchung avenue and East Front street. The traces and other parts of the harness broke and the equine made a frightened dash for liberty. He ran down East Front street as far as Cushing road, where Patrolman Baeder, pursuing the runaway accompanied by George Andrews, of the Public Service Electric Co., in the latter's automobile, caught the bad-acting horse and returned him to headquarters. Today the animal is little the worse for the experience. The ambulance was but slightly scratched.

KIVIAT TO GO TO AUSTRALIA.

A. KIVIAT

Two Eastern athletes of note, A. R. Kiviat, of the Irish-American A.C., and Matt Adams, of the New York A.C., have received an invitation from John Elliott, president of the Pacific Association, to be members of an athletic team to go to Australia and New Zealand. This team will compete under the auspices of the Australian and New Zealand Amateur Athletic unions.

ROYLE T. PHILLIPS WINS "TOMBSTONE HANDICAP"

In place of the usual play for a holiday cup there was a "tombstone handicap" at the Park Golf Club, yesterday, and it proved a great success. It attracted a large field of golfers and when the competition was concluded there were forty-six "tombstones" to be seen at various points on the course. The plan was to add a player's handicap to the par score of the course, the object being to see how far he could go. Royle T. Phillips was allowed 103 strokes and he reached the second hole on the third round, and was declared the winner

Frank W. Thompson with 113 strokes and Clarence J. Hand with 111, finished second and third, both almost reaching the nineteenth hole. N. H. Morrison, O. F. Marquard, A. C. VanArsdale, W. H. Nischwitz and Harry DeMeza almost reached the eighteenth hole.

The approaching and putting competition was won by Mrs. Charles B. Morse and William P. Taylor with a score of 10. They received a cup. Mr. and Mrs. A. C. VanArsdale finished second and received an enlarged picture of the course as a prize.

Throughout the afternoon there was "open-house" at the club, several women members receiving and pouring iced tea, and serving other refreshments. The social features were enjoyed by a large number of members and their friends. In the evening many accepted the invitation of the Park Club and enjoyed the fireworks and dance at the latter club on Washington avenue, which was a fitting climax to a successful day of outdoor sports.

PLAINFIELD BOYS SCORED HEAVILY

Prominent in Competition at the Jersey Boys' Camp Athletic Meet.

CLAY'S CLEAN SWEEP

Many Places Won by Plainfielders—Godfrey Clay is Champion of 95-Pound Class—Will Receive a Medal for Performances.

Plainfield's junior Y. M. C. A. athletes did remarkably well in the first section athletic meet held at the New Jersey State Boys' Camp athletic meet at Wawayanda during the past week, especially in the 95 pound class, the highest individual honors in that division being won by Godfrey Clay, of this city, with a grand total of 255, a lead of sixty points over his nearest competitor, Bower, of Orange. Clay took three first honors, coming out ahead in the standing broad jump for which he was awarded 91 points; first in the fifty yard dash, for which he got 75 points, and first in the running broad jump with 89 points. Besides winning a ribbon in each of these events the little Plainfield youngster also gets a medal significant of the highest point scorer in his class.

The other Plainfield victories came as follows: 95 pound class, fifty yard day, More fifteenth; Veysey, sixteenth; W. Clawson, seventeenth; Taylor nineteenth; standing broad jump, sixth, W Clawson; twelfth, Erickson; thirteenth, Taylor; nineteenth, Veysey; twentieth, Moore; running broad jump, ninth, W. Clawson; sixteenth, Veysey; seventeenth, Erickson; eighteenth, Taylor; nineteenth, Moore; 110 pound class 75 yard dash, ninth, Morrell; eleventh Hammann; running non, step and jump, eighth, Hammann; eleventh, Morrell; running high jump, third, Hammann; tenth, Morrell unlimited class, 220 yard dash, third Clawson; fouth Mumford; running broad jump, second, Mumford; third, Clawson; 12 pound shot put, second, Mumford; fourth, Clawson; 130 pound class, seventh, Stevens; eighth, Bailie; eleventh, Stringham; running broad jump, ninth, Stringham; tenth, Stevens; eleventh, Bailie; running high jump, fourth, Stevens; eighth, Stringham; ninth, Bailie. This is a list of the places won by the Plainfielders exclusively.

LOCAL ENTRIES DEFEATED IN COUNTY CHAMPIONSHIP

By defeating Philip and Ludlow Van Deventer, of Woodland avenue, this city, in the semi-final round of the Union county tennis double championship at the Elizabeth Town and Country Club yesterday afternoon, Dunham and Throckmorton reached the finals and the right to play Cissel and Glazebrook of the Elizabeth Town and Country Club for the title. The Van Deventer brothers, Ludlow being a member of last year's Princeton tennis team, were defeated by scores of 6-3, 9-7 after having put up stellar games in the preliminary rounds of play.

Both of the teams left to play for the title are members of the same club and the tournament, which is specially indorsed by the national association, will be brought to an end this afternoon.

ROYALS BROKE EVEN IN HOLIDAY PROGRAM

Lost Morning Game But Defeated New Providence in the Afternoon.

The Royal Colored Giants, of this city, broke even in a double bill with the New Providence nine at the latter place yesterday winning the morning game by a score of 9 to 5, and dropping the after-dinner tussle by the overwhelming count of 18 to 9. Hard hitting featured both contests and the fielding was ragged on the part of both teams.

BRUNSWICK TROPHIES FOR LOCAL ATHLETES

Plainfield Runners Do Well in Sprints and Middle Distance Competition.

Runners from this city were prominent in the field and track meet held at New Brunswick yesterday in connection with that city's civic celebration and a number of the handsome prizes came to this city as a result. Westervelt Ashmead, who is visiting Mr. and Mrs. William McClinton, of Woodbine avenue, and who won the three-mile race at the Parker Field meet last Fourth of July won the five-mile and came in second in the two-mile at yesterday's meet winning a handsome silver loving cup for his sterling work.

Herman Rosenson, the former Plainfield High School crack, came in second in the 440-yard dash, having been trimmed by a sprinter from a New York athletic club. Rosenson was noticeably off form having been doing little or no running since he quit high school and had he been in his ordinarily good condition, the first place would have been his easily. Jack Fritts won the one-mile run in the excellent time of 4 38. Rosenson also took second in the 100-yard dash.

IN MEMORIAM

Hanging on until he could hang on no longer and gradually having to relinquish his claim to his old time enemy and closest rival, Plainfield and Manager Ernest Dorflinger, Robert Bogardus, whose name will be handed down in Dunellen history as the most genial and yet the most happy-go-lucky baseball magnate that ever graced the sacred confines of that little hamlet, has tendered his resignation as battalion leader of the Dunellen Central New Jersey League club and the self same loss has already strongly evidenced itself. Bob was not on the Dunellen bench yesterday nor will he be at any other time this season as pilot of the nine.

His host of friends in Dunellen assign many and varied reasons for the regretted action on the part of the genial Bob who has been visibly effected by the playing of his team during the past season. So great was the change from a tail end to a first place aggregation that Bob became over-anxious for the reaping of the pennant and his health has been visibly affected. Bogardus is a man who does not enjoy the best of health and the many friends he has gathered baseballically and socially in Dunellen cannot realize that he has severed his connection with the team finally. Such is a fact, however, and some kind of a testimonial is now due him from the fans.

DROWNING CANDIDATE SAVED BY BOY SCOUTS

Blues Defeated Grays in Mimic Battle at Scotch Plains Yesterday.

Commanders Rice, Causbrook and Dunham, of the Blues, completely routed the Grays in the Boy Scout miniature Battle of Gettysburg at the Scotch Plains' notch yesterday afternoon. The defeated forces were led by Commanders Walsh, Addis and Cartwright and they either all surrendered or were captured by the victorious troop. One of the boys, Roy Hafner, who is a candidate for membership in Troop 5, was present as a guest and suddenly disappeared below the dam of the Scotch Plains' lake and he was rescued by Leader Walsh, who was himself nearly drowned on Sunday. Walsh grabbed him as he appeared about the water for the second time and giving the regulation scout signal for help, he was saved together with the candidate, who had received a thorough ducking.

Following the mimic battle the boys were treated to a camp-fire dinner by L. H. Gates, superintendent of the First Presbyterian church Sunday-school, in which troop 5 originated.

MANY PUPILS IN SUMMER SESSION

Plainfield High School and Stillman School Will Be Used for Instruction.

LARGE TEACHING CORPS

Suburbs About Plainfield Well Represented—Two Terms of Three Weeks Each—Pupil Can Complete One Course in Three Weeks.

Special summer courses for High School and Grammar School instruction opened this morning in the Stillman Grammar School and the Plainfield High School for pupils who desire to make up for lost work and ambitious ones who are trying to do four years' High School work in three by attending the summer term. A number of non-resident pupils were among the large number enrolled this morning and these will be taught at a tuition rate of one dollar a week.

Fully 150 pupils have enlisted for the Grammar School work which will be under the direction of Miss Sarah Wardner, including those from Scotch Plains, South Plainfield and other suburban towns. Those who pass the examinations at the end of the first term, which is scheduled to last for three weeks, will be dropped from the classes, while those who do not will be privileged to study in the classes for an additional period of three weeks. The various classes are under the direction of the following teachers:

Eighth Grade—U. S. History and English, Mrs. Sarah Wardner; mathematics, W. C. McClelland, formerly of the Watchung School.

Fifth Grade—Arithmetic and geography, Miss Evalois St. John, of the Montclair Normal Schol.

The remaining classes will be divided between the Misses Kons and Mackay of the Somerset street, and Mrs. Strong of the Hartridge Schools.

The classes at the High School will be in charge of George E. Webster, formerly of the borough and he will have for his assistants Prof. A. W. Hauck, A. M., French and German, Prof. S. B. Howe, A. M., History and English; Prof. P. J. VanArsdale, B. S., science; Miss Helen Pierce, Latin and English.

ABSENCE OF DE FOREST CAUSES A POSTPONEMENT

Arraigned in the local police court this morning on a charge preferred by Overseer-of-the-Poor Henry L. DeForest, John Hreanwize, could not be tried because of the absence of a complainant. Assistant Corporation Counsel Walter L. Hetfield, Jr., declined to prosecute the case in the absence of Mr. DeForest or his assistna, asserting that the overseer had certain important data which was necessary in presenting the accused. Henry Crane, representing the defendant, asked for a dismissal of the case on the ground that it had already been postponed three times and that a further delay would impose a hardship on the accused and his witnesses.

Mr. Hetfield suggested, however, that the court fix a date convenient to Mr. Crane's client for a hearing and Judge DeMeza agreed to hold court on next Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock for the purpose.

When asked later in the day why he had not appeared at police headquarters, Mr. DeForest, over the long distance phone, said to a Daily Press representative that the lawyers had assured him his presence would not be needed and that Mr. Crane had agreed that he could be absent.

BAPTIST CONGREGATION HOLDS SERVICE AT 7TH-DAY CHURCH

The congregation of the First Baptist church held its morning service yesterday at the Seventh-Day Baptist church, and will continue to do so on the three remaining Sunday mornings in July. There was a large attendance at yesterday's service. Rev. Philip B. Strong, the pastor, preached an interesting sermon and he was assisted by Rev. Edwin Shaw, pastor of the church, who read the Scripture lesson and offered prayer. William Holmes sang a solo and offertory.

CLARENCE JONES WED MISS ELIZABETH DIETZ

A charming home wedding took place Saturday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dietz, New Market Road, near Lincoln, when their daughter, Miss Elizabeth Dietz became the bride of Clarance Jones, of Orange. The house was decorated with flowers and palms and a beautiful floral bower was erected in the parlor where the ceremony took place.

The bridal party entered the parlor to the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march played by Miss E. Dietz, sister of the bride. Rev. Ernest Brown, pastor of the M. E. church, Dunellen, performed the ceremony.

The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Lucille Dietz, Jaul Jones, brother of the bride-groom, was best man. The bride's gown was white embroidered voile over satin with headdress of orange blossoms. The bridesmaid's gown was pink charmeuse. The bridegroom's present to the bride was a diamond lavaliere. The bride's gift to her attendant was a gold bracelet set with topaz. The best man received a set of gold cuff links.

An elaborate wedding supper was served and the couple left for a trip to Buffalo and Niagara Falls. On their return, they will reside at Huntington L. I., where Mr. Jones is in business..

GRIEVING HUSBAND TOOK HIS OWN LIFE

Plainfielders Find Body Near by Which is the Couple's Babe.

Arthur Brooks, of 306 Clinton avenue, this city, while on his way from Neponset to Rockaway Beach, yesterday morning, in company with John Brooks, of Linden street, Yonkers, N. Y., heard a child crying in a clump of trees a short distance from the roadwak. An investigation revealed a child a few days old lying on the ground beside the body of a young man who had killed himself with a revolver by shooting himself in the head. A handkerchief had been knotted around the child's neck and it evidently had a narrow escape from suffocation.

The two men sent a call to the Rockaway Beach Hospital. Marks on the child's throat led to the belief that the man had attempted to strangle it and had shot himself when he thought the baby was dead. The body was identified as that of Thomas Watson, 22 years old. He came to this country less than a year ago with his wife, who was 22 years old. The child was born a week ago. Mrs. Watson became seriously ill and died yesterday morning. The child was being cared for by a nurse, but after the mother's death the father secured it and started in the direction of Neponset and turned into the thicket.

RESIGNATION STORY PROVES TO BE UNTRUE

Rumors have been circulated during the last few days to the effect that Overseer-of-the-Por Henry L. DeForest had decided to resign his office and that he would recommend that his newly-appointed assistant, William B. Gilbert, be named as his successor.

When a representative of the Daily Press called Mr. DeForest's attention to the report today, the latter said:

"I have no present intention of resigning."

PLAYGROUNDS ARE OPEN FOR SUMMER

Over 600 Youngsters Were on Hand to Greet Supervisors This Morning.

ONE NEW DIRECTRESS

Miss Harriet Moe Returns for Fourth Year of Work—Assistants Are Engaged—New Supervisor at the Franklin School Grounds.

Over 600 juvenile recreation seekers of this city greeted the opening of Plainfield's four public school playgrounds this morning, and long before the gates were thrown open for the summer's work lines of youngsters swarmed in front of the gates. In each case a notable increase over last year's attendance figures was noted and in two instances assistants have been engaged to help the supervisors in caring for the youngsters. All of the apparatus in the four centers of amusement has been put in first class condition and was used by hundreds of children.

The Irving School playground, which has always proven one of the most popular centers, probably due to its having a miniature baseball diamond on it, was the most densely populated this morning, and Miss Louise French, last year's supervisor, was assisted by Miss Ruth Wean, of this city. The Bryant School was not far behind in attendance figures, while the St. Mary's and Franklin School yards were also well populated. Miss Harriet Moe, who for four years has been connected with the local recreation work and who is the only one of the original supervisors remaining, took up her duties at the Bryant School, and Miss Loretta Hayes, who had charge of the work in the St. Mary's School grounds last year is once more in charge of that center. Miss Frances Betz succeeds Miss Sherwood at the Franklin School yard and she is being assisted by Miss Emma Ryno, of North Plainfield.

CELEBRATED FIRST MASS IN ST. MARY'S

Former Plainfield Schoolboy Now a Priest in the Catholic Church.

St. Mary's church was crowded to its capacity at the 10.30 o'clock mass yesterday morning, when Father John Daley, a graduate of St. Mary's parochial school, was the celebrant. This was his first mass and the two center aisles of the church were reserved for members of the family and intimate friends.

Father Daley is a brother of Miss Anna Daley, of West Fifth street, who sings in St. Mary's choir and while attending school in this city he lived at that place. He was well-known and popular to a large circle of school acquaintances and many of the graduating class of which he was a member attended the mass yesterday morning.

BRANCH LIBRARIES FOR THE YOUNGSTERS

Public Library Establishes Stations at Public Schools for the Summer.

The children's room at the Public Library is active during July and Augunst for there many of the little people solve that problem of using this spare time. But many children live at too great a distance from the Library, and to reach them the Library begins this year to have summer branches at the four public school buildings, namely at the Lincoln and Bryant, in the east end, and at the Irving and Washington, in the west end.

Books will be circulated from the Lincoln School between 9 and 10 o'clock every Monday morning and from the Bryant School around noon of the same day.

At the Washington School the circulating day will be Tuesday, beginning tomorrow, when books given out from 9 to 10 a. m., and at the Irving around noon of that day.

Mrs. Frank Haulenbeck, of Somerset street, has been entertaining her sister, Miss Ida Perrine and Jack Ellimen, both of Brooklyn.

Mrs Gertrude Riftenhouse, of Madison avenue, has returned from Gettysburg, where she spent last week.

TWO AUTO SPEEDERS ARE HEAVILY FINED

Reputable Citizens Appeared Against Both of the Motorists.

Charged with exceeding the automobile speed limit, Frank L. Clifford, of Fanwood, and Roy C. Colline, of this city, were arraigned before City Judge DeMeza in the city court, this morning, and each was fined $50. Business men appeared as witnesses against the speeders and in passing sentence Judge DeMeza said he levied the heavy fine as an example to other speeders who are daily driving machines at excess speed through the crowded city streets endangering the lives of pedestrians.

Clifford was arrested for speeding at Watchung avenue and East Front street and Collins at Park avenue and Front street, two of the most congested districts in the city. Clifford's machine nearly hit Herbert E. Parker, general secretary of the local Y. M. C. A., in rounding the corner. Collins was driving through Front street at 10:30 o'clock on Saturday night, June 28, when he was told to stop by Patrolman Kelley, but slowed down and went on. Kelley, however, noted the license number of the machine and had him arraigned this morning.

ENGINE FIREMEN IS SERIOUSLY INJURED

Locomotive Flue Blows Out and Boodgood is Scalded and Internally Hurt.

Sydney Blodgood, aged 30 years, employed as a fireman on a work train on the Lehigh Valley Railroad, was severely scalded while at work on a locomotive at Flagtown, about eighteen miles west of South Plainfield at noon today, and was brought to Muhlenberg Hospital in a serious condition. Dr. Pittis is afraid the man may be suffering from internal injuries.

The fireman was working about the fire-pot of his engine, when one of the flues blew out. He was thrown with considerable force against the tender, and before felow-workmen could rescue him his body and hands were badly scalded by the escaping steam.

Shortly after the accident, the Buffalo express, No. 30, eastbound, came along. Bloodgood was placed on the train and brought to South Plainfield, where he was met by Dr. Pittis and the ambulance and rushed to the hospital. While the man's injuries are serious it is not thought they will prove fatal, unless complications should develope.

Bloodgood is married and live at Perth Amboy.

HEART TROUBLE FATAL TO GEORGE M. R. MORSE

George M. R. Morse, aged 46 years, died this morning at his home, 1220 Park avenue, following an illness since February last. His end was due to heart trouble. Mr. Morse was born in Boston, where he lived prior to his marriage to Miss Mary Holly in this city several years ago.

Mr. Morse was connected with the Stork Company, of New York and Boston, manufacturers of rubber goods. He was a comunicant of Grace church There survives beside his mother, Mrs. S. Randall Morse, of Boston, a wife and two sons, George Maxwell Randall Morse and Louis Randall Morse. The announcement of the funeral will be made later.

PLANNING WORK HORSE PARADE FOR LABOR DAY

The parade of work horses and other rigs at Elizabeth on the Fourth under the auspices of the Elizabeth district of the S. P. C. A., was such a success, that Mrs. S. G. VanHoesen, the local agent for the society, is now planning to hold a similar parade in this city on Labor Day and steps in that direction have already been taken. Several persons have promised to give money prizes and cups. There were four hundred horses in line.

Among those who had supervision were Mrs. S. G. VanHoesen, of Fanwood; Mrs. F. B. Price, Miss May Barber, Mrs. Charles Townsend, A. T. Jones, Major Charles W. Irwin and Dr. F. A. Zucker, of Elizabeth. The judges were Dr J. E Glennon, of Newark; Dr. L. B. Ives, of Brooklyn, and P. K. Nicholls, of Staten Island.

HE OBJECTS TO PROPOSED SITE

Codington, for Piscataway Twp., Citizens on Suggested Sewage Plant Location.

FAVORS OTHER PLANS

More Economical He Says to Place Disposal Beds Near Those in Use at Present—Dunellen to Vote on Problem's Solution Tomorrow.

As counsel for objectors among the residents of Piscataway Township, former Judge W. A. Coddington, on the eve of the joint sewage disposal system approval election in Dunellen, has sent this communication to the Daily Press:

Editors, Plainfield Daily Press:

Before the taxpayers vote in favor of locating sewer beds on the Darling Farm, in Piscataway Township, Middlesex county, they should have called to their attention some obections to the Darling farm as a suitable location for sewage disposal works.

Last October I was retained to represent several property owners residing in the vicinity of the Darling farm and procured the services of C. C. Vermeule, one of the best known civil engineers in the country, to make a thorough investigation of the proposed sewage system, and also a thorough examination of the present disposal works of the city of Plainfield, located between Rock avenue and Jefferson avenue. The following is a part of Mr. Vermeule's report:

"The present disposal works of the city of Plainfield are located within the city limits between Rock avenue and Jefferson avenue on the left bank of Green brook. The sewage of Plainfield is brought to this point mainly by gravity, although it is necessary to pump a portion of it in the lower lying sections of the city. The present works consist of two septic tanks, together with primary and secondary contact beds. The works are not of the latest and most efficient design, and moreover they are now very much overworked, due to the growth of the city and the increase in the amount of sewage to be treated. The system was installed about seventeen years ago, and since that time the population has increased sixty per cent., with a corresponding increase in the volume of sewage. Because of the relatively low efficiency of the plant, and the fact that there is now passing through it more

ANNUAL OPENING OF FRESH AIR HOME

With over 20 children and thirty mothers from New York in attendance, the Netherwood Fresh Air Home held its first service of the season yesterday afternon under the direction of Miss Sara Curry, the matron.

Rev. Dr. Philip Strong, pastor of the First Baptist church, spoke very helpfully to the children and mothers. The children's choir, under the direction of Clifford Brader, of this city, sang a number of selections. The number of visitors from this city was of great encouragement to the management of the camp.

The Netherwood Camp has been conducted a number of years under the supervision of Miss Curry, entertaining many children and mothers from the east side of New York. The camp will continue its season throughout the entire summer. The regular Sunday services, which have been enjoyed so mucr during the past summer will again feature the camp life this year. Except for new house furnishings and a few minor repairs about the buildings, the equipment of the camp remains the same as in previous years.

INFORMAL DANCE.

Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Eiseman gave an informal dance and reception last night at their home in New Market in honor of their daughter, Miss Eva Eiseman, sixty guests being present from New York, Plainfield, Bound Brook and New Market. Popular and classical songs were rendered by Miss Eiseman and were enjoyed by all those present. Refreshments were served at midnight, the host and hostess being assisted by Miss Rose Fine Miss Gladys Rosenthal and Mrs. Hary Drier.

union of the Elks' Grand Lodge which opened at Rochester, N. Y., today. So great was the crowd that it was almost impossible to get correct registration of the arrivals, but Rochester's hotels are already more than filled. All the principal streets are flaring with purple and white decorations.

The gathering formally opens in Convention Hall tonight with prayer, songs and the exchange of greetings. The regular business will be taken up tomorrow morning. Edward Leach, of New York city, a candidate for grand exalted ruler, seems to lead for that high honor and his election is freely predicted. New Orleans and several other cities are contesting for the 1915 convention.

ENDEAVORERS CAMP OPENED FOR SEASON

Camp Endeavor, conducted by the County C. E. Union, was opened today at Scotch Plains when thirty-five boys arrived from the Baptist Mission, of New York. These will remain for two weeks, at the end of which time they will be sunceeded by another group of youngsters from the Presbyterian Mission.

Today will mark the opening of the third season of this camp, financed by Christian Endeavor Societies and Sunday Schools of the county. Several noticeable changes have been made in the camp this spring, the most important of which was the erection of a rustic structure to be used as a kitchen and dining-room. This much needed improvement was made posible through the generosity of the Christian Endeavorers.

The camp, which has been lately incorporated, now owns the tract on which it is located, making it possible for more efficient service in rendering help to the needy poor children of the crowded tenement districts. Religious services will be conducted Sunday afternoons by various Endeavor Societies. The committee in charge is headed by Fred Lounsbury, of this city.

SOCIAL CENTRE CLUB EFFECTS ORGANIZATION

Those who have been meeting at the Washington School on Saturday evenings for dancing and other social features conducted by the Plainfield Recreation Committee, took the initial steps on Saturday night in perfecting an organization, the name of which is to be chosen later. A large and enthusiastic number of young people were in attendance.

These officers were elected: President, George Marsh; First Vice President, Peter Walsh; Second Vice President, R. Wallace; Secretary, Mrs. George Marsh; Treasurer, Miss Lois Nutting; Chairmain of Floor Committee, James C. Locke. The organization will be completed at a meeting to be held next Saturday night at the school building.

HOOD ARRESTED AFTER AN ATTACK

HELD IN $500 BAIL

Husband Who is Being Sued for Divorce, Will Appear in Court Tomorrow on Assault and Battery Charge.

Violating an agreement he made some months ago following his arrest for breaking into his wife's home at Stelle and Plainfield avenues, Richard Haden Hood entered the house on Saturday evening and it is alleged attacked his wife. He was again taken to police headquarters where Acting City Judge George S. Clay held him in $500 bail to appear tomorrow morning when he will be arraigned for assault and battery.

By agreement between counsel for the couple, it was arranged that Hood should be allowed to get certain personal belongings in the home, which is in Mrs. Hood's name and which her husband has brought proceedings in the courts to have deeded back to him. It was also provided that if at any time Hood should want other personal property arrangements should be made among the respective counsel in the divorce proceedings instituted and after many postponements nothing was done in the police court case wherein he was arrested for breaking into her home.

On Saturday night, it is reported, Hood sent a note to his wife asking for two suits of clothes and a Panama hat and her reply through a servant was that such requests should be made through counsel. Shortly afterwards, Mrs. Hood, who was in the house with her sister and a girl friend observed Hood stealing across the lawn. Mrs. Hood rushed to the 'phone to ring up police headquarters while the two other women locked the door to her room. Breaking down the door, it is alleged Hood rushed in and attacked his wife and it is said that testimony will be given tomorrow to prove that he hit her over the head with the telephone receiver and inflicted a bruise on her cheek and a cut on her lip. In great fear, it is said, Mrs. Hood promised to get the personal belongings but instead of doing so on regaining her composure rushed from the house and spied Patrolman Sarron coming across the lawn. Hood was placed under arrest, being found sitting quietly in a chair awaiting his belongings.

Ever since the first invasion of her home on Nov. 19, last, Mrs. Hood has had either detectives or workingmen on the place constantly on guard but it happened on Saturday night that the place was left unprotected.

It is not known whether Hood will waive a hearing tomorrow. The grand jury is not in session but it is reported that it may be reconvened and in that event the case may be brought before the court this summer.

Private police ae now on guard.

FOWLER CHALLENGES PRESIDENT TO DEBATE

Elizabeth, July 7.—Former Congressman Fowler, of Elizabeth, has sent an open letter to President Wilson challenging him to debate the currency bill with him in 100 cities. In the event of his refusal, the President is asked to have Secretary McAdoo, Senator Owen or some one else to act as his proxy.

Mr. Fowler is a candidate for the Republican nomination for Governor. Last summer he was known as a Progressive.

TRIPPED AND BROKE ARM.

Russell Story, the fourteen years old son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Story, of 19 Somerset place, tripped and fell over a hammock suspended from a tree in the yard at his home yesterday afternoon, breaking his right forearm in two places. Young Story was jumping over the swing and misjudged the distance as it swung back and forth in the air, catching his foot in fringe work and falling heavily to the ground. The injury is a painful one and will incapacitate him for some time.

Dorothy Marie, aged three years, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Milton Michaels, died Friday night after a short illness. The funeral services were held from the house yesterday afternoon and interment was in the new cemetery.

Electric wiring caused a slight fire yesterday afternoon in the building in the rear of Roller's bakery. The upper part of the structure was found to be on fire and attempts were made to quench the flames from buckets. Finding that the fire was getting the best of them an alarm was turned in. This came at a time when the regular daily test of the system is made, 5.30, and for some time no attention was paid to the call by some of the companies. When the firemen did arrive on the scene the blaze was soon quenched. The damage is only slight.

Communion services were held at the Baptist church yesterday morning at which three new members were admitted.

—Renting a flat, or house, or other property, is strictly "a classified advertising matter." Any other way of finding tenants is impracticable, costly and—sometimes—impossible.

HINTS FOR THE FAIR TRAVELER

When Packing the Trunk Be Sure to Make Allowances For Every Emergency and Put In the Garments In Such a Way That They Will Not Be Crushed.

THE problem of packing looms large in the face of the summer vacationist.

If one expects to go about from place to place, sightseeing, the wisest thing is to encumber oneself with as little luggage as possible. Take clothing that need not go to the laundry very often and depend on the shops where you chance to be for everything you need. This is the best way to start for Europe, for clothing can be bought so much cheaper on the other side that it justifies any extra charges that may be put upon it.

If the vacationist is going to some smart summer resort or to visit friends where courtesy requires a decent attention to the matter of dress it is altogether a different matter, and then the question of getting as much as possible into a small space is an important one.

Before packing always dust out the trunk thoroughly and wipe out with a damp cloth. If it is cracked ever so little on the bottom buy trunk stays at the hardware store and nail these into place. Line the bottom of the trunk with newspapers before you begin. This will protect the contents from dampness.

Sort all clothes, putting lingerie in one place, shoes in another, toilet articles in another and dresses in another. Then put all the supplies that will be needed after the trunk leaves home and until it is unpacked at the end of its journey safely out of the way. These supplies should include all toilet things needed, night wear and change of underwear, with slippers and dressing gown, clean shirt waist or a fresh frock. Enough supplies should be carried to last a couple of days. The trunk may be delayed on the way, or something may occur which will make it impossible to unpack for several hours after the trunk is received.

Now begin to pack. First gather the shoes together. Stuff them with paper. Shoe trees and small objects wrapped in paper—a box of talcum powder, a jar of cold cream, a bottle of alcohol (sealed) or stockings—can all be safely stowed in shoes. Put the footgear evenly in the bottom of the trunk. Cover each shoe with tissue paper. Fill in the cavities around them with such heavy and bulky articles as corsets, rubbers, sweaters and toilet articles, well protected from breakage with paper. Make a neat layer and fill every crevice and cranny, for good packing must be tight packing.

Cover the first layer with a piece of stout ticking or unbleached cotton the shape of the trunk and a few inches bigger. Tack the ticking or other cloth loosely over the shoes so that they cannot shift their position.

Next tack strips of cotton one above the other across the ends of the inside of the trunk. Put in the heaviest dresses first and tack them with stitches or pins securely in place. This use of tapes will be found very helpful in keeping the clothes where they are packed.

After the bottom of the trunk is filled with clothes, all tacked at each end to the tapes, put in the tray. Put underwear, excepting petticoats, which should be packed like skirts in the bottom, neatly in the tray. Shirt waists, too, belong in the tray. They can be wrapped in tissue paper and puffed out a little with wads of the paper so that they will not wrinkle badly.

Flat boxes, if they are available, can be used for packing waists and underwear. They keep the clothes more nearly free from wrinkles than any other sort of packing.

If a hat must go in a trunk sew it firmly to a square of cardboard and tack the corners securely to the bottom of the tray. Cover the hat with tissue paper and put crumpled wads of the paper all about it to help hold it in place.

Lingerie dresses or any dress which wrinkles easily can be stuffed with wads of tissue paper loosely made and loosely put in place. A dress puffed out with paper like this does not wrinkle easily and really takes no more room than a dress which is perfectly flat, for the stuffed dress can be packed tight without fear of mussing it.

It is hard to pack a coat. Turn back the sleeves at the elbow over a roll of tissue paper and pin them in place. Lay several crumpled sheets of tissue paper inside the coat and bring one side far over the other, over the tissue paper too. Then wrap the coat in several sheets of paper and pack tight.

Useful Soap.

A soft soap that is useful in cleaning may be made as follows:

Dissolve fifteen pounds of common, cheap, hard soap in fifteen gallons of hot water and let it cool. Then dissolve fifteen pounds of sal soda in fifteen gallons hot water. Add six pounds of unslaked lime and boil twenty minutes. Let it cool and settle and then pour off the clear liquor carefully and mix it with the soap solution. Add one quart of alcohol after mixing the two solutions.

If a smaller quantity is desired be careful to keep proportions right.

Not a home in this city but has its quota of discarded furniture, rugs, stoves perhaps, a wheelbarrow maybe.

A few cents for a Press want ad and some one who needs the very article that lies rotting in your garret will call and pay you for it.

You are better off—new owner is pleased—and the article itself is contributing to the reduction of the high cost of living.

STYLISH—RELIABLE

PLAIN ENGLISH

Will you tell us the difference between selling "Dishonest Clothes" and making counterfeit money?

As far as we are concerned, we believe both are crimes—and the guilty ones should be punisht.

A suit that bears a price-tag out of all relation to its worth is DISHONEST.

A suit that is "Faked up" from Shoddy Stuffs with merely a good "Surface Look" is DISHONEST.

Do not misunderstand us—we do not claim that the Rothberg Garments are the ONLY honest ones in town.

Far from it.

But we do claim that no store in this broad land today offers you a fairer pledge than Rothberg's—that what you buy here is the "best for the least!" Remember that.

And while on this subject, it might be well to remember this:

BEAUTIFYING THE SUMMER PORCH

It May Be Transformed Into a Cool and Attractive Outdoor Sitting Room at Very Little Extra Expense.

THE adornment of the summer porch is a subject that is now close to the heart of the housewife. In our love for outdoor life we are closely approaching the English. Even if one has only a rear porch in the city it has become the fashion to make the most of it.

Fortunately the great mass of Americans have suburban or semisuburban surroundings that permit them to gratify a taste for making outdoors a part of their habitation each day during the summer. If they do not have a roomy porch the back yard is sodded and fitted with a rustic arbor or marquee in which the housewife may sit and sew or read of summer afternoons and where the man of the house may smoke his pipe in peace with a neighbor on summer evenings.

The porch forms part of the equipment of most modern suburban houses, and those who own a picturesque and roomy one are fortunate, for at little cost it may be fitted up to make them the envied of the neighborhood.

The most important feature of the porch's preparation for summer occupancy is the fitting it in with wire to keep out insects. A carpenter will make frames for this purpose, and if they are covered with galvanized wire they will last for two or three seasons in this shape, for they can be removed in the fall and stored in the attic during the winter, where they will be safe from the action of wind and weather.

The floor of the porch and the wire should be painted green, to fit in with the color scheme of the landscape.

Wicker furniture is the most convenient for the porch. There are settees, cozy chairs, tables for afternoon tea or for work and little cabinets designed to hold bowls of flowers. There is also an attractive mission furniture for porches.

Hammocks are handsomer than ever, and a couch hammock is an essential furnishing for the porch. So, too, is an outside awning to screen the porch from the sun and keep the rain from beating in on the occupants or on the furnishings. An added convenience are shades of bamboo, that may be raised or lowered at will.

Flowers are a charming accessory to the summer porch. They may be placed in built in boxes, or the pots may be set in fancy jardinieres and placed on stands, where they will look well.

Boxes of wood with plenty of holes in the bottoms, these holes to be covered with pieces of broken pots, do very well if cleaned out and dried before being put away in the fall. Zinc ones are good, but expensive. If painted beware of bright green or red. A dull, deep green is good, though a walnut stain is best.

But, whatever the box, the chief consideration is the vines. These should cover the front and ends of it. A deep fringe of vines waving in the breeze is a delight any time, doubly so on a hot day. Variegated vince is splendid for a sunny box, while tradescantia, ivy and moneywort (Lyssimachia nummularia) will thrive at a north exposure. The moneywort may be dug up in the woods.

Behind the vines comes the row of plants. For the sunny location the geranium is first choice. Red ones are especially delightful on white houses, white ones on red houses and salmon pink ones on brown houses. Three to five are required for each box of ordinary size.

Illustrated here are three new and novel jardineres. The designs show conventionalized flowers very cleverly adapted.

Proper Airing of Bedrooms.

In airing a bedroom first open the windows, top and bottom. Take off the top clothes, one by one, and place on two chairs, with the seats turned toward the foot of the bed. Beat and shake pillows and place near the window. Remove lower clothes, one by one, and spread. Turn mattress so that the air has free access to every part by arching it on its two ends, or if it is in two parts set up each part to air.

Spread nightdresses over the window. If possible leave the door open to flush the room with air. At least one hour's airing is necessary. Each member of the house should attend to this before leaving his or her bedroom.

When ready to make the bed brush the mattress and dust the bedstead. Turn the mattress from side to side and top to bottom on alternate days so as to equalize pressure and wear. Tuck in the under blanket free from wrinkles. Place the under sheet in the same way if a bolster case is used; otherwise roll the sheet around it. Place the bolster and pillow in position, with the hems turned downward.

If one side of the bed is near a wall put the end of the pillow where the fastening comes toward the wall. Put the top sheet on wrong side out, with a good margin at the top. The narrow hem of the sheets and the marking of the blankets come to the foot of the bed. Tuck in the blankets, leaving the margin and the doubled fold at the foot. Fold the extra length of sheet at the top over the blankets.

Put the counterpane on carefully so that it hangs evenly and smoothly.

Fads of the Season.

A fad of the season is the wearing of gray silk stockings with black pumps. Taupe and smoke gray stockings in fine thread silk weave have even a more airy and diaphanous suggestion than sheer black hose, for the flesh tint is quite visible through the gray silk. These gray silk stockings are more fashionable now with black pumps than with pumps of gray swede or satin, which are not used now for ordinary promenade wear. The smart pump is of patent leather with a sparkling cut steel buckle at the front, and the pump rises well over the instep. Very popular also is the dainty buttoned oxford, which has the knack of making the foot look trim and tiny and which comes in patent leather with a buttoned top of dull kid or black satin, for dressy wear.

Flowered foulard makes charming summer toilets with the skirts draped or fashioned with tunic sashes.

Renting a Room For Storage.

One woman who found it necessary to do something to add to her little income and who had never been able to afford the furnishing of several rooms on her third floor decided to rent it out for storage purposes to people who wished to store furniture or other belongings when they went away. The money she receives for it seems like a present, she says, because she did not have to spend any money to get it and there is no work connected with it.

STRIKES AND LOCKOUTS.

It does seem that it must be possible to find some way to prevent strikes and lockouts. Surely there must be enough of Christianity in the earth to bring this about. Can we not get into the business life of the country more of the spirit of the Sermon on the Mount? Neither capital nor labor can expect that these questions can be settled effectually by constant tests of endurance, and at what enormous cost they are made! Business loses and labor loses. Millions are lost to both.

What terrible suffering has followed the Paterson strike and the end is not yet. Why was it not possible to have settled it? These great contests between labor and capital are not matters with which the participants alone are concerned. There is a public side to them. They tend to the destruction of civil government as well as the serious injury of a great body of our citizenship. There must be some power found somewhere to meet and stop these conditions. It seems that the only sure way is by enforced arbitration. And why not?

The only answer given to this suggestion is that business is private property and labor is a man's own, and neither can be compelled to accept the findings of arbitrators. While in no sense accepting this as true, for the sake of the argument let us concede it. Still it remains true that the State controls the situation. If a board of arbitrators find out the truth about a strike or lockout public sentiment will force its acknowledgement and it will justify its acceptance or the dismissal of the men who are in the wrong.

In modern business it can no longer be said that labor has no interest in the business of the employer which it has built up, nor that the industry has no interest in requiring the further aid of this same labor. We are coming to realize that labor and capital are interdependent and that the State must protect the rights of both. This is the twentieth century and not the sixteenth. The whole theory of business is revolutionized. Modern conditions must be met by modern methods. And modern methods require that the State shall in all matters see that justice is assured to every citizen.

SENSIBLE PATRIOTISM.

It was a glorious Fourth. It was a safe and sane Fourth. It was a Fourth without accident. And yet it was a Fourth filled with patriotism. What advantage is noise? Why shoot guns and cannon and make people miserable? That it is not necessary has been clearly demonstrated in 1913. May the old fashioned maiming and killing Fourth never return again. Let us substitute teaching of patriotism for it hereafter. Do not stop the oration; only stop the slaughter and the use of death dealing instruments in our celebrations.

Every citizen should have read the Declaration of Independence on that day. We presume some did, but most people did not have a copy at hand in all probability. Why does not some one have the good sense to print it in folders, and why not the Federal and State Constitutions also? How many homes have copies of these great documents in them? They should be printed in simple form and be made accessable to all. The State should do it.

We would have less trouble in the country if all our people were made more familiar with these great charters of our liberty. The way to know one's country is to familiarize one's self with its basic principles, and there is no way to so surely do this as to put the documents containing these great truths of republican government in the hands of all the people.

FOWLER'S CHALLENGE.

Judging by political returns the majority of voters in Union county have little use for Charles Newell Fowler, their erstwhile congressman, but until now he was generally credited with having some sense and some gumption. What can be said however, of an office-seeker who is silly enough to be the author of a letter challenging the President of the United States to meet him in public debate? Has Mr. Fowler lost his reason so far as to sincerely believe that such an absurd proposition would be seriously entertained? "Todey" Hamilton was the greatest press agent, so the circus people say, that ever lived, but how about Charles Newell Fowler when it comes to notoriety seeking in the political arena? In the vernacular, isn't he "some class"?

EVANGELICAL CHURCHES HOLD AN UNION SERVICE

First of Annual Summer Joint Religious Meetings Well Attended.

The first of the Sunday evening union services under the auspices of the First Baptist, First M. E., First Presbyterian and Trinity Reformed churches, was held at Trinity church, last night, there being a large attendance of members from each of the four congregations.

Rev. D. E. P. Johnson, the supply at Trinity church, preached the sermon taking for his subject, "The Best Citizenship." Rev. D. C. E. Herring, of the First Presbyterian church, conducted the responsive eading, Rev. Dr. Philip B. Strong, of the First Baptist church, read the Scripture lesson, and Rev. Dr. C. M. Anderson, of the First M. E. church, offered prayer.

The music was in charge of Arthur L. Titsworth, organist, and the quartet choir compising Miss Etta Raybert, soprano; Miss Hope Irene Miller, contralto; Edward D. Young, tenor, and Roy Titsworth, baritone, sang an anthem, "Deus Misereatur," and Miss Raybert, Mr. Young and Mr. Titsworth sang, "Praise Ye," for trio. There were othe special numbers by Mr. Titsworth on the organ.

The service closed with a prayer by Dr. Strong and the benediction by Dr. Johnson. Dr. Anderson will preach at the union service next Sunday night at the First Presbyterian church instead of Dr. Strong and the latter will take Dr. Anderson's place on July 27 at Trinity Reformed church.

FOR SUMMER WEAR.

Embroidered bands in vivid colors appear on frocks of all sorts of material.

A stunning costume is fashioned from old blue and white checked voile combined with the same material in plain old blue.

A charming frock is made of checked linen in tones of deep rose and white. A plaited linen collar makes a pretty finish for the neck.

A pretty and chic costume is made in Russian blouse style. The blouse is fashioned from tomato red satin, caught in at the waist line with a sash girdle of dark blue satin. The collar and cuffs are of Bulgarian embroidery in tones of red, yellow, green and blue. The accompanying skirt is of dark blue satin.

Planning For Summer.

If you are intending to take a pleasure or business trip during the summer try getting pillow and "knapsack" ready now. Cravenetted material is a good choice for the pillow, as it is impervious to occasional wettings and can be laundered, or the pillow may have an extra cover of smooth linen or silk to be slipped over and fastened securely with buttons or snap fasteners.

This should be about half a yard square, with strong straps at the upper corners by which to hang it over the chair top, preventing it from slipping down. The knapsack is just a fit bag, with a stout strap to hold or hang it by, and can be made to sling over the shoulder if desired. It should have a few small pockets on the inside and a flap to fasten down. In this one can carry small necessaries, a book or other articles which a traveler always finds a use for.

A Transmigration Story

By F. A. MITCHEL

In the city of Bungalore, in India, one Kadur, an old man, lay dying. His wife knelt by his bedside—there were no children—waiting for the end and praying to Vishnu in his behalf. In India they believe in the transmigration of souls, and the woman prayed that in order that she might have her husband near her his spirit might pass into the body of one of her pets, of which she had a great many. When she was satisfied that he was dead she left the body where it lay and, weeping, went out to another room. As she opened the door she saw in the middle of the floor a tiny monkey that had just been born looking up at her with a peart face and a pair of bright eyes. Whether or not it was her imagination that made this human-like countenance appear in her eyes to resemble her late husband it is impossible to say. Certain it is that she took the little creature up in her arms and hugged it to her bosom, at the same time thanking her god that he had answered her prayer, for she did not doubt that the soul of him she loved had passed into the body of the monkey just born.

Now, the woman was rich, and this is what she did. She made a will, leaving all her property to the monkey so long as it lived, and at its death it was to go to her nephew, Rustom, a boy of whom she was very fond. She also bequeathed the monkey to a woman in whom she had great confidence, who was to have a large sum for its care as long as it lived. It was thus made the interest of its keeper to preserve its life as long as possible.

The widow lived three years after her husband's death. When she died her nephew, Rustom, was about eighteen years old and had a sweetheart. Naturally he wished to marry and needed the money.

But the woman, Dulmara, who was getting large pay for taking care of her ward, realizing that Rustom was interested in its death, redoubled her efforts to keep the monkey alive. She put it in a wing of the house, had iron bars put on all the windows, and no one was permitted to go in to it without passing through apartments occupied by herself.

But these precautions were not necessary, for Rustom had been brought up to believe that his uncle's soul was in the monkey and if he killed it he would be guilty of a crime. But Agya, the girl he wished to marry, had been to a Christian mission school and did not believe in the transmigration theory. She could not see why a monkey should prevent her and the youth she loved from enjoying a fortune. Indeed, she thought no more of killing a monkey than a dog. Besides, it was plain that Dulmara might at the monkey's death substitute another monkey in its place and keep on thus substituting monkeys till the crack of doom. She therefore determined that the little beast should die.

One day Agya appeared to Dulmara and said that she had a singular dream. But before she told the dream she looked about her at the pets which were wandering around. A hen was sitting on some eggs, upon seeing which Agya told her dream. She said that a woman had appeared to her in her sleep and said that her husband's soul was in a monkey in a house which she described. The woman herself had died and passed into the body of a cow (sacred in India). The cow was about to die, and the woman's spirit had been permitted by Vishnu to be born in the house where her husband lived in a monkey's body. She would come out of an egg. The girl was instructed to go to the house described, and the first chicken hatched in that house would contain the spirit of the wife of the man whose spirit inhabited the monkey. She was to have the care of the chicken.

There is no end to the superstition in the people of India, and Dulmara believed the story. While the two were talking a wee chick picked through the shell of an egg, and this settled the matter. Dulmara did not dare to turn Agya away for fear of the wrath of the tiny bird which might contain the soul of her from whom she drew her stipend. The girl was at once taken into the household and given the care of the chicken. She took it in to see the monkey, but the little brute evidently did not recognize it as its wife, for if permitted to get at it would have eaten it.

Agya, having effected an entrance to the household as well as access to the monkey, lost no time in carrying out the rest of her plan. Soon after her arrival the monkey sickened and died the next day.

Though Agya did not admit that she had poisoned the monkey, she threw off the sham she had put on and, leaving her little ward to take care of itself, went to Rustom and told him that he had succeeded to his fortune. She being a witness to the death of the monkey, he had no trouble in securing his property. The two were married, but Agya did not then dare to tell her husband that she had killed the monkey lest he consider her a murderess.

Years after, when she had converted him to her religion, she confessed. He was scarcely prepared for such a sin, and in order to make him feel more comfortable she told him that his uncle had appeared to her in the form of a bird of paradise and thanked her for poisoning it.

Two Reasons For Not Reporting.

General Nelson A. Miles, during active service, one day received a telegram from a subordinate who was on a furlough, but was expected back that day. The dispatch read:

"Sorry, but cannot report today, as expected, owing to unavoidable circumstances."

The tone of the message did not please the general, and he wired back:

"Report at once, or give reasons."

Back came the answer from a hospital:

"Train off, can't ride; legs off, can't walk."

Disraeli's doctrine of marriage was admirably simple: "All my friends who married for love and beauty either beat their wives or live apart from them. I may commit many follies in life, but I never intend to marry for 'love,' which I am sure is a guarantee of infelicity."—Contemporary Review.

A Real Lottery of Marriage

By MARY T. BRYCE

I grew up with a full realization of the great risks attending marriage. I wished that a husband might be selected for me, as marriages are made in foreign countries, especially among princes. If, however, I had left the matter to my parents both of them would have died leaving me an old maid.

And being an old maid was a horror to me. I wished to be a wife, the mother of children, the feminine head of a home. My trouble was to make a selection of the man to be the masculine head. This may sound amiss, but the truth is there were several men who had proposed to me. They were all good men, but I dared not risk matrimony with any of them.

"I know what's the matter with you," said my friend, Mrs. Seamon. "You have never met a man of your own caliber—one who, the moment you saw him, you would wish to possess."

"It wouldn't make any difference," I replied. "I would not marry him. The only way for me to marry is not to know who the bridegroom is to be and be married in the dark. Once tied I would have to get used to it, I suppose."

"I am not sure but you are right. I know such a man as I have described to you. You might be married to him, just as you say, in the dark without ever having seen him. He has never seen you and was only yesterday making the same plaint you have made."

To make a long story short, I became engaged to John Chesborough, knowing only his name and what Mrs. Seamon had said about him. We were to be married in a dark room with not a ray of light in it. As soon as the knot was tied the lights (electric) were to be all turned on at once, and after a few moments' conversation we and a few relatives who would be present were to adjourn to another room and partake of a wedding breakfast. Then we were to part, not to come together again until mutually agreed. It might be a month, a year or never.

Had I been about to marry a man I knew and was to live with him from the day of our marriage I should have during the engagement been on the border of nervous collapse, especially on standing up to be married. As it was, it seemed to me that I was waiting to make a trip or sign a deed to a piece of property or something like that. And when I went into that dark room and my father led me to the spot where I was to be married I was perfectly indifferent as to what I was about to do.

Perhaps this does not correctly express my feelings. I felt a pleasure akin to gambling. I was like one who expects to draw a prize or a blank. How I did hope I would draw a prize! And, if I should draw a blank, what then? Simply this: If I didn't fancy him I would not live with him. The advantage in the plan was that there was something strong enough to bind us together till we might begin a welding process.

Having been put in position, the clergyman began the services. At that part where he placed my hand in that of the groom I knew that I should like him. How? There is something in the clasp of a hand that draws us to another or repels us. I felt that the hand clasping mine was a hand of vigor and tenderness combined, and the moment I clasped it I felt a current passing through it and up my arm, distributing itself through my being.

From that moment I was so absorbed that I forgot to make the responses, and the clergyman was obliged to wait till I had done so before proceeding. When the end came and I heard the words "man and wife" pronounced I was in a delirium of anxiety. For the first time I dreaded disappointment, but I had no time to indulge my emotions. In an instant every light was turned on at once. I turned and looked up into a handsome, manly, kindly face that looked down upon mine with an encouraging smile. A clapping of hands sounded in my ears, but since my whole being was engrossed in what I believed to be a prize I had drawn in the lottery of marriage it seemed to me in some faraway theater.

My husband offered me his arm, and we led the little procession of attendants to the adjoining room, where the breakfast was served. It had been agreed that there should be no congratulations, since they might be painful. But we were no sooner seated at the table than some one proposed a toast to "the first and second prize, the former drawn by the groom, the latter by the bride." I tried not to show my relief and happiness, but in spite of all my efforts a continual smile hovered on my lips and a blush burned in my cheek at every happy word spoken to me.

Our breakfast lasted till early afternoon, when one by one the others withdrew, and presently we found ourselves alone. My husband rose.

"The contract, I believe," he said, "calls for a parting immediately after the breakfast."

"Immediately?" I said, looking I know not where to avoid his gaze.

"I leave you to name the exact time."

"Then let it be later. We will visit awhile in the drawing room."

The only part of the contract that was not carried out was the parting.

I do not recommend the plan of my marriage to others, but for me it was an instantaneous and, I may say, a lifelong success.

FAVORS NEW PLAN

sewage than it is capable of treating effectively, the odors are objectionable. The city now owns a considerable amount of property in and immediately adjacent to this disposal plant including not only the land secured for the disposal works, but also the alms house property. The purchase of a comparatively small amount of additional property would command a frontage of 2,000 feet on Front street running through to Green brook nearly 2,000 feet distant, comprising approximately 90 acres. Furthermore, immediately across Green brook between Rock avenue and Jefferson avenue, there is a large improved tract of relatively low value, comprising also about 2,000 feet by 2,000 feet, or 90 acres in area.

"The proposed system contemplates the abandonment of the existing disposal works and the conduct of the sewage from that point northwest along Rock avenue by means of two 20 inch cast iron siphons to the opening of Green brook road, at which point a junction is to be made with a 24-inch outfall sewer coming down Green brook road from North Plainfield borough. Thence there is to be a 42-inch trunk sewer leading westerly and southwesterly along the foot of the mountain, 13,000 feet to another double line of 20-inch cast iron siphon pipe running south across Green brook, a distance of 1,550 feet to the proposed works on the Darling farm. After treatment, the effluent is to be conducted through 2,000 feet of 42-inch sewer and another siphon line consisting of two 20-inch cast iron pipe each 1,050 feet long, across Bound Brook to an outfall about 500 feet below Sebring's mill, and the pumping station of the Watchung Water Company.

Flow line at present disposal plant, 61.0 feet; flow line of trunk sewer at Rock avenue and Green brook road, 62.0 feet; surface of Green brook at present disposal plant, 46.0 feet; flow line of primary settling tanks at proposed works, 50.15 feet; flow line of dosing tank, 49.65 feet; level of nozzles, sprinkling filter, 41.65 feet; flow line of final settling tank at proposed works, 34.50 feet; low water level of Green brook at outfall, 28.0 feet.

"The surface of Green brook and Bound Brook immediately at the disposal works is nearly level with the flow line of the final settling tank as proposed, and is approximately 34 feet. The high water level of Green brook at the outfall is given in the plans as 34.5 feet elevation. I am informed that this is the actual elevation of a flood which occurred recently. However, it is not the maximum flood level. From my own records the Raritan river rises occasionally at Bound Brook to an elevation of 35.2 feet, and the maximum flood level at the proposed disposal works is between 40 and 41 feet elevation.

"The proposed disposal plant surrounds the pumping station and wells of the Watchung Water Company on two sides, in such a maner that there is a mile of trunk sewer and siphon lines within 3,000 feet of those wells, one siphon line being under Green brook, about 2,000 feet from the nearest well, while a second siphon line runs under Bound Brook about 1,000 feet upstream from said wells, and the effluent is discharged into the stream 500 feet therefrom. The disposal works themselves, consisting of the primary and final settlingg tanks, the sludge bed, and the sprinkling filter are about 2,000 feet distant from the wells aforesaid. These wells are the source of supply for Dunellen, New Market, Lincoln and adacent communities.

"The method of treatment proposed is in line with more recent approved practice in sewage disposal, and consists of primary settling tanks quite similar to the Imhoff or Emscher tank, with the usual sludge drying bed, and percolating or sprinkling filters with a final settling tank through which the effluent is passed before it is discharged into the stream.

"During my inspection of the work and my later examinations, my attention has been attracted to the apparent lack of any public necessity for the proposed change of location of the sewage disposal plant and I have been unable to find any advantage accruing from an engineering, sanitary or mechanical standpoint which will warrant such a change. The foregoing description makes it self evident that the proposed plant will be a serious menace to the wells of the Watchung Water Company, lying immediately upstream from and surrounding said wells in the manner described. It is, of course, imposible to say that they will pollute these wells, but there is a strong probability that contamination of the wells will result and such a risk should not be unnecessarily incurred. That no real public necessity exists for the construction of the long trunk sewer proposed and for the removal of the disposal works into the township of Piscataway is demonstrated by close consideration of the relative merits of the location of the present works and that now proposed.

"First there is no advantage whatever obtained in the way of grades. The flow line of the proposed trunk sewer at the corner of Rock avenue and Greenbrook road is, as already stated, at elevation 62.0, while Green brook at Rock avenue has its ordinary level at elevation 46.0. In other words, all of the sewage of Plainfield and North Plainfield will pass this point at a level of 16 feet above the brook level, whereas at the proposed new works the difference between the brook level and the flow line elevation of the primary settling tank is also 16 feet, being exactly the same. In other words, the head lost in the long line of trunk sewer down to the proposed location is fully equal to the fall in the brook, and there is no advantage whatever gained in grades. Just as much sewage would be discharged by gravity into a sewage disposal plant at Rock avenue as will be discharged by gravity into the proposed new plant.

"Topographical conditions at the existing works are extremely favorable to the construction of a plant of large capacity. While I have already pointed out that about 90 acres can readily be secured on either bank of Green Brook at that point, and either of these plots would be sufficient and ample for the proposed works, as a matter of fact both plots might be acquired and used together in such manner as to accommodate work sufficient for an indefinite time in the future.

"It is most important to note that no additional injury will result from the location of the new works at the site of the old works, for the reason that the old works have been of low efficiency, and have been much more offensive than such works as it is now proposed to build will be at present, or are ever likely to become even when handling four times as much sewage as is now treated.

"I have also considered the relative economy of the two locations. The present plan calls for the pumping of the sewage of Dunellen into the trunk sewer. It can quite as readily be pumped to a disposal plant located at the existing works and no disadvantage will result on this account. The cost of the proposed trunk sewer from Rock avenue down to Sebring's mills, including the right of way, has been determined by me from a careful estimate, and in my opinion, it will not be less than $110,000. This does not include the cost of acquiring the Darling farm. This $110,000 will be entirely saved in the cost of construction of works located at the site of the present Plainfield disposal plant. If the cost of the Darling farm be taken into account, it is evident that the saving will be sufficient to acquire a large amount of property in addition to that already owned by the city of Plainfield at the site of the present works. There is, therefore, no gain in economy either in first cost, or in operating expenses, and indeed in my opinion there is a serious loss involved in conducting the sewage to the proposed site instead of treating it at the site of the present works.

"Another important consideration is that in relation to the Watchung Water Company works located at the present site will invoive no danger of direct percolation from the tanks, filters and sludge beds to the wells, such as is involved at the new location, and that furthermore the effluent, if discharged into the stream at this point, will have the advantage of about five hours required for it to reach the vicinity of the wells, and this five hours exposure to contact with the bacteria in the brook water will eliminate a large percentage of the pathogenic bacteria in the effluent. As to offensiveness, it should also be borne in mind that the treatment of the sewage at this point, nearer to its origin, will be less offensive for the reason that the sewage will be in a less septic condition due to the saving of the time required for it to reach the lower location three miles distant.

"The advantages of retaining the present site, between Rock avenue and Jefferson avenue, in comparison with the proposed site on the Darling farm, may therefore be summarized as follows:

"1. The present location involved no such peril to the wells of the Watchung Water Company and the public water supply of Dunellen, Lincoln and New Market as is involved in the location of the plant on the Darling farm.

"2. The present location involves now new or additional injury to any private property whatever.

"3. The present location involves no mechanical difficulties and is in all respects as feasible and desirable from an engineering standpoint as the proposed new location.

"4. The proposed new location carries with it no financial saving to the communities' interest.

"The foregoing summary makes it apparent that no public necessity whatever exists to justify the location of the disposal plant in Piscataway Township at the proposed site."

It is a well known fact that many properties in Dunellen have damp and wet cellars during a large portion of the year, and it may be that some people who are in favor of the proposed sewer site have been led to think well of it because they may think that the sewers can be used to cary off surface water. I wish to call the attention of such persons to Section 8 of the ordinance refrring to the joint sewer system which reads as follows: "That all collecting sewers, including house connections, constructed within each municipality and conected with said joint sewerage system, works or improvements, shall be water-tight to avoid as far as is practicable, the infiltration of the ground or surface water into said sewers. None of the municipalities shall use, nor permit its property owners, or any of them, to use the collecting sewers constructed within its limits, or any of them, for any purpose other than that of sanitary sewers."

Respectfully yours,

WM. A. CODDINGTON.

The Housewife's Daily Economy Calendar

FRANCES MARSHALL

Learn How to Buy Supplies.

To know the propper price of everything and thus secure the seller's respect, to choose the provisions in season (fish especially) when they are not too dear, to keep the run of the markets and buy cheap, foreseeing a rise, these are household qualities absolutely essential to "domestic economy in Paris." So says the great French novelist in one of his most popular books, "Cousin Bette." Cousin Bette, by the way, knows all these things, and when some of her relations are in straits she shows them how to save half their expenditures by doing their marketing for them.

We Americans, even those of us who have some idea of domestic economy, do not generally understand the subject as Balzac says French women in his day must understand it. To see the sort of economy mentioned put in practice we must go to the foreign quarters either of the big or little towns where the foreign housewives, baskets on arms, go about among the shops and stalls and carts to do their marketing. The men who sell to them spend little for rent. They spend nothing for delivery, for their patrons carry home what they buy. And frequently the shop-keepers live so near the source of their supplies that they can bring them from docks or stations on handcarts or in wheelbarrows.

The housewife of the better circumstances cannot shop in quite such an economical way; but she can do her own marketing; she can patronize the big central markets; she can inspect everything she buys before she buys it; and she has the big advantage over the poorer woman which the ability to buy in bulk gives her.

What We Must Do.

The average American housewife takes her grocer's word as final. Perhaps it is. In most cases, of course he tells the truth and treats her honestly, although he knows he could cheat her as easily as he could weigh out a short pound of sugar. But, of course, some butchers and bakers and candlestick makers are dishonest and will cheat if they get a chance.

State, interstate and federal authorities are doing all they can to put an end to the conditions which make it possible to cheat the public. But as long as a part of the public does not know enough to keep from being cheated, all the legislation in the world cannot stop it. The real remedy lies in educating yourself and your daughters in such things as Balzac says the good French housewife understands.

So long as many a young bride can boast that she does not know the difference between a potato and a sewing machine, and will order rice by the bushel and spinach by the pint, the economical American housewife must keep her wits about her if she would get her money's worth.

Artichoke Salad.
Rhubarb and Rice Pudding.

Cafe Noir.

RICE and fruit may be used together to advantage in making up many summer desserts. These are light and wholesome, for the rice is nourishing, while the fruit is distinctly cooling on warm days.

Rice Balls With Prunes.—Take three cupfuls of cooked rice, one-fourth cupful of sugar, one-fourth pound of stewed prunes. Wring small pudding cloths out of hot water and lay each over a large cup. Spread rice one-half inch thick over each cloth and put some stewed prunes in the center. Then draw the cloths around until prunes are covered smoothly with rice. Tie securely and steam fifteen minutes. Turn out on platter and surround with prunes.

Eaten Cold.

Rice and Pineapple Mold.—Take a cupful of rice, a cupful of sugar, two cupfuls of picked pineapple, a teaspoonful of honey and a teaspoonful of salt. Wash and boil the rice twenty-five minutes, drain, blanch and sprinkle with salt; put into round bowl which has been brushed with honey. Set in a cold place. Pare, pick or shred the pineapple very fine and cover with the sugar which has been dissolved with three tablespoonfuls cold water. Do not boil. Set aside for one hour. Turn out the rice into center of glass bowl and put the pineapple around.

A Boiled Pudding.

Rice and Apple Pudding.—Wash and boil a pint of rice in two quarts of water. Drain and put in a bowl with four ounces of sugar, four ounces of melted butter and the grated rind of a lemon. Mix well and cool. Wet and press the water from a large, strong napkin or pudding cloth; spread it out and butter the center. Have pared ten large cooking apples cut in slices and partially cooked in a little butter and sugar. Put a layer of rice in the saucepan, then a layer of apples, a little grated nutmeg or cinnamon, more rice and more apple, and so on until all are used. Tie the pudding firmly in a napkin, drop into a kettle of boiling water and boil constantly for an hour and a half. Drain, take out of the napkin, turn on to a hot dish and serve with a nice sauce.

Mother Asked Why Pails Were Empty.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—

Picking the Berries For the Blackberry Pudding.

THERE had been blackberry pudding for dinner, and daddy smiled as he heard Jack and Evelyn talk of how much they would like to have blackberries in the garden so that they might go out and pick some for Dinah whenever they wanted a pudding.

"Picking blackberries isn't such easy work as you think. When I was a boy I picked blackberries myself," daddy said as the children asked him for a story.

"If you have ever seen a blackberry bush you will have noticed that every twig and branch is covered with sharp thorns. When you pick the berries, unless you wear very stout gloves, the thorns scratch your hands and get under the skin.

"When blackberry time came mother used often to give each of us children a pail and tell us to go out to the woods near our house and pick until our pails were filled. There was a fine patch of wild blackberries near us.

"I remember one year she complained that we did not pick as well as usual. My small brother and sister were quite lazy. The berries they got went mostly into their mouths, and they would go home with only a few berries in their pails. Mother would look quite grave, not because she cared so much about the berries, but because she did not like the little ones to get into the way of shirking their tasks.

"One morning she gave us all pails and said: 'Now, children, run out to the berry patch and pick some berries. I want to make a nice pudding.'

"When we handed our pails of berries to mother she asked, 'To whom do these empty pails belong?' Little brother and little sister hung their heads.

"'Why, didn't you pick any berries for the pudding?' mother asked.

"'Oh,' they replied, 'it was hot! The thorns stuck in our fingers, and we got tired.'

"Mother didn't say any more then. She made the pudding, and when dinner time came there was a nice dish of it beside every plate except those of little brother and sister. They had boiled rice with sugar and milk.

"'Where is our pudding?' they asked in surprise.

"Mother spoke very firmly. 'You would not pick any berries to make the pudding, so you can't expect to eat the berries the others picked.'

"The rest of us wanted to share our pudding with them, but mother said no; they must learn not to depend on others, but to do their own work.

"And I think they did learn, for when in a few days mother sent for more berries for a pudding their pails were nice and full, though perhaps we older children did help out by now and then dropping a plump berry into their pails."

Girls are wearing a great many Russian dresses, and they are as becoming as they are modish. This one can be finished either with scalloped or straight edges, and it can be made from almost any pretty material.

In the illustration rose colored cotton crepe is trimmed with eyelet embroidery. Girls like linen frocks made in this style. Two materials combined make a good effect also, and the blouse of one color over the skirt of another or of fancy fabric makes a most attractive costume.

The skirt is cut in two pieces, and the blouse is slightly full and joined to a peplum.

For the twelve-year-old size the dress will require four and a half yards of material twenty-seven inches wide, with one yard for collar, cuffs and belt.

FUTURIST EFFECT.

An Artistic Gown of the Season.

FROCK OF FLORAL SILK.

A set of eccentric French artists, very modern in their works, has been influencing the fashion world this season. One hears a lot about cubist ribbons in millinery and futurist silks in the fabric world.

The gown illustrated is made by a great Parisian dressmaker of futurist silk in a new shade of red with yellow and blue floral figures, precise and prim in design. The drapery, caught up sleeve and double collar of lace are modern style features.

Points for Mothers

Summer Whooping Cough.

In the summer there often comes an epidemic of whooping cough. Mother notices that her child has a slight hacking cough, which becomes more frequent and prolonged as the days pass and which seems not to respond to the usual treatments for colds. The paroxysms seem to grow more pronounced at night, and vomiting follows a severe spell of coughing.

Well, if it is whooping cough you will have to accept the fact pleasantly—and intelligently—and do your best for your own child and for every other child in the vicinity.

A child may have many severe coughing spells during the day and yet his health be not much impaired. The main point is to give nourishment that can be retained. This can be done by feeding every two hours in small portions rather than giving three heavy meals. A tight bandage around the abdomen will lessen the strain of coughing and tend to prevent vomiting.

In the early stages of whooping cough relief is given if the mouth be sprayed frequently during the day with a mild antiseptic solution.

The whooping is heard about three weeks after the first signs, and it lasts for about three weeks. The cough may remain for some time after the typical whoop has gone.

Disinfection is necessary. Chloride of lime or a 5 per cent solution of carbolic acid will answer all demands. Do not neglect to give fresh air—plenty of it—during waking and sleeping hours. Sunlight must be admitted, and protection from bad weather must be given. It is better to have special toys that may be burned when the patient recovers.

The chief dangers of whooping cough are the results, or the "sequela," as doctors call them. It is not uncommon for pneumonia to follow this disease. Tuberculosis is another terrible consequence of which parents should be especially watchful. It is frequently established before suspected, and through carelessness of parents irreparable damage is done.

If the child coughs for an unreasonably prolonged period, be wise in time. Have his lungs tested once a week and feed them fresh air. Give the deadly germs no opportunity to establish themselves, and, if perchance a few are present, battle with them by using nature's weapons—sunlight, air and nourishing food.

A disinfection of the room after recovery is a safeguard not to be forgotten. Your child contracts the disease from some one. Prevent some one's child from taking and passing on the danger.

Educating Father.

Mary Stewart Cutting in Harper's Bazar writes about "Educating Father." Among the phases of this process which she describes with much humor is the following:

"Father's salient idea, of course, when Selma graduates, is that now she will stay at home and help her mother. It makes no difference that mother doesn't want Selma's help in the household. Her one desire is to have her child 'asked to everything' and to be able to see Selma enjoying herself; to have the house full of Selma's young friends, arrange for the clothes needed when she is invited away over a week end and smooth over all the difficulties that may be in the way—to the motherly providence over Selma's youthful happiness and hear about it all in the first glow of Selma's return from a delightful visit, to be, as it were, vicariously, a girl herself again.

"It is dear and flattering to have father sternly insisting that mother shall be considered first. She would miss it if he didn't show that ever jealous regard for her, but it is dreadfully hampering as far as her and Selma's plans are concerned.

"It keeps her, in perfunctory respect for his authority, earnestly impressing on the girl how thoughtful and kind and generous father is and how much money he has already spent on her, really more than he can afford, and the exact reason he doesn't want her to go to the party on Saturday, as if youth could ever be reasoned out of wanting a good time, while all the time mother knows, and so does Selma, that she is going to persuade him to agree to all they want."

New Ideas For Nursery.

Mothers are anxious to make the nursery attractive these days. What are called "life motifs" or studies from nature are now popular designs for decoration and can easily be achieved.

Take a single large sheet of water color paper and on this paste a variety of cut out white paper animals, which are to serve as a frieze. At regular intervals of twelve inches paste one of these animals—a dog, cat, squirrel, kangaroo or any kind of bird. All these must be cut out of white paper, though a little variety is afforded by giving yellow bills and red feet to the chickens.

The walls above and below this frieze of white animals may be painted in tan color and so serve as a restful background to the decorations.

The bird motif in the brilliant colors of every gay hued parrot, robin redbreast, bird of paradise, etc., is also highly effective on a background of gray cartridge paper and invariably pleases a nursery of children.

Milady's Mirror

Why Try to Keep Young?

Some people—and they must be deep dyed fatalists or else they must have a great fondness for sweets and goodies—declare that they were born to be fat and that no amount of dieting will make them thin. This has not much to do with youth, excepting that it is quite true that some persons are born to look their age and some are born to look always younger than they are.

So it seems as if making an effort to look young would be fruitless of results in many cases, and so it is.

The woman who goes through life trying to look young, taking a cheerful, smiling outlook on everything about her, a healthy, enthusiastic interest in the world in general, can do much to retain youth. In fact, she never grows old in the sense of the word which signifies out of date and faded. The woman, too, who takes care of her health, who looks to her diet when it is convenient to do so and who takes due precautions regarding her skin and hair runs a good chance of keeping a healthful and youthful appearance throughout life.

But the woman who tries everlastingly and unceasingly to keep young generally ends up by looking old and fagged before her day. And certainly her frame of mind is far from normal, far from youthful. She avoids tiring herself, she rests a prescribed number of hours or minutes each day, she spends hours fussing over her hair and her nails and her eyebrows and her skin, she eats only such things as she knows she ought to eat, no matter how much she wants to eat other things, and what is the result?

Perhaps she does look young, perhaps her cheek has a more delicate bloom than the weathered, comfortable looking cheek of her sister who has gone through life getting the most out of it, and perhaps she will stay young so long as she can spend hours a day trying to do so. But her youth is really only skin deep. If she is forced to live in different circumstances for a time, where she cannot devote most of her time to preserving her complexion, she fades quickly, and all the hours spent in ensnaring youth are gone for nothing.

Prince Krapotkin, the great Russian anarchist, said in an article about his experiences in prison that he thought he, a city bred man, used to the damp stone houses of St. Petersburg, stood the confinement of the cold, dark, damp Russian prisons better than did strong, country bred men perhaps much stronger and more robust than he. The change from the fresh country air and well aired houses to the ill ventilated and dingy prison cells was so great that it broke down their health.

Lemon as Toilet Aid.

The next time any one hands you a lemon do not feel offended, but turn the laugh on your aggressor by accepting the lemon graciously and using it to improve or add beauty to your charms.

If you are a blond you will find the lemon very useful when shampooing time comes around. After you have cleansed your hair with soap and water rub the strained lemon juice into the scalp and hair. It is necessary to rinse the hair well after this. The lemon will keep the hair light and make it fluffy. It is well to remember that whenever any hair is shampooed the work should not be considered complete until the hair and scalp are dry. Too many girls grow tired and let the water get out of the hair as best it can. This is a big mistake, for the damp condition is apt to give one a cold, or it may produce rheumatism of the head and shoulders. If you have not the strength to give the shampoo yourself ask your sister or some kind friend to help you out and offer to do as much for her.

To Keep the Hands White and Soft.

Use a soap rich in oil and containing no alkali to crack and harden the skin. After the hands have been cleansed and thoroughly rinsed a lather made from the soap should be rubbed into the hands and wrists. Continue the rubbing until all the lather has been absorbed or there is very little to wipe away. The oil feeds the skin, keeps it soft and prevents the shriveled appearance and feeling which come especially to hands that are kept for long periods in hot water. Hands thus treated are soft and white. It is important to remember that the lather which is rubbed in is not the lather with which the hands are cleansed, but a fresh lather, made after the cleansing has been completed.

Cold Sore Treatment.

A cold sore treatment which is simplicity itself is as follows: Wet the unsightly blister with liquid camphor, then fluff on subnitrate of bismuth. In this way the sore is protected by a paste. After applying the healing paste the sore must be left to shed its scab. Disregard this precaution and you will bid fair to be a cold sore girl forever and aye.

A Fruit Tonic.

Grapefruit eaten with sugar is considered one of the healthiest breakfast foods. It is a great aid to digestion, and the fact that it is so improves the physical condition, and in turn one's beauty is enhanced.

Queries, Comment and Answers

Sporting Editor:

Query—Where can a boy fifteen years old go swimming around here and what kind of a suit does he have to wear? F. G.

Answer—Holly's pond in South Plainfield affords an excellent place for aquatic sports and the pond has been remodeled so that it is one of the best for swimming in this vicinity. A full bathing suit is required.

Sporting Editor:

Query—What does it cost to have a book copyrighted? A. W. L.

Answer—The statuory registration fee is $1.

Sporting Editor:

G. K.—Further information relative to your query asking for information regarding summer enlistment in Co. K. is furnished below by Captain Peterson of the local company.—Sporting Ed.

Answer—"Rookies," as the new men are termed, may accompany the troop to camp at Sea Girt if they enlist now and their subsistance and transportation expenses will be paid by the National Guard but they will receive no pay. Those who enlist fifty days prior to leaving for camp are paid for the week they spend at Sea Girt. There will be a special drill tonight in the armory on West Front street and the local officials would be glad to see a number of new members at that time.

Sporting Editor:

Query—Who is the best pitcher living? B. B.

Answer—I presume you mean baseball pitcher. We would pick Christy Mathewson for our team. That's all we can say. Some other millionaire magnate might stake his pile on some other star.

Sporting Editor:

Query—How can one remove freckles? J. R.

Answer—You ought to let the women worry about those things, Jack. Wear a veil and keep away from the looking glass. They cannot be removed permanently. Buttermilk is good, however, for bleaching them for a time.

Sporting Editor:

Query—What city is considered the best baseball, financially? D. P. L.

Answer—New York, perhaps now, but Chicago and Pittsburgh also have been doing well. Once upon a time Boston was known as the best baseball city.

Sporting Editor:

Query—I heard recently that our National game of baseball was originated by an Englishman. Can you tell me how true this was? G. H.

Answer—Although baseball is our National pastime, as far as I have been able to find out is none other than a development of the old English sport of "rounders."

Sunday School Leaguers were the only ones to brave the storm Saturday afternoon as a whole and play all of the games scheduled in their respective organization. The inevitable happened when the First Baptist administered a trimming to the Hope Chapel team that is now leading the pennant race by a count of 13 to 0. Not only was a reverse unlooked for but such a score as this one was considered practically impossible with the Hope team as the "goats."

Park Avenue Baptist failed to break any records by winning a game Saturday and seemed perfectly contented to have the First Presbyterian team come out one run to the good.

No games were played in the Central New Jersey Baseball League Saturday afternoon because of wet grounds. Plainfield and Somerville were ready to leave for the field when a telephone message came from George W. Wriston, supervisor of Parker Field, saying that there was three inches of water on the field and that playing was impossible at that time. The game therefore, was accordingly called off.

High Bridge cancelled its engagement with Dunellen for the same reason and the Dunellenites were given a much need rest after the strenous combat with Plainfield on the Fourth of July.

BAPTISTS PUSH HOPE INTO THE BACKGROUND

Have An Easy Time Defeating the League Leaders in Week End Contest.

First Baptist sprang the surprise of the season Saturday afternoon in the Sunday School League race by putting a 13 to 0 victory over at the expense of the fast going Hope Chapel combination thereby pulling the latter nine down from its lofty top rung perch and supplanting the Baptist flag on the highest point for a spell. Many errors made by the Chapelites assisted Schott in getting an off day out of his system and the Hope contingent made no pretense at winning the contest, being satisfied to let their rivals pile up counters as they would.

Ten bingles and the same number of errors let the Baptists run away with the game in a trio of big scoring sessions.

WESTFIELD BAPTISTS BEATEN.

Playing their scheduled game in the Westfield Sunday-school baseball league Saturday afternoon the Presbyterian Sunday-school baseball team defeated the Baptists by a count of 5 to 3 at Recreation Park. Green was in the box for the Presbyterians and fanned twelve men, allowing but six scattered bingles. Shotwell was on the mound for the Baptists until the end of the fifth inning when he was replaced by Douglass. The score by innings:

HARTER DOES SOME CLOUTING.

Joe Harter, the Plainfield baseball club's crack center-fielder and shortstop, starred in a Worthington uniform against the Lincoln Giants, on Columbia Oval, Forest Hill, yesterday afternoon, when the latter team won by a score of 9 to 8. Harter cracked out a homer with three men on the bases and also got two singles. The losers out hit the winners by 16 to 13.

BIG SEVENTH STANZA DEFEATED THE ROYALS

Five Runs Off Kline in That Round Gave the West Ends a Victory.

Seven innings was enough to convince the Royal Giant ball tossers of the City Baseball League that the West Ends were their superior both in hitting and fielding for up to the stretch stanza, the West Ends had amassed a tally card of 6 to 2 against their rivals. Neither team did any great amount of spasmodic batting but the West Ends managed to get to Kline, who was practically invincible the greater part of the game, for five counters in the sixth session. Up to that time the West Ends hardly had a smell of the sphere and he had fanned an even dozen batters.

Up to the time of the aerial ascension the Royals were leading by a count of 2 to 1 but the big stanza was plenty to upset their beans and make them yell for help.

Y. M. A. A. FAILED TO APPEAR.

Although the Trinity church baseball team was on hand at Hope Common Saturday afternoon for their scheduled game with the Y. M. A. A. aggregation, only four members of the latter combination appeared on the field of play and the game had to be called off. The quartet of Y. M. A. A. ball tossers went to Hope Common with the intention of playing and were surprised when their teammates failed to put in appearance. The field was in excellent playing condition, a feature of the historic Hope Common diamond that has made it one of the best diamonds in this city in years gone by, and the contest could have been played had their been sufficient number of players on hand to oppose the Trinity team. The Hope diamond is of sand composition and drys off quickly, no matter how heavythe rain might have fallen.

SAMUELS OUT OF GAME.

Bill Samuels, who was drafted from the disbanded New Brunswick Central New Jersey League aggregation to fill the catching berth left open on the Dunellen team by the resignation of Lou Dixon who left recently to join the Brunswick team of the Empire League, was severely injured in his first game as a Dunellen backstop Friday afternoon by having his thumb badly split by a pitched ball. Several stitches were taken in the wound and it is possibble that he may be kept out of next Saturday's game because of the inujry.

One game was played in the City Baseball League Saturday afternoon and the West End A. C. profiting by the idleness of several semi-professional nines about Plainfield, padded up considerably and romped home an easy victor in the seven innings over the Royal Colored Giants.

The Spicer and Saurer clash was called off because of wet grounds and the players on these two aggregations were idle Saturday afternoon.

F. W. THOMPSON RETURNS LOW SGORE AT P. G. C.

The chief event at the Park Golf Club, Saturday was the weekly competition for the President's cup, and the heavy shower during the middle of the afternoon drove some of the players to cover hence the limited number of cards returned in the competition. Frank W. Thompson won first honors with a net score of 75, while H. H. Woodland and W. E. Lough were second and third with scores of 76 and 81. These scores were posted:

Frank W. Thompson, 108, 33-75; H. H. Woodland, 89 13-76; W. E. Lough, 96, 15-81; Clarence J. Hand 111, 29-82, Dr. H. K Carroll, 96, 11-85; H. L. Moody, 99, 14-85; C. F. Marquard, 117, 29-89; Charles B Morse, 107, 11-96.

SCOTCH PLAINS HAD ONE BIG INNING AND WON GAME

Until the end of the sixth inning at Scotch Plains yesterday afternoon the Dover team was leading by a score of 1 to 0 but a great rally in that session completely reversed matters and the 'Plains boys won out by a score of 8 to 2. In the big session three home players were given their bases on balls in quick succession and Hand followed with a two bagger, breaking up the game.

Warty McLaughlin, who twirled for the 'Plains nine, pitched excellent ball and was well supported by his teammates.

MISS FLEMING AND MR. DAY WON FIXED DOUBLES TITLE

Miss Barbara Fleming and Francis Day won the mixed tennis doubles championship of the Plainfield Country Club on the club's courts Saturday afternoon by defeating Mrs. S. T. Osborne and Corr Neel in the final round by scores of 7-5 and 6-4. Although the champions won their title in straight sets they were exerted to the limit by their versatile opponents.

WILL T. GLENNEY WINS CHAMPIONSHIP

Defeats His Brother in Final at the Country Club.

Will T. Glenney by defeating his brother, W. Lester Glenney, 3 up and 2 to play, in the finals on Saturday, retained the golf club championship of the Plainfield Country Club. The match was a close one throughout. Mr. Glenney not only won the same honors last year in the 36-holes competition but also won low score medal in the qualifying round with a 77. Last year his brother was the runner-up, as he was in Saturday's competition. The brothers are both playing a fine game of golf, but the younger one proved to be a little better in his driving as well as approaching and putting.

Stuart H. Patterson beat Dr. F. E. Bois, 1 and 9, in the finals for the second sixteen and W. F. Merrill beat W. W. Coriell, 4 and 3 in the finals for the third sixteen. J. Whitney Baker beat L. G. Carman, 6 and 4 for the beaten eight of the first sixteen and C. M. Church beat Burnett C. Kenyon 1 up (19 holes) for the beaten eight of the second sixteen.

These scores were returned in the golf sweepstakes:

H. G. Phillips, 90, 27-63; Morris J. Dumont, 80, 9-71; W. G. Cook, 93, 22-71; Stuart H. Patterson 85, 13-72, J. E. Erickson, 86, 13-73; H. D. Hibbard, 84, 10-74; Frank O. Reinhart, 84, 6-78.

WESTFIELD BASEBALL TEAM LOST TO PARK VIEW CLUB

In the first contest of a three game series, the Westfield baseball team was defeated by the Park View A. C. at Park View Oval, Newark, yesterday afternoon, the score being 5 to 3. White, of the Parks, pitched steady ball after the second inning, when a base on ball followed by three hits, netted the visitors their runs.

The feature of the game was a sensational one-hand catch by Happel, the Park's centerfielder, in the ninth inning.

Altho' the Talking Machine during the past twenty years has been more or less familiar in the musical world, the main attraction was the supreme novelty of hearing the human voice issue from an inanimate combination of wood and metal. However intensely interesting, because of this seeming reversal of natural laws, the strident nasal twang and various weird noises imposed upon the sweet strains of songster and instrument alike, have rendered the reproduction so lacking in true harmony and so distressing to the sensitive ear that no Talking Machine ever attained its proper place as the one musical instrument, combining every form of music, until the introduction of the Vitaphone.

SCHOOL ELECTION TUESDAY, JULY 22

Date Set for Special Balloting by Boro Board at Meeting Last Night.

BUDGET WAS ACCEPTED

Supervising Principal Vossler Presented 1913-14 School Calendar for Adoption—School Sessions and Appropriation Discussed.

The North Plainfield Board of Education held an adjourned meeting in the Somerset school library last night when a large quantity of routine business relative to the opening of the fall term in September was transacted by a group of members just within the quorum. Repairs of an urgent nature were discussed and many catalogues and descriptions of these proposed improvements were examined by the committee in charge of the school repairs. The present toilet system does not meet with the approval of the State Board's requirements and will have to be completely remodeled before the fall term opens. Although several different types of wall and ceil covering and toilet devices were examined nothing definite was done toward authorizing the purchase of the same.

Supervising Principal Arthur E. Vossler presented a school calendar for the coming year which was adopted. The new program calls for the opening of the next term on September 3, and the clerk was authorized to see that the proper notices were placed in public places. The employment of a truant officer in the borough and the matter of having the six rooms in the Watchung school retinted before September were also discussed but no definite action was taken. Certain members of the Board felt inclined to make a change in the daily sessions but after much agitation during which many plans were suggested, the present system stood out as the most plausible and it was allowed to remain so for next year at least.

When the school budget was presented by Supervising Principal Vossler the only matter meeting with any opposition was the matter of making a $300 appropriation for the rental of an athletic hall. Several of the Board members advocated the abolition of athletics in the borough schools claiming that too much time has heretofore been devoted to sports in general. There were others on the Board who contended that this part of the school routine was necessary and the appropriation was finally passed with the other items contained in the budget which was as follows: Teacher's salaries, $32,550; repairs, $2,000; books and supplies, $2,250; fuel, $1,500; physician, $200; clerk, $250; supply clerk, $100; janitor, $2,300; insurance, $300; sundries and incidentals, $1,000; athletic hall, $300; commencement expenses, $150; furniture, $200; water, light and power, $660. The manual training account is based under a separate budget and was as follows. Teachers' salaries, $1,900; repairs, $100; supplies, $600; fuel, $400; janitor, $360; water, $50; insurance and interest, $20; light and power, $30. In the school budget there is but one item that did not appear there last year and that is the supply clerk which entails an expenditure of $100 additional. The total budget amounts to $46,960, of which $20,700 comes as a State appropriation and $1,730 is the net demand. The amount that will have to be raised by borough citizens through taxation amounts to $23,130.

H. L. DEFOREST THANKS ASSISTANT HE OUSTED

Overseer-of-the-Poor Henry L. DeForest in presenting his monthly report to the Common Council, last night, took occasion to publicly express his appreciation of the services of Garret T. Dunham, who several days ago retired as his assistant after a service of a year and a half. He informed the Council that William B. Gilbert now holds that position.

Mr. DeForest reported conditions at the city farm to be excellent, there being a large crop of potatoes and corn and eleven acres of fine rye. He stated that the expense for the past month to be $1,312.38 which covers considerable extra work, including medical services.

REFUSE PERMISSION FOR USE OF SEWERS

Bonnie Burn Not to Be Allowed to Make Connection With City's System.

Acting gupon the advice of Lindabury, Depue & Faulks, solicitors, and George W. Fuller engineer for Plainfield, North Plainfield and Dunellen, in their sanitary sewer project, the Common Council, last night, decided not to allow the Union County Board of Freeholders to connect the proposed sewer from Bonnie Burn Sanitorium with the city system.

Such action was considered inadvisable because the joint sewer project proceedings are nearing completion and if the new proposition was considered it would mean a revision of figures, and besides the present sewage beds are now overloaded and unable to care for any additional flow.

Upon motion by Councilman F. E. Mygatt the city clerk was directed to inform the Freeholders' Board of the Council's decision.

POLICE TO ENFORCE HEALTH ORDINANCES

Board Makes Request But Fails to Furnish Copies of the Code in Brief Form.

Regarding a communication received by the Common Council from the Board of Health in which the latter made a request that the members of the police department cooperate in enforcing the city health code, Councilman Leighton Calkins, chairman of the police board, briefly outlined the situation at last night's meeting of the Council.

Mr. Calkins said that he suggested to the Board of Health that it supply the police with a copy of the health regulations which it desired enforced so that the co-operation could be conducted along intelligent lines. This was desired in writing, but Mr. Calkins said that as yet he had received no reply from the board, other than that some time ago he got copies of laws, ordinances, etc., but these were not codified. He said he had no criticism to make but merely wished to explain the situation.

CITY TO LAY WALKS WHERE OWNERS FAIL

Common Council Renews Contract With Moraller to Care for City Clock.

In line with the general improvement of sidewalks throughout the city, Councilman F. E. Mygatt at the July meeting of the Council last night offered a resolution which was adopted, authorizing the city to proceed to lay walks where property owners have failed to do the work. The resolution provided that due notice of the work to be given to the property owners by Street Commissioner A. J. Gavett.

L. Moraller & Son, the Park avenue jewellers, were again awarded the contract to take care of the town clock for the coming year for the sum of $30, a resolution to that aect being offered by Councilman C. C. Randolph, and adopted.

Councilman P. J. Reville offered a resolution which was adopted, authorizing the Public Service Corporation, at its own expense to remove an electric light from Plainfield avenue and South Second street where there are now two lights, to a point in the middle of the block. The supplement to the tax ordinance was called up on third reading, and on motion of Councilman C. C. Randolph was adopted.

DON'T FORGET ABOUT THE BIG EXCURSION THURSDAY

With the delightful change in the weather everybody is talking about the annual excursion of the First and Temple Baptist Sunday-schools to Asbury Park on Thursday. There has been a large advance sale in tickets and everything points to a record-breaking crowd. The train will leave Plainfield at 8:20 o'clock in the morning and returning will leave Asbury Park at 7:25, allowing for a full day at the shore. The committee in charge, of which John G. MacLaughlin is chairman, has perfected every detail for the day's outing and the comfort and convenience of every patron is assured.

CITY TREASURER OF RAHWAY FIRED

Report of Expert Shows Chas. H. Angleman's Accounts Are $26,301 Short.

INVESTIGATION IS MADE

New Man Appointed in His Place—Angleman Prominent in Union County Politics for a Number of Years.

Rahway, July 8—Citizens of this city who attended the meeting of the Common Council last night, were astounded at the revelations already brought about by Mayor Thomas A. Fyffe, who demanded an audit of the accounts of all municipal departments. It was shown by the expert accountant employed by the Common Council at the behest of the mayor that in the department of City Treasurer Charles H. Angleman, a Republican, appointed by former Mayor William Howard, a shortage of $26,301.09 existed. He is the brother of Winfield S. Angleman, of Plainfield.

The news of the discrepancy spread like wildfire through the city, and it will be the one topic of conversation tomorrow when citizens meet. When some time ago Mayor Fyffe asked the Common Council to hire an expert to audit the various accounts the permision was granted. At the time it was the general belief that nothing would come of the matter. Mayor Fyffe, however, insisted that he had every reason to believe there was something wrong with the city's financial accounts, and consequently prevailed.

The report on Treasurer Angleman's office is the first to be made, and the amount, considering the size of the city, has caused worry to taxpayers already acquainted with the expose.

Treasurer Angleman is one of the most popular men in the city, and the revelation comes with more stunning force on that account. Mayor Wyffe admitted that he was loth to order the investigation, but that his sworn duty demanded it, and the first result has shown that his suspicion was well founded.

The investigation will be continued until every financial officer's accounts have been thoroughly investigated. Treasurer Angleman is bonded by the American Surety Company for $20,000. The shortage amounts to $6,301.09 more, which it is believed will have to be borne by the city unless he is in a position to make it good. Just what action the surety company will take is not known, as none of the representatives in authority could be gotten in touch with.

Immediately following the reading of the official report of the expert, the office of the city treasurer was declared vacant and the name of George L. Kirchgasner was submitted for the office by Mayor Fyffe. The council without hesitancy confimed the nomination.

Treasurer Angleman was in the vicinity while the meeting was in progress.

FRED A. KIRCH HAS BECOME A BENEDICT

Popular Merchant Takes Miss Marguerite Thompson Blair as His Bride.

Miss Marguerite Thompson Blair, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Blair, of Jersey City, and Fred A. Kirch, of this city, were quietly married Sunday afternoon at 12:30 o'clock at the Dutch Reformed church Jersey City, by Rev. Dr. Duck, the pastor. The couple were accompanied by the bride's brother, Charles L. Blair and his wife, Mrs. Grace Blair, as best man and matron of honor.

Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Kirch left on a wedding trip through New York State. They will leave in Plainfield upon their deturn. Mr. Kirch is a member of the F. A. Kirch Hardware Company, of Park avenue in which his father-in-law is also a partner. The wedding was to have taken place earlier, but had to be set for a later date owing to the illness of the bride.

METHODISTS TO MEET.

Under the auspices of the Newark and New Jersey Conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, a three-day "Achievement and Opportunity" convention will be held at Ocean Grove, beginning tomorrow. Church extension work will be discussed. Bishop Joseph F. Berry will preside over th esessions during the first two days and Bishop Luther B. Wilson will be in charge the third day.

Walter L. Hetfield, Jr., of East Second street, has been spending a few days at Ocean Grove.

HOOD HELD IN $1,000 BAIL TO KEEP PEACE

Will Also Have to Await Action of Grand Jury for Assault and Battery.

Arraigned before Judge DeMeza in the city court this morning on a charge of assault and battery preferred by his wife, Richard Haden Hood was held in bonds of $1,000 to keep the peace for one year and until the litigation now pending in the higher courts to settle the differences between him and his wife is settled. Hood is also out on $500 bail awaiting the action of the Union County Grand Jury on the assault and battery charge. The accused was represented in court by former City Judge William R. Codington. He waived examination and asked the court to fix bail in a nominal amount.

Hood's appearance in court this morning was the result of his violating an agreement he made some months ago following his arrest for breaking into his wife's home at Stelle and Plainfield avenues, when he was arrested last Saturday night when he again returned to the house and is alleged to have attacked his wife. By an agreement between counsel for the couple, it was arranged last week that Hood should go to his former home on Stelle avenue to get certain belongings from the house which he deeded to his wife and which he now has legal proceedings pending to recover in his own name. It is alleged that when Mrs. Hood refused him admittance he broke down the door and attacked his wife hitting her in the face with a telephone receiver. He was placed under arrest while in the house and ordered to appear for a hearing this morning.

Mrs. Hood appeared in the court today but did not enter the same room with her husband waiting outside until the case had been disposed of. As Hood waived examination no testimony was received and her appearance was not required. She was accompanied by several friends while her husband had his [illegible] with him in court.

HE WISHES TO BE DECLARED INSOLVENT

But Victim of His Auto Opposes the Petition of Clarence T. Brokaw.

Elizabeth, July 8.—Before Judge Connelly, in the Court of Common Pleas, today, Alfred A. Stein, as counsel for Mrs. Blanche Beatty, of this city, stubbornly resisted the petition of Clarenée T. Brokaw, of West Front street, Plainfield, who wanted to be declared insolvent. Some months ago, Brokaw, who was once interested in a garage here, went through bankruptcy, and the opposition to his being declared insolvent now was due to the contention that he was far from such a financial condition.

Mrs. Beatty, the wife of an Elizabeth grocer, was run down and badly hurt by Brokaw's car on February 18, 1912, and in the Union county court she recovered a verdict of $3,000 for her injuries. The judgment was never satisfied.

At the hearing today, Brokaw alleged that his liabilities are $21,880 and that his assets are $1,046.08. Counsellor Stein, who had represented Mrs. Beatty in the damage suit, questioned the good faith of Brokaw in his making the list of liabilities as submitted.

The court adjourned the hearing until Friday, July 18, in order to give Mrs. Beatty's lawyer an opportunity to subpoena the alleged creditors of Brokaw.

ANGLEMAN MUST DISGORGE $3,300

Besides Making Restitution to Client Lawyer is Required to Pay Counsel Fees.

ORDER OF CHANCELLOR

Mrs. Lydia P. Bullock to Recover Trust Funds in Her Counsel's Hands—Defense of No Avail Says Chancery Court.

Trenton, July 8.—In an opinion filed in the Court of Chancery today by Chancellor Walker, Winfield S. Angleman, the Plainfield lawyer, is found to have appropriated to his own use $3,500 belonging to Mrs. Lydia P. Bullock, of Plainfield, his client. The opinion orders him to pay to Mrs. Bullock forthwith $3,300, the net amount of the trust fund in his hands, a counsel fee of $250 and cost of the suit brought against him to recover the money.

Mrs. Bullock charged that she placed with Mr. Angleman as her solicitor, a mortgage of $4,000 for collection. He was authorized to accept a compromise and did so, receiving in settlement of the mortgage in December, 1910, $2,500, which he failed to pay over although she made frequent demands for the money. Finally she filed a bill in Chancery against him for an accounting.

The Chancellor's opinion shows that Mr. Angleman deposited the money to his own credit, and that learning this three months later, Mrs. Bullock at once demanded payment. Repeated demands and threats of disbarment resulted in Mr. Angleman giving her his promissory note for $3,545 including interest and less a counsel fee of $200 for himself. This note was secured by a mortgage on his law library.

Mr. Angleman's defense was that she told him to keep the money and pay her interest on it. He claims also that her acceptance of his note and mortgage changed the trust relations between them to one of debtor and creditor. On this point the Chancellor says:

"I cannot regard him in that light. He received the money in trust, and the note and mortgage taken by the complainant after unsuccessful efforts to compel the defendant to disgorge are cogent evidence of his defalcation. The proofs are convincing of the defendant's abuse of his client's confidence and that he, with intent, appropriated her money to his use."

Former Mayor George W. V. Moy represented Mrs. Bullock in the proceedings but had not asked the court for any counsel fee.

EXEMPTS OFFER TO ASSIST THE FIREMEN

Local Association of Former Fire Fighters Want to Help the City.

V. W. Nash, Sr., representing the Plainfield Exempt Firemen's Association, in a communication to the Common Council, last night, offered the services of the members of the association in case of fire when the regular department found itself unable to cope with a blaze.

The communication was referred to Corporation Counsel Reed and the fire and buildings committee.

HE FAILED TO APPEAR AND FORFEITED BAIL

Peter Montino, an Italian employed by the Watchung Silk Company, was arrested in the borough yesterday afternoon on the complaint of women living in the vicinity of the mills who charge him with annoying them and making a general nuisance out of himself. One girl in particular was indignant over the way Montino pressed his attentions upon her and announced that she would prosecute him to the limit of the law.

Arraigned in the borough court yesterday afternoon he was held in $500 for a hearing this morning and furnished the bonds personally. He failed to appear before Recorder Gano this morning, however, and his bail was forfeited. Investigation on the part of the police brought out the fact that he had hurriedly left town, preferring to lose the $500 rather than face the charges against him.

SMITH CONTRACTOR FOR CRANFORD BRIDGE

Union County Freeholders Make Award, His Bid Being $11,995.00.

Arthur E. Smith, of this city, was the succesful bidder for the work of building the new bridge over the Rahway river at Cranford, the bids for which were received yesterday by the Union County Board of Freeholders. Mr. Smith's bid was $11,955.00, and Freeholders Teller, Doane and Jones were appointed to look after the work. The bridge, which is to be an attractive one, will have a single span of about forty feet and will be reinforced concrete.

The bids received yesterday were as follows:

Arthur E. Smith, $11,955.00; W. S. Konover, $12,135.90; C. H. Wynans, $12,750.00; Stewart Engineering Corporation, $13,475.00; W. S. Sweirs, Jr. Co., $13,770.00; Ferro Concrete Company, $14,795.00; Schouler Cement Constructing Company, $17,800.00.

NEW BIDS ORDERED FOR AUTO FIRE ENGINE

Four Cylinder Combination Vehicle is Wanted by the City.

Resolutions rejecting all former bids for furnishing the city with an automobile fire engine and inviting new bids, were offered by Councilman Fred Endress, chairmen of the fire committee, and adopted at the July meeting of the Council, last night. The old bids called for a six cylinder apparatus, which was considered too large, and the new bids invite bids for a four cylinder combination engine and hose carrier, the engine to have the capacity of pumping 600 gallons of water per minute, and capable of carrying 1,000 feet of 2½ inch hose.

The engine is to have a horse power capable of thirty miles an hour and all engines of competing companies are to be subject to a 1-hour test to be approved by the National Board of Fire Underwriters, as well as the Councilmanic fire committee.

PRINTING PRESS CO. AND THEIR EMPLOYES

Shorter Hours for Machinists Subject for Discussion on Thursday.

As a result of an attempt to settle differences between the managers of the local printing press shops and the machinists with whom they had a verbal agreement to put into effect a gradual reduction of working hours, it is reported that there wil be a meeting of the heads of the various local shops and Vice President Johnson of the International Machinist Asociation, in New York on Thursday.

In an interview with a Daily Press reporter, this morning, David E. Titsworth, manager of Potter Printing Pres Co., stated that there was nothing in the report of anticipated trouble with the mechanics. P. W. Hall, of the Hall Printing Pess Works, of Dunellen, stater that the question of the reduction of working hours was now under consideration by the management of that shop, but thought that there would be no trouble in adjusting the question. An officer of the Walter Scott Co., of this city, refused to be quoted on the subject. It is understood that neither the Scott nor the Hall shops is working to their full capacity at the present time.

The original agreement of last summer between th shops and the machinists was that that there should be a gradual reduction of working hours, reducing the hours from fifty-four to forty-eight hours per week, the final reduction to take place on January 1, 1914. The reduction that was to have taken place last week would have brought the time down to forty-nine and a half hours.

WILL IMPROVE BUILDING.

Jacob Fass, of The Paris, West Front street, is about to make several improvements to his building including the painting of the front. The body will be a light cream and pencilled. A. Karnall, of 321 Liberty street, has the painting contract.

Should Have Been 39 Cents.

Owing to an error in the preparation of the advertisement of Tepper's July Cleadance Sale, it was announced in last night's Press that men's pongee shirts would be sold at 19 cents. The price should have been 39 cents.—Adv.

FATAL FALL OUT OF CAR WINDOW

Two Years Old Boy Will Die as Result of Accident Near Lincoln This Noon.

MOTHER IN HYSTERICS

Mrs. Edward Gatley Was Traveling to Fall River With Two Small Children—Train was Going Thirty Miles an Hour.

Crawling to a window of a coach on a Philadelphia flyer heading for New York at a speed of fifty miles an hour at noon today, John W. Gatley, the two-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Gatley, of St. Claire, Schuylkill Co., Pennsylvania, lost his balance and toppled out of the train window, falling to the tracks below. The accident which occurred near Lincoln was witnessed only by the child's mother and a number of passengers and the parent's frantic screams when she became hysterical over the accident caused the crew of the train to have it brought to a stop and backed up. In the meantime the Central Railroad employes at Lincoln had telegraphed to Plainfield and the ambulance and Dr. Marc Clawson were waiting at the depot when the train beaing the injured boy arrived. He was rushed to the hospital in an unconscious state and the mother was taken to that institution later in the afternoon.

When interviewed by a Daily Press reporter immediately after the accident the mother was in a hysterical state and her words were barely audible. She was attended by three Sisters of Charity who were waiting for a train at the Plainfield station and in them only would she trust any confidence. After much pleading on their part she finally gave her husband's name and address to the telegraph operator who summoned him to this city, where he will probably arrive late this afternoon. Mrs. Gatley had a six months' old child in her arms besides the one that was injured and it was while caring for the baby that the other slipped out of her sight and fell out of the open window. She said that she had been traveling since six o'clock this morning headed for her home in Fall River, Mass., where she was going to spend the summer with her parents and expected to take the night boat from New York.

At the hospital this afternoon it was said that the boy had practically no chance of recovery, having suffered a concussion of the brain besides many internal injuries.

MINISTER'S WIDOW DIES OF PARALYSIS

Mrs. Mary E. Herr Passes Away at Home of Her Daughter, Mrs. Stiles.

Mrs. Mary E. Herr, widow of the Rev. Martin Herr, for many years pastor of the Methodist church at Whitehouse, and mother of former Judge Burdette Herr, of Flemington, died yesterday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. A. H. Stiles, 78 Sandford avenue, where she had been living for the past ten years following the death of her husband. Mrs. Herr's death was due to paralysis and for the past three months she had been helpless.

Mrs. Herr was born at Fort Lee, N. J., her maiden name being Miss Mary E. Burdette. She lived all her life in New Jersey. Her husband being a Methodist minister he held several charges in the State, the last one being at Whitehouse. Mrs. Herr was a member of the First M. E. church, this city, and a devout Christian woman.

There survives one son, former Judge Burdette Herr, of Flemington; and five daughters, Mrs. George Dalley and Mrs. S. S. Swackhamer, of the borough; Mrs. I. N. Backer, Miss Emma Herr and Mrs. A. H. Stiles, of Sandford avenue. Another son, Rev. Wilmer Herr, who was a Methodist minister, died fifteen years ago.

The funeral will be held at the late home Thursday morning at 10 o'clock, Rev. Dr. C. M. Anderson officiating. The burial will take place at Whitehouse in the afternoon.

A NOVEL BADGE.

George O. Stevens, locally known as 'Old King Coal,'" received a novel badge for the Elks' National Convention today from his friend, Nathan D. Cortright, of Mauch Chunk, a well-known coal operator. On the pendant there is a medallion of coal with raised figures "885," and a larger medallion of coal encircled with eight sulphur diamonds in the centre of which is the emblem of the order and the elk head in gilt. Mr. Stevens prizes the gift very much.

C. E. HOSTS GATHER.

Los Angeles, California, tomorrow will be a sea of crimson and white. Flags, festoons, streamers and banners will decorate in profusion public and private buildings, residences and business blocks. Crimson and white will be the colors of the Christian Endeavor Union, and the citizens of expressing their welcome to the Los Angeles will take this method of twenty-sixth international Christian Endeavor convention. Preliminary to the big welcome demonstration in Fiesta Park tomorrow, the annual meeting of the United Society of Christian Endeavor will be held. The regular program of the convention will be taken up Thursday morning, when 10,000 enthusiastic young delegates will fill the tent in Fiesta Park and listen to addresses by "Billy" Sunday, the noted evangelist, the Rev. Dr. J. Balcom Shaw, of Chicago, and J. A. McDonald, of Toronto.

Each day of the convention noonday ope nair services will be held, conducted by a corps of trained evangelists. Practically every church in the downtown district, together with many private halls and other meeting places, have been reserved for the side conferences. At these conferencs, in which many noted pastors and church workers will take part, there will be discussions of Bible study plans, social purity work, junior efficiency methods, prison department effort, new methods in missionary work, good citizenship plans and special efforts for boys and girls.

The notable guest of the week will be Rev. Dr. Francis E. Clark, "father of Christian Endeavor," who with Mrs. Clark will take a prominent part in the sessions of the coming six days. President Clark will deliver his annual address to the convention Thursday night. The address will be followed by the annual report of William Shaw, the general secretary, showing the progress of the past year in home and foreign branches of the Christian Endeavor Society.

GENERAL GRUBB.

The death of E. Burd Grubb removes a picturesque figure. For nearly fifty years this gallant old soldier, diplomat and man of big business interests had been conspicuous in New Jersey affairs. Entering the army as a sergeant he distinguished himself as a brave man and in recognition of his heroic deeds during the Civil War, Congress brevetted the then Colonel Grubb a brigadier general. He made and lost two huge fortunes in the iron ore industry.

After he met with defeat as the Republican gubernatorial nominee, undoubtedly due to the ballot box stuffing in Hudson county, Harrison appointed him minister to Spain. In his last years, this courtly gentleman and patriotic citizen was made superintendent of the soldiers home at Kearney. In many respects he was an unusual character and possessed an army of friends of which any man might be proud.

Edmund B. Osborne has challenged Everett Colby to a series of joint debates on their respective platforms for the Progressive party's gubernatorial nomination. We don't suppose that Mr. Colby will consider the offer seriously inasmuch as it is a plain attempt on the part of Mr. Osborne to advertise his novel platform.

In the Rockfeller church in Cleveland the Rev. Dr. Bustard referred to John D. Rockfeller as one of "the roses in the Lord's garden."—New York World.

"Pretty good coming for an 'oily' tongued clergyman," says our Scoop, "but cents and not scents from that rose is what the dominie had in mind."

Here's about all the satisfaction former Congressman Charles N. Fowler will get from his challenge to the Prseident to debate with him the currency bill: "The President directs me to acknowledge the receipt of your kind favor of July 4. Joseph P. Tumulty, secretary to the President."

Lost—A candidate for a gubernatorial nomination; can speak seventeen languages and yet not make his principles plain in one. Return to Passaic, N. J., or Columbia University.

When you go away on your vacation see that the Plainfield Daily Press follows you. Another good rule is to say a good word for your home town.

The manager of a local manufacturing plant, who is conspicuous in the Board of Trade, will be the contributing editor for Saturday's issue.

"I hereby authorize you," writes Fowler, of Elizabeth public library fame, to the President of the United States. How very considerate!

WOMEN IN TROUSERS AT LAKE HOPATCONG

Lake Hopatcong, N. J., July 8.—Women campers on the lake shore have taken quite a fancy to male attire, and they are wearing khaki trousers almost universally.

Most of the women don skirts when they leave camp, but some of the less timid have gone so far as to appear in stores and other places about Nolan's point in their trousers. Some of the more puritanical are discussing having measures taken to prevent their sisters from "parading" in anything but the accepted feminine attire.

OUSTED SMALL BOARD TO FIGHT FOR SALARY

Elizabeth, July 8.—The Democrats who were elected as members of the small Board of Freeholders last November, whom the large board has refused to allow any compensation for the time they served, intend to contest the matter. Early action is contemplated. It is expected that two suits will be started during the October term of court. One of these will probably be brought by a small board member and the other by an appointee.

There is also some talk of holding a special election in Union county the members and friends of the small board members being behind the movement. It is estimated that such an election would cost about $15,000. In the event of a contest an appeal will probably be taken.

OLDEST MAN IN OLDEST HAMLET PASSES AWAY

Thomas Cooper, aged 87 years, the oldest merchant in East Millstone, which is the oldest town in Somerset county, committed suicide on Sunday by hanging himself in his barn. He made a noose, which he placed about his neck and attached the other end of the rope to a rafter. He then mounted a stack of peach baskets and jumped off.

Mr. Cooper was well-known in this vicinity. He had been in poor health for some time and was afflicted with severe deafness. His dead body was found by Mrs. Cooper. He is survived by a wife, a daughter, Mrs. Sustace Randolph, of Newark, and a sister, Mrs. Catherine Kershaw, of Millstone. The funeral was held at one o'clock this afternoon.

TABLET TO HONOR KEARNY.

In the course of a few weeks a bronze tablet will be placed on the northeast corner of the new Normal School in Newark, in honor of General Phil Kearny. It will be fastened to as tone post close to the sidewalk, through the block from Belleville avenue to Broad street. The tablet will give Gen. Kearny's life history.

BOY AND GIRL BRIDE TRY DEATH BY POISON

Youth May Die---His Father Opposed Match.

Englewood, N. J., July 8.—John L. Taltrovitz, Jr., seventeen years old, and his nineteen-year-old bride of three weeks, Barbara, are at the point of death in the Englewood hospital as the result of bichloride of mercury poisoning, which the two took deliberately rather than be separated by an angry father.

Today they lay side by side in the emergency ward of the hospital with their hands tightly clasped, both begging the anxious surgeons not to try and save them, but just to allow them to die as they had planned.

The wish of the young man will doubtless be gratified, for the doctors declare he swallowed fourteen grains of the poison, and his entire system is paralyzed. His death is looked for in a few hours.

The young woman, however, stands a possible chance of recovery. She has confessed to swallowing but one tablet of seven and a half grains and immediately after taking it suffered from nausea.

The act, which may cost two lives, was the sequel to an unhappy three weeks' honeymoon and was the direct result of an interview had on Saturday with the young man's father, John L. Taltrovitz. The elder man threatened that unless his son consented to an annulment of the marriage he would cut off his allowance, remove him from Princeton college, where he was a student, and disinherit him.

Following this threat the father is alleged to have seized the only baggage which the couple had, two dress suit cases, and to have stopped the honoring of further drafts on a bank in Jersey City.

WATER COMMITTEE NOT DECIDED ON FUTURE PLANS

For the general information of the members and for the purpose of getting the matter on the records, he explained, Councilman F. E. Mygatt reported th erecent adverse decision of the Court of Errors and Appeals in the water condemnation proceedings, at the July meeting of the Council, last night. He made no comment.

When question about the matter, Mr. Mygatt said that he did not know what future steps would be taken or what recommendations the special water committee would make.

COMPLAINTS ARE MADE AGAINST PUBLIC DUMPS

The burning of rubbish on the rear of the tract of land situated at West Front street and Giraud avenue, the latter part of last week, caused a storm of protest from people living in the neighborhood who were affected by the heavy, foul-smelling smoke. The Board of Health was appealed to and on Saturday the fire department was called upon to extinguish the fire.

In view of the protest on the part of residents in the vicinity, the Board of Health is not likely to permit a re-occurrence of the nusiance. The smoke affected the neighborhood for a distance of two blocks either way.

FOR THE SEASHORE.

The annual excursion of the First and Temple Baptist Bible schools to Asbury Park will be held on Thursday, and everything points to a successful day's outing at the shore. The weather predictions are favorable for a fine day. The train will leave Plainfield at 8.20 o'clock in the morning and returning leaves Asbury Park at 7.25 o'clock in the evening.

NO STAGE FOR THE PICNIC.

The annual picnic of the Missionary and Aid Society of Warren chapel will be held on Thursday at the summer home of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Gavett on the Watchung mountains. No stage will be provided for the trip owing to the limited number of members planing to go, and they will have to seek their own means of going to the mountains.

CHOIR BOYS IN CAMP.

The chor boys of Bethel chapel left this morning for Staten Island, where they will camp out for the next three weeks near Rossville. There are ten in the party. The boys are in charge of Charles VanHorn and they plan to enjoy the time boating, swimming and fishing and giving several concerts.

BETSY PARRETTI.

The funeral services of Betsy Parretti, the four months old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Antonio Parretti, were held this morning. Interment was made in St. Mary's cemetery. The child died yesterday morning.

CHRISTIAN FIELD.

The regular monthly meeting of the Women's League of St. Joseph's church, will be held in Debele's auditorium tonight.

Rev. F. St. John Fitch, of this city, occupied the pulpit of the Park Avenue Baptist church Sunday in the absence of the pastor, Rev. G. R. Maguire, who is on a lecture tour through the west.

Rev. Thomas B. Ironside, superintendent of the Market Street Mission, Morristown, preached both morning and evening at Hope Chapel in the absence of Rev. F. L. Greene.

The monthly meeting of the Consistory of Trinity Reformed church will be held tomorrow night.

Owing to a change in Rev. Dr. E. R. Johnson's plans he will be unable to preach at Trinity Reformed church next Sunday morning. Rev. Dr. T. L. Gardner, editor of the Sabbath Recorder, has been secured as the supply.

Mayor Robert Clark, Jr., of North Plainfield, addressed St. Paul's Brotherhood Bible Class of Trinity Reformed church, Sunday morning.

The first church business meeting under the new rule of "business meetings," will be held at the First Baptist church tomorrow night.

PERSONAL.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur McVoy, of West Fourth street, have returned from Keansburg, where they spent the week-end.

J. V. E. Vanderhoef, of this city, left Sunday night for Baltimore, Md., to attend a meeting of the executive committee of the Improved Order of Heptosophs.

Patrolman James Saunders, of the local police department, is spending a part of his vacation with friends in Baltimore, Md.

BOROUGH COURT NOTES.

Puver Power was arraigned yesterday in the borough court on the charge of having assaulted Mrs. Sarah Bryan at St. Joseph's home. He was sentenced to spend five days in the borough jail, but owing to his advanced years and a promise to behave, sentence was suspended subsequently. Edward Coofe, of this city, was arrested last night for driving an automobile without a light. Sentence was suspended.

D. MILBURN, FAMOUS AMERICAN POLO PLAYER, TO TAKE PRETTY BRIDE

MR. DEVEREUX MILBURN.

MISS NANCY STEELE

Society here and abroad will be interested in the news of the engagement of Miss Nancy G. Steele, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Steele, of New York, to Mr. Devereux Milburn, the famous polo player. The announcement, following so closely the international polo game, in which Mr. Milburn's slashing drives and daring riding did so much to bring victory to the American team, again focuses attention on the renowned athlete and also on the pretty and popular young woman who is to be his bride. Their interest in athletics is mutual, for Miss Steele has been an enthusiastic follower of outdoor sports ever since she grew up, and Mr. Milburn has been active in sports, as he said recently, ever since he could remember.

SUGGESTS DELAY IN ALL DIVORCES

Would Have Three Months "Cooling Period."

MIGHT RESTORE RELATIONS

Pittsburgh Rabbi at Conference in Atlantic City Makes Recommendation to Colleagues—Shocked by Marriage an Hour After Decree—Believes Separations Would Greatly Decrease.

Atlantic City, N. J., July 8.—A "cooling period" of three months from the time of the final hearing until ultimate decision is handed down by the courts was suggested by the Rev. J. Leonard Levy of Pittsburgh as the solution of the problem of minimizing the divorce evil, while speaking on the "Modern Problem of Marriage and Divorce," before the central conference of American rabbis in convention at the Hotel Rudolf.

"The reduction, I believe, in the separations between married couples would be startling," he declared. "Let the concluding chapters of a suit for divorce be held up for a quarter of a year from the day of the completion of the trial, making it conditional upon the impossibility of a reconciliation.

"This cooling period might thus elapse, during which neither of the divorced persons could remarry. This might not only serve to restore the former relations, but would surely save us the shock to our moral sensibilities caused by the announcements such as 'divorced and married in one hour.' Another thing that should be advocated is uniform federal marriage and divorce laws.

"The hasty marriage must be curtailed if the rate of divorce is to disappear. A rabbi should demand at least twenty days' notice before performing a ceremony.

"Great as the divorce evil is, there can be a still greater evil in domestic life, the impossibility of obtaining a divorce in spite of legal grounds. When domestic conditions are immoral, husbands and wives should be legally put asunder. Nothing can be more debasing to innocent children that to be reared in a home in the presence of parents who have lost all respect for each other."

SELF DEFENSE, SLAYERS' PLEA

Gordon, Who Shot "Big Jim" Hoffman, Tells of Affray.

Hoboken, N. J., July 8.—Harry Gordon, twenty-seven years old, the confessed slayer of "Big Jim" Hoffman of Jersey City, was arraigned before Recorder McGovern in this city, but at the request of Chief of Police Hughes was remanded until today, when he will be arraigned with John O'Leary, twenty-two years old, of 27 South street, Jersey City, and William Harms, twenty-five years old, of 283 Webster avenue, Jersey City, who had been arrested before Gordon gave himself up to the police.

Gordon, whose home is at 721 Munroe street, Hoboken, told the police that Hoffman fired several shots at him before he returned the fire and that Hoffman had threatened his life for three days prior to the shooting. Hoffman was found dead on Friday night in front of 420 Jackson street, Hoboken. He had been shot through the mouth.

Chloroform Bottle Near Dead Man on Bank of Morris Canal.

Passaic, N. J., July 8.—Walter J. Messlege's dog found the body of a man on the bank of the Morris canal between High avenue and Hepburn road. The dog attracted Mr. Messlege and he notified Chief of Police Coughlin of Clifton.

A bottle which had contained chloroform was by the body, which memoranda in a pocket indicated was that of Charles W. Dennison of Petaluma, Cal. The pockets contained $218.98 and leaflets advertising California real estate. A brother, Howard E. Dennison of Akron, O., has been notified. An undated will, written in a notebook, left all the dead man's property to his brother.

MUCH ROUTINE AT COUNCIL MEETING

City Fathers Rescind Proceedings in Madison Avenue Widening Scheme.

ACTION ON PETITIONS

Cedarbrook Road Opening Ordinance Adopted on Third Reading—Health Board Wants Comfort Stations.

The Common Council at its July meeting last night, rescinded all previous action regarding the matter of widening Madison avenue, following the advice of Corporation Counsel Charles A. Reed, who informed the members of the several legal obstacles in the present proceedings, and Mr. Reed presented a new ordinance starting the work anew, which will probably be offered at an early meeting.

The action rescinding previous action provided for the discharge of an old commission, which comprised William M. Sandford, E. C. Mulford and J. Fred MacDonald. The first two named died several years ago. This action will not affect, however, any compensation due for work performed.

Howard C. Tracy, representing the Madison avenue commissioners, wrote to the Common Council for instructions regarding further action and that body at its regular monthly meeting last night, acting upon the advice of Corporation Counsel Charles A. Reed, decided to rescind all previous actions in the matter of widening the avenue. The city clerk was directed to inform Mr. Tracy to that effect.

The ordinance to open Cedarbrook road was adopted on third reading, following a public hearing. No one appeared to oppose the proposition. The bond of William R. Townsend, tax collector, was received, and ordered filed when approved. The contract between the city and Michael Garifona, for sewer work, was received and filed.

The Standard Sanitation Company, of New York, informed the Council that it had received a copy of a resolution pertaining to a proposition to establish a small disposal plant at the sewage beds, and that the matter would be taken up soon.

The insurance policies covering the city water wagons were presented and ordered returned to the agent for correction, to be filed later when approved.

Enoch Berry petitioned for a light on Leland avenue and East Second street, and also called attention to the dangerous condition of the bridge on Emerson avenue. The city clerk was directed to inform Mr. Berry that the bridge is on private property.

Archibald B. Larimour, of 119 Madison avenue, petitioned for permission to install a gasolene tank of five barrel capacity. This was referred with power. Petitions for lights on Berkley avenue, Dixie lane, Ravine road, and Radcliffe place and on New street between West Fifth and Sixth streets, were referred. Later the petition for a light on New street was granted. The Public Service Corporation informed the Council that it had located four new lights as directed.

In response to a protest from residents of West Third street, above Clinton avenue, regarding the assessment for macadamizing work, Mr. Mygatt explained that the Council now has no jurisdiction, that the law had been followed and the time for the property-owners to protest was when a public hearing was granted. The city clerk was instructed to notify the petitioners to that effect.

Upon the advice of Corporation Counsel Charles A. Reed the Council passed the bill of $275 presented by Dr. C. B. Lufburrow for services rendered in 1907-1912, when he was city physician, and in the future the Council will specify such extra services to be rendered by the city physician. Dr. Lufburrow's work was in connection with the committment of insane persons.

Building Inspector T. O. Doane reported the granting of twenty-eight permits last month and Street Commissioner A. J. Gavett reported that thirty sewer permits were granted during the same period. Horace G. Adams, clerk of the District court, reported receipts of $298.63 and disbursements of $8.58, leaving a balance of $218.05.

The Board of Health again called the attention of the Council to the need of one or more public comfort stations in the city. The matter was referred.

Resolutions offered by Councilman C. C. Randolph and adopted, authorized the borrowing of $7,000 on account of sewer extension work and the transfer of $1,400 from the general fund to the poor fund and $5,000 from the general fund to the fire fund.

Councilman F. E. Mygatt offered an ordinance specifying how sewer connections should be made. Copies will be sent to all the members and action will be taken at the next meeting.

VanZandt & Voorhees was awarded the contract to furnish the city with coal at the following prices per ton: Egg, $5.50; stove, $5.65; chestnut, $5.80; pea, $4.80.

In accordance with a resolution offered by Mr. Endress and adopted, a two-way hydrant was ordered placed on East Seventh street near Leland avenue, on Marshall place and one 500 feet east of Marshall place.

The Plainfield Auto Tire Company, of 407 Watchung avenue, was granted permission in accordance with a resolution by Mr. Endress, to construct a gasolene tank of 500 gallon capacity, the same to be built strictly in accordance with the ordinance under the supervision of the building inspector. This does not give the company the right to build the tank under the sidewalk. Mr. Mygatt voted against the resolution.

PROPOSALS FOR SEWER.

Sealed proposals will be received by the Committee of the Board of Chosen Freeholders of the County of Union at the Court House, Elizabeth, N. J., at 3.00 p. m., on Monday, July 21, 1913, for the following described work.

Sewer on Terrill road, and on Park avenue, Mountain road, Valley road, and on private right of way, between the end of the present Plainfield sewer in Terrill road near Green brook to the present manhole in the grounds of the Bonnie Burn Sanitarium, comprizing about 10,518 lineal feet of 10-inch iron pipe and vitrified pipe sewer with all necessary rock excavation, "Y" branches, manholes, trestles, etc., as shown in detail on the plan and specifications.

Each bid must be accompanied by a certified check for $500.00, as a guarantee of good faith, as set forth in the specifications.

The committee reserves the right to reject any or all bids, as may be deemed best for the interests of the County of Union.

Plans and specifications for this work may be examined at the office of the County Engineer, 120 Broad street, Elizabeth, N. J. The papers may be obtained from him by leaving a deposit of $5.00 to guarantee their return.

Sweet Green Peppers.

Green peppers are one of the best summer's gifts. They can be used in dozens of different ways, and every way is good.

To begin with, they can be used raw, in salads and as garnishing for meat and other vegetables. They must be tasted before they are served, for in spite of the rules which various persons suggest for telling the difference between a sweet and hot green pepper before cutting it it is impossible to tell the difference. Taste is the only sure judge.

One good pepper salad consists of diced pepper and diced tomato served with French dressing on lettuce hearts. This must be cold when it is served to be at its best.

Another good pepper salad is made of diced pepper and celery mixed with mayonnaise and put in little mounds in tiny lettuce leaves. Sliced stuffed olives should be used to garnish this salad.

Another salad, of a substantial sort which makes it welcome for Sunday night supper, consists in halves of stuffed eggs on lettuce leaves, garnished with rings of green pepper. To make these rings wash the peppers, and then slice them crosswise in quadted-inch slices. Arrange about three around each egg.

Substantial Pepper Dishes.

This chicken, egg and pepper dish is a meal in itself for a warm summer day. Remove the seeds from green peppers and fill them with minced chicken, well seasoned, with pepper, salt and melted butter. Put them in a buttered dish, with a little water in it, and cook them until the peppers are tender. Then with a tablespoon, press out a hollow in each pepper and in each hollow drop an egg. Return the pepper to the oven and cook them until the eggs have set. Serve each on a thin slice of buttered toast.

Rice and peppers, too, are substantial. To prepare them cook a cupful of rice in two quarts of salted boiling water for twenty minutes or longer, until it is tender. Drain it in a wire sieve and dry it for five minutes in the oven. Chop a large sweet green pepper and put it in a tablespoonful of bubbling butter in a frying pan. Toss the pepper about in the hissing butter for a few moments, until it is hot. Put the rice in a dish and pour the pepper sauce over it.

SALADS FOR SUMMER.

LUNCHEON MENU.
Breaded Sardines on Toast.
Cream Cheese and Pimento Sandwiches.
Gragefruit Salad.
Toasted Crackers With American Cheese.
Boiled Custards and Cake.
Tea.

FRUITS, which are abundant at this season, make the most suitable salads for warm weather. Salads should be served as often as possible at this time of year.

Thirst Quenching Foods.

Orange Salad.—Take four or five oranges, peel and divide into sections, then place on a glass platter. Pour boiling water over seeded raisins to plump them, drain and dry on a soft cloth and cut in two or three pieces. Add two tablespoonfuls each of orange and lemon juice; stir well and mix with the sliced oranges.

Mixed Fruit Salad.—Take four oranges, one grapefruit, two sliced preserved pineapples, four sweet apples and sugar to taste. Cut the fruit in small pieces. Dip the apple in lemon juice and it will remain white. If the oranges are very sweet use the juice of two lemons. Stir all together and let stand until the juices are well blended before chilling. Serve in sherbet glasses either as a dessert or first course for dinner.

Grapefruit Salad.—Remove all the pulp from the grapefruit without getting any of the connective pith or skin and saving all the juice. Mix the juice from a large grapefruit with three tablespoonfuls of oil and half a level teaspoonful of salt; beat well and pour over the pulp, blending well; then arrange the pulps on the crisp lettuce leaves.

Combined With a Vegetable.

Apple and Celery Salad.—Take two cupfuls of diced tart apple, one cupful of diced celery, one-half cupful of raisins, a dash of salt, one-fourth of a cupful of olive oil, two tablespoonfuls of lemon juice, one tablespoonful of powdered sugar, celery tips or lettuce leaves. Stew the raisins in a little water. Mix together the oil, salt, lemon juice, sugar and a tablespoonful of the raisin juice, beating well. Marinate the apple, celery and raisins separately in it for thirty minutes, then toss together and serve, garnished with the green.

Banana Salad.—Take six good sized bananas, peel and cut them into slices. Cover the bottom of a glass dish with these, then peel and slice two or three oranges, removing all pips. Lay the slices of orange on top of the sliced bananas. Sprinkle over some white sugar, then put another layer of bananas, oranges and sugar. Prepare this dish four or five hours before using.

Anna Thompson.

"A plate of beef," said the dog.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—The Dog That Talked Just Once.

AS the children came up to him daddy laid down the magazine he was reading.

"What were you reading about?" Jack and Evelyn asked.

"About a gentleman who is trying to teach his dog to talk," daddy replied.

"As we are speaking about talking dogs, I must tell you a story about a once famous ventriloquist. A ventriloquist is a person who can speak in such a way that his voice seems to come from some other person or object.

"This man gave entertainments, but at this time it happened that people had not come to his shows very well and he was without money and tramping from one town to another.

"As he walked along the road a thin old dog, nearly as dusty and tired looking as himself, came out of some bushes and followed him.

"'Hungry, old chap?' he asked as they neared the town. 'Well, it will be too bad if between us we cannot get a good meal.'

"Straight to the best hotel in town town tramped the man. He marched into the dining room and seated himself at a table.

"'Up, sir,' he commanded the dog, which skulked into the room at his heels. The dog leaped to the chair and seated himself.

"The owner of the hotel and a waiter rushed up. It was against the rules to bring a dog into the dining room. Before they could speak the ventriloquist had ordered his dinner.

"'And, now, sir, what will you take?' he asked, turning to the dog.

"'A plate of beef and a glass of water, thank you,' the dog seemed to answer politely. Of course it was the ventriloquist talking for him.

"'Can your dog talk?' the amazed hotel man asked the ventriloquist.

"'Why, haven't you heard me?' the dog seemed to reply.

"'I'll tell you what I'll do,' the hotel owner said; 'I'll give you $300 for that dog.'

"The money was paid over, and the ventriloquist, who had come in without a penny with which to pay for his meal, went out with a pocketful. As he reached the door the dog, which was being held back by its new friend, seemed to say:

"'You are no friend of mine to sell me to another master. As you were mean enough to play me such a trick, I shall take revenge by never speaking another word.'

"And the dog never did, because, you see, it had been the ventriloquist speaking for him all the time."

FASHION HINT

By JUDIC CHOLLET

The skirt that shows just a few tucks is a new one. Young girls and small women will like this model, for it preserves the straight, slender lines

Such a skirt is especially designed for the coat suit, for wear with odd waists and for simple dresses. As it is cut in four gores, it launders well and is adapted to washable material as well as wool and silk.

For the sixteen-year-old size the skirt will require four and one-half yards of material twenty-seven inches wide. The width at the lower edge is one and a half yards wide.

This May Manton pattern is cut in sizes for girls of fourteen, sixteen and eighteen years of age. Send 10 cents to this office, giving number, 7913, and it will be promptly forwarded to you by mail. If in haste send an additional two cent stamp for letter postage. When ordering use coupon.

NEW HAND BAGS.

They Are Long and Narrow and May Be Handsomely Ornamented.

The vogue of the large hand bag hung from the shoulder or arm by thick cords and tassels seems to be over. This bag has been a favorite for many seasons. Gradually from quite small dimensions it grew to enormous proportions till women not only carried in its recesses all the vanity fittings, keys, money and handkerchief, but various articles of jewelry as well.

The latest bag goes to the other extreme in size. Made long and not very deep, it is shaped like a man's pocketbook, with an envelope flap forming the fastening on one side, while on the other there is a narrow strap fixed so that the bag may be carried on the hand. These bags, made of polished leather or moire, are lined with soft white kid or satin in some delicate coloring, and they are quite flat.

Some of the more expensive varieties of the flat bag are outlined in flexible gold and caught down with jeweled clasps, but the more ordinary makes have a simple fastening in plain gilt.

A Novel Hat Rack.

The girl with several hats to stow away in her bedroom finds the problem of where to dispose of them a difficult one to solve. Two or three hats put away in a box together are not improved by the contact of one with the other. Moreover, the ordinary hatbox is not beautiful to look at. Here is an idea for a nest of hat b xes that is really pretty:

Procure three large square bandboxes with lids and cover all as neatly as possible with flowered chintz, lining the insides with linen or holland. Next get your carpenter to run up a three tier stand of white wood (on the principle of the wicker cake stands that are used for afternoon tea) on which to place the boxes. The stand, which consists of four posts and three or four shelves each large enough to hold a hat box, should be enameled white, and the effect of the chintz covered boxes on it is a very pretty one.

Pressing a Suit.

To press a suit lay the article smoothly on the ironing board. Place over it a piece of goods that has no lint or fuzz on it. Lay this on dry. Have a basin of water. Use a sponge or soft brush with a handle, dip in water and rub over the cloth. Now iron. If upon lifting the cloth you find any shine put cloth on again wet and iron again, taking off the cloth this time before it is dry, and there will be no shine.

Pressing too dry will leave the shine, so be sure to take off the cloth while still damp. Never press wool goods of any kind on the right side without the damp cloth.

FABRIC HATS.

A Mode on Smart and Picturesque Lines.

CREPE DE CHINE HAT.

The soft crowned, floppy brimmed hat of flowered fabric pictured is of buff crepe de chine, printed with terra cotta figures. The ribbon trimmings match the color scheme. The brim droops over the eyes and shades them, while the bow in the rear droops over the neck.

Closely fitting turbans are particularly becoming to young girls, though not unsuitable for more mature faces of a certain type. They are always so trim and distinctly appropriate for tailored suits that their popularity is easily accounted for. These new models are of such fine straw that they may be bent into practically any shape desired and cannot fail to be exceedingly becoming.

BON VOYAGE GIFTS.

Special Steamer Cake Boxes Are Acceptable Offerings.

Be very sure that your friend who is setting forth shortly for Europe or the Mediterranean is an excellent sailor before you scatter your substance in costly floral offerings. The fate of most cut flowers sent as bon voyage remembrances is a salty grave, and, unless the stewardess desires for herself the expensive orchids, roses and violets that are hastily turned over to her, when once the vessel begins to roll, overboard they go.

If one's friend is an experienced sailor one of the special steamer cake boxes will make an acceptable bon voyage gift. These boxes are fitted with lock and key and may be used afterward for the safe keeping of personal belongings. Inside are little trays and drawers, each filled with appetizing sweet and spiced cakes. Afternoon tea on board the steamer is a great institution, and the woman who can dispense hospitality in the way of delicious little cakes is sure to be popular. Preserved ginger in the small blue jars in which it is put up is another thoughtful bon voyage remembrance, for there are times when at the thought of anything except preserved ginger and a lemon the very soul sickens.

A steamer rug is a substantial and handsome gift, and a rug, pillows and rubber lined case in which these belongings may be packed for storage until the return voyage is a gift that any traveler will be overjoyed to receive.

Summer Coats.

Cotton eponge coats will be worn during the summer, as their suppleness and noncrushing quality make them preferable to those of linen. Besides the severely tailored styles, the draped models will be much worn because eponge has been woven in much finer qualities this season. The fillet mesh weave is particularly good looking.

The mackinaw coats of last summer have been replaced by outing coats that have much more style, and they are in styles that will be more becoming to the majority of women. These new coats are generally of a fine worsted, serge or whipcord in a bright shade of green or red, a rich shade of tan, chamois or leather, or in a striped or checked black and white. A long hip length Norfolk style, with collar and cuffs of white kidskin, broadcloth or eponge, is the most popular.

A smart mackinaw in checked black and white is illustrated here.

—Make a business task of your search for business employment. You can't do that, however, unless you advertise.

WHAT SUITS YOUR STYLE?

The Art of Dressing Depends In Great Measure on the Choice of Modish and Becoming Colors For the Wearer.

STYLES come and go, and we notice that the woman most becomingly gowned is not the one who adheres rigidly to the fashions of the moment, but the one who has studied her type and knows how to adapt these styles to it.

While the color "of the moment" may be just right for a brunette, for instance, it is more than likely the worst possible for the red haired damsel. The fashionable shade is perhaps exactly "it" for the blond and yet quite an impossible one for the girl with raven locks and black eyes.

The art of dressing well consists in ascertaining what suits one and wearing that, not in putting on so and so because it is fashionable.

To acquire the reputation of being well dressed means always a careful choosing of styles and colors which suit one. That fact cannot be emphasized too much. Some girls never seem to realize it.

As each season comes along they watch the most up to date shops. They see, perhaps, that boat shaped hats in golden straw trimmed with saxe blue are the latest "cry," and forthwith they purchase one, heedless as to whether the shape or the color is becoming to them or not. A few words as to color may prove helpful.

It is taken as a general rule that in choosing colors one should try to match either the eyes or hair as nearly as possible.

This rule, however, cannot be laid down as an invariable one, as a very great deal depends on the complexion. The girl with a sallow skin, for instance, will find that what will suit her bright complexioned sister (even though the eyes and hair are similar) will not do for her at all.

The colors that are safe for practically every one are dark blues, mauve and certain shades of green. Pale or sallow skinned girls should, however, avoid the two latter colors.

Black is becoming to auburn, fair and red haired girls and to brunettes if a really nice complexion goes along with their dark hair and eyes.

For the girl with golden or auburn hair there is nothing more becoming than black. A soft black hat trimmed with masses of black tulle is just right for her in the matter of headgear. Certain shades of blue and soft grays and greens will also suit her, while white may always be worn without hesitation.

The chief colors that the auburn or red haired girl should avoid are rose pink, crimson, bright violet and vivid green.

Nearly all wallflower shades are suitable for the brunette. Rich browns with a speck of orange, bright yellow or emerald green will look charming. Certain tones of gray green and mauve pink will also do nicely for the dark haired girl.

The blond may wear practically all that the auburn haired girl may wear. Pale colors, especially blues and rose pinks, as a rule, suit her, though again much depends on the complexion.

Browns should be very carefully chosen. Light brown haired girls generally look better in pretty brown shades than in any other color. A brunette should choose a terra cotta shade if she longs for a brown frock.

It is quite impossible to lay down any hard and fast rule as to the colors that will suit you. The only way is to try them.

If you are choosing a ready made frock get an artistic friend to go with you, and make sure of procuring something that is becoming to you.

If you are purchasing material do likewise. It is well worth your while to take the utmost trouble about it.

CULINARY HINTS.

Sponge cake and lemon jelly make a tempting dessert.

More cakes fail from guessing at proportions than is generally supposed. Use a marked cup and weigh accurately.

To remove scorch marks from fireproof dishes cook them in strong borax water until the ugly brown marks upon them can be rubbed off with a cloth.

If whites of eggs are not perfectly cold or if they are not fresh they will not beat very stiff. Cream will not whip well unless at least thirty-six hours old and very cold.

Mayonnaise dressing will separate when too much salt has been added to the egg yolks or when the oil has been dropped too fast or if the ingredients are not thoroughly cleaned when used.

Slipper Decorations.

Satin slippers are decorated with small bunches of artificial flowers instead of buckles. One decoration is formed of three or four tiny pink rosebuds, with bright purple violets grouped about them. Another is made of pink and blue forgetmenots and still another of pink roses about a sprig of mignonette.

They studied law for "recreation," and they passed the examination at the end of two years, instead of the usual three.

CHARGE FRAUD IN BIG BANK FAILURE

Pittsburgh Facing an Acute Financial Situation.

ONE REPORT HID DEFICIT

Receivers Named For Closed Institutions and Firms—Reported That One-third of First-Second National Bank's Capital Had Been Impaired.

Pittsburgh, July 8.—Federal prosecution of officers of the First-Second National bank of Pittsburgh, which failed, is threatened for alleged falsification of the report of its financial condition. This is thought to be the most serious aspect of the collapse of the institution, which caused the suspension also of the First National bank of McKeesport and the appointment of receivers for J. S. & W. S. Kuhn, incorporated, and the American Water Works and Guarantee company, also of Pittsburgh.

Attorney for the American Water Works and Guarantee company, the largest water works, irrigation and electricity corporation in the country, controlling eighty plants, with an aggregate capital stock of $73,000,000, appeared before Judge C. P. Orr in the federal court and asked for receivers for the corporation as well as the firm of J. S. and W. S. Kuhn, incorporated, the backers of the banks and the water works company.

J. S. Kuhn and W. S. Kuhn, J. M. Purdy, general manager, and Samuel Kelley, Jr., a bank official of this city, were appointed receivers for the American Water Works and Guarantee company, and J. K. Duff, treasurer of the Kuhn corporation, was appointed its receiver, each receiver under $50,000 bonds. The total deposits in the First-Second National are $30,000,000 and in the McKeesport National $4,000,000.

It is said that the federal bank examiners have reported back to the treasury department that from the examinations so far conducted by them it is apparent that at least one-third of the First-Second National's capital is impaired.

Legal Reserve Deficient.

The legal reserve of the First-Second National bank of Pittsburgh was deficient by $2,145,000 on June 4, the date of the last call by the comptroller of the currency. This brought the situation to a climax.

Immense crowds of depositors hustled the police about the doors of several other banks controlled by the interests of J. S. and W. S. Kuhn, incorporated, which are involved in the two banks already closed, and the great water works corporation. While none of the other threatened banks are experiencing what may be considered technically a run, hundreds of depositors are quietly withdrawing their accounts.

At one big savings bank closely connected with the Kuhn interests the withdrawals have been particularly heavy.

Though the Pittsburgh clearing house is making a heroic effort to control the situation, there is great fear that the sudden collapse of the Kuhn interests, having control not only over the two banks already closed, but the others now threatened by runs, as well as irrigation, electric and water works plants all over the country, will precipitate a panic.

There is a rumor to the effect that the First-Second National is short in its accounts by $4,000,000, but this has no verification.

The directors of the First-Second National decry the action of Acting Comptroller Kane in forcing the closing of the bank as unwarranted interference due to the failure of the federal bank examiners to be able to judge values of property and securities in this community.

To accommodate men on their way to business the Shirt Store will be open at 7:30 in the morning.

Who is going to get the lion's share of the 1,068 three-dollar shirts for 95c?

Sizes 14 to 18.

Styles: Hand-laundered, with stiff attached cuffs, and plenty of soft neglige shirts with turn-back cuffs.

Patterns: Hundreds — to suit every good taste; not a pattern in the lot that we wouldn't be proud to have in our regular stocks.

Nearly a thousand are white mercerized shirts (with self patterns)—beauties! We have had the very same things at $2. These are 95c.

The shirts are fresh, new, clean; the best lot we have ever seen at such little cost—and we have had some shirt sales before this!

Why are we selling them so cheap? Merely because the maker had finished his season—with only 11,196 shirts out of more than a million. Why shouldn't he sell them out to his biggest customer for cash at less than cost and be ready for the new year?

To facilitate the selling the shirts will be on sale at two places—in the Regular Shirt Store, Burlington Arcade floor, New Building, and the Subway Entrance, New Building.

Queries, Comment and Answers

Sporting Editor:

Query—Is the use of Parker Field limited to boys of any certain age or is it for everyone? D. P.

Answer—Parker Field is for every person who wants to make use of it, however large or small, young or old.

Sporting Editor:

Query—Is there a public dancing class in this city and if so, how can I enter it? S. A. E.

Answer—There is one conducted by the Public Recreation Committee at the Washington School every Wednesday night. Hand in your name tomorrow night to Miss Lois Nutting, the Supervisor.

Sporting Editor:

Query—Did Luther McCarthy die as a result of a blow on the neck or a blow above the heart? S. W.

Answer—The autopsy found that McCarthy died from a dislocated neck.

Sporting Editor:

Query—Does a Quaker have to get a marriage license before marrying? W. O. P.

Answer—Edmund Wilson, Attorney-General of New Jersey, in a recent opinion to the State Registra of Vital Statistics in Trenton, held that a license in the case of a so-called Quaker or common-law marriage is not needed. Although the law undoubtedly provides that every one must take out a license before being married, a common law marriage is an "informal marriage" and only requires the consent of the contracting parties to make it binding.

Sporting Editor:

Query—Who will pitch the first game of the World's series for the Giants this fall? U. P. L.

Answer—Go a little easy, the season has yet to go a few weeks and you may note a few changes in the present standing of the clubs before October. Since you have already picked the National League winner I would suggest that you advance an opinion on the American organization. Jawn McGraw is still undecided whether he will start Matty or the Rube in the first game for the world's bunting.

Sporting Editor:

Query—How many straight victories have the Giants won to date? T. P.

Answer—Twelve counting yesterday's win over Brooklyn.

Sporting Editor:

Query—I was hurt while working and was forced to stay home a week. When I reported back to work my employer told me that I would not be paid for lost time. How can I collect my week's salary that my employer has withheld? V. N. M.

Answer—Under the employers' liability act of 1912 you are entitled to half pay if your salary is not more than twenty dollars a week. You can recover not more than ten dollars and not less than five. You will have to bring suit.

Sporting Editor:

Query—Will the North Plainfield High School pupils be transferred to the Plainfield High School this fall? C. B. M.

Answer—Not this fall at any rate. Maybe we will admit them sometime in the near future.

Sporting Editor:

Query—Are visitors admitted to the Cook Farm on Sundays and how can I get there? D. P. L.

Answer—Yes, visitors are admitted to certain parts of the farm as on any other day. The place is located on Springfield road, back of Scotch Plains. Follow Mountain avenue east and you will run into it.

Sporting Editor:

Query—How are the roads for automobiling between here and Lake Hopatcong. C. T.

Answer—Very bad in some places and the route is uphill a good part of the way.

BASEBALL NOTES

"Chief" Myers, of the Giants says he has always regretted that he did not finish his college course.

Kommers, the new Pirates outfielder, appears to be as handy in the garden as he is with the bludgeon.

Joe Tinker's Red Birds are hammering at the cellar door and hope to break the jock before all the fun is over.

The acquisition of Hal Chase must have put the White Sox in right. The Sox have been going like a house afire of late.

Hub Northern, the old Brooklyn outfielder now with Toronto, is leading the list of batters in the International League.

It looks as if the St. Louis Browns have landed a regular pitcher in Levereuz. The youngster has a great assortment of benders.

Bert Daniels, of the Yankees, is as quick as "that" on the bases. The only trouble with Bert is that he is not able to hit often enough to get on.

After Larry Lajoie made three errors in one game the other day, the rumor was set afloat again that he was about through as a Nap regular.

Pitcher "Biff" Malloy recently purchased by the Red Sox from the Kalamazoo (Mich.) club, is playing his first season in professional baseball.

Edward Flaherty, captain of the University of Vermont baseball nine, has signed to pitch for the Syracuse team, of the New York State league.

Shortstop Milton Reed, recently purchased by the Phillies from the Davenport Three-Eye League team, was tried out by the St. Louis Cardinals in 1911.

Manager Hugh Jennings, of Detroit, has signed Harold Partenheimer, captain of the Amherst College baseball nine. The collegian will be tried out at third base.

Otis Clymer seems to be unable to poke out the safe bingles for the Cubs, such as made him the batting sensation of the American association at Minneapolis last year.

It has been something like bumping up against a brick house for Clark Griffith's Nationals whenever they met the Athletics this season. The series stands 11 to 2 in favor of the White Elephants.

This must be the season for young catchers to show their fancy wares. Schalk of the White Sox, Schang of the Athletics, Agnew of the Browns, and Chapman of the Pirates are all doing great work.

"Gavvy" Cravath, the great "comeback" slugger, continues to wallop the pill for the Phillies. While trying to pinch-hit for Washington a few days ago "Gavvy" couldn't hit the ground if he fell out of a hack.

Ray Comstock, the Minneapolis pitcher, is doing better work in the Northern league than is "Rube" Schauer, for whom the Giants paid $10,000 recently. In a pitcher's duel between the pair the other day Comstock not only walloped Superior 6 to 0, but did not allow "Rube's" team one measly hit.

JOHNSON TENNIS VICTOR.

WALLACE F. JOHNSON.

Wallace F. Johnson, of Philadelphia defeated W. C. Crawley, of England, in the semi-final round of the open singles in the London lawn tennis champion ship tournament. By his victory John son enters the challenge round, the holder, A. F. Wilding, of New Zealand having decided not to defend the title.

PRESIDENT PLAYS GOLF.

Motors Twenty-five Miles to Country Club For Game Before Lunch.

Woodstock, Vt., July 8.—President Wilson motored twenty-five miles to this village for a game of golf. The president has a standing invitation to use the private golf course of J. A. Kennedy on the latter's estate, near Windsor, but yesterday he decided to come to the semipublic course of the Woodstock Country club for his game. The president played a full eighteen hole game with Dr. Grayson, his naval aid, and appeared to enjoy it thoroughly. His face was flushed with the exertise in the comparative cold as he finished. After the game he motored back to Harlakenden for a late luncheon.

Y. M. A. AGGREGATION GETS SEVENTH GAME

All of the Last Seven Have Been Wins for Bound Brook Nine.

The ball team of the Young Men's Association of Bound Brook went to Flagtown on Saturday afternoon and defeated the Flagtown team by a score of 7 to 0 in six innings, when rain stopped the game.

The fine pitching of E. Mathews, who struck out 11 men and allowed only two hits, and the batting of O. B. Mathews, who secured 4 of the 8 hits made by the Y. M. A., was mostly responsible for the defeat of the Flagtown team. Hoffman, the Flagtown pitcher, struck out 12 of the Y. M. A. men, but the team behind him made 6 errors. Line-up:

BRUGGY AND CARLSTROM ARE HITTING THE PELLET

Albie Carlstrom and Frank Bruggy two former local players, who appeared in Plainfield and Bound Brook last season and who are now playing with the Lawrence team of the New England League, are clouting the ball like demons according to reports received here of their work and are two of the leading players on the aggregation. Last Friday, playing at Lawrence, they each hit the pill for a circuit trip against the Lynn club. Bruggy now has four home runs to his credit and Carlstrom comes along with three.

Besides his homer Friday Bruggy got three doubles and a single. Carlstrom grabbed his circuit spin and two singles.

DOMINION CHESS TOURNEY

ADAMS BOYS BREAK ONE MORE RECORD

Two Will Be Married in the Fall—All of Them Are Athletes.

Announcement was made yesterday in Newark that Platt and "Ben" Adams, the athletes of Olympic fame, who played on the local Y. M. C. A. baseball team two years ago, also their brother Ruel, are all to be married in the Fall. The annoucement of Platt's marriage revealed the triple romance. He has been engaged to Miss Julie Lombard Hubbard, of Michigan, whom he met aboard the steamship Majestic on his return from the Olympic games in this country.

Miss Hubbard attended the games at Stockholm and watched with keen delight the work of the Adams boys. Platt and "Ben" captured a second and third, respectively, in the standing broad jump, and led a big field in the standing high jump, Platt winning first prize.

Platt was guest of honor last night at a reception given in the home of his fiancee's parents, Dr. and Mrs. Lucius L. Hubbard. No date has yet been set for the weddings. "Ben" is engaged to Miss Marjorie Porter, and Ruel recently became engaged to Miss Mabel B. Sauer. Both live in Newark.

HISTORIC RAILROAD TRIP.

Fillmore and Webster on the Erie's First Through Train.

The completion of the Erie was the most important event in the history of railroad building down to that time—a matter of national consequence. Recognition of this fact was made when in May, 1851, a special train carried on a two days' trip through the mountains and valleys of southern New York, sweet with the leaves and blossoms of early summer, President Fillmore, four members of his cabinet and other guests of national distinction.

Daniel Webster, majestic even under his heavy burden of age and ill-health, was secretary of state in Fillmore's cabinet and rode on that first through train. He made the journey in a rocking chair lashed to a flat car, that he might lose nothing of the scenery and the sweetness of the fresh verdure. Nor was he too feeble to enjoy the great barbecue at Dunkirk, where oxen and sheep were roasted whole, pork and beans were cooked in vessels holding fifty gallons each, bread was baked in loaves ten feet long and two feet thick, so heavy that two men staggered under their burden, and the whole was served at a table 300 feet long, spread under a specially built shed along Railroad street from Deer to Lion street.

It was a great day for Dunkirk; it was a great day for New York state and the nation, and it was a great day also for President Fillmore, who found the pork and beans especially to his taste.—Wells Fargo Messenger.

Soaking the Clothes.

Mrs. Browning had a new domestic named Agnes.

"Agnes," said the mistress, "did you put the clothes in soak?"

"Oi did not," answered the girl. "Did you want me to, mum?"

"Why, certainly," was the reply.

"Very well, mum," said Agnes.

About two hours later Agnes presented herself to her mistress.

"Oi hev put thim clothes in soak, mum," she said, "but the pawnbroker wud give me only chew dollars on the whole outfit. Here be th' money, an' it's sorry Oi am that ye bees so harrud up."—Harper's Magazine.

"Sapay."

"At Liverpool street station, London," said an American, "I asked a booking clerk whether he could tell me where Sapsworth was. His answer was that he had never heard of such a place. "But," I urged, "is not that the way the country people pronounce Sawbridgeworth?" "No, indeed," he laughfugly replied. "They call it Sapay."

EDWARD LAUTERBACH.

He Admits He Lied to Ledyard About His "Influence."

LAUTERBACH ADMITS LYING; BLAMES LAMAR

Used Clark's Name In Talk With Ledyard.

Washington, July 8.—After having denied that he had approached Lewis Cass Ledyard, counsel for J. P. Morgan & Co., with a statement that he represented Speaker Clark and Senator Stone, Edward Lauterbach, the New York lawyer, admitted before the senate committee investigating lobbying that he had done so. Mr. Lauterbach qualified it with the addition that he had done so at the direction of David Lamar, the impersonator by telephone of representatives.

Mr. Lauterbach had denied that when he went to the late J. Pierpont Morgan with the resolution for investigating the steel corporation that he tried to "shake down" the financier. He declared he merely tried to effect a resumption of relations between Mr. Morgan and Lamar.

Lauterbach asserted that Mr. Ledyard was the leading factor of a conspiracy against him and that Mr. Ledyard worked for two years to defame the witness. Mr. Ledyard is counsel for J. P. Morgan & Co.

Mr. Lauterbach, who had waived immunity before testifying, told of his friendship for David Lamar, whose telephone impersonations of representatives brought about this phase of the investigation.

He denied that he knew of Lamar's impersonations and that his proposal to stop the congressional investigation of the steel corporation was to have the corporation make certain reforms which would make an investigation unnecessary. He flatly denied having made any claims to influence with members of congress.

T. R. STARTS ON LONG VACATION

Colonel Takes to Woods For Two Months.

AWAY FROM LOCAL STRIFE

Colonel Will Not Indicate Whom He'll Support in New York Mayoralty Race—Will Return Few Days Before Primary on Sept. 16.

New York, July 8.—Colonel Roosevelt started out one day ahead of his schedule on his vacation in the west. As far as could be ascertained the colonel left both the local Progressive leaders and the various aspirants for the fusion mayoralty nomination very much puzzled as to his preference for the head of the ticket.

It was announced at the colonel's office at the Outlook office last week that he would start on his trip into the Arizona desert and to the Grand canyon of the Colorado on July 8, but instead he came into town early yesterday and boarded the Metropolitan express, which left the Pennsylvania station at 8:04 o'clock in the morning. He was accompanied only by his two sons, Archie and Quentin, who are to be his sole companions on his expedition into the wilds.

"Yes, the colonel went away a day ahead of time," said his secretary, Frank Harper, when questioned about the change in plans. "He started ahead of time on purpose in order to avoid being disturbed. No one knew anything about it here in town. He will be away two months."

Silent on Local Politics.

The colonel's dodging of a final interview on his departure was taken as indicating his determination not to be drawn into the local political situation. He has conferred with the men principally mentioned as candidates for tthe fusion nomination, but he has steadfastly refused to commit himself to the support of any one of them. About the most illuminating statement that he has made for publication followed a meeting with District Attorney Whitman. "I was glad to see Mr. Whitman," he said, "just as I was glad to see John Purroy Mitchel and just as I would have been glad to see Mr. McAneny."

The colonel's two months' stay in the desert will bring him back to the city just a few days before primary day, Sept. 16. By that time both the party and independent candidates for nominations will have been designated.

As to the colonel's western trip, it was said that it was to be a purely sight seeing adventure, not even a single gun having been taken along for the bringing down of game. The party will leave the train at Grand Canyon, Colo., and will put up at the El Tovar hotel just long enough to get the camp equipment into order before plunging into the wilds.

PRAYER BOOK FOR HOUSE.

Contains Daily Invocations of Blind Chaplain, Mr. Couden.

Washington, July 8.—For the first time in its history the house was supplied with a prayer book issued from the government printing office. The volume consists of 137 pages and contains the prayers delivered by the Rev. Henry N. Couden, the blind chaplain of the house, each morning during the Sixty-second congress.

Speaker Clark wrote the foreword for the little volume. In this he declared that congress never would have ordered the prayers published at public expense had they not been "full of piety, sympathy and philanthropy—earnest, helpful and hopeful."

NO PATENT ROAD MATERIAL

Highway Department Holds Present Law Delays Repair Work.

Albany, N. Y., July 8.—Commissioner Carlisle of the highway department wrote the governor denying positively that he intended to award contracts without advertising for bids. He denied also that the department proposed to use any patented material.

He insisted that the law as it stands would greatly delay repair work that is most needed and said that an amendment should be made giving him power to make repair contracts without public letting on procuring bids from three reputable firms and first getting the comptroller's approval to the contracts.

Fire Destroys Thirty-three Buildings.

Perry, Mich., July 8.—Stark & Co.'s grain elevator, the Perry State bank, a hotel and thirty stores and residences were destroyed by fire here. The total loss is estimated at $200,000.

WE ARE rather proud of our Repair Department, yet when it was a tender young thing it was as much of a burden as infants are popularly supposed to be.. We were told by well wishers that we were making a mistake; that by doing repairing we would injure our reputation as Merchant Tailors. The success of both departments of our establishment is a sufficient refutation of this opinion. We believed then and still believe that the man who buys good clothes is the man who takes good care of his clothes; that garments that are well made should be well cared for. The complaint that your garment does not hold its shape, finds reason in the lack of care in pressing. We employ workmen in our repair department who are as skilled in making as in caring for them, and for these reasons we tell you there is no one so competent to care for your clothes as ourselves. The cleaning and pressing of an expensive suit should be entrusted only to the most skilled workmen, such as we employ.

We can deliver your garments the same day if you are in a real hurry.

Borough Council Disposes of Much Routine Business at Monthly Session.

RATABLES $4,071,622

West End Avenue Roadbed Has Been Put in Good Condition—Reports Received From Many Committees—Bills Ordered Paid.

A large amount of routine business was disposed of by the North Plainfield Council at its regular monthly meeting held in the Council Chambers last night, the meeting coming at the middle of the year when many bills are presented for payment. Last Friday night was the regular date for the monthly session of this body but because a quorum was not present it was set over until last night when the following members were present: Julius J. Stahl, Edmund L. Rushmore and Allan Cowperthwait. The special committee on taxation reported through its chairman that the same basis used in the levying of taxes in the borough last year would be used again this year, the tax ratables being $4,071,622.

The shade tree commission made application for an appropriation of $1,000 for its work and H. C. White, chairman of the commission, was only granted $250 to carry on the work during the coming year. The street commissioner returned a report with total expenditures of $1,206.63 and the police committee reported that during July fourteen arrests were made with the collection of $25 in fines and in June forty-one arrests were made and $20 collected in fines. Councilman Stahl, on behalf of the street committee, reported that the work on West End avenue has been completed and that the street in question had been put in good condition. He also stated that the street commissioner had been engaged during the past month in an extensive cleaning-up work, results of which have already made themselves conspicuous.

A number of building permits were filed during the past month, but because of the absence of the necessary five members of the Council needed to grant the permits they were laid on the table until the next meeting. Mr. Stahl, who introduced them, however, vouched for the reliability of all applicants and a motion was made to allow them to go on with their building operations and to grant the permits at the next monthly meeting. Councilman Stahl, in presenting the fire and water report for the past month, explained that the expenditures were unusually large due to the fact that the borough fire steamer had been overhauled during the month, a large insurance bill had fallen due and semi-payments of the fire department's call-men had been added. The total expenditures amounted to $880.15. Mayor Clark, Jr., appointed Peter Johnston, the lodge keeper at the Hyde estate on Mountain avenue, as a special marshal and the appointment was approved by the Council.

Councilman Rushmore introduced resolutions to authorize the advance of $300 to the Board of Health department, $100 to the overseer-of-the-poor and to allow the clerk to borrow $3,400 to meet current expenditures. Bills to the amount of $4,155.22 were ordered paid. Following the third reading of the dog and cat ordinance it was ordered referred back to the committee.

BOARD OF EDUCATION OF NEW BOROUGH ENGAGES TEACHERS

Bound Brook, July 9.—The engagement of public school teachers was the principal business before the Board of Education of the new borough of Middlesex at its first meeting this week. Augustus C. Ramsey, chairman of the committee on teachers, reported that the following had been engaged for the coming year: School No. 1, "Pierce," William Love, principal; second grade, Miss Alice Regen; third grade, Miss Nora B. Henderson; fourth grade, Miss Clementine Petit; sixth grade, Miss Elsie Wertz; eighth grade, William Love; Parker School, Miss Cynthia Osborn. The first, fifth and seventh grades are vacant.

The building and grounds' committee was authorized to advertise for bids for repairs. The clerk's salary was fixed at $150 a year. The board will pay the fire company $2 a night for the use of its hall for regular meetings and $1 for special meetings.

TWO YEARS OLD BOY DIES OF INJURIES

Youth Who Fell From Fast Train Yesterday Lived Only a Few Hours.

Suffering from injuries sustained as the result of a fall out of the window of a fast moving express train at Lincoln yesterday noon, Edward Gatley, the two-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Gatley, of St. Claire, Schuylkill county, Pa., died at Muhlenberg Hospital at 6.45 o'clock last night where he was taken immediately following the accident with practically no chance of recovering.

As related in yesterday's issue of this paper, Mrs. Gatley was traveling to Fall River, Mass., with her two children, a six-months old baby, and Edward, Jr., when the latter lost his balance while leaning out of the window and fell to the tracks, nearly every bone in the child's body having been broken. Mr. Gatley was telegraphed for at once and met the grief-stricken mother soon after the child died last night. The body was removed to Cole's morgue and will be taken back to St. Claire tonight. The mother, who was in a hysterical condition following the accident yesterday, became worse last night and it is feared that her health has been seriously affected by the incident.

DOGS AND CATS WILL REMAIN UNMOLESTED

Borough Residents Will Have to Endure "Nuisances" for Another Month.

Borough resident who have been anxiously awaiting the passage of the cat and dog ordinance that has caused so much agitation in North Plainfield during the past two months, and which has been up before the Borough Council on three different occasions, will have to suffer from the presence of the felines and canines for at least another month, following the action of the Common Council at its regular monthly meeting held in the Council chambers last night. Edmund Rushmore offered the document as drawn up by E. S. Boyer for the third reading last night, and after the four borough fathers present had endured a fifteen minutes dissertation on the lengthy ordinance it was finally agreed to refer the matter back to the committee. Ever since this proposition was first suggested in North Plainfield Mayor Robert Clark, Jr., has been the recipient of many communications from citizens who advocate the passage of such a decree providing for the "muzzling" of cats and the checking of dogs belonging to residents of the borough and others who oppose it. Cat calls and dog howls have become a nuisance to the pious residents on the othe rside of the brook and many are anxious to see a license ordinance passed whereby the habitation of animals of the feline and canine type will be properly regulated. Mr. Boyer was absent from last night's meeting and thus evaded the numerous communications that Mayor Clark has received and had ready to turn over to him as an example of the way in which the decree is being received.

Edmund L. Rushmore suggested the consideration of the ordinance at last night's meeting and some of the provisions as read by Clerk Dolliver were really humorous. Every dog or cat will have to be licensed or will have to move away from the borough under penalty of being exterminated. Two dollars and fifty cents will be the assessment levied on each animal and kennels where dogs or cats are bred for sporting or exhibition purposes will have to carry a license that will cost ten dollars. Each dog will have to wear a collar with the license tag attached (cats will also wear collars of an approved type) and any animal found roaming the street without his credentials will be "bagged" and taken to the pound. Cats, as well as dogs, will have to be accompanied by a person over twelve years of age when they go out for their morning airings and will be put to death after being held by the pound master for seventy-two hours without being reclaimed by the owner, in the same manner as the canines. All of the pets will be held and kindly treated by a competent pound master who will be paid, according to his captures, by the borough.

MRS. DARBY PASSED AWAY THIS MORNING

Widow of W. H. Darby Succumbs at the Age of Seventy-five Years.

Mrs. Jane Darby, aged 75 years, widow of William H. Darby, died about 9 o'clock this morning at the home of her daughter, Mrs. J. V. E. Vanderhoef, of 39 Prospect avenue, from heart trouble, with which she had suffered for some time. Mrs. Darby was born at Serrell, Canada, and when a young woman she removed to Hempstead, L. I., where she was married and lived for a few years. Later she removed to Brooklyn. When her husband died in 1886, Mrs. Darby came to Plainfield to make her home with Mrs. Vanderhoef.

From time to time she would visit among her other daughters. She was one of a family of fourteen children, and a remarkable fact is that the oldest, Mrs. Elizabeth Smith, of Brooklyn, is still living. She is about eighty-six years of age and only recently visited in this city. Mrs. Darby was a sister of the late Robert Radford, who lived for many years at West Front street and Elmwood place. She was an Episcopalian and a devout Christian woman.

There survives four daughters, Mrs. J. V. E. Vanderhoef and Mrs. F. E. Quipp, of the borough; Mrs. Henry Ashenbach, of Morristown, and Mrs. H. B. Andrew, of New York, and two sons, A. E. Darby, of Watchung avenue, and H. R. Darby, of Bound Brook.

The funeral will be held at the late home Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Rev. Dr. Philip B. Strong, of the First Baptist church, will officiate and the burial will be in Greenfield cemetery, Hempstead, L. I.

MISS DUFF BECOMES MRS. M'INERNEY TODAY

Miss Elizabeth F. Duff, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Duff, of Port Richmond, S. I., and Francis H. McInerney, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank T. McInerney, of Park avenue, will be quietly married at 5 o'clock this afternoon at the home of the bridegroom elect. Father B. M. Bogan, pastor of St. Mary's R. C. church, will perform the ceremony. Owing to the fact that Mr. McInerney is convalescing from an attack of typhoid fever, the only guests present will be the members of the two families and the ceremony will be a simple one.

Miss Helen Duff, sister of the bride-elect, will be the bridesmaid and Richard Harrigan, of this city, will be the best man. An informal reception will follow. The couple will defer its wedding trip until Mr. McInerney fully recovers from his illness. Miss Duff is a member of the 1913 graduating class of the Training School for Nurses at Muhlenberg Hospital.

REPRESENTED THE VITAPHONE CO. AT NATIONAL SESSION

Harry McMenimen, of this city, returned this morning from the convention held under the auspices of the National Association of Talking Machine Jobbers at Niagara Falls, where he represented the Vitaphone Company which has its factory in this city. Mr. McMenimen attended the closing banquet of the convention last night and listened to speeches made by representative officials from the Edison, Columbia and Victor talking machine companies.

Talking machine demonstrations featured the affair which convened last Saturday and ended last night. Besides the representatives from the four companies that make talking machines, jobbers were present from the United States, Mexico and Canada.

LEAKAGE IN LIGHT TANK CAUSES FIRE

Automobile Consumed by Flames at South Plainfield Late Last Night.

Fire, that started as the result of a leak in the Presto-Lite tank attached to Francis Miller's 1912 model Elmore roadster automobile, completely destroyed the machine as it stood in front of Mrs. A. R. Giles' home on Park avenue, South Plainfield, last night. Mr. Miller, who lives on Hillside avenue, this city, went to Mrs. Giles' home near the Lehigh Valley tracks to close a real estate deal and it was while in her residence that the car became enveloped in flames.

A bucket brigade was formed but despite the efforts of a number of neighbors who did what they could in an effort to put out the flames, the car was a complete loss, nothing remaining but the iron parts of the engine and radiator.

CLUBBED AND FINED FOR INTERFERENCE

Thomas Starr's Stubbornness Cost Him $5—Accused by Patrolman McCarthy.

Charged with interfering with a policeman in the discharge of his duty, Thomas and Mary Starr, of 436 East Third street, were arraigned in the city court yesterday and the case took up the greater part of the day, many witnesses being heard on both sides. After the summing up, which occurred at 4 o'clock Judge DeMeza found Starr guilty of the charge and fined him $5, dismissing his wife on a suspended sentence. The case was one of the kind that does not come before the public very often and attracted no little amount of interest, both sides having a large number [illegible]

The offense in question was committed on Saturday, June 28, when a fire occurred in the house adjoining the one in which Starr lives, which is a double one. Patrolman Cornelius McCarthy got into an argument with Starr and his wife when he ordered their ten-year-old child outside of the fire-line as a means of protection. Starr and his wife maintained that they rented the house and that McCarthy had no right to order the child away but the officer thought different and when he proceeded to carry out his duties was attacked by Starr, who he subdued after a short struggle in which Patrolman Frank Sweeney lent a hand. During the scuffle McCarthy was alleged to have struck Starr on the head with his "billie" and brought him to headquarters under strenuous protest both from the prisoner and numerous sympathizers.

The case was prosecuted by Assistant Corporation Counsel Walter L. Hetfield, Jr., and Robert Newton Crane represented the defense.

JR. O. U. A. M. GATHERED IN MIDDLESEX COUNTY

Friendship Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., of New Market, with ten past councilors and three other members attended the monthly meeting of the Middlesex County Jr. O. U. A. M., at county banner for having the largest attendance of past councilors coming the greatest distance. There was a large representation of Juniors from the various councils in the county and the meeting was an interesting one.

During the evening there were addresses by some of the council officers, including County Councilor Rene F. P. vonMinden, and in the good and welfare or the order there was a discussion of plans for the advancement of the interests of the organization. These meetings are held once a month and have proved helpful to the different councils throughout the county.

FARM BUILDINGS ARE AGAIN SET ON FIRE

Incendiary Visits W. H. Gennerick for the Third Time, Burning Bungalow.

Owing to the absence of a water supply or adequate apparatus with which to fight the blaze, a large bungalow on the poultry farm of H. W. Gennerick on Clinton avenue, burned to the ground last night, before hundreds of residents of South Plainfield and nearby points who were attracted to the scene of the blaze by the reflection in the sky but could do nothing but stand around and watch the flames consume the structure. This is the third time within the space of three weeks that fire has broken out on Mr. Gennerick's farm, a serious conflagration occurring there two weeks ago having destroyed several large barns and out houses at a loss of several thousands of dollars. The building consumed last night was recently erected and while in course of construction during the other fires had a narrow escape from being burned along with adjoining property.

The fire was discovered about 11 o'clock having gained great headway at that time, and when the Middlesex County Volunteer Department was called out the bungalow was a mass of flames. The frame house was unoccupied, not having been completed, and Mr. Gennerich places his loss at nearly $500.

When the second fire occurred Mr. Gennerich was satisfied that it was the work of an incendiary and the third attempt to destroy the farm buildings has convinced him of this fact. He discharged a farm hand several weeks ago who became angered and threatened to do some harm to even up matters with his former employer and he is evidently taking this means of getting revenge.

THIEF RAN BUT WAS CAUGHT WITH GOODS

New Yorker Stopped Off at Dunellen to Make a Haul and Landed in Jail.

Samuel Woodruff, giving his age as nineteen, and residence as New York city, got down from his coal train berth at Dunellen yesterday afternoon with the intention of spending a few hours in one of New Jersey's beauty spots before returning to the Metropolis, but had his sojourn extended somewhat by the opportune appearance of the police who took him to the county jail after he had been in the village just twenty minutes. Woodruff went to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Lytle, who keep a boarding house in Dunellen, and stole two suit cases containing money and clothes from the rooms of two boarders. He was hurrying down the front stairs when discovered by Mrs. Lytle and she asked him what he was doing with the suit cases. Not receiving a reply she gave a hasty alarm and two men in an automobile started in pursuit of the thief, catching him near Dewey Park.

Constable Lindsley took him to the Dunellen headquarters where he was arraigned before Recorder Campbell and committed to the county jail in New Brunswick to await the action of the Grand Jury. The stolen property belonged to Christopher Tarbury and Thomas Ward, and the latter had $9 and a suit of clothes in the case that was stolen.

DUNELLEN VOTES FOR JOINT SEWER

At Special Election Decides to Unite With Plainfield and North Plainfield.

IS ALMOST UNANIMOUS

Similar Election Will Be Held in North Plainfield on Tuesday, July 15—Plainfield Not Required by Law to Submit Proposition.

The citizens of Dunellen, at a special meeting yesterday, voted almost unanimously in favor of joining with Plainfield and North Plainfield in the construction of a joint trunk sewer, establishing a sewage collection system for Dunellen and issuing bonds to cover the expense of the work. To meet the legal requirements in elections of this kind four propositions were submitted to the voters on the ballot.

These propositions were: First shall the borough establish a collecting system; second, shall the borough construct a joint trunk sewer and disposal works in conjunction with Plainfield and North Plainfield; third, shall bonds be issued for establishing a collecting system; fourth, shall bonds be issued for the construction of the joint trunk sewer and disposal works.

In the first district only two votes were cast against each proposition, while there were 106 votes in favor of the first and second propositions, 107 favored proposition three and 105 favored the fourth proposition.

A much smaller vote was polled in the second district, only fifty citizens expressing their opinions on the propositions. There were forty-four votes in favor of propositions one and four, while forty-three favored the other two propositions. Six votes were cast against the first proposition, five against the second and third and three opposed the fourth proposition.

A similar election will be held in North Plainfield on Tuesday, July 15, when the voters will be given an opportunity to express their opinion on the proposed joint trunk sewer plan. As the borough is as much if not more vitally interested in the successful outcome of the proposition, it is confidently expected that the vote will be overwhelmingly in favor of the joint plan. The trunk sewer and disposal works are to be built on a pro rata basis, which has already been determined upon by the three municipalities.

"SCOOP" ECONOMIZED BY PADDLING TO THE LAKE

Among the visitors at Lake Hopatcong this week is "Bill" Schooley, of this city, otherwise known as "Scoop" and "Silk Hat Harry". Schooley, who is a reporter on the Daily Press, set out with a Newark companion last Saturday night in a canoe to paddle to Lake Hopatcong where he will spend a two weeks' vacation in the open air. "Scoop" and his chum started at 8 o'clock Saturday night and paddling steadily all that night and all day Sunday, arrived at the lake at 6 o'clock Sunday evening.

In a letter this morning Schooley says he is having the time of his life and that the strenuous trip upstate was great. He is camping on Halsey Island with a number of Newark youths and a second delegation from New Jersey's Metropolis will join them next Saturday.

The Proof Is Here the Same As Everywhere.

For those who seek relief from kidney backache, weak kidneys, bladder ills, Doan's Kidney Pills offer hope of relief and the proof is here, in Plainfield the same as everywhere. Plainfield people have used Doan's and Plainfield people recommend Doan's the kidney remedy used in America for fifty years. Why suffer? Why run the risk of dangerous kidney ills—fatal Bright's disease. Here's Plainfield proof. Investigate it.

Mrs. Patience Manchester, 120 Lafayette Place, Plainfield, N. J., says: "I willingly recommend Doan's Kidney Pills again. I still use this remedy occasionally and it always relieves me of serious kidney troubles. For a long time I doctored and tried various remedies for my kidneys and bladder, but did not get a cure. Doan's Kidney Pills brought me good results from the first and before long rid me of the trouble."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.—Adv.

STYLISH—RELIABLE

ONE OF TWO WAYS

There are two kinds of Clothiers—those who do things the RIGHT way and those who do things the OTHER way.

We do things the RIGHT way, because if we did them the OTHER way, we would have too much competition.

Whether you purchase an article for ten cents or a suit at twenty-five dollars, you may depend upon it, that our reputation stands squarely behind every transaction.

OUR CREED

To sell for cash only.

To sell at a moderate profit.

To warrant absolute satisfaction.

To be courteous to every customer.

To show the new good things first.

To sell only dependable merchandise.

JOHN D. ROCKEFELLER.

Celebrated Seventy-fourth Birthday Yesterday at Summer Home.

©1913, by American Press Association.

John D. Rockefeller celebrated his seventy-fourth birthday at Cleveland yesterday by playing more and working less than usual. He played golf with Dr. H. F. Biggar and his pastor, the Rev. W. W. Bustard; rode his bicycle and sat with Mrs. Rockefeller, who is not in good health. He gave orders he was not to be bothered by the stock reports, which come over the private wire from Wall street to Forest Hill. For one day the world's wealthiest man refused to pay any attention to the reports that told whether he is wealthier or not so wealthy. Not in five years has the health of Mr. Rockefeller been better, Dr. Biggar said.

ENGINE DRIVER GETS $15,000 STATE BERTH

Central Employee Public Service Commissioner.

Albany, N. Y., July 9.—Charles J. Chase of Croton-on-the-Hudson, a locomotive engineer on the New York Central railroad, was nominated by Governor Sulzer as a member of the public service commission of the Second district to succeed Curtis N. Douglass of Albany, whose term had expired. The salary is $15,000 a year.

"The nomination of Mr. Chase," said the governor, "is made in accordance with the promise made by the Democratic party in its platform adopted in the last state convention. The platform says that we favor the appointment of a practical railroad man as public service commissioner."

Other nominations sent to the senate by the governor include the following:

To be public service commissioner, Second district, to succeed Frank W. Stevens, whose term had expired, William E. Leffingwell of Watkins.

To be state labor commissioner to succeed John Williams, whose term had expired, James M. Lynch of Syracuse, president of the International Typographical union.

To be trustee of the State College of Forestry in Syracuse to succeed George E. Dunham, who was unable to serve, Francis Hendricks of Syracuse.

To be trustee of the State Hospital For the Treatment of Incipient Tuberculosis to fill a vacancy caused by the resignation of Martin E. McClary, George L. Brown of Elizabethtown.

DENY WILSON NEAR TRAGEDY

The Mayflower's Commander Refutes the Twelve Inch Shell Story.

Washington, July 9.—Secretary of the Navy Daniels when asked about the "near accident" to the Mayflower said that a newspaper dispatch from Norfolk was the first intimation he had had of President Wilson having been endangered by twelve inch shells on his cruise. He added that he had not issued any order for the suspension of gun testing at the navy proving grounds.

Commander Newton Alexander McCully of the Mayflower said that he had not been aware that any shell had been fired in the vicinity of the Mayflower during the recent cruise.

A Fair Compromise.

A partner in one of the theatrical producing firms of the city of New York had occasion to hire an actor to play a small part in a drama he was putting out. A rather well known actor, who values himself and his art with a proper appreciation, applied for the place.

"You play a full blood Sioux Indian," explained the manager. "The salary is $50 a week."

"My dear boy," said the actor in a pained tone, "I've never worked for less than $100. A hundred dollars is my regular price."

"Fifty dollars!" [illegible] the manager calmly. "Take it or leave it." The actor thought it over a minute.

"I'll take it," he said, "but I can't play a full blood Indian for $50. I'll play him as a half breed!"—Saturday Evening Post.

Find Something New.

In 1644 the possibilities of the submarine were first propounded, while from the very earliest times men have conceived the idea of flying with wings like birds. There is no reason whatever to doubt the fact that Archytas of Tarentum, about 394 years before the Christian era, constructed an automaton pigeon that would fly. Turning to other latter day inventions, as they are generally regarded, it might be mentioned that switchback railways were constructed more than a hundred years ago, and looping the loop was a sensation in Paris in 1833, while roller skating, which came up as a new invention about forty years ago, was being indulged in by our forefathers as far back as 1829.

The Yolk of an Egg.

After the fast of Lent medieval custom insisted that an egg should be eaten on Easter day. According to the London Lancet, this rule was based on sound medical principles, for the only substance in the yolk is lecithin, and lecithin is a favorite drug with doctors who have patients suffering from nervous disorders. The quantity of the drug administered at a time corresponds almost exactly with the quantity found in a normal new laid egg.

Very Particular.

"Pat," said a gentleman who was watching an Irish gardener at work, "why are you digging out that hole in the ground?"

"I'm not digging out a hole," replied Pat. "I'm digging out the earth and I'm leaving a hole."—London Telegraph.

What She Wanted to Know.

"You are going to marry a rich widower who has three children," said the fortune teller.

"Oh, I know that," replied the beautiful girl, "but I'd like to find out what we are going to do with the children, for, as he says, they certainly need a mother's care."—St. Louis Republic.

A Rebuff.

"I told father I loved you more than any girl I've ever met."

"And what did father say?"

"He said to try and meet some more girls."—Cornell Widow.

FREE BAND CONCERTS.

When the city, through its Common Council, made an appropriation for a suitable celebration of Independence Day, it did only what all progressive municipalities are doing at the present time. It might be well should an inclination be shown in other respects to keep abreast of the times to providing the means for public band concerts. This would be a perfectly proper use of the people's money and we do not believe that any intelligent taxpayer, who takes a pride in his home town, would object to the expenditure.

Hundreds of municipalities hold public band concerts once a week, usually on Saturdays or Sundays. Next Sunday afternoon, Parker Field is to be thrown open to the public for recreation and this innovation will be welcomed by many, many residents. A band concert will be given, but the Playground Commission has no funds to make this feature a regular part of the Sunday afternoon programs. It should not be expected that private citizens would bear the cost for as everyone knows if there is any place in the world where the people are continually called upon for contributions for worthy causes it is right here in Plainfield.

It is a matter for the city itself and there should be no hesitation on the part of the Common Council in making the necessary appropriation.

A CITY IN BUSINESS.

Plainfield's Common Council did the only thing possible under the circumstances when it refused the request of the Union County Board of Freeholders to be allowed to connect Bonnie Burn, a county institution, in New Providence township, with Plainfield's sewage disposal system. In the first place, the city's sewage disposal plant is now greatly overtaxed. But even were the conditions not as they are, why should Plainfield go into the business of handling such matters for other municipalities. The school system now cares for high school grade pupils from many surrounding towns and many taxpayers seriously object to this. If sewer connection privileges were to be granted, the next thing we would hear of would be the health, fire and police departments being placed under contract to protect surrounding municipalities. In short, Plainfield would be a wholesale municipality.

TEACHING SWIMMING.

State Commissioner of Education Calvin N. Kendall has the right idea when he says that every school pupil should be compelled to learn to swim, and that the day is not distant when the art of swimming will be included in the public school curriculum. The Plainfield Board of Education has not waited for that day to come. Very wisely it has arranged to have a large swimming pool built in the new High School and the boys and girls will not only be taught the art but, we understand, will be permitted to use the pool during the summer months.

Whether the high school pool is intended only for pupils of that grade is not announced, but certainly, is the plan is feasible, pupils in the grammar and primary grades, at certain times should be given its use. Every boy and girl should learn to swim at as early an age as can be. It is a mistake to wait until the age of sixteen or thereabouts to acquire the art.

That proposed cat licensing ordinance simply makes North Plainfield appear ridiculous to the outside world and the Council acted none too soon last night when it tabled the measure. Had the ordinance been passed, however, Mayor Clark would have vetoed it as any sensible mayor would.

BUSY SESSION OF SOMERSET BOARD

Freeholders Met With Delegation of Women Advocating Tuberculosis Hospital.

A number of persons appeared at the montly meeting of the Somerset County Board of Freeholders, at Somerville, yesterday, in the interests of a tuberculosis sanitarium for county patients. There were a number of ladies among those interested in the project, including Miss LaMonte, of Bound Brook, and Miss Maybelle C. Phelps, vice-president of the Plainfield and North Plainfield Charity Organization. Dr. A. L. Stillwell and Dr. C. R. P. Fisher, of Bound Brook, representing the Somerset County Medical Society, spoke in refeence to the matter.

Freeholder Remsen reported that the special committee appointed to secure a site for the hospital, had viewed several places, and that the owners of one deemed best suited for the purpose wanted $30 per year rent, or would sell the place for $5,000. This was deemed excessive by the other members of the board, and the committee was instructed to communicate with the Morris county board and make arrangements to have that county look after the Somerset county patients. Already about 6 or 8 applications are pending.

Mr. Oppenheim, representing a number of the residents along the road leading from South Bound Brook to Middlebush, wants the county to improve that thoroughfare and these persons made a proposition to raise $250 to every $1,000 spent by the county in doing the work. A further hearing will be held in this matter.

County Engineer Doughty was directed to draw up plans for the improvement of the road leading from the Finderne bridge to Groendyke's corner and it is the intention of the board to do this work without State aid if Commissioner Stevens refuses to grant the same. This is the road that has been before the public for some time, and the improvement is particularly desired by the Johns-Manville Company, in order that they can have a better outlet to their plant.

DAVENPORT'S OLD FARM SOLD.

Red Bank, July 9.—The Gideon Daly stock farm, once the property of the late Homer Davenport, which adjoins Brookdale, the country estate of Lewis S. Thompson, at Holmdel near here, has been sold by Mrs. Zadad Howard Reakirt, of New York, to Henry Cross, of Holmdel. The farm was owned originally by the late D. D. Withers, who sold it to Gideon M. Daly, who sold it to Harry Payne Whitney. Mr. Whitney sold it to Mr. Davenport. A year and a half ago the farm was leased by Paul Armstrong, the playwright. Many noted race horses were reared on the farm.

FACING TORTURES.

The Sublime Courage Shown by an American Indian.

WILLING TO DIE FOR ANOTHER.

Story of a Dramatic Episode In Which the Iowa and Musquakie Tribes Figured—Heroism That Won the Admiration of the Enemy.

A striking story of the courage and self sacrifice of which the American Indian at his best is capable is given by O. H. Mills in the Des Moines Register and Leader. It was told to the white men by the famous Sac chief, Black Hawk, who himself saw the incident.

It all began with an unfortunate quarrel between an Iowa and a Musquakie, in which the latter killed the former and then in a moment of frenzy scalped his victim. The two tribes were at peace, and this act, allowable only in time of war, was, in Indian eyes, an intolerable breach of good faith.

The Musquakies offered all sorts of reparation, but the Iowas would accept nothing but the person of the offender, to be tortured and put to death in propitiation of the outraged spirit of the dead man. To this the Musquakies agreed on condition that the culprit be given a month to fortify himself for his terrible ordeal. But just as the month was about to expire he fell ill with a raging fever. In that condition he could not be carried across the prairie, but his failure to produce him at the appointed place would arouse the suspicions and perhaps the hostility of the Iowas.

A council was called to debate the matter, before which appeared Cono, a brother of the sick man. "There are no squaw men in our family," he declared. "I will go in his place."

The others tried to dissuade him and described to him the tortures he would have to undergo, but he insisted upon making the sacrifice. Accordingly an escort was selected to accompany him, at the head of which Black Hawk, then a young but widely respected chief, was placed.

"I never saw a more pathetic scene," said Black Hawk, "than the parting of Cono and his father and mother and other relatives. The whole tribe was overwhelmed with gloom."

In the middle of the afternoon the party arrived at the Iowas' village. Cono had asked that his identity should not be disclosed, but one of the Iowas who was present at the time the young Indian was slain saw that the guilty party was not being delivered, and Black Hawk told the whole story. The Iowas accepted it as true and, after a brief council, consented to the arrangement. The death circle was staked out and patrolled with armed guards, and Cono was placed in its center, while his escort was entertained in the tepee of the chief. It was a chill November day, and the sun was just sinking behind the cliffs of the Des Moines river when the escort left the camp.

They paused on a hill about a half mile distant from the camp. They could see that the fires had been lighted round the death circle, and in the hush of the evening came the plaintive sound of Cono chanting his death song.

Having traveled some two hours, they halted and made camp. About midnight they heard the clatter of horses' feet, and in a moment more a single horseman rode up. It was Cono! This was his remarkable story:

The fires of the death circle were burning brightly, and the squaws with their burning sticks were preparing to make the first attempt to extort a cry of pain and agony, when an old man, the father of the dead Indian, raised his voice:

"Stop!" he said. "Let me speak. I am the one that has suffered. My son was killed and scalped by a Musquakie. I was hungry for revenge, and were the one that killed and scalped him here I would shout with joy at his torture. But this young man is brave. Never have I seen such bravery before. He is too good a man to torture and kill. Release him and let him return to his own people."

Although the entire village a few hours before had been eager for revenge, there was a murmur of approval as the old man gathered his blanket about him and took his seat. Without any one's making a single objection, Cono was removed from the circle and given food and drink. A few hours later he was led from the camp, allowed to mount his own pony and depart in peace.

Persuasive.

The teacher meant to convey a profound lesson. "You must forgive your enemies, boys," she said, "and then your enemies will forgive you. I want you all to try it."

The next morning Johnny Jones came to school with a very black eye.

"Why, Johnny, what's the matter?"

"Aw," replied Johnny, "I've been forgivin' Scrappy Green an' makin' him forgive me."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

NEW SCHOOL OFFICIALS NAMED

Berkeley Heights, July 9.—The New Providence Township Board of Education commenced the fiscal year at its meeting in Columbia School Monday night by electing Nicholas H. A. Krayer district clerk and Wordsworth C. Johnson custodian of school money. Krayer succeeds Gustav Davies, who was clerk for a year. Wordsworth C. Johnson succeeds Frank C. Shaffer, who resigned several months ago, and whose resignation, it was said, was illegally accepted by the board. It was decided to hold the special election for the redistribution of the March appropriation July 22. Of the $3,400 then appropriated, $1,800 is to be transferred to a deficiency account, to pay off obligations on the Columbia School account.

NEWSPAPER SUSPENDS.

Phillipsburg, July 9.—The Phillipsburg Post, the oldest daily newspaper in Phillipsburg, has suspended operations, after covering this field for more than twenty-one years. The paper was started April 1, 1892, and since that time it has been under the management of Michael T. Lynch, of Fairview Heights. Mr. Lynch, together with his two sons, James and Philip, issued the paper each day without any other help. They gathered the news, set the type by hand and then put out the paper. Mr. Lynch desired to enlarge his plant in order to compete with the other dailies in this vicinity and not having the ready cash decided to quit, rather than issue the paper under the present conditions.

MEMORIAL TO BRADDOCK.

Rockville, Md., July 9—The memory of General Edward Braddock, who commanded the English and colonial troops in the war against the French and Indians, was honored here today by the unveiling of a monument erected by the Daughters of the American Revolution. The monument stands in front of the courthouse and marks the site of General Braddock's encampment here in 1755 on his way to Fort Duquesne. Several congressmen and delegates, representatives of the army and navy of the United States took part in the exercises that attended the unveiling of the memorial.

SEEK SLAYER OF 18-YEAR-OLD GIRL

Wealthy Farmer's Daughter Had Rival Suitors.

VICTIM TERRIBLY BEATEN.

After She Was Choked to Death Body Was Thrown In Lake—Youth Last Seen With Girl Protests His Innocence.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., July 9.—Miss Crispell, the young woman believed to have been murdered, in connection with which Herbert Johns, an ardent admirer, is under arrest, had another suitor. The police learned that the two young men's rivalry had reached such a stage that they had arranged a swimming match across Harvey's lake, where the girl met her death, to determine which one should win her.

This information came out through a letter written by young Johns to the girl on Sunday night, two days before she disappeared. This letter, which came to the attention of the authorities, indicates that young Johns knew nothing of the girl's death. It contained the name of his rival, for whom the police are now searching, and referred to the feat of swimming across the lake.

Miss Crispell, the pretty eighteen-year-old daughter of a prosperous farmer, disappeared from her home on Friday night and was last seen alive talking to Johns after 11 o'clock on that evening. The letter which was found was written by Johns to the girl on Sunday night and bears every evidence that he did not know of her death.

The writer said that he was lonely and hoped to see the one he loved soon. The letter closed with the following sentence:

"From the fellow who will never forget the girl who has forgotten him."

With Her That Night.

The young man admits that he was with the girl almost up to the time when persons living near Harvey's lake said they heard a girl screaming in terror. A witness is being sought who is said to have told of seeing a young man clad in a gray suit running away from the lake just after the time the girl is supposed to have met her death. Johns admits having worn a gray suit that evening.

An autopsy has revealed the probable motive for the death of the young girl, and the case now appears to parallel that of the murder of "Billy" Brown near Herkimer, N. Y., for whose death Chester Gillette went to the electric chair. Further examination of the girl's body showed that she had fought vigorously for her life and makes it appear that she was beaten and choked until stunned and then flung into the lake.

Both Eyes Blackened.

Both her eyes were blackened, there were other bruises on her head and on her right wrists were the deep imprints of teeth. Her throat and body were marked by finger prints. Immediately after the autopsy Dr. F. J. Higgins, who made the examination, would only say, "I am convinced that murder was committed."

Johns was found at work in a mine by reporters, who had learned he was the last one seen with the girl before her death. He talked freely with them and was on his way to see the authorities when the coroner decided to order his arrest. He stoutly declares that he is innocent of the girl's death.

M'COMBS OPERATED ON.

Chairman of Democratic Committee Under Knife In Paris Hospital.

Paris, July 9.—William F. McCombs, chairman of the Democratic national committee, who is regarded as the probable new ambassador to France, was operated upon for appendicitis in a private hospital in the Avenue Victor Hugo.

The operation was quite successful. It was performed by Dr. Du Bouche, who states that the patient is doing well and that he does not fear any unfavorable consequences.

Can You Afford To Be Without Title Insurance?

Ask yourself seriously if you are prepared to meet the loss and face the trouble that may arise from the sudden discovery of an unsuspected flaw in the title to your property. In a case of that kind a mere abstract or a title-search will not protect you. Your only safeguard is a guarantee issued by a strong institution like the

FIDELITY TRUST CO.

Prudential Building, Newark, N. J.

When this institution acts for you in title matters its experts attend to all the details. Your interests are protected from the time of the drawing of the contract to the closing of the title, and one charge covers all the work. It also includes the insurance. There are no weekly, monthly or yearly premiums to pay. Why not come in and talk it over?

WINS SWEETHEART AT 75.

Peter Barnes Marries Mrs. Doty, Whom He Admired In Youth.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., July 9.—A romance which dates back to the childhood days of Mrs. Augusta Doty, seventy years old, widow of Supervisor Joseph Doty of Pleasant Valley, and Peter J. Barnes, seventy-five years old, of Kansas, has just ended in their marriage at Pleasant Valley.

Mr. Barnes went to Kansas from this section years ago, but never lost track of his childhood playmate. He made a fortune in Kansas, and after learning of the death of Mr. Doty he communicated with the widow. The result was that he closed up his business in Kansas and came here.

LAMAR, GRILLED, DEFENDS HIS ACTS

Sought to Save Friend Lauterbach, He Says.

AN INTERESTING WITNESS

"I Am the One Villain In Wall Street," He Declares Bitterly—"All the Rest Are Actuated by the Highest Motives."

Washington, July 9.—The senate committee investigating the Washington lobby scandals again heard David Lamar, "the wolf of Wall street." Lamar had requested a further hearing to prove that neither Mr. Lauterbach nor himself had engaged together to get money from J. P. Morgan & Co. or other interests.

"I'll tell you what my motive was," said Lamar, discussing the reason for his association with Lauterbach. "It was either to force these men to recognize the injustice of their attitude toward Lauterbach and myself or force them to come out into the open with the charges of blackmail they had circulated in New York for years against both of us. Ledyard and his associates had ruined many men, and I was determined they should not ruin me."

Lamar said he knew Lewis Cass Ledyard was trying to "trip him" when he began telephoning in the name of Representative Palmer and then determined to "fix a game on Ledyard to force the financial interests into the open."

Corroborates Lauterbach.

Lamar's choice of adjectives in speaking of various Wall street men led senators to interrupt his statement frequently. Whenever the committee disapproved of something he said Lamar immediately agreed with the objector, to the great amusement of the audience.

The committee finally decided to hold Lamar strictly to answering questions. He testified he had told Lauterbach that Senator Stone had authorized him to make certain representations to the Morgan firm and had told Lauterbach that Senator Stone said he represented Speaker Clark.

Lauterbach had testified that all his information about Senator Stone and Speaker Clark had come from Lamar.

Under a sharp fire of questions Lamar insisted that his only object was to bring about "just such a situation as this investigation."

"I am the one villain in Wall street," said Lamar bitterly. "All the rest are actuated by the highest motives and possess the highest ideals."

Lamar declared the whole thing was "a major Wall street operation traveling on parallel lines" and insisted he was "after Ledyard, Cravath, Evarts, Lovett and the Morgan steel trust, Union Pacific and other interests" and wanted to force them to an open attack. "It was a favorite method of mine for producing an explosion when I wanted one," he added.

His Basis For Charges.

Lamar testified that his charges of an $82,000,000 forgery on the Union Pacific books, which was emphatically denied by lawyers for the company at the time he made them, were founded on statistics from a "manual" and Thomas Gibson, a New York financial writer. He had discussed with Lauterbach making the charges public before the lobby committee.

The witness testified also of impersonating Mr. McCombs, chairman of the Democratic national committee, and Mr. Hilles, chairman of the Republican national committee.

Senator Cummins wanted to know if Lauterbach asked for an explanation of any of Lamar's plants which involved his (Lauterbach's) honor.

"The question of honor was not considered. It was entirely a Wall street operation," returned Lamar.

The committee tried to bring out whether Lamar had any stock in the Steel corporation about the time the investigation resolution was introduced or held any Union Pacific or Southern Pacific recently or now. Lamar denied having any.

SLASHED IN "SLEEPING DUEL"

Rivals In Love Matched Pennies to See Which Should Die.

Mobile, Ala., July 9.—In a "sleeping duel" Charles Robinson's throat was cut, and he is dying in hospital. Robinson and Frank Broncho, a Spaniard, shipped on the schooner Henry Crosby for the West Indies. They loved the same girl.

Two days out, according to Broncho, they matched pennies to see which should cut the other's throat while he slept. Robinson lost. He is too weak to give his version, and the whole truth may never be known. The schooner's captain returned to port with the wounded man.

GARRETT TO HEAD PROBE.

Tennessee Man Slated as Chairman of House Investigation.

Washington, July 9.—Representative Finis J. Garrett of Tennessee will be chairman of the house lobby investigating committee, it was authoritatively stated.

Unless a filibuster develops the house will pass the lobby inquiry resolution today, and the investigation will begin tomorrow with the organization of the committee.

JUSTICE COHALAN.

Albany Legislature Is Hearing Charges Made Against Him.

© 1913, by American Press Association.

Supreme Court Justice Daniel F. Cohalan faced his accuser, John A. Connolly, whose charge that the jurist had made a percentage agreement with him to get city contracts for Connolly's company caused the grievance committee of the Bar association to act. The assembly judiciary committee at Albany took up the charges, and Connolly gave testimony as to his alleged agreement with the justice to pay the latter 55 per cent of all profits on city work obtained through Cohalan's influence in Tammany Hall.

TURKEY, TEARING UP TREATY, RENEWS WAR

Calls on Bulgaria to Evacuate Conquered Territory.

Constantinople, July 9.—Turkey will fight. The sublime porte decided to reoccupy the territory which was taken over by the Balkan allies as a result of the London peace treaty signed in May. This means that the Turks will have to enter the territory by force, and preparations are being made for the invasion against Bulgaria.

The London treaty took 60,000 square miles from the Ottoman empire. This was turned over to Bulgaria, Servia, Montenegro and Greece, and the porte decided forcibly to occupy the territory along the Enos-Midia line, which is the new northern boundary of the empire. Bulgaria is occupying the territory along the line toward which the movement will be made, and it was understood that a note had been sent to Premier Daneff asking the Bulgarians to evacuate.

With Servia, Greece and Bulgaria now fighting, Roumania promising to have her army mobilized by Thursday or Friday and Turkey preparing to take the field, the Balkan situation will again be a serious problem before the powers.

London, July 9.—The complete success of the Bulgarian division which appeared at Vranja in the rear of the Servian line was claimed in dispatches from Sofia. It is declared that the Bulgarians entered the city, captured huge quantities of ammunition and then proceeded northward along the Morava river, being successful in every maneuver to cut off the Servian retreat.

Although earlier reports of the fighting were contradictory in the extreme, it is accepted here that the Bulgarian troops administered severe reverses to the Servian forces. This is borne out by reports from Belgrade that little news from the Servian army headquarters is being received.

ANCIENT SECRETS.

Priceless Recipes That Are Now Lost to the World.

COLORS OF THE OLD MASTERS.

They Are the Envy and the Despair of Modern Artists, to Whom Their Composition Is a Mystery—Greek Fire and Roman Mortar.

Numerous are the trade secrets handed down generation by generation from father to son, and vast is the capital made out of some of them in the commercial world of today.

Particularly, perhaps, is this the case among the numerous manufacturers of piquant sauces and the countless venders of patent medicines.

But there is also, it must be remembered, another side to the case. Many, alas, are the priceless trade secrets buried far down below the moldering dust of the misty past and lost to the world, perchance never again to be recovered.

To cite the first example that occurs to the mind of the writer, for instance, what would a Royal academician of the present day give to be possessed of the secret held by the old masters—Raphael, Rubens, Correggio, Van Dyck and their compeers—for mixing their colors so as to render them imperishable and impervious to the ravage of time?

The red colors especially of these artists of a bygone epoch are every whit as bright now as they were three long centuries ago. On the contrary, the colors of pictures painted only 100 years ago have lost their luster and are faded and decayed to a deplorable extent.

Again, in the world of music, the manufacturers of violins—old masters, as one may justifiably term them, in another branch of art—treasured a recipe for a varnish that sank into the wood of their incomparable instruments and mellowed it as well as preserved it.

With such extreme, relentless jealousy, however, did they guard their great secret that it, too, is lost, to all appearances, irretrievably.

Rather more than 100 years ago there lived in a quaint, old world village in Wales a working blacksmith who had managed by some means or other to bring the welding of steel to such a pitch of perfection that the joint was absolutely invisible and the temper of the steel as fine as on the day it left the tester's hands. By his process he was able to join the very finest of sword blades, and after he had finished with them they were absolutely as good and as sound as when they had left the factory.

The blacksmith's fame spread far and wide, and, naturally enough, he attained a great reputation, but he made a point of invariably working in solitude. He was offered large and tempting sums to divulge his secret, but kept it obstinately to himself, and when his span of life had run its course he took it with him to another world.

The ancient Greeks had a substance which we call Greek fire and which they used in naval warfare.

Their method of employing it was simply this—to throw the substance upon the surface of the water, where it flamed up and set fire to the ships of the enemy. What was it?

The only known substance of the present day that would do this is the metal potassium, but to set fire to a ship in the manner described would necessitate the use of at least half a ton of the metal. Where did the Greeks obtain the substance they used with such effect? Or how did they make it? If Greek fire was potassium the secret of the process is another that must be numbered with the lost.

The man who could disinter the buried recipe for Roman mortar would be bowed down to and worshiped by the builders of the present day. How they made it is a profound secret and bids fair to remain so.

The mortar is as firm now as it was 2,000 years ago. It has calmly scoffed at the ravages of time and weather.

The above are but a few—a very few—of the lost and buried secrets of antiquity which modern scientists and mechanicians would give much to learn.—London Answers.

That Held Him.

One of the young men in the boarding house had the double fault of slowness in paying his bill and fussiness about the table service. One morning he said peevishly to the landlady, "Mrs. Jones, will you tell me why my napkin is so damp?"

"Yes, Mr. Wicks," replied the landlady promptly. "It's because there is so much due on your board."—Brooklyn Times.

Close.

"You say he is stingy?"

"Stingy! I should say he was stingy. He never tipped a waiter but once in his life. It was on his wedding tour, and the tightwad gave the waiter 10 cents and asked for a receipt."—Chicago Tribune.

Authoritative.

"So you are going to leave your studio?"

"Leave? No. Who told you so?"

"Your landlord."—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Of Interest to Women and the Home

The Housewife's Daily Economy Calendar

FRANCES MARSHALL

For the Home Maker of Lingerie.

What is new in summer lingerie? That is the question of the economical woman who chooses midsummer as a good time to "catch up" with the plain sewing. Judging from the appearance of the newest lingerie, most of it is anything but plain sewing, although it is marked by a certain simplicity of cut and finish. On the other hand, it is admirably fitted for summer making. Much of it must be done by hand, and, as it is made to launder, it cannot be harmed by working on it out of doors, and carrying it from the lawn to the veranda and back again half a dozen times a day in search of a breeze and shade.

Of course, all lingerie is made to launder; yet there is a strange disregard for the peace of the laundress in some of the new garments. Many nightgowns and chemises are laid in pleats, below a shallow yoke, and the pleats are simply pressed in place. After their first laundering these pleats must needs iron out of place; doubtless they would look as satisfactory ironed as gathers as do the pleats of crepe de chine and yawn frills in the front of some of the summer's blouses after they are first ironed.

Net and Colors.

Yellow, by the by, is a popular color with the makers of lingerie this summer; and it is a welcome change from the interminable succession of blue and pink which we have seen for years. Doubtless the reason for the popularity of these two colors in lingerie, is that wash ribbon is made in those colors more satisfactorily than in any others. Lavender, too, of late years, is a color which wash ribbon makers have utilized successfully, and this color is sometime used in lingerie. But now thin satin ribbon, which really washes and irons very satisfactorily, is used quite as often as real wash ribbon. Hence the possibility of using yellow. Green may follow speedily.

Net and colored lawn are combined most attractively in many of the new articles of lingerie. Ruffles are made with insertions of net, and they are edged with narrow pleated frills of colored lawn—with a most charming result of lightness and fluffiness at really little labor.

Embroidery and Lace.

Wide lace is used to edge the bottom of nightgowns. It is slightly fulled and then whipped on by hand. Sometimes the addition of tucks running roundabout and insertion banding and designs convert what used to be the modest nightgown hem into a rich and ornate thing.

Hand embroidery is still used on lingerie; it will always be used there, of course. But some of the newest, smartest lingerie shows little of it. This fancy is passing merely, but it has produced lingerie of almost plain simplicity. Some of the new nightgowns are banded about the low neck with lace and ribbon, and are made with a perfectly plain yoke, marked off from the body of the nightgown by another band of lace.

FASHION HINT

By JUDIC CHOLLET

There seems to be no limit to the variations of the new two piece skirt. Here is one with the newest fullness at the sides and a buttoned slit that can be left open if desired. This model gives the fashionable silhouette, and the side seams can be closed for their entire length or left open a way, as liked. The gathered back is a feature.

In the picture, however, white charmeuse is trimmed with small buttons,

Some Cookery Suggestions

VACATION CANDY.

For vacation treats a plain home-made fudge is a candy easy to make and not likely to have the harmful effects of rich candies purchased in many shops.

Fudges are easy to make. Indeed, the older children can be taught how to prepare them and as a special reward be allowed to make their own candies.

Fudges differ in name, but the method of making them all is about the same.

Fudges Everybody Likes.

Chocolate Fudge.—Take two pieces of chocolate, melt and add to it one-half cupful of cream, two cupfuls of granulated sugar, one-half cupful of New Orleans molasses and a lump of butter the size of an egg. Put the ingredients into a saucepan, stir them constantly and let them boil four minutes from the time they commence to boil hard. Test in cold water. Remove from the fire when the mixture forms a soft ball in water. Add one teaspoonful of vanilla; then beat till heavy and smooth. Pour in buttered pans and spread to one-half inch thickness. Cut in squares.

Cocoanut Fudge.—Take two cupfuls of granulated sugar, two-thirds of a cupful of milk, butter the size of a walnut, one cupful of shredded cocoanut and one teaspoonful of lemon extract. Proceed as for chocolate fudge.

A Brown and White Effect.

Layer Fudge.—Use a square bread pan for this. Make chocolate fudge, pour in and let it harden; then add a layer of cocoanut. Make this quite thick, cut in large squares and wrap in oiled paper.

Chocolate Nut Fudge. — Make this like chocolate fudge, adding one cupful of chopped nut meats when adding vanilla. English walnuts and almonds or hickory nuts and peanuts are nice for this.

Toothsome Sweetmeats.

Marshmallow Fudge. — Place in a saucepan two cupfuls of sugar, one-half cupful of milk and one tablespoonful of butter and two ounces of grated chocolate. Boil until it forms a soft ball when tested in cold water. Remove from the fire and add one teaspoonful of vanilla and a cupful of marshmallows chopped. Beat until it begins to stiffen, then pour into buttered tins, and when cool cut into squares.

Daddy's Bedtime Story— A Funny Place For a Bat to Take a Nap.

Bats Catch Mice.

DADDY rolled his chair to the window and looked out.

"There!" cried Jack. "What was that flying past the window?"

"It must have been a bird," said Evelyn.

"Birds, except owls, don't fly at night," Jack objected.

"That," daddy put in, "was a bat. Mr. or Mrs. Bat, as it may have been, is out looking for breakfast."

"For breakfast?" the children exclaimed.

"Yes; the bat family get up as we go to bed. They stay at home until it begins to get dark. This is not altogether because they cannot see very well, but because the food they seek is then more easily found.

"If you will watch a bat as it darts along at twilight you will notice that now and then it pounces on some flying insect.

"Bats are not birds, though they do fly about. They are really winged animals. During the day they hide in hollow trees or in dark corners of barns and outhouses. They are fine mousers and for that reason are useful to us, for they are on duty even when pussy is asleep. They have wonderfully keen hearing and it is a smart mouse that can get away from a bat.

"I am afraid bats are not very clever. I have met at least one bat that did not seem to know its friends. It happened that I went to visit at an old country house one summer. The family with which I stopped had a little boy who was very fond of animals.

"During my stay we had some cold weather. There was a fireplace in my room, but it was closed with an old fashioned fireboard.

"My hostess' little boy told me that even in winter the room was seldom used. He came in to take down the fireboard, clean out the grate and build a fire in it for me. As he took out the board there was a great squeaking and fluttering, and something gray fluttered to the ground.

"Why, there's a bat! It must have been staying in our chimney!" cried the little boy. Bats sometimes do.

"My little friend tried to pick up the bat, but it showed its teeth (yes; bats have sharp little teeth) and was so cross that we had to catch it by dropping a cloth over its head and picking up cloth and bat together.

"Then we carried it out to a big lilac bush in the yard and placed it among the bushes. Soon it crawled out of the cloth.

"The bat sat there blinking until twilight. The little boy says he saw it fly away. No doubt it went off to tell the bats it knew how rudely we had disturbed its midday nap and then put it out of its house."

Woman's World

Mrs. James Speyer to Help Fight Cancer.

MRS. JAMES SPEYER.

A number of prominent women are active in the campaign that is being organized to make a national fight against that dread disease, cancer. Experts claim that, while tuberculosis is decreasing, cancer is increasing.

At a recent meeting in New York prominent men and women discussed ways and means of carrying on the work.

It is hoped to establish headquarters and carry on the work through an organization as in the case of the National Association For the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis.

The campaign of education by the new organization will include the publication of articles in newspapers and magazines, distribution of pamphlets and seeking of co-operation by women's clubs, special instruction in nurses' training schools and lectures before mothers' clubs and groups of nurses and physicians.

Among the prominent women who have taken up this work is Mrs. James Speyer, wife of the New York banker. She has long been noted for her splendid humanitarianism and for her intelligent and enthusiastic work in behalf of those reforms in which she is interested. Mrs. Speyer is perhaps the most distinguished woman advocate of a more enlightened and humane attitude in our treatment of dumb animals.

Mrs. Speyer is said to have a wonderful head for figures. At least so one might judge from the fact that she always has accurate statistics at her tongue's end about any one of the different organizations in which she is interested and that she is treasurer of St. Mary's Free Hospital For Children, of the Girls' Athletic league, of the Women's Auxiliary of the Saturday and Sunday Hospital association and has been treasurer for twenty-nine years of the Irene club, an organization of working girls established in New York by Miss Grace Dodge, which has become the mother club of innumerable working girls' "friendly associations," settlement classes and claims to be part sponsor of the Manhattan Trade school.

Mrs. Speyer's personality bespeaks intense activity. She is of slight, wiry build, has quick, sharp eyes and a very mobile face, with which she enlivens her conversation.

Among others actively interested in the proposed anti-cancer campaign are Mrs. Russell Sage, Mrs. Frederick W. Vanderbilt, Mrs. H. Winthrop Gray, Mrs. Robert W. De Forest, Mrs. F. F. Thompson, Miss Laura Post, Mrs. Robert G. Mead, Mrs. E. R. Hewitt, president of the Women's Municipal league; Mrs. Robert C. Black, Mrs. George C. Clark and Mrs. V. Everit Macy.

PLAY GARMENTS.

Sensible Hat and Frock For Child.

CHILD'S GINGHAM DRESS.

The play frock illustrated here is a substantial affair of plaid gingham with buttons down the front under a wide leather belt. The deep collar and shield of embroidery simulate a boy's sailor collar. The hat with its neat band and bow shades the face very sensibly.

Hats of all descriptions, from the simple sailor to the fancy straws trimmed with flowers and feathers, are being shown for little folks. The most desirable are the tailored hats, like the one shown here, trimmed with a small bow of choux of ribbon. For very young children many of the hats are faced in lace, chiffon or soft silk, which is considered very becoming.

Oil the Machine.

Sewing machines should be treated with great care if you would have them last a long while and do perfect work. After every two days of steady work oil the machinery thoroughly, but be careful to wipe away all superfluous oil. Run the machine rapidly but steadily without any thread for five minutes after oiling. This will cause the oil to scatter, and the superfluous drops can be wiped away, and none will be left to stain the material you are working with.

Philosophy of Life.

Determine once for all that you are never going to pity yourself. You are to take things as they come. You will not whine because you have no chance, but will make the best of whatever happens. You will adjust yourself to events and not complain because you cannot have things as you would like them.

Decide that you will be uniformly cheerful. You will put away all sulking, gloom and morbidness as being poison. You will steadily cultivate brightness and cheer as a habit, says Dr. Frank Crane in Woman's World. You can do this. What happens to you has nothing to do with the case. It all depends upon you.

Resolve to cultivate courage. Say to yourself that you will not be afraid, whatever comes along. The coward never did amount to anything. It is by being afraid that people become low, vile weaklings. All goodness is a form of moral courage.

Resolve also to be honest with yourself and with the world, that you will never seek to have any merit you do not possess nor take any money you have not earned nor desire praise when you do not deserve it.

To Bleach Faded Frocks.

The colored frock or blouse that has become faded with frequent launderings and from wear in the sun may be bleached to a clear white by boiling in cream of tartar water. The correct quantity to be used to make the garment a pure white is a teaspoonful of the powder to a quart of water.

SHUN FRAYED COLLARS.

They Are Apt to Irritate the Neck and Cause Carbuncles.

The back of the neck is the commonest place for a carbuncle to appear. It is a most sensitive spot, not so much on the surface of the skin as in the underlying tissues, wherein are great nerves that communicate very closely with the brain. And it is in these tissues that the carbuncle spreads its "roots."

A carbuncle is a breaking down of the tissue caused by the germs called streptococcus and staphylococcus. These are the principal but by no means the only pus producing germs. They eat and break down the tissues. The white corpuscles of the blood rush to the spot and try to devour the attacking bacteria. Millions of them perish in the attempt, and pus is really a mixture of dead white corpuscles and germs that are exuding virulent poisons.

Carbuncles select the back of the neck so often because of the irritation caused by the collar if this be slightly frayed or roughened by careless laundering. The back of the neck is almost as much exposed to dirt as are the backs of the hands and needs washing almost as often. The rubbing of the collar scrapes off the scaly surface of the skin, which is its protection against germs of disease. This being gone, the germs enter unopposed.

A collar button pressing constantly on the one spot may produce the same effect.

And in a few days you are going around with a bandage on your neck and suffering awful torture. Fortunately the doctors have discovered an antitoxin that quickly cures carbuncles. Yet even when this is administered the patient is doomed to much pain.

The moral of all this is: Don't wear a collar that is the least bit frayed.—New York World.

HER SCHEME FAILED.

Plight of a Singer Who Yearned to Captivate Ludwig II.

King Ludwig II. of Bavaria had a wonderful winter garden at Munich, which was built on the roof of the residenz. There was also an artificial lake with a painted panoramic background of the Himalaya mountains, and when the king sat in the garden a "property" moon shed its gaseous light above the snow capped peaks.

The king used often to command artists from the theater to perform in the winter gardens, and I remember the fate which befell Josephina Scheisky, a large, tall woman, whose one wish in life was to attract Ludwig's notice. As all singers sang hidden behind screens, Josephina's chances of meeting the king face to face were exceedingly small. But what woman is ever at a loss for an expedient? She knew how chivalrously romantic Ludwig could be on occasions, so she decided she would fall into the lake and entreat him to rescue her.

The eventful evening arrived. Josephina warbled her sweetest for the benefit of the listening monarch and when the song was over plunged heavily into the lake.

There was a tremendous noise, and the water splashed to the topmost summit of the "Himalayas," but the lady remained chin deep in the lake, whose still waters were not so deep as they looked. "Save me, save me, Lohengrin!" cried the agitated singer.

The king rang the bell. "Get that woman out of the lake and send her home," he commanded, and the dripping Josephina, sadder and wiser, walked out of the water and out of the residenz forever.—Countess Marie Larisch.

A Letter For Schiller.

Schiller once received a letter which took five years to reach him. In 1793 the national convention created the author of "The Robbers" a French citizen as a tribute of admiration for the revolutionary ideas expressed in that work. The clerk charged with the dispatch of this civic diploma addressed the cover to "Citoyen Gille," and Schiller did not receive it until 1798. On its receipt he wrote: "This document has come to me from the kingdom of the dead. Danton and Clavière attested it. The covering letter is signed by Roland. All three have passed away."—London Chronicle.

Defining the Oyster.

"Now," asked the teacher, "who can tell me what an oyster is?"

Silence for a moment, while small brows were knit in strained effort at remembrance. Then little Tommy's facial muscles relaxed, and eagerly he raised his hand.

"I know!" he triumphantly announced. "An oyster is a fish built like a nut."—Everybody's.

She Smacked of Books.

"They tell me you kissed Miss Sonnet, the poetess, on yesterday's automobile excursion."

"Yes. That is true."

"Indeed! And how did you—ah—find her?"

"Miss Sonnet has a marked literary taste."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

No Exaggeration.

"You told me you were worth a million, and I find that you have only a paltry $10,000," said Blathers' partner.

"Well $10,000 is 1,000,000 cents," said Blathers.—Harper's Weekly.

Commercial Valuation.

"Politeness costs nothing."

"Yes," replied the gentleman of the old school. "Perhaps that's why people have so little respect for it."—Washington Star.

HIS QUEER SENSE OF HUMOR.

It Found Relief In Practical Jokes Upon the Clergy.

Some thirty odd years ago a young man came to New York from England (I have forgotten his name), and for a year or so he posed as a very ardent churchman. He had a mania which seemed to be the making of trouble for other people, with no particular object except that and certainly with no advantage to himself, as he very naturally remained "incog."

As illustrative, he would send out a hundred or more postal cards addressed to as many different plumbers in New York, asking them to call on a certain day, at a given hour, at the residence of the Rev. Dr. Morgan Dix, rector of Trinity church. Another time it would be an army of bakers, and so on. On one ocasion he sent invitations to a dozen of the clergy to dine with Dr. Dix on a given date. Imagine the good doctor's consternation when his unexpected guests arrived!

One of his bits of "funny" work, in which he used the name of the late Bishop Jaggar, was as follows: Dr. Cornelius B. Swope was the vicar of Trinity chapel, in Twenty-fifth street, at the time, and Dr. Horatio Potter the bishop of New York. Dr. Dix had become so exasperated as hardly to know what to do, and one day he went to consult Dr. Swope and to ask his advice as to what could be done, taking with him one of the cards that he had received. On looking at it Dr. Swope said:

"I recognize that handwriting because I received a card some time ago in the same hand, which I have kept as a curiosity."

This was the card:

Cincinnati, Ohio.

Dear Cornel—It is rumored out here that you would like to be a bishop. If this is true please let me know at once. I have great influence with Morg. Dix and will see old Potter about it, so—

If you would like to be a bishop
And with the bishops stand,
A miter on your forehead
And a crozier in your hand,

please write me immediately. Faithfully yours,

THOMAS JAGGAR,
Bishop of Southern Ohio.

New York became rather too "hot" for our friend shortly after that, as the police got on his track, and he disappeared. He turned up later at his old tricks in Pittsburgh, I think, where he was exposed, and I don't remember what became of him.—Rev. Dr. W. W. Holley in Living Church.

Books From Unexpected Places.

Not only art, but literature, has been produced in unexpected places. There was, for instance, Robert Bloomfield, who produced his "Farmer's Boy" while working so hard as a shoemaker (in a garret with five or six others) that he frequently had to carry a hundred lines in his head through lack of leisure to write them down. James Hogg, too, "the Ettrick Shepherd," wrote his earliest verses while tending his sheep in the Perthshire highlands. And Taylor, "the Water Poet," combined the very different offices of literary man and Thames waterman.—London Chronicle.

The Third Hand.

How often the little things in life make impressions that linger in our memories long after the larger events are forgotten! Several years ago I was making a visit in a family where there were several daughters. One of the girls brought a hat into the sewing room one morning and prepared to trim it. Before doing anything else she took a hatpin and pinned the hat firmly to her skirts at the knees, so that she had both hands free and held the ribbon and flowers in place with her left hand while she sewed them with her right.—Philadelphia North American.

It's Easy to Learn.

Alexander Graham Bell, the inventor of the telephone, hit on his marvelous discovery while studying and while teaching the deaf.

Professor Bell once said, apropos of this fact:

"Yes, we can learn valuable secrets from the most unlikely sources. A Persian poet, famed for his wisdom, was once asked by his king where he had learned his philosophy.

"'From the blind, sire,' the poet replied—'from the blind, who never advance a step until they have tried the ground.'"—New York Tribune.

Diamonds and Glass.

The diamond, instead of being a real solid, is a mass of atoms all in rapid and violent motion. The edge of the stone is formed of these moving molecules as well as the body. Now, glass is also made up of moving atoms, though they do not move so rapidly or so violently as the diamond atoms. When the diamond edge, therefore, is applied to the glass surface the diamond atoms drive the glass atoms out of the way and force a passage.

Merely a Microbe.

"Do you believe that love is due to a microbe?"

"I know it is."

"How do you know?"

"One calls on my daughter four times a week, and she is beginning to fall in love."—Houston Post.

Partially Successful.

"Didn't I hear you fire something at that yowling cat early this morning?"

"Yes; I threw the confounded alarm clock at it."

"Hit the beast?"

"No, but I got rid of the alarm clock."—Boston Transcript.

Radiates 20 Per Cent More Heat

Get in mind the fact that outside measurement of a square firepot is greater than that of a round, one the same distance across, and you make plain the great advantage in Square Pot Furnaces.

They radiate more heat because they have more radiating surface.

This increased radiation makes possible efficient heating on a minimum of fuel and establishes Square Pot Furnaces as economical heaters for homes, schools, churches and halls.

We have dealers everywhere. See the one nearest you for a complete demonstration.

—Every day is "Election Day" with the shoppers of this city. Every day some store receives a vote of confidence, presaging continued support, from the housewives. The store whose ads present the widest variety of opportunity news is "elected," always. For such a store brings ACTUAL RELIEF to the people from the oppression of high prices—not, as is often true in politics, mere promises of relief!

Queries, Comment and Answers

Sporting Editor:

Query—A bets that it is impossible for a shortstop to make any number of assists during the course of a nine-inning game. B bets that he can make no more than twenty-seven. Who wins? C. B.

Answer—In a nine inning game there are twenty-seven putouts and as a shortstop could not figure in more than one assist for each putout he could not make more than twenty-seven assists. Any number of assists can be made by the team as a whole, however, during rounds of play. A shortstop would be having some big day if he even approacheed that number.

Sporting Editor:

Query—How much money was spent last year by the government for pensions? How many people shared in the same? M. U. D.

Answer—In 1912 the government paid out a total of $152,986,433.72 in pensions in which 860,294 persons shared.

Sporting Editor:

Query—When does the "Mermaid" start running through here to Asbury Park? F. P. L.

Answer—It doesn't, it has already. The "Mermaid" started its summer trips on June 30, and leaves here every afternoon at 2.11 o'clock.

Sporting Editor:

Query—A says that the meet held on Parker Field on July 4 was run by the Y. M. C. A. B says it was not. Who is correct? F. T.

Answer—B wins. The Y. M. C. A. had nothing to do with the meet in question, it was run by the playground commission.

Sporting Editor:

Query—If a jack-rabbit can jump three feet in one jump, how long will it take an elephant to run a mile if he walks? E. U. L.

Answer—If you would spend more time practicing on the typewriter you'd get along much better in life.

Sporting Editor:

Query—With the score tied in the ninth and a runner on first-base, the batter hits the ball over the fence. Is the batter entitled to a home run? C. B. N.

Answer—The batter is entitled to a three-base hit because the runner on first traveled three bases to score and the game ended there.

Sporting Editor:

Query—Who won the Olympic marathon race in 1896? Who is considered the best amateur marathon runner? C. N. L.

Answer—Louse, of Greece, won the Olympic marathon at Athens in 1896. Gaston Strobino, Mike Ryan Louis Tewanima, Andrew Sockalexis, Louis Store, Harry Jensen, Harry Smith and John Gallagher are considered about the best in the country.

Sporting Editor:

Query—With a runner on first base, batter hits to first baseman who touches first base and throws to second for a force out. Does second baseman have to tag the runner or touch the bag? S. B.

Answer—The second baseman can retire the runner either by touching second or tagging him.

Sporting Editor:

Query—How can I join the Municipal Orchestra in this city? A. S.

Answer—Hand your name in to Sam Rothberg at his store on West Front street, he will fix you up all right.

Sporting Editor:

Query—What time does dress parade begin at West Point and what time is it over? Is there time after the parade to catch a boat to New York? Is there any charge to see the drill? I. T.

Answer—It will not be possible for you to see a dress parade at West Point until after the cadets come in from summer encampment. Parade though, is held at 6 o'clock during the summer. The camp was established last Friday.

Sporting Editor:

Query—Who won the Ritz cup in the three-mile run held in connection with the first annual Y. M. C. A athletic meet on July 4, 1911? A. R.

Answer — Westervelt Ashmea won the event in question.

BASEBALL NOTES

The Buffalo team is first in club fielding and last in club batting in the International League.

Twenty-two players in the National League and nineteen in the American League are batting for .300 or better.

First Baseman Bradley, the former Red Sox performer is holding down the initial sack for Joe Kelley's Toronto team.

It is said that the Wheeling team, of the Interstate League, is to be transferred to Newark, Ohio, in the near future.

Perry Lipe's Savannah team finished first with a percentage of .754 for the first half of the South Atlantic League season.

McQuillan, of Columbus, Cutting of Milwaukee and Morgan, of Kansas City, top the list of winning pitchers in the American association.

Catcher Ray Schalk, of the White Sox, was chased from the field by an umpire the other day, for the first time in his career in the big league.

McCormick, of the Giants is one of the greatest pinch-hitters in the business, but when placed in the game as a regular he seems to lose his batting eye.

The Carolina League race is so hot that the newspapers printing the league standing are likely to catch fire. Five of the six teams are hovering around the .500 mark.

The Milwaukee team of the Wisconsin-Illinois League, known as the Mollys, has been transferred to Fond du Lac. As Milwaukee has an American association team the fans of the "famous city" couldn't see the Mollys.

Shortstop "Rabbit" Maranville, of the Boston Braves, continues to shine as one of the bright stars of the season. The "Rabbit" has so much pepper in his system that he is forced to play all over the infield and two-thirds of the outfield.

WITH THE BOXERS

One-round Davis and Barney Williams are to clash in Buffalo on July 15.

Al Palzer has accepted an offer to box George Carpentier, the French champion, in Paris next fall.

Under the Kiley law Montana receives 10 per cent of the receipts of all boxing shows that are pulled off in the State.

Con O'Kelly, a protege of Tommy Ryan, defeated Gus Marthuin a French heavyweight, at Plymouth, England, a short time ago.

Jim Coffey, the Irish heavyweight who did considerable boxing in New York and Philadelphia has returned to his home in Roscommon, Ireland.

PARKER FIELD OPEN SUNDAY.

For the benefit of those wishing to spend Sunday afternoon out of doors in a shady spot, Parker Field, Plainfield's leading recreation center, will be open to the public on and after next Sunday afternoon. To make the place more attractive several new swings have been added to the equipment on the easterly side and a band will be present all Sunday afternoon to render sacred music.

MOTORISTS ARRESTED.

At the end of the five-mile paced race at the Stadium Motordrome in Newark last night Capt. Vogel of the Fourth Precinct arrested Frederick Hill and Eddie Root, professional bicycle riders, who had been following the pace of Fred West and Johnnie King, professional motor cyclists. The police said the race was run in violation of the law, but the track officials are willing to make a test of the law.

STIRES ELECTED MANAGER.

Frank Stires formerly of the Public Service baseball team in the Manufacturers' League, was elected to serve as manager of the West End A. C. for the remainder of the season at a special meting of that organization held Monday night. The West End team is a member of the City League and Stires will have charge of that aggregation.

DEFEATED BOXER ILL.

Bud Anderson, the Oregon lightweight boxer who was defeated by Leach Cross at Vernon on July 4, is in a serious condition in a Santa Monica hospital. The beating he received is believed to have affected his kidneys. Dr. Byron Palmer, the attending physician, said yesterday that "Anderson was a very sick man."

WEST END PRACTICE.

The West End A. C. baseball team of the City League will hold a practice on the Saurer field tomorrow night at 6.30 o'clock. All players are requested to be on hand at that time.

FIGHTS FOR TONIGHT.

Jimmy Duffy vs. Joe Shugrue, 10 rounds, at Buffalo.

Carl Morris vs. Marty Cutler, 10 rounds, at Clovis, N. M.

YALE'S NEW FIELD BEST IN COUNTRY

Unique Arrangement of Greatest of University Football Gridirons.

When Yale's new athletic stadium, built like a half-submerged bowl, is completed the Elis will have probably the best football field of any university in the United States. The present calculations are that the field will have seating accommodations for 61,000 spectators, which is 21,000 more than the Harvard Stadium will hold.

In genral appearance the new Yale field and bowl will be totally unlike that of any other university. In its construction Yale is taking advantage of the low ground. Instead of being built above ground, the Yale Stadium, which will be elliptical in form, it is to be sunk into the ground nearly thirty feet so that the top of the stand will project above the surface of the earth only about twenty-five feet. Thus more than half of the Yale bowl will be beneath the surface of the earth. The Yale authorities decided that such a field could be built more economically than by filling in the ground. This "bowl" as Yale men are already calling it, will present an odd appearance. Entrance to it will be from the top which in itself will be a convenience. It is also to be so constructed that when entirely full of spectators it can be empited in seven minutes.

MANAGER ALBERTS AFTER CHINESE FOR OPPONENTS

Manager Joe Alberts, of the Scotch Plains baseball team, is negotiating with the management of the Chinese baseball nine now touring the United States for a game at Scotch Plains next Sunday afternoon. The yellow skins are in much demand throughout the country and although Albert has offered all kinds of inducements in the hope of landing this stellar attraction he has not as yet been entirely successful.

Should the "Chinks" appear at the Plains it is safe to say that one of the largest crowds that ever attended a ball game in this vicinity would go out to the wild and woolly plains to get a peep at the men who made the flatiron famous. Some good ball players have been developed among this nation during the past few years since America's National Pastime was introduced into China, and the Chinese will no doubt make the Plains crew hustle to win.

NEW AUTOMOBILE ROUTE BOOK.

The Penn-Jersey automobile red book has just made its appearance and has been revised and enlarged up-to-date, containing new maps of Pennsylvannia and New Jersey (13x21 inches in size) also maps of Delaware and fifty miles around Philadelphia. Routes are described and outlined covering all of the principal cities and towns in the above states as well as to New York, Baltimore, Washington, Boston, the White Mountains and Atlanta, Ga. The Red Book is fully indexed as to routes etc. and can be secured from W. Nuevillar Company, 711 Walnut street, Philadelphia, Pa.

FORWARD DECK OF THE MINAS GERAES

DR. LAURO MULLER

CUP PRESENTED TO ENVOY BY AMERICAN MANUFACTURERS' EXPORT ASSOCIATION

A splendid reception was accorded in New York to Dr. Lauro Muller, Brazilian Minister of Foreign Affairs, who is in this country as the special ambassador of the South American Republic to repay the visit made to that country in 1906 by Elihu Root, then Secretary of State. On behalf of the President, Dudley Field Malone, Third Assistant Secretary of State, paid a high tribute to the personal qualities of Dr. Muller, and emphasized the hope of the administration that the envoy's tour of the country will be productive of closer bonds between the two republics. While in New York Dr. Muller was presented with a large gold loving cup by members of the American Manufacturers' Export Association.

During the envoy's stay in New York the battle ship Minas Geraes, greatest of the Brazilian dreadnought fleet came into port. The big vessel experienced very rough weather during her passage. Mute evidence of her stormy passage was observed in the mangled mass of iron work which hung from her starboard side. The platform to which torpedo netting equipment is affixed had been ripped and torn, but otherwise the immense fighting craft is shipshape.

TRY DEVLIN FOR OFFICER'S DEATH

Actor Accused of Shooting Policeman on Trial.

HEARING IN HACKENSACK

Jury Box Filled in Less Than Hour, and After Prosecutor Wright Made Opening Address First Witness Was Called—Was Jealous of Officer.

Hackensack, N. J., July 9.—James S Devlin, the vaudeville actor who, it is charged, on May 25 at Cliffside, shot and killed Patrick Considine, a policeman of that borough, was placed on trial in the supreme court before Justice Parker.

The jury box was filled in less than an hour, and after Prosecutor Wright made his opening address the first witness was called.

Devlin, whose wife is known on the stage as Mae Linwood, was jealous of Considine, who it had been claimed was overattentive to Mrs. Devlin. Considine did not live with his wife On the night he was shot, he and Mrs Devlin had drinks together at a hotel

When they reached Devlin's home, it is alleged, Devlin declared if he had a gun he would shoot Cousidine. The latter replied:

"If that's how you feel about it, take mine and shoot me."

It is claimed by the state that Devlin took the gun and used it. Considine died two days later in the Hackensack hospital.

It is doubted by many if it will be possible to convict Devlin. The defense will not allow Mrs. Devlin to be called to the stand. Mrs. Annie Devlin, cousin of the accused, did not hear the conversation and was not present when the shot was fired.

Prosecutor Wright will have to rely upon the statement made by Considine to Chief of Police Fox that Devlin shot him and of the events which preceded the affair.

RELEASE TEN TONS OF EGGS.

Product Had Been Held in Cold Storage Three Years.

Trenton, N. J., July 8.—The state board of health upon the recommendation of Dr. R. B. Fitz Randolph, chief of the New Jersey division of pure foods, will release ten tons of frozen eggs broken and prepared for baking into cakes by the Waldorf Cake company of New York and which have been held in cold storage since 1910. The health board has decided that the eggs do not come within the prohibition of the pure food laws of the government or the state.

This decision was practically forced by the H. J. Keith company of Boston, to whom the eggs were consigned. The United States supreme court decided that the eggs were fit for human consumption and ordered their release. The state government contended that the eggs were not fit for human food.

BOY AND DOG IN RESCUE.

Help Exhausted Philadelphian Caught In Cross Currents.

Atlantic City, N. J., July 9.—Dorie Leslie, seventeen years old, and his dog Spud, a big St. Bernard, rescued Alfred Meyers off New Hampshire avenue. Meyers is a Philadelphia cottager living on Oriental avenue. He was taking a plunge before breakfast and started to enjoy an "outer" before going back to catch the train for the city. In his keenness for "coasts" over the combers he forgot about the cross currents that sweep around the three jetties putting out from the beach.

When he was swimming back to the beach he found he was "all in" and yelled for help. The boy and his dog were playing on the beach a square away, but went to his assistance and after a hard struggle accomplished the rescue.

DIES RUNNING TO FATHER.

Boy Suffers Heart Attack Hastening to Greet Parent.

Camden, N. J., July 9.—While running to meet his father, who was just returning from work, Robert A. Jadvoll, fourteen years old, 109 Station avenue, Haddon Heights, N. J., dropped dead of heart disease.

The boy's father works by night, and it has been his custom to meet his son every morning about a block from his home. The boy ran to meet his father and dropped dead a few yards from him. Coroner Saunders of Camden said death was due to a weak heart.

Promoter Killed by Train.

Rahway, N. J., July 9.—J. W. Wise, a civil engineer and promoter in Cuba and a resident of this city, was struck by a train at the Hilton avenue crossing and instantly killed. Mr. Wise had an office in New York city.

OUR FIRST CLEARANCE SALE

WE INAUGURATE SATURDAY, JULY 12TH, ONE OF THE GREATEST STOCK REDUCING AND PRICE CUTTING EVENTS EVER HELD IN PLAINFIELD—DON'T FAIL TO ATTEND.

The price axe has dropped, having in its course a stupendous array of shattered cut and chipped off costs on all lines of Summer Goods.

EVERYTHING MUST GO.

IT IS CLEARANCE TIME THROUGHOUT THE STORE.

Not a few bargains here and there, but a huge, comprehensive price reduction affecting all departments.

It is our determination to clean our counters and shelves, disregarding cost and profits.

This is an opportunity to practice common sense, frugality—to buy liberally, yet economically.

One of our circulars giving full details of this sale will be left at your door. If you fail to receive one call at the store and we gladly will hand you one.

Be sure you get one of our circulars.

FOUR LOCAL CENTERS

Recreation Work Now Carried on by Six Supervisors—Great Variety of Amusement Offered at Each Yard—Three Directresses Re-engaged.

A daily average of 700 juvenile recreation seekers has been recorded at the four local playground centers now the scene of their summer activities and have proven more popular this season that at any time during their three years of existence. So great has been the demand for recreation work locally that two assistants were engaged this year, making a total of six supervisors in charge of the work at four playgrounds which are located in the Franklin, Irving, St. Mary's and Bryant schools yards. All of last year's equipment has been set up again for the work this summer and the grounds have been thronged with children ranging in age from five to fourteen years every afternoon.

Because of its location and facilities for a wider diversion of work, the Irving school yard has been the most largely attended, as many as 250 children having been registered there in one afternoon. Miss Louise French, who had charge of the same playground last year, is once more the supervisor at that rendezvous, and has for her assistant, Miss Ruth Wean, a Plainfield High School graduate. Both Miss Wean and Miss French have a great many children to supply entertainment for individually and many new kinds of recreative out-of-door games have been introduced, among them being the National game of baseball which has proven one of the most popular diversions. The game is played on a miniature diamond in the north side of the school yard and indoor baseballs are used to eliminate any possible danger by the passerby.

Miss Frances Betz succeeds Miss Ethel Sherwood as directress at the Franklin School yard and she is being assisted by Miss Emma Ryno, a North Plainfield Hight School girl, who is making a study of playground work. Yesterday afternoon 200 children enjoyed the games and other forms of entertainment supplied for them at the Franklin grounds and an average very close to the double century mark has been maintained since the opening of the center.

Miss Harriet Moe, who has been connected with the local playground work since it was started three years ago, has been catering to as many as 150 children in the Bryant School grounds and besides the playing of games and dancing, she has introduced sewing and sand modeling classes that have proven unusually popular. Last year some of the best playground work was done at this east end center and this year's indications point to a surpassing of former efforts.

St. Mary's School yard, in charge of Miss Lorretta Hayes, another member of last year's corps, has had an average registration of 100 and considering the location of the grounds this is considered remarkable. The St Mary's and Franklin playgrounds are located so close together, in the center of the city, that children from both sections are rated as transients, first attending one and then another.

DUNELLEN MAN PAROLED FROM LONG JAIL TERM

Theodore Gallagher, the aged Dunellen man who was sentenced to fifteen years for assaulting a girl under 16 years of age in an old factory in Dunellen where he was watchman in 1912, was paroled yesterday afternoon from the jail in New Brunswick where he had been confined since June 10, 1912. Infirmities of age was given as the reason for letting the man go free once more and upon the advice of the county physician the court took immediate action on Gallagher's case.

The assault created a great deal of excitement in and about Dunellen at the time it was committed and the prisoner was almost lynched by an angry mob of citizens when being transferred to New Brunswick where he was tried. He had been a lifelong resident of the place and was well known to nearly everyone in the place. The girl at that time resided in Dunellen but has since removed with her parents to Newark. During the last few months Gallagher has been declining in health rapidly and was in such a condition that further confinement would have probably proven fatal to him.

LOCAL ASSOCIATION INSTALLS AT DINNER

Y. M. H. A. Officers Responded to Speeches Following a Banquet Last Night.

Members of the Young Men's Hebrew Association, of this city, held their annual banquet and installation of officers in the association's headquarters, last highgt, seventy-five young people attending the affair which proved to be a thoroughly enjoyable one from every point of view. A. H. Richard acted as toastmaster at the banquet and his unique and original introductions furnished much amusement for the diners. During the course of the banquet and after it was over the guests were entertained with a program of music in which Professor Kogen's orchestra took a prominent part.

All of the incoming officers responded to toasts ond in short after diner speeches each urged to the cooperation of the members with the various departments of work being carried on by the organiaztion and expressed a wish that the ensuing year would be an even more profitable one than the one just closed which was crowned with the greatest of success. The association has an original song of its own and the affair closed with the rendition of this by the members present. The officers are President, Harry Seal; vice-pesident, Samuel Meyers; secretary, Louis Rothberg, and treasurer, Herman Shrager.

LOCAL HORSE WOMAN ON ENGLISH STAGE

Miss Adele Von Ohl Left for Europe This Morning with Trained Horses.

Mrs. J. L. Parker, of Central avenue, known as Miss Adele von Ohl, a darling horse woman, left this morning for Europe with a number of American bred horses and a company of seven persons to perform her hair raising stunts on the other side of the water. Mrs. Parker was accompanied by her husband and they will be joined in a few weeks by her brother Percy von Ohl. The Plainfield horsewoman is also an accomplished artist and in her tour of Europe she intends to make a study of the work done by the greatest masters of the brush. While in Plainfield, staying on the picturesque estate of her grandmother, she has occupied a large portion of her time painting on canvas, the landscape views presented about the farm.

Her present company will appear in a sketch entitled "Cheyenne Days," and Mrs. Parker is the only woman member of the company, there being six men and four horses. These animals have been trained under Mrs. Parker's personal care and perform many wonderful stunts seldom taught to an animal of the equine species. One of the animals in particular has been trained to stand on its hind legs for three minutes, waltzing, walking backwards and tapping the stage with a fore foot at the same time. This horse weighs 1,100 pounds and was formerly a common carriage horse when Mrs. Parker took it in charge.

One of the kinds of training originated by the Plainfield woman is that of teaching a horse to do tricks on the stage and before an audience. She never uses a whip in her work and never tries to teach a horse a trick anywhere but on the stage and before an audience.

VIOLATED ORDINANCE.

Because of their failure to secure the necessary dog licenses, several residents of the borough were brought before Recorder Gano this morning to answer for violating an ordinance. They were George Sachs, of Harrison avenue, Walter Apgar, of Westervelt avenue, Jerry Casody, of Duer street, Albert Laper, of Grove street and Fred Bock, of Summit avenue. Upon their promises to secure licenses the court suspended sentences.

NINE Y. M. C. A. BOYS RETURNED FROM LAKE

Plainfielders Prominent in Camp's Activities During the Past Two Weeks.

Enthusiastic over their two weeks' stay at the Jersey Boy's Camp on Lake Wawayanda, nine young members of the Plainfield Y. M. C. A. returned to their homes in this city last night, tanned and in the best of health following the vacation they have spent in the open. All were brim full of tidings from the camp and say that the Plainfielders remaining there for another two weeks ae all having a fine time and except for a few cases of sunburn the camp doctor has had practically nothing to do. Those who returned were Holmes and Witter Clawson, Harold Condict, Robert Veysey, Godfrey Clay, Carlton Moore, Donald Henwood, William Morrell and Rufus Searles.

Robert Veysey was visited by his parents several times while at the camp as were also a couple of the other Plainfielders whose friends took advantage of visitor's day which was celebrated last Friday and inspected the camp site. Godfrey Clay won distinction at the camp by winning three first ribbons in the athletic meet for which he will receive a silver medal and several other local Y. M. C. A. athletes also won prizes on the field and track. Several of the Plainfielders caught some unusually large fish (according to their own tales) and others brought back unique sonvenirs of handicraft work taught in the wood working department at the camp.

Y. W. C. A. CONFERENCE DELEGATE TO RETURN

Local Representatives Expected Home From National Gathering Tomorrow.

Eight of the nine delegates from the local Y. W. C. A. who left last week to represent the Plainfield association at the Silver Bay conference held on Lake George, will return to their homes in this city tomorrow and the other member, Miss Eva Terry, has gone on to her home in New York State. During their trip the Plainfield delegates were guests of the National association together with over 400 Y. W. C. A. members from the New England States, New York New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Maryland.

Meetings and conferences were conducted by the Nation board during the session, which were of an instructive nature and gave the delegates a complete understanding of the work being carried on by asociations in different parts of the country at the present time. Many of the delegates were given their first opportunity to make a study of the Bible under competent teachers and groups of girl delegates went off on gypsy spreads and indulged in impromptu spreads which were prominent features of the conference work. A number of long tramps were taken by different groups about the picturesuqe shores of Lake George and in some cases over night trips were planned and carried. Camp fire gatherings around a huge fire were held nearly every night around which stories were told and Y. W. C. A. work outlined as it is being carried out in other towns.

Miss Faith Parmalee, Miss Gertrude Mair, Miss Edna Green, Miss Beatrice Gardner, Miss Adele Herrmann, Miss Reba Kline, Miss Isabelleley will return sometime tomorrow. leley will retun sometime tomorrow.

WIFE-BEATER ARRESTED.

Harry Cohen, of 451 Orchard place, was arrested by the local police this morning on a charge of beating his wife and neglecting to provide funds for their support. He was arrested on a non-support charge last year and when arraigned was placed under bonds of $500 to pay his wife $7 a week. He was remanded until tomorrow morning when he will be arraigned before Judge DeMeza on the charge.

SCOTT—HOLZHAUER.

Miss Anna Holzhauer, of Newark, and Arthur Scott, Jr., formerly of this city, but now of Newark, were married at the home of Rev. J. O. McKelvey, of Warren Chapel, at 7.15 o'clock last night. The wedding was a quiet one and witnessed only by Mrs. Harold Scott and Raymond Scott, relatives of the bridegroom.

FRANK R. PLUMMER.

Frank R. Plummer, aged forty-five years, died at his home 426 East Third street, this morning, after a short illness. He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Plummer, of this city. The interment will be made at Manson, North Carolina.

NOW WORKING ON UNION CO. BUDGET

Freeholders Propose to Set Aside About $25,000 for Widows' Pensions.

SOME OTHER FIGURES

$50,000 for Bonnie Burn Sanitorium for a Year—$20,000, Maybe, for Proposed Special Election on Small Board Referendum.

Elizabeth, July 10.—Preliminary work on the proposed budget for Union county was began at a meeting of the appropriation committee of the Union County Board of Freeholders held in the office of Nathan morning, and it is expected that the budget will be arranged before the third week in August when it will be turned over to the Board for consideration. Among the main items in the budget were $25,000 for widow's pensions and $50,000 for the tuberculosis work at Bonnie Burn. The appropriation for widows' pensions is made in accordance with the law recently passed providing for the pensioning of all pauper widows. State.

The other items that will have to be added to the list already formulated are not known as yet, but it is probable that $20,000 will be set aside for the calling of a special election during August for the selection of a Small Board of Freeholders. This election has not been definitely decided upon, however, and although it is permissable, it is more than likely that the election will be held off until the regular one in November and the $20,000 held until next year, there being no extra expense attached to the November election.

THEY WOULD HAVE A SPECIAL ELECTION

Ousted Small Board Members Refused Pay Seek for Another Referendum.

The dissatisfaction among the members of the small Board of Freeholders over the decision of the courts in ousting them from office, has resulted in a determination on their part to petition for a special election. This decision was practically reached this week and steps have already been taken to prepare the necessary petitions. Just when the election will be held will depend largely on the success of securing the required number of signers.

The Union County Board of Freeholders recently, upon the advice of County Attorney William R. Codington decided not to pay the members of the small board, excepting the cases of John P. Owens, who was elected county attorney and that of Dr. Dolan, elected county physician, and then their compensation is to be for services actually performed.

This decision has stirred the other members and within the past few days it was announced that suits would be started to recover money claimed to be due. It is expected that should such suits result favorably to the former freeholders, the present Board of Freeholders would take the matter up on appeal. It is understood that in the other counties where similar conditions exist, decisions have been given against the small board members and suits are expected there. It is estimated that a special election in Union county would entail an expense or about $15,000.

VAUDEVILLE PERFORMERS VISITING IN THIS CITY

Mr. and Mrs. William Watkins, of Brooklyn, well known in vaudeville circles as "Williams and Watkins," are spending the summer vacation at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Van-Nest, of East Fifth street. Mr. and Mrs. Watkins are well known in this city where they have stopped on several different occasions and many Plainfielders have seen their singing and dancing act.

They will leave here on August 1 for a trip through the west playing on the United circuit. Mr. and Mrs. Watkins will be remembered by many as the singers who introduced the popular song "You're My Girl," to the public in connection with their singing act and the picture of the couple now appears on the outer cover of the leaflet in which the music of the song is published.

WANDERING BOYS ARE LOCATED IN NEWARK

Dunellen Youngsters Picked up Last Night by the Police of That Place.

Stirred by graphic descriptions of city life related by summer boarders who annually visit the little town of Dunellen, Stephen Brodack, the eleven-years-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Brodack, of 240 North avenue, that place with his four-years-old brother, William, started out to see the sights of the big outside world yesterday morning. Climbing on the back of wagons and tramping through small towns all day yesterday and part of last night the two juvenile adventurers at last reached Newark, where they decided to spend a time before exploring further.

The two brothers the younger of which is barely four feet tall, wandered about the streets of New Jersey's Metropolis until noticed by one of Newark's finest, who brought them to the third precinct station as "suspicious" characters. The older Brodack child muttered something resembling "Steve Brodie." when the police asked him his name and said that he had formerly been a resident of Dunellen. Communicating with the police of this city who in turn notified Mr. Brodack at his home in Dunellen, the Newark officials found out to whom the children belonged and are holding them pending the arrival of the parents in Newark today.

TAX COMMISSIONERS ARE BUSILY AT WORK

Expected That Their Revision Task Will Be Completed in Few Weeks.

The special tax commission appointed several weeks ago by Mayor Percy H. Stewart to revise the tax assessments of the city, is making excellent progress and hopes to be able to make a report possibly within the next two or three weeks. The commissioners have about completed their work in the first ward and have been able to do something in each of the other three wards.

The work of revising the assessments is slow and tedious, but the commissioners in meeting practically every night, have been able to make considerable progress, more, in fact, than was anticipated at first. The commissioners are working independently of the assessor's books, equalizing the figures according to their own judgment. This plan was thought best for then no one could say that the commissioners were influenced in any way by the original assessments.

That there will be a number of changes there is no doubt. In cases where the assessment is thought to be high there will be a reduction, and where it is found to be too low it will be increased. Of course, the commissioners can only make recommendations, having no power to fix assessments. That is left to the Board of Assessors, who alone can levy the assessments of the city, but no doubt the board will be governed in a large measure by the report of the special commissioners, whereby it is hoped that there will be a more equitable levy.

While particular attention is being directed to the business section, it is said that there are a number of properties in the residential section where a revision of assessments will be recommended. It has been the contention that there are a number of small properties that have been assessed to much, while other larger ones have escaped with a lighter tax. It is hoped to harmonize these figures in a way that will not make it a hardship for the small property-owner. The assessors are now engaged in their work. They must present their books to the county board about the middle of August, at which time the work of making up the county figures and tax rate begins.

TROLLEY EXTENSION WILL BE DISCUSSED

President McCarter to Meet Trade Board Committee Tomorrow Morning.

Thomas N. McCarter, president of the Public Service Railway Company, will meet with a committee of the local Board of Trade at the Queen City Hotel tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock, when the suggested extension of the local trolley lines will be discussed. Representative citizens from South Plainfield and New Market will be present, and it is hoped by the Board of Trade that either the Fourth street or Arlington avenue line will be extended to the two nearby towns as well as to Metuchen, as it would mean the diverting of considerable trade to this city. This would especially apply to the New Market extension, as the residents of that place are doing most of their banking and trading at New Brunswick simply because there are no direct connections with this city.

A belt line has been suggested as a plausible solution to the question Such a line would connect the present Fourth and Arlington lines and cover considerably of the territory adjacent to this city, in which from two to three thousand inhabitants reside. South Plainfield is an attractive field just now, as the town is growing owing to the recent erection of the Spicer Manufacturing Co. plant.

BOOMING LINBARGER FOR A NOMINATION

Friends Want Him to Enter Democratic Primary for Somerset County Clerk.

Although his friends are urging him to enter the race for the Democratic nomination for county clerk in Somerset county, Walter C. Linbarger, of North [illegible] to say whether he will make the run. The present incumbent, A. G. Anderson, of Somerville, first filled the unexpired term of the late Frank Somers, and since then has twice been elected to the place each time for five years. His present term will expire this fall. The Democrats at the North Plainfield end of the county seem to believe that they are entitled to more recognition, it is said, and some of them have started a boom for Mr. Linbarger.

For the past fifteen years or more he has been actively engaged in politics in the borough, Somerset county as well as the State. During that time he has been a member of the county committee, also serving as secretary, and is the oldest member in point of continuous service. Mr. Linbarger, his friends declare, has always stood for clean politics and has ever been loyal to his party especially during the days when the party was not meeting with the success as at present and could always be found on the firing line. He was a member of the People's Lobby and was one of its organizers. He served on the executive committee and was also secretary of that body which was composed of such men as Everett Colby, R. Henry Depew, former Sheriff Somers, United States Senators J. E. Martine and Hughes, and Prof. Daniels, of Princeton. The services of these men were given gratuitously.

Mr. Linbarger also started the agitation which resulted in the abolishment of the voting machine. This movement was started in 1909 and he drafted a petition, secured hundreds of signatures, which was presented to the Secretary of State and the following year the State began removing the machines. Mr. Linbarger, it is declared has a host of loyal friends among the Democrats as well as Republicans, who would like to support him in his candidacy if he decides to enter the race.

PROCTOR'S NEW SHOW.

"The Three Kidlets," the cutest, cunningest, classiest kid act in vaudeville, singing the latest songs in their own way, dances and bright sayings. The Kids are there "with the goods" and they will be prime favorites before the week is out. Eddie Howard & Co., formerly of Howard & North, one of the best known vaudeville teams, is presenting their old sketch with a heap of new material. Grace St. Claire & Co., in the comedy sketch "Married Life," a topic that will appeal to the inhabitants of this city. Craig & Overholt in song and dance flirtations and LaGrange & Gordon, musical instrumentalists accompanied by some good talk. The feature photoplay for today is "Unto the Worth," an excellent dramatic subject. The other subjects are "Easy Payments," a thrilling war play "A Flag of Two Wars" and "Forgotten."

MRS. WM. D. PARLIN HAS PASSED AWAY

Mother-in-law of Rev. Dr. Eaton Succumbs at Age of Seventy-eight Years.

Mrs. William D. Parlin, for the past three years a resident of Watchung, died suddenly yesterday afternoon of pneumonia after a very short illness.

She was a member of the Madison Avenue Baptist church, New York, of which her son-in-law, Rev. Charles A. Eaton, of Watchung, is pastor, and resided with Rev. and Mrs. Eaton at their Watchung home.

Mrs. Parlin was born at Keene, New Hampsaire, seventy-eight years ago, coming from one of the oldest of New England families. For fifty years she esided at Matick, Massachusetts where she was married to Mr. Parlin forty-eight years ago. Beside her husband, who is a Civil War veteran, she is survived by two daughters, Mrs. M. L. Coutts and Mrs. Eaton.

The funeral services will be held on Saturday at 12 o'clock at her late home at Watchung and from the Baptist church at Matick, Mass., on Sunday.

BELLEVILLE DELEGATION WILL ATTEND WEEKLY PUBLIC DANCE

A large delegation from a colored social club in Belleville, is expected to attend the weekly social and dance held under the auspices of the Dunbar Social Club in the Washington School auditorium tonight. Elaborate preparations have been made by the local committee to entertain the visitors and many innovations in the club's work will be introduced tonight.

A program of vocal and instrumental music will be one of the features and terpsichore music will be played all evening. While the dancing is in progress the executive committee will hold a meeting to dispose of a number of matters of importance that have come up during the past week.

WHAT EXTENSION PERIOD MEANS

Extension Period means that any subscription received during the early period of the contest and extended for a longer term will secure for candidates as many votes as at the time the original subscription was secured. Thus, if a subscription for six months was received the first period of the contest, 6,000 votes was issued for same. If the same subscription is extended to one year during the present period, candidates will receive the same number of votes as at the time the subscription was received.

ADVANTAGES OF THE PRESENT PERIOD ---WHAT CAN BE DONE

The Present Period affords excellent opportunities for candidates who secured the bulk of their business during the first period, which was educational to candidates and the public. Now that the race is nearly over, the big contest is being talked about and proper interest is beginning to manifest itself. The subscriber who has followed your standing from day to day is naturally interested in your behalf and perhaps is waiting for you to ask for that extension which will again take you back to the votes allowed on the first period. Just nine more days and the big contest will be a thing of the past. Who will be the candidate to make his efforts realize him nearly $200 per week?

JOHN A. CONNOLLY.

Cohalan's Accuser Snapped on Way to Testify at Albany.

© 1913, by American Press Association.

That revenge and not money he got for the story prompted John A. Connolly to make his charges against Supreme Court Justice Daniel F. Cohalan was gleaned from the accuser during the cross examination by John B. Stanchfield at the legislative hearing. A contract with a newspaper was put in evidence by which the witness was to receive a substantial sum for a narrative of his dealings with Justice Cohalan, provided he developed a satisfactory story.

SULZER NABS SLEUTH WHO FOLLOWED HIM

Backs Him Against Building, Threatens Thrashing.

Albany, N. Y., July 10.—A man who was nearly six feet tall and weighed close to 190 pounds was backed up against a building on Eagle street, near Hudson avenue, by Governor Sulzer and told he would be "thrashed within an inch of his life" if he didn't disappear from Albany immediately.

The man was one of three detectives who, according to the governor's friends, have been shadowing Mr. Sulzer on his walks in and about the city during the past two weeks. The sleuth's two pals, who were lurking in the distance when the governor turned on their companion, took to their heels and disappeared down a side street.

Governor Sulzer was returning from luncheon when he noticed the taller of the three men dodging his footsteps ten feet in the rear. He halted suddenly and switched about to face the man, who approached rather timorously.

"Did you want to see me?" asked the governor, clinching his fists.

Before the individual could stammer a reply the governor with a quick movement grabbed him by the throat and stood him up against a building, exclaiming as he did so:

"I am sick and tired of being followed by you and a lot of other detectives, and if you don't promise to leave Albany right away I'll thrash you within an inch of your life."

As the governor's fingers relaxed on the man's throat the sleuth, thoroughly frightened, shook himself free and fled.

SIX ARTILLERYMEN KILLED.

Thirty Others Hurt In Train Wreck Near Manila.

Manila, July 10.—When a flat car conveying troops to the drill ground at Fort Mills jumped the track and was overturned six men belonging to the Coast artillery were killed. Thirty other soldiers were injured.

The following is the list of the dead: Private Roy Manns, quartermaster's corps; Corporal Louis G. Koenig, Private Elmer Mertzinger, Private John Paul, Private A. R. Wills, Private George Hughes. All were members of the Ninety-fourth company of the Coast artillery corps.

The wreck took place about thirty miles southwest of this city.

MELLEN'S SUCCESSOR NAMED

Morris McDonald Elected President of Maine Central.

Portland, Me., July 10.—Charles S. Mellen's resignation as president of the Maine Central was accepted by the directors, who elected Morris McDonald, former vice president, to succeed him. George S. Hobbs was elected general manager. The office of second vice president was abolished.

Arthur P. Foss of this city was elected comptroller in place of Mr. Hobbs. The vacancy in the board of directors caused by the death of J. P. Morgan was filled by the election of Alvah W. Sulloway of Franklin, N. H.

ACQUIT DEVLIN OF KILLING COP

Actor Owes Freedom Largely to His Wife.

VERDICT LOUDLY CHEERED

Judge Stops Demonstration and Warns Devlin, Who Wept When He Heard Good News—"Unwritten Law" Had Influence on Jury—Panel Out Three Hours.

Hackensack, N. J., July 10.—James S. Devlin, the vaudeville actor who shot and killed Patrolman Patrick Considine in the Devlin home in Cliffside, was acquitted of the charge of murder by a jury that considered the facts for about three hours.

Devlin owed his acquittal largely to his wife, Mrs. Devlin, known on the stage as Mae Ellwood, who, though largely responsible for the circumstances leading up to the tragedy, testified that the policeman attacked Devlin before handing him the revolver with which the shooting was done. The "unwritten law" also had an influence with the jury, for Mrs. Devlin on the witness stand admitted her husband had accused her of being indiscreet with Considine. She denied that accusation, however.

When the verdict was announced the spectators cheered. Tears came to the eyes of Devlin, his wife and his mother. Justice Parker, however, stopped the excited cheers and in discharging Devlin said:

"Devlin, you have had a narrow escape. I hope it will be a lesson to you in the future and that your conduct will not bring you into court again."

Mrs. Devlin, in her testimony, said that on the night of the shooting she and Miss Annie Devlin, a cousin of Devlin, had gone to a cafe and there met Considine. "I was a bit intoxicated," she said, "and Considine said he would take me home, which he did, but there was no truth in the statement that he had been guilty of improper conduct." She said that Considine followed her and Miss Devlin home and had interfered when Devlin slapped Miss Devlin. He pushed Devlin inside the house. She followed them in, and her husband latched the door against Miss Devlin.

"Considine and my husband," she said, "continued to quarrel. My husband told him to go. The policeman refused and struck him in the face. Then a fierce struggle followed. The big policeman pounced on my husband and swung him around, calling him all sorts of harsh names. Considine said: 'I don't want your wife. I can have any woman on my beat!' My husband called him names and said, 'If I had a gun I'd chase you out of the house.' Considine drew his revolver and handed it to him, slapping him and saying, 'Here's my gun, you little mutt; now shoot me.' The blow caused Jim to reel, and as he tumbled he fired the shot that hit Considine."

TEST ANTIMOTOR RACING ACT.

Cyclists Arrested In Newark Will Appeal From Fines.

Newark, N. J., July 10.—Effort by authorities to enforce that city's anti-motorcycle racing ordinance was resisted by Fred West and John King, two motorcyclists, who were arrested after they had run a five mile race on their machines at a motordrome. Judge Herr fined them $50 each when they were arraigned before him in the second criminal court. Jack Coburn, the starter, and Edward de B. Newman, the manager of the track, also were found guilty of violating the ordinance, but sentence was suspended. Fred Hill and Eddie Root, cyclists, who rode a paced race behind the two motorcyclists, were eliminated from the case.

West and King asked for two days in which to file an appeal, and City Attorney Myers promised not to enforce the fines in that time. The management of the motordrome asserts that the city ordinance forbidding the holding of such contests is illegal. It was passed a year ago after several persons were killed when a racing motorcycle leaped the top of a track barrier and plunged into a crowd of spectators.

TOWN'S MAYOR MISSING.

Head of Borough Near Camden Gone Since June 30.

Camden, N. J., July 10.—George L. Brown, mayor of the borough of Audubon, a suburb six miles from this city, was reported as having been missing since June 30. Brown is a building contractor and operator. His absence became generally known through the issuance of a call for a meeting of his creditors to be held tomorrow to formulate some means of protecting themselves.

Representatives of claims amounting to about $30,000 have already signed the call. They are mostly subcontractors and builders' supply houses, including plumbers, lumber dealers, cement block dealers and others.

JOHN R. MOTT'S DREAM.

John R. Mott, generally recognized as the foremost Christian Layman in the world, is the subject of a most interesting article in a recent issue of the American Magazine. He is well known to Plainfield people for he has been heard at public meetings here on repeated occasions and none was surprised to learn that he declined the high honor of being ambassador to China, offered by President Cleveland, for they know that he is consecrated to his religious work and that he has long had a prodigious dream that the world would be conquered to Christianity in a single generation. Of Dr. Mott, the American says incidently:

"He began his great work as traveling secretary for the International Young Men's Christian Association, his department having charge of the universities and colleges of America and Canada. In this direction he developed the Student Volunteer Movement. He is now chairman of the Movement. The strategy of the organization is soon apparent; it aims to interest students in the Christian conquest of the world. As a result of its work no less than 4,784 men have been enlisted for service in non-Christian lands. In 1910, 368 student volunteers went forth to win the crusade. At the convention of the Movement held in Rochester, New York, in January, 1910, 3,747 delegates were present, representing 735 universities and colleges. The Movement has now fourteen secretaries who spend their entire time among the institutions of learning, advising, inspiring, directing the enthusiasm of the tsudents. What splendid strategy; The world conquest is not a matter of casual and spontaneous zeal felt by occasional people of super-spirituality, but it is preached and cultivated as a magnificent life program in the places where the flower of the race is assembled. As a rule, the personnel of the invading army is changing. It is not unusual to find a university sending the pick of its athletes and scholars to China, India or Japan.

"There are men who have a slight acquaintance with the commercial communities of the treaty ports of the East who tell you in the smoking-room of the steamers that Mott's visions are vain, and that up to the present there is nothing to show but complete failure. But Mott has little use for an argument that admits of defeat. He is a superlative optimist; he says the world can be conquered in a generation if Christians will put their brains and time and money and prayers into the task. And perhaps more than any other man he is bringing it to pass."

Who would have believed a year ago that the principal interest in New Jersey politics in the summer of 1913 would centre on a fight for the gubernatorial nomination between two leaders of the Progressive party, which was organized in Chicago just one year ago?—Newark Star.

Possibly not Franklin Murphy, who said that everything was for Taft in this State.

General Wood says we need an army of 600,000 men to defend this country. The distinguished soldier may pardon some of us for thinking that our best defense as a nation lies in honest dealings with all our neighbors.

The Federal government is wondering what to do with the Panama ditch-digging machinery when the big creek is finished. Why not send it to Washington for the use of the Senatorial muck-rakers?

With days like these some of us creatures who have to toil away at home have the laugh on Plainfielders whose bank rolls are being burnt up by the hotel barons at summer resorts.

Keep posted on what the folks at home are doing when spending your vacation in the mountains or at the shore. The Daily Press will be sent by mail for ten cents a week.

MARTINE ASKS NO PLEDGE ON TARIFF

Like La Follette, He Believes Senators Should Work in the Open.

Washington, July 10—Senator Martine, of Plainfield, New Jersey, is one of the Democratic Senators who opposed the proposition to pass a resolution in the Democratic caucus binding all members of the caucus to vote fo the tariff bill and to oppose all amendments offered by the Republicans.

"I believe Senator LaFollette is entirely right," said Mr. Martine. "We are elected to the United States Senate and not to a party caucus. We should do our work in the open Senate, and it shouldn't be, and isn't necessary to pass resolutions binding ouselves to vote right. I am glad the resolution was not adopted. It would have been a mistake. I intend to vote for the bill when it comes to a vote, as I believe every other Democrat should vote for it, and I don't intend to vote for any amendments unless I consider they are such amendments as will make it a better bill and strike a harder blow at the protective doctrine."

While the Senate is starting its tariff talk, the House is under a "gentlemen's agreement" not to do any business until July 14. As a result, many of the Representatives are taking short vacation trips, or visiting at their homes.

There isn't a New Jersey Representative in the capitol. The White House has been deserted for a week, and cabinet officers and department heads are scarce and evasive.

CAN CREDIT ASSOCIATION ACT AS A COLLECTING AGENCY?

Decision was reserved this morning in the District Court in the case brought by the Plainfield Business Men's Association on behalf of F. L. C. Martin against John T. Caulfield, to recover for the repair of a motorcycle. Judge Hetfield withheld the decision not being satisfied that under its article or incorporation the Credit Association has any right to bring an action on behalf of one of its members to collect a debt.

Robert Newton Crane and John P. Owens represented Caulfield and Martin Stutsman appeared for the plaintiff.

RAZOR BLADE SHARPENING.

An up-to-date method of sharpening razor blades has been installed by the Sears Optical Company having headquarters in Tepper Brothers store on West Front street, and the company is now putting new edges on hundreds of blades daily by means of a power sharpener installed at its offices on Westervelt avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. John Stephen Higham, of West Sixth street, will leave on August 2 for a six weeks' trip to England.

SUFFRAGIST REPLIES TO "ANTI" STATEMENT

Mrs. Feickert Takes Exceptions to Some Assertions Made by Mrs. Sykes.

Editors, Plainfield Daily Press:

In an article in the Anti-Suffrage column in your issue of July 5th Mrs. Sykes says: "Poor Judge Ben Lindsay! He seems to be the football of the suffrage game. Just now the antis seem to have him, judging from the following item in the N. Y. Times for July 2nd. At the Cathedral Conference for Church Workers, Mrs. Morton S. Lewis, vice-president of the Girls' Friendly Society, was one of the speakers. In duscussing the work of the organization she said it has been found there was an enormous increase in numbers to be considered in the 'girl problem,' Judge Lindsay, of Colorado, having found that the present feminine agitation tended to swell the ranks of those who were marketing vice. It is a pity we have no umpire to decide just when the ball belongs to us and when we have to give it to the other team."

Knowing Mrs. Morton S. Lewis as an active suffrage worker in Elizabeth, and that she believes that woman suffrage is going to be a great aid to reform work of all sorts, I wrote to her, quoting Mrs. Sykes' article as above. Mrs. Lewis replies that she has been entirely misquoted and her attitude misrepresented, and that I may contradict the statements attributed to her in toto. Her only quotation from Judge Lindsay was the following, taken from the "Churchman" of July 1912: "Judge Lindsay is authority for the statement that ten years ago there was only one girl to twenty boys before the Juvenile Court. Now the number is steadily increasing." The words "feminine agitation" are not used at all, and the article makes no reference to woman suffrage, and deals with non-suffrage as well as suffrage states. It goes on to say that the reasons for the increase of crime among young people are lack of moral efficiency and self-control and conditions under which people live, making it practically impossible to elevate the children. It adds, "cheap theatres, overworked mothers and the forcing of girls into business have been primary causes in the fall of girls."

Judge Lindsey has written a little pamphlet entitled "If I Were a Woman," in which he states very clearly the good which women have already accomplished with the ballot, and points out why every woman who desires to be a good mother and a good citizen should wish to be enfranchised. I will be glad to send a copy of this pamphlet to anyone who would like to have it.

NON-SNIT ENTERED.

In the District Court this morning, Judge Hetfield entered a non-suit in the trial of the action brought by Robert J. Whalen against Samuel W. Rushmore fo wages alleged to be due. Whalen was a foreman at the Rushmore dynamo plant and it transpired that he absented himself from his work without permission and his dismissal followed. W. S. Angleman appeared for Whalen and Robert Newton Crane for Rushmore.

MRS. MARION VAN DEVENTER.

Mrs. Marion Hall VanDeventer, of Park lane, died this morning at Saranac Lake, N. Y., after a lingering illness. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Hall, of Belvidere avenue, and her marriage to Jac L. VanDeventer, of Woodland avenue, took place two years ago. The remains will be brought to this city and funeral arrangements will be announced later.

NEIGHBORS QUARRELED OVER SCATTERED SAND

Recorder Campbell Dismissed Case Brought Before Him Yesterday.

Troubles brewing in the neighborhood of 134 and 136 North avenue, Dunellen, for some time past, were aired in court yesterday afternoon, when Mrs. James Seldman was arraigned before Recorder Campbell on a charge of malicious mischief preferred by Mrs. William J. Winges, who claimed that the Seldman woman prompted children to spill sand on her front sidewalk and mar the slate walks so that they were unsightly. It appeared that unfriendly feelings has been existing between the two families involved in the trouble and when Mrs. Winges found some sand on her walk yesterday morning she had the Seldman woman arrested.

Rene Van Minden, who represented Mrs. Seldman, claimed that there was no maliciousness involved in the spilling of the dirt and it was nothing more or less than child's play in which the defendant had taken no part. Mrs. Winges failed to produce evidence that would warrant the conviction of the defendant and Recorder Campbell dismissed the case after smoothing over the differencees between the two women as best he could.

APPRAISERS NAMED FOR THE PRUDENTIAL STOCK

Trenton, July 10.—Complying with the petition of the Prudential Insurance Company, under authorization of an act passeed by the last session of the Legislature, Chancellor Walker yesterday named the appraisers for the acquirement of the capital stock of the Prudential, to the end that the company may be changed from a stock into a mutual concern.

The chancellor named as appraisers former United States Senator James Smith, Jr., former Governor John Franklin Fort and former Postmaster-General William M. Johnson The act also provides that the chancellor appoint counsel to represent the interests of the policy-holders. Complying with this particular section, the chancellor, named former Governor John W. Griggs and Merritt Lane, of Jersey City.

CONFECTIONERY.

Centuries Ago It Was a Part of the Art of the Apothecary.

Curiously enough, the making of confectionery originated in a way with the apothecaries about 500 years ago. It was then that sugar was first imported into England, and it was then that "confections" first became known. For a time they appeared only in medical form, the apothecaries using the newly imported sugar as a means of mitigating the bitterness of their doses. In other words, they mixed their drugs with it, and therein lay the origin of many of the sirups and medicated candies, the ancestors of our cough drops and lozenges. The cost of sugar was far too high, and most people were far too poor to permit of its being eaten for its own sake alone and as a mere luxury.

It was only a couple of centures ago that there began to appear a new phase of the apothecary's art. Confections began to be made more or less apart from any medicinal purpose and because people liked them, and eventually the confectioner's business became quite separate and distinct from that of the apothecary.

Although the confectioner's trade may be said to be about 200 years old, it was only within recent times that it became a real and extensive industry. At first sugar was heavily taxed, and the confectioner's trade was pursued upon very elementary principles. For a long time everything was done by hand. Implements were of the very simplest—candy kettles heated on small brick furnaces, pestles and mortars, rolling pins and scissors, etc. The output was very small, and, comparatively speaking, sweetmeats of all sorts were expensive and frequently unattractive.

All this has been changed, and nowadays the most improved machinery and implements combine to produce the most delicate and attractive sweets. Muscles have been superseded by engines, pestles and mortars and rolling pins, and scissors have given place to revolving pans and steam pans, and mechanism for beating and kneading and mixing, for cutting and slicing and grinding, for rolling and grating and stamping, for crushing ice and freezing cream and other processes.

While many of the best and most expensive candies are still very largely made by hand processes, by far the greater mass of sweetmeats is produced by machinery.—Harper's Weekly.

Hopkins, the Witch Finder.

Though some people still believe in witches, there is no longer any use for the witch finder. Englishmen of earlier generations gave this person abundant employment, sometimes fetching the real expert enormous distances to cleanse an afflicted town. In 1649, for instance, the magistrates of Newcastle sent into Scotland for one who could find witches, agreeing to pay 20 shillings ($4.80) a head for all that he convicted. His particular method consisted in pricking the suspect with pins, and fifteen old women were duly executed as the result of his visit. The most notorious of witch finders, one Hopkins, was finally executed as a wizard after trial by one of the more painful of his own many cleverly devised tests.

Elizabeth's "Excellent Wash."

Good Queen Bess liked her ale and had to have it. Wherever she went there ale had to go also—strong ale. Great were the trials of her host, the Earl of Leicester, as expressed in a letter from Hatfield to Lord Burleigh: "There was not one drop of good drink for her here. We were fain to send to London and Kenilworth and divers other places where ale was. Her own beer was so strong as there was no man able to drink it." And one quart of this "excellent wash" of good strong ale for breakfast, we are told, put the queen in good spirits for the start of the day's work.—London Chronicle.

Hugo's Long Sentence.

For the longest sentence on record we must go to the French. In "Les Miserables" Victor Hugo has one sentence that runs through a hundred lines, and earlier in the book, in one of the chapters descriptive of Waterloo, there are over fifty lines without a full stop. England's record rests under official patronage, for it would appear to be the seventh section of the foreign enlistment act, which does not stop until it has very nearly reached its six hundredth word.—London Graphic.

Long Lived Ornaments.

Ornaments last longer than anything else that man makes. There are brooches and necklaces in museums more than forty centuries old. Monuments, perhaps, stand second, and houses third. The life of furniture is shorter still. There is very little furniture in England which dates beyond the year 1500. Pictures last longer than furniture, and there are paintings still in fair condition which have weathered six centuries of life.

Then She Got Mad.

"I've never seen the man yet," she declared, "who couldn't be made a fool of by a pretty woman."

"Um!" he replied. "Of course you, I take it, have studied the matter from the standpoint of the innocent bystander."—Philadelphia Ledger.

The Party Line.

Hubby—Why didn't you come to the door and let me in? Wife—I couldn't, George. Our neighbor was talking to somebody, and I was at the phone.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Few things are impossible to diligence and skill.—Samuel Johnson.

WILSON TO CHECK RAILROAD STRIKE

Plans White House Conference With Disputants.

ARBITRATION SEEMS SURE

Heads of Roads and Representatives of Employees Will Meet Monday on Changing Erdman Act—Both Sides Reported Conciliatory.

Washington, July 10.—The threatened strike that would tie up all railroads west of the Mississippi river may be averted. Announcement was made at the White House that President Wilson will have an important conference at the White House at 3 o'clock next Monday afternoon with representatives of the railroads as well as of the brotherhoods of conductors and trainmen concerned.

The purpose of the conference is to seek a satisfactory agreement upon legislation for the amendment of the Erdman law for the arbitration of wage controversies between railroads and their employees so as to meet the crisis and avert the strike. The indications are that there will be an agreement reached at Monday's conference that will smooth out differences between senate and house leaders over the terms of the pending Newlands and Clayton bills and that legislation will be enacted next week under which the railroads and the conductors and trainmen will be willing to submit their differences to arbitration.

There will be about eight or ten representatives of the railroads, the conductors and trainmen at Monday's conference. Their names have not yet been transmitted to Washington, but it is understood that President A. B. Garretson of the Order of Railway Conductors, President W. G. Lee of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen and Persha Lee of the conference committee of managers of the forty-two interested eastern railroads will head the respective delegations at the White House. Secretary William B. Wilson of the department of labor will participate. Senator Newlands, chairman of the senate committee on interstate commerce, and Chairman Clayton of the house judiciary committee and possibly Representative James R. Mann, the minority floor leader of the house, may also be present at the conference.

Agreement Seems Sure.

Many prior disputes were adjusted by arbitration under the Erdman act, but both capital and labor have developed increased dissatisfaction with the results obtained.

Developments here indicate unmistakably that an agreement will be obtained that will satisfy both the labor brotherhoods and the railroad officials. Officials in a position to know the inside details of the situation and who have been in touch with both sides of the controversy say they believe the differences can be adjusted and that there will be no strike.

The bill for the amendment of the Erdman act was introduced in the senate by Senator Newlands and in the house by Representative Clayton on June 17. The two bills were identical. The draft had been brought to Washington by Seth Low of the National Civic federation, which had succeeded in bringing about the formulation of a measure providing for mediation, conciliation and arbitration in such controversies. The bill as introduced was satisfactory to the brotherhoods and the railroads. The Newlands bill passed the senate without amendment and is now on Speaker Clark's table awaiting consideration by the house of representatives. Meanwhile, on June 26, the house had reported the Clayton bill with amendments that were satisfactory neither to the brotherhoods nor the railroads.

The basic points of difference in the two bills relate to the size of the arbitration board authorized for the settlement of disputes between railroads and their employees and to the personnel of the proposed federal board of mediation and conciliation. The bill was changed in these essentials because Secretary Wilson of the department of labor offered uncompromising objections to the bill passed by the senate.

M'COMBS RESTING WELL.

No Complications Feared After His Appendicitis Operation.

Paris, July 10.—William F. McCombs, chairman of the Democratic national committee, is resting well following the operation for appendicitis performed at a private hotel here.

Attending physicians stated that the operation was entirely successful. McCombs rallied, and there is no fear of complications.

LAMAR'S NAME IS LEVY, SENATE PROBERS HEAR

Said "Wolf" Sold Paintings to Wall Street.

Washington, July 10.—The senate lobby committee received an anonymous card purporting to give the real name of David Lamar, "the wolf of Wall street." It alleged his real name was Levy, that he had formerly sold oil paintings to financiers in Wall street and that he was related to Edward Lauterbach, the New York lawyer.

Lamar left here without making public his real name, having gone privately to Chairman Overman and urged that to do so would be to affect seriously an innocent party.

The lobby committee cleared up a few straggling ends of the sugar lobby inquiry and then tackled the wool lobby. When it has probed into the activities of that important organization it will have the way cleared for the investigation of the Mulhall charges.

Chairman Overman announced that the National Association of Manufacturers had requested him to subpoena former Senator Aldrich, former Speaker Cannon and about forty other men once prominent in congress and official life, to testify on the Mulhall lobby charges.

"We won't issue any subpoenas," said Senator Overman, "until we find out what is proved about the association."

MANY EXCURSIONISTS GO ON SECOND OUTING

Baptist Sunday Schools Took One Section Composed of 900 Persons.

Over 900 people were taken to Asbury Park on the second Sunday school excursion of the season which left here this morning under the auspices of the schools of the Temple Baptist, First Baptist and South Plainfield Baptist churches. One section of fifteen cars was required to handle the large crowd of recreation seekers who braved the threatening weather conditions to spend a day by the sea. The clouds cleared away shortly after the excursionists left, however, and the day, although cool, was an ideal one for an outing.

A joint committee from the three Sunday schools composed of John MacLaughlin, L. W. Randolph, U. B. Crane, A. H. Stone and Lewis Matlack had charge of the affair. Pryor's band is now playing at the beach and many planned to take advantage of this opportunity to listen to some good concert music.

EIGHT MORE CAMPERS GO TO WAWAYANDA

Four Leaders and the Same Number of Boys to Spend Two Weeks There.

Another section of Y. M. C. A. boys left here this morning for the Jersey Boys' Camp at Lake Wawayanda where they are scheduled to spend the coming two weeks in the hills of northern New Jersey in tent life provided by the New Jersey Y. M. C. A. boys' work committee. Elmer Blimm, George King Harold Loizeau and Townley Pierson made up the second section of boys and they were accompanied by Randolph Chandler, Arthur Harris, Fred M Smith and Cedric Ostrom as leaders.

Smith and Ostrom have had experience in Y. M. C. A. camps previous to this season, Smith having been a member of the Plainfield group at Waywayanda last year and Ostrom attended George L. Listman's and Charles Bachelor's camp on Lake George several years ago. None of the boys leaving this section have been at the Jersey Boys' Camp before and the experience will be a novel one for them. Besides the leaders who left here this morning C. William Bingeman, the secretary of the local Boys' Department is at the camp as assistant director and the Plainfielders were met by him immediately upon their arrival early this afternoon.

CHRISTIAN FIELD.

The work of extensive improvements are well underway at the First Baptist church. In a day or two workmen will begin the installation of the new stained glass windows, the scaffolding having been erected yesterday.

Rev. Dr. T. L. Gardner, editor of The Sabbath Recorder, will preach at Trinity Reformed church Sunday morning.

The second Union service of the First Baptist church, First M. E., Trinity Reformed and First Presbyterian churches will be held Sunday night at the last named church. Rev. Dr. C. M. Anderson, of the First M. E. church, will preach.

The next excursion from this city to Asbury Park will be that of the Congregational, Park Avenue Baptist and First Presbyterian churches on Thursday, July 17.

AMERICANS CONCLUDE TOUR.

Berlin, July 10—Expressing themselves as well satisfied with the results of their month's tour of industrial Germany and more than satisfied with the warm cordiality with which they have been received everywhere, the members of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers who arrived at Hamburg on June 10 concluded their tour today at Munich. While the official itinerary of the trip is ended many of the American visitors will remain on the continent for some time longer. Others are planning to sail for New York at the end of the week.

CHERRY PIES FOR ALL.

Manzanola, Colo., July 10.—The first "cherry pie" festival on record was given here today. The town was filled with visitors and every visitor was given his fill of cherry pie without charge. The festival was given ostensibly in celebration of the opening of the new Santa Fe depot. But its real object was to call attention to the fact that Manzanola expects to become the centre of the greatest cherry growing district in the United States.

—One of the next one hundred people who buy real estate in this city, would probably find that property of yours to be exactly what he wants. Give him, in a Press ad, sufficient facts to persuade him to investigate.

FRANCES MARSHALL

When a Friend Goes Abroad.

If you are not fortunate enough to go to Europe yourself, perhaps you have a friend who is going; at any rate you have a friend who is going somewhere for a summer vacation. And you can do your part in making her vacation a success by giving her some small gift. It is really the thought that goes into a gift of this sort which counts. Of course the beautiful "bon voyage" baskets of fruit and flowers and candies which are prepared and sold in the big shops are always welcome but it is the small, homemade or home planned gift which carries with it the greatest meaning to the traveler.

Letters.

If you have friends going abroad, write them a letter. No traveler to Europe ever found too many letters waiting for her when the ship started out to sea and she had time to inquire for her mail.

A picture letter is delightful to send and as delightful to receive. Illustrate a letter with pictures clipped from the magazines. For instance, A picture of a steamer under way of a woman in a deck chair, of a pile of baggage, of a castle on a mountain of the Alps or a famous building in a town which your friend will visit—all these are likely illustrations for the steamer letter. At the bottom of the letter paste some local views, with the wish that the receiver will return to this favorite bit of scenery in the best of health and spirits.

Another pleasant steamer gift is a box containing a little package to be taken out each day. A small pin cushion, a handkerchief, a little booklet containing some tale of the sea—there are several clever ones sold—a foolish little knicknack or two calling attention to some hobby of the voyager, a tiny paper suitcase filled with bonbons, and dozens of other trifles could be chosen from.

For a useful gift a linen holder for the guide book is a good choice. To make this cut a strip of linen about ten inches wide and eighteen inches long. Bind each end with braid to match the linen— tan is the best color, as it is least conspicuous and does not soil easily. Now fasten a piece of binding all around the oblong formed—across the two folded ends as well as along the ragged edges. At each end stitch a loop of braid for a handle. Then double the oblong in the center with the pockets toward each other. Each cover of the guide book is inserted in one of the pockets, and the book can then be carried easily over the wrist.

A handkerchief case is another useful gift. To make it cut four squares of cardboard about six inches square. Cover them with silk or linen and overhand two together, like the little round pincushions of long ago. Overhand the other two in the same way. Cut a length of inch-wide elastic big enough to go around the two squares and hold them snugly together. Sew it like a garter, and cover the joining with a rosette of narrow ribbon. The handkerchiefs can be pulled from this case without unfastening it, and its chief value is that it takes up little room and at the same time keeps order in suitcase or trunk. When planning gifts of this sort for friends always remember the sad story of the man whose wife made cases to hold all his clothes. When the cases were in his trunk, there was no room for the clothes.

Some Cookery Suggestions

HOT WEATHER HASHES.

WHEN you want to make some savory yet easily digested food to serve for breakfast, luncheon or tea a nice hash may be prepared. Hash may be made with fresh instead of leftover meat, although it affords one an easy way of using up the odds and ends left from the preceding day's meals.

Some recipes for excellent hashes are given here:

Appetizing Baked Hash.

Baked Hash.—Take one and a quarter pounds of shoulder or neck of mutton lean as you can get it. Cover with boiling water and cook until tender. Remove the bones and gristle and chop the meat very fine. Add three boiled and creamed potatoes, a tablespoonful of butter, half a teaspoonful of salt, pepper to taste, a tablespoonful of parsley minced very fine and a few drops of onion juice. Mix all together and turn into a baking dish. Pour over the mixture a tablespoonful of milk, add fine breadcrumbs mixed with melted butter and bake a nice brown about twenty minutes. Serve from the same dish.

Two Good Recipes.

Creamed Hash.—Cut beef, veal or mutton in slices; then chop fine and brown in a little fat pork or bacon drippings. Drain from the fat and into same pan put two tablespoonfuls of flour to two of fat and rub smooth. Then add a cup of rich milk or cream. Salt and pepper to taste and stir until it boils up; then add the meat and cook long enough to heat thoroughly. Pour over toasted slices of bread.

Hashed Beef In Casserole.—To a pound of cold beef allow a tablespoonful of butter, two tablespoonfuls of flour, half a pint of stock, a good sized tomato and a small onion. Heat the butter in the casserole. Chop and fry the onion in the butter. Next add the flour, fry it a little and moisten with the gravy. Peel and cut up the tomato and add it to the stew. Season all with pepper and salt and simmer for fifteen minutes. Strain, place the slices of meat in the pot, add the gravy and simmer all for twenty minutes. Sprinkle with chopped parsley and serve.

Anna Thompson.

Mr. Squirrel Was a Handsome Fellow.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—

Mr. Squirrel Chose the Wrong Flower.

DADDY had told Jack not to be vain. "Vanity," he warned, "is a very dangerous thing sometimes."

"What is vanity?" Evelyn asked.

"Vanity," daddy explained, "is thinking you are a great deal nicer and cleverer than any one else."

"Well," Jack replied, "I don't think all of that."

"I hope not," said daddy. "If you did I am afraid you would get into a lot of trouble, same as Mr. Squirrel did with the bees.

"One day he was invited to come to Cissie Chipmunk's party. All the little wood creatures were asked.

"'I shall have to look my very best,' he remarked. Then he glanced into the water in the brook, where his little image was nicely reflected.

"'I certainly am a handsome fellow,' he smirked, 'though I am not the one to say so.'

"The day of the party Mr. Squirrel started out quite early. He felt that he ought to give the people at the party as much of his company as he could.

"As he trotted along he was very careful not to step into the dust or get burs in his coat.

"Presently Mr. Squirrel came to the big meadow on the other side of which was Cissie Chipmunk's home. The loveliest clump of pink clover grew by the fence. Mr. Squirrel stopped to sniff it.

"'There!' he murmured. 'Doesn't that look nice? I remember that the little boy who sits under our tree read out of one of his books that it is very nice to wear a flower in one's coat.'

"So Mr. Squirrel nibbled off one of the nice clover blossoms and was just going to wear it on his coat when something dragged its head out of the clover blossom and looked at him with round, angry eyes.

"'Buzz, buzz!' it cried. 'Come on, folks, and teach this cheeky squirrel to let us alone at meal time!'

"There was more buzzing, and in a minute a whole swarm of bees had settled down on Mr. Squirrel and were stinging him.

"He rolled over in the grass and squealed with pain. When the bees flew away his eyes were shut by swollen lids, and there was hardly a spot on his body where some angry bee had not planted a sting.

"Mr. Squirrel didn't go to Cissie Chipmunk's party. No; he went home and stayed there for quite awhile."

MOTHERS' WORK

Conducted by the Plainfield Mothers' Association. Every Thursday

Contributing Staff.

Mrs. G. Stuart Simons, Mrs. Jos. Smith, Mrs. Wm. M. Sandford, Jr.

The Daily Press for Thursdays containing the column on Mother's Work will be sent by mail for one dollar a year, in advance.

All mothers should take a special course of training in the care of babies. They ought to understand the machinery of the body as a chauffeur does his automobile, so as to keep it in good working order. Half the miseries of life come from inattention to the machine we carry around with us from birth to death. The mother should be able to start the baby right in this important matter. In Oregon a bureau of information on the care of children is conducted by the State Congress of Mothers to enlighten parents, help them to see their responsibility and the importance of giving to the State a better race of boys and girls. On certain days a nurse demonstrates the proper care of the babe. Complete samples of a modern layette for the new born babe is exhibited, informal talks are given to mothers on subjects covering the period from birth to school age, the parents are taught something of the science of eugenics, which means the right of children to be well-born. guidance is given on the sex problems and the importance of right living is discussed.

Defective sanitation means defective civilization. When people see, really see, that the streets are full of disease-breeding material, it will be instantly removed, but not until then. When we see that garbage can should be emptied and cleaned twice a day to free our premises from flies and roaches, it will be no trouble to find some way of accomplishing the work. When we have developed the sense of smell to greater keenness we shall not tolerate paything which robs us of the fresh air which the poorest has a right to claim. We shall know that those peculiar disagreeable odors in market, bakeshop and restaurant are caused by plain unromantic filth. How shall the blind receive sight and the other senses be awakened to a healthy activity? The Germans say. "What you want the people to know and to do, teach it in the schools."

There is a great need of co-operation with county juvenile court associations, co-operation of citizens, pastors, teachers, parents, employers and physicians. Some employers and parents regard children as machines capable of doing a certain amount of work a day and when that is done the responsibility ends, others are very much concerned about the welfare and readily cooperate with the juvenile court associations. To teach the parents their responsibility is a difficult task. The home, the foundation of society, is losing its old characteristics as the place where parents and children live together and the children trained to lives of usefulness and righteousness. In so many homes the child is sent to school for its education, to the Sunday-school for its religion and to the streets for recreation, the question strikes at the root of our morals. We can better things by improved methods and better laws, but we cannot get away from the fact that law will never make men good and that until we make the love of God and of our fellowmen the motive of our acts we cannot remove the evils that are constantly arising. The juvenile court associations can perform their parts in bringing home to parents their duty. The Congress of Mothers and Parent Teachers' Associations and other societies are performing a noble work in this direction. They believe that neither environment nor heredity irrevocably fixes the destiny of any child, but each has in it as an individual, the power of self-control and that that faculty may be so aroused by proper handling that the child can be brought to choose the right in preference to the wrong. No child should be considered hopeless or incorrigible, but each should be regarded as savable. Those interested in child welfare must have the support and co-operation of the public generally.

The Mother's Pension, recently granted by New Jersey, is not a charity. It is justice to childhood economy of the State and given for service rendered just as the soldier service is recognized. Charity has nothing to do with it. The mothers are not to be classed with paupers for no court should grant the pension to mothers who come under that category.

The habit of reading should be formed long before twelve years. As soon as a child learns to read he should have books suited to his age. The list of "one thousand books for children," graded according to age, can be secured for ten cents at National Congress of Mothers, 806 Loan and Trust Building, Washington, D. C.

There is a difference between imagination and deceit. If a child deliberately deceives, see whether fear is the cause and adopt a method which will encourage frankness.

Gain the sympathy of your child by interesting yourself in his childish plans and wishes. Draw him out to express them and help him realize them. Overcome secretiveness by sympathy and love castetn out fear. To laugh at a child, to make fun of him, often causes stubbornness and secretiveness.

Treat all children with courtesy and speak always in quiet, gentle voice to them. "It is not so much what you say as the manner in which you say it."

MISS LUCY BURNS.

She Will Have Charge of Suffragette Demonstration.

Miss Burns, New York member of the congressional committee of the National Woman's Suffrage association, is in charge of the arrangements for the suffragette march to the halls of congress on July 31.

FASHION HINT

By JUDIC CHOLLET

There is no more satisfactory dress for a girl than the one with the body and skirt cut in one. It is simple to make and easy to launder, and the long straight lines are becoming. This little model opens at the left of the front and can be finished with tabs, as illustrated, or with straight edges. The big collar is very attractive.

In the small back view white linen is finished with scalloped edges. Both treatments are pretty and fashionable.

For the ten-year-old size the dress will require four and a half yards of material twenty-seven inches wide and a yard and a half extra for the trimming bands.

GIRL'S ONE PIECE DRESS.

This May Manton pattern is cut in sizes for girls from eight to ten years of age. Send 10 cents to this office, giving number, 7886, and it will be promptly forwarded to you by mail. If in haste send an additional two cent stamp for letter postage. When ordering use coupon.

Queries, Comment and Answers

Sporting Editor:

Query—Who is secretary of the New York Baseball Club? A. P.

Answer—John B. Foster.

Sporting Editor:

Query—Does Bob Fitzsimmons, the prizefighter, still live in Dunellen? C. B.

Answer—"Lanky" Bob still owns a farm at that place but exists the greater part of the time in Newark, where he runs a hotel.

Sporting Editor:

Query—Kindly state the fair time, average time and record time for the mile run. G. H.

Answer—The world's amateur record is 4:14 2-5 held by John Paul Jones of Cornell University. The average time is about 4:28 and the fair time about 4:25.

Sporting Editor:

Query—In a game of eight-ball pool, A names his shot, the one ball on a combination off the ten. He misses cue, however, and the one ball hits the cushion, bounds back and makes one ball clearly, not touching the ten ball. Does the shot count? S. C. N.

Answer—The shot counts. As long as the player names his ball and the pocket no matter how he makes it, the ball is good.

Sporting Editor:

Query—Can you tell how many home runs have been made in the big leagues this season? D. T.

Answer—According to the most recent averages the American League has made 115 and the National 82.

Sporting Editor:

Query—What is the value of a cent dated 1800? J. M.

Answer—From twenty to forty cents, according to condition. If your penny was only dated 1799 you could enjoy a good day on $15, which is the value of the latter coin.

Sporting Editor:

Query—When will the Parker Field grove be opened to the public? T. S.

Answer—Read the papers "T. S.." It will open next Sunday.

Sporting Editor:

Query—Is swimming allowed in the New Market pond? C. N. M.

Answer—I do not know whether or not it is allowed, but it certainly is popular and many swimmers take advantage of the existence of such a rendezvous every afternoon.

Sporting Editor:

Query—Where can a fellow go fishing in this city? H. N.

Answer—There is no place if you wish to catch the kind of fish that have scales. Plainfield is utterly devoid of the finny tribe.

FISHING NOTES

A few weakfish are being taken off South Beach, Staten Island. Rowboats can be hired at several boathouses down there, but bait is scarce. Some of the fish were caught on shrimp, but the best catches have been made on shedder crabs.

Fluke continue to bite well in the Shrewsbury river. The summer visitors drift for them in the channel and seem to have no trouble in catching enough for the table. Every place is as good as any other, as the fish roam about.

Eels are biting again and the Keyport and Keansburg fishermen are catching quite a few. The eel grounds along Staten Island are lined with pots and they are catching on an average of ten pounds to a pot.

Bass are biting at Greenwood Lake better than they have been doing for a week past. The best catches are made in the early morning and evening hours with live minnows for bait.

Fishing is a fad at Atlantic City these days. Every morning the boardwalk walkers go to the inlet, where the fishing boats are moored, and, armed with a dropline, advance on the seabas banks.

Word arrives by mail from Barnegat Bay telling of the fine fishing that is to be had down that way. Bluefish are biting well and kingfish are very plentiful, considering the catches made during the past few years. Weakfish are keeping the visiting fishermen busy, as catches only depend on the time they give to fishing.

Fifteen bushels of weakfish were taken in a net at Morgan Station, Monday night. This is the best catch made this summer and shows that the fish are coming in. Many of the boats o Hugenot, Sunday, brought in as high as thirty weakfish and the fishing was done from rowboats. Further up the shore on the Staten Island side catches of twenty were reported for one tide.

Here is a new tip for any person that wants to have a good day crabbing: Take the Trenton trolley to the Rahway river and there you will find VanPelt's boathouse, where rowboats can be hired for seventy-five cents a day and crabs can be caught a boat's length from the trolley bridge.

NORTHWEST ROWING REGATTA.

RELIABILITY TOUR STARTED BY A. A. A.

Many Automobiles Sent Under at Minneapolis This Morning—Former Records.

National Tour in Nutshell.

Distance—1,233.1 miles.
Actual running time—8 days.
From Minneapolis to the Glacier National Park, Montana.
Night stops and distances between them in miles—Alexandria, Minn., 144.4; Fargo, N. D., 123.8; Devils Lake, N. D., 194.6; Minot, N. D., 135.6; Williston, N. D., 136.8; Glasgow, Mont., 163.8; Havre, Mont., 156.1; Glacier Park, Mont., 178 miles.

Minneapolis Minn., July 10—The annual national reliability tour of the American Automobile Association will start from this city at 8 o'clock tomorrow morning. Today the final preparations for the run were completed. The prospective participants saw that their machines were in perfect shape and examined their equipment to see that it was complete and in readiness for the long run. This afternoon the officials supplied the entrants with numbers for their cars and badges for themselves, guests and drivers.

The route of the tour this year is not so long nor will there be so many participants as in the old days of the Glidden tours. Nevertheless, the tour promises to be one of the most successful and attractive since the long automobile runs were first inaugurated.

Before it is ended the contestants will have made a journey of over 1,200 miles that will take them through some of the most interesting country of the Northwest. There will be eight days of travelling, and, with the stop-overs, the end will come July 19 at the famous Glacier National Park in Montana.

No expense or effort is being spared to make the trip a most enjoyable one. The comforts and conveniences en route will be far more numerous than on the similar tours in the past. In order to insure adequate eating and sleeping accommodations for the contestants, Louis W. Hill, of the Great Northern Railway has equipped a hotel train which will run just ahead of the motorists, stopping at the noon controls so they can have access to the dining cars and parking at the night controls, so that the automobilists can occupy the sleeping cars at night.

The first day's run tomorrow will take the tourists to Alexandria, Minn. It is 144 miles, one of the medium runs of the tour, the shortest of which is 123 miles and the longest 178 miles.

The route from this city will follow the Northwest Trail to Fargo, where a northward turn will be made to Grand Forks, and then west, following the general line of the Great Northern Railway, through North Dakota and Montana to Havre. From Havre the motorists will proceed nearly direct across western Montana to Glacier National Park, which will be the formal end of the tour. After running into and through the park the tourists will visit Kalispell, Mont., to attend a meeting of the Montana Good Roads Congress.

The tour will be finished literally in a blaze of glory. On the night of the finish there will be a brilliant illumination of the mountains. Many men will be stationed on the mountain peaks along the range just back of the log hotel at Glacier Park Station, and at a given signal they will touch off great quantities of red white and blue Roman fire. This illuminated panoramic mountain spectacle will be flashed upon the approaching motorists when the pilot car of the tourists is crossing the Montana prairie within forty miles of the range.

After reaching Glacier Park, numerous side trips will be taken to places of interest in that section. Indian reservations will be visited and tribal ceremonies witnessed. The tourists will be encouraged to return over the roads through Missoula and Butte (or Helena) to Livingston and Gardner, where they may leave their cars and make stage trips in the Yellowstone National Park.

"BIG FOUR" WHICH DEFENDED POLO TROPHY FOR AMERICA.

Hopes of Americans for victory in the international polo match were increased by the announcement that the "Big Four" had been chosen to meet the British team at Meadow Brook in defence of the trophy brought from England four years ago and successfully defended two years later. The leaving out of the Waterburys and Captain Whitney in a preliminary choice of the team recently caused considerable stir, but the final choice of the "old guard" has relieved the situation.

CHAMPIONSHIP PLAY FOR SINGLES' TITLE

Will Start at the Plainfield Country Club Next Saturday.

The annual Plainfield open lawn tennis championship in singles will be held on the courts of the Plainfield Country Club beginning Saturday, July 12, and ending Saturday, July 19. Matches will be best two out of three except the final, which will be best three out of five sets. Play will begin at 3.30 p. m. on each day.

The event is open to all residents of Plainfield and North Plainfield, and accommodations for non-club players will be provided at the club house.

An entrance fee of $1.00 will be charged, and entries should be sent before 8.15 p. m., Friday, July 11, to S. W. Merrihew, 1010 South avenue.

GIANTS AT BRUNSWICK FOR GAME ON SUNDAY

Driscoll Has Succeeded in Landing McGraw's Crew for That Date.

Manager Dave Driscoll, of the New Brunswick baseball team, announced last night that he had booked the New York Giants to play on the Amusement Park diamond next Sunday afternoon against his Brunswick crew. He has been trying for two seasons to land the McGraw contingent and that he should succeed while the New Yorkers are topping the National League ladder and right in the midst of a fourteen straight or maybe more by that time, winning streak, is a triumph in itself.

The appearance of Jim Thorpe on the first station has been assured and Burns, Cooper and McCormick will be the outfielders. Either Fred Schupp or George Wiltse will probably pitch with either Hartley or Wilson behind the bat. Grant will play second, and Fletcher and Herzog will fill in the other infield berths.

WILL LECTURE AT POULTRY MEETING

Middlesex County Association Will Entertain Speaker at Monthly Gathering.

The regular monthly meeting of the Middlesex County Poultry Association will be held Monday evening, July 14, at 8 o'clock, in the Short Course building, at the College Farm, New Brunswick. The regular business will be transacted and there will be a discussion regarding the program for Field Day, which will be held at the College Farm, August 5. This is the annual field day held by the State Board of Agriculture and all agricultural and poultry organizations in the State will probably send delegates to the meetings.

Prof. A. L. Clark, of the New Jersey State Experiment Station, will give a lecture on Monday evening on "Summer Management of the Flock." This should be an interesting subject to all poultry raisers at this time of the year. It is a well-known fact that the hot months coming just after the season of heaviest egg production is the period in which the greatest mortality occurs among the mature as well as the young stock. The lecture will be illustrated and suggestions given as to the best means of preventing mortality and of holding up the production and health of the flock.

A general discussion of the subject will follow the lecture in which all members are invited to take part.

BALL PLAYERS FINED.

Umpire Frank McPartlan and four players of the Bridgeport Eastern Association baseball team were each fined $15 and costs in the city court yesterday for participating in a professional game at Bridgeport on Sunday, June 22. Notices of appeal were filed. Judge F. L. Wilder said that the Sunday playing was clearly a violation of the statute, but he advised that, if further prosecutions are brought, the owner, manager and others responsible for the game and benefitting financially by it should be cited as principals.

HEARD SLAIN GIRL SCREAM 'CHARLIE'

New Clew In Murder of Miss Crispell.

SUITOR STILL IN PRISON.

Johns Vehemently Protests Innocence and Says Young Woman Was Epileptic—Marks on Girl's Body Indicate Hard Struggle For Life.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., July 10. Herbert Johns in his cell repeated his declaration of innocence following newly discovered evidence which may help to clear him of the suspicion of murdering his eighteen-year-old sweetheart, Alice Crispell, and throwing her body into Harvey's lake on July 4, where it was found three days later.

Johns has employed counsel, and if he is brought to trial it is expected that the defense will be that the girl was stricken with an attack of epilepsy after Johns left her and fell into the lake. Her father, William Crispell; her mother and girl friends and neighbors declared, however, that they never saw any symptoms that she was an epileptic.

Johns after repeating in the Luzerne county jail his story of suddenly leaving the girl to go home alone because he had a sudden attack of illness declared that he knew nothing which would throw any light on the mystery.

Loved Dead Girl.

"I loved Alice Crispell as much as any man ever loved his sweetheart," he said. "She was a good girl. She was my ideal, and I would have been the last person in the world to raise a hand against her. I was the last person to be seen with her, and because of that I am unfortunate enough to be suspected of murdering her. I am innocent, and in time the world will know it."

The marks found on the girl's body, with its badly discolored eyes, indicated that she had struggled hard for her life. There are no marks of a struggle on Johns. Dr. Higgins, who made the post mortem examination, declared that the girl's physical development was remarkable. He said that the body was that of a girl who had gained unusual strength for one of her sex by hard work on her father's farm. Her parents declare, too, that she was a hard working girl, equal to tasks generally demanding the strength of a man, and that it does not seem likely she could have been overpowered and thrown into the lake without leaving some mark of the struggle on her assailant.

"Charlie" a Clew.

Aside from running down the clew resulting from the cry of "Charlie," which was heard, the authorities will make no move until after the inquest and Johns' hearing tomorrow. Harrison Cann, a friend of Johns and a supposed rival for the girl's affections, will be one of the witnesses at the inquest. Cann was at Harvey's lake the day the girl died.

Johns declares that the girl was subject to epileptic fits. In this Cann supports him. Cann told Frank McGuigan, Johns' attorney, that Miss Crispell recently was stricken with epilepsy at the German hotel here. On another occasion, he said, she was overcome while with a party of friends at the Wilkesbarre hotel and another time at a hotel in Hazel street. No other companions of Miss Crispell have been found who can recall the girl ever being seized with epilepsy.

GOLF ALL WEEK FOR WILSON.

President Decides to Extend His Vacation Still Longer.

Windsor, Vt., July 10.—President Wilson decided today to spend the rest of the week playing golf and motoring. He planned to motor twenty-five miles to Hanover again for a game on the links there.

Mrs. Wilson and Miss Eleanor spend hours daily wandering over the Harlakenden estate with palette and brush sketching the great hills that rise and fall about them. The president takes a twenty or thirty mile auto ride with Mrs. Wilson each afternoon, returning to Harlakenden about 7 o'clock.

After the game of golf in the morning the president spends the early part of the afternoon attending to correspondence submitted by Secretary Tumulty. The president told Dr. Grayson, his physician, that he had been wonderfully refreshed by his vacation.

GEORGIA SUFFRAGISTS STICK

Request to Use State Senate Chamber Twice Denied.

Atlanta, Ga., July 10.—Though their requests to be allowed the use of the house or senate chamber in the state capitol for their state convention here have been thrice denied, twice by the senate and once by the house, the Georgia Woman's Suffrage association is considering making another try.

Mrs. Mary McLendon, president of the association, said that in any event the association plans to hold a meeting on the statehouse grounds.

Kaiser Off on Yacht Cruise.

Cuxhaven, Germany, July 10.—Emperor William started on a cruise along the coast of Norway on board the imperial yacht Hohenzollern after returning from his twenty-four hour trip on the Imperator.

Half-Yearly Clothing Clearence

The Bamberger store will place on sale practically its entire stocks of men's young men's and boys' summer clothing at prices which should quickly clear away the suits involved. The only garments restricted are men's and young men's plain black and blue suits and boys' plain blue serge suits. This is the greatest half-yearly clearance that we have ever announced, because of the fact that our stocks are larger and offer better variety than ever before at this time of the year. Every man who is particular about what he wears and what he spends, and every parent who wishes to economize on boys' clothing, should be interested in this important event.

Men's and Young Men's Suits

At the following price reductions we offer our entire stock of men's and young men's suits, excepting only plain blue serge and plain black suits—

L. BAMBERGER & CO. NEWARK, N. J.

LAST OF PIUS IX. APPOINTEES REACHES EIGHTY-FIFTH YEAR

Rome, July 9.—Cardinal Oreglia di Santo Stefano, the Dean of the Sacred College, reached his eighty-fifth birthday anniversary yesterday. He is the oldest of the living cardinals, as regards appointment, having been nominated to the Sacred College by the late Pius IX, and being now the only surviving Cardinal created under that Pontificate. Cardinal Oreglia was born in the diocese of Mondovi, July 9, 1828, and as a student at the Academy of Rome gained prominence in theology and languages. He became a Jesuit novice, but did not continue in the Society of Jesus and was ordained to the secular priesthood in 1856.

Before Victor Emmanuel became king Cardinal Oreglia was his chaplain and was with the house of Savoy in that capacity for several years. For more than a quarter of a century now he has been a powerful factor in Vatican politics. It was his personal influence in the last conclave and his shrewd diplomacy that caused the election of the Patriarch of Venice to the Papal throne, and ever since the election of Pius X, he is known to have exercised extraordinary influence in the Vatican, and to have been the principal opponent of a liberal policy on the part of the present Pope toward the Italian Government.

For some time past Cardinal Oreglia has been in very poor health, and because of his advanced age great fears are entertained in Vatican circles of an approaching collapse. The serious illness of both the Pope and the Dean of the Sacred College have combined to bring about a situation with regards to Vatican politics that is filled with interesting possibilities. In the event of the Pope's death the Dean of the Sacred College fills the vacancy until a successor is chosen. Should Cardinal Oreglia die the sub-dean, Cardinal Serafino Vannutelli, would become Dean, and would thus become acting Pope in case of a vacancy of the Papal throne. The present situation is complicated by the fact that Cardinal Vannutelli is in high disfavor among those who stand closest to the Pope, chiefly because of his differences with Cardinal Merry del Val, the Papal secretary of state, and with his brother, Cardinal V. Vannutelli, has virtually retired to private life.

PROTEST AGAINST THE REMOVAL OF A. M. BEAUPRES, MINISTER TO CUBA

ARTHUR M. BEAUPRE

T. H. Harris, of Havana, has arrived in Washington, bearing a protest in the American colony there against the removal of Arthur M. Beaupre United States Minister to Cuba.

In assuring Washington that Mr. Gonzalez is persona grata it is added that Mr. Beaupre is very acceptable in the present post and that there is a unanimous feeling that his experience and established relations are invaluable especially to the Menocal administration.

NEED MORE FOR COUNTY'S ROADS

Freeholders Consider Fund Allowed by State is Insufficient for Union County.

$33,000 ALLOTED SUM

The Board's Committee Will Confer With Col. Stevens, the Commissioner, on Tuesday, at Trenton.

Col. Stevens, State road commissioner, has given assurance of assistance that will lighten the cost of road work in Union county to the extent of $33,000—the sum is held to be much less than the county is entitled to receive. The county road committee is to hold a conference with the State Highways Commission at Trenton on Tuesday, regarding the county's share of the automobile money.

In view of the fact that the motor revenue shows an increase of $195,406 for the first six months of this year over the same period of 1912, it would appear that the bulk of the money allotted for apportionment to counties which have not spent their own money in building roads to the extent that this county has, and this the committee feels is unfair.

The $33,000 apportioned is already being used in the rebuilding of St. George and Morris avenues, Elizabeth. The committee will ask for two-thirds of the cost of building Westfield avenue, from Elizabeth to Roselle Park; North avenue, from Cranford to Westfield, and South avenue through Fanwood borough and township. Contracts for this work were awarded yesterday and make a total of $93,000.

When these highways are completed it will give this county three through county hard-surfaced roads and will make the county second to none in the State so far as good highways are concerned. All the bridges on these main arteries are safe for the heaviest automobile or auto truck to cross without danger or accident.

In addition to giving the county the money mentioned, the commission has given assurance of taking over Newark, Westfield and St. George avenues as State roads. When this is done the county will be no longer under expense for maintenance or rebuilding and the money that would be used for this purpose can be expended elsewhere in the county. The result of the conference is being awaited with interest.

AUTO-SPEEDER MAY HAVE AN EXCUSE FOR OFFENSE

Jesse Mulford, of Woodland avenue, was arraigned before Judge DeMeza this morning on a charge of exceeding the speed limit preferred by Patrolman George Muir, who claimed that young Mulford was traveling at a speed of thirty-five miles an hour on Prospect avenue. Mulford said he was trying to get up speed to climb the steep Prospect avenue hill at the time he was apprehended and gave this as an excuse for traveling at a speed that he said did not exceed twenty-two miles.

No witnesses were on hand to testify in the case and the court postponed the hearing until tomorrow morning when he will again be arraigned on the same charge. In the meantime Judge DeMeza intends to visit the place where the offense was alleged to have been committed and investigate the circumstances.

EPIDEMIC AT SOMERVILLE.

Somerville, July 11.—There is an epidemic of dysentery in this place, which some of the physicians attribute to the water supply, although a number of people who use only spring water are also affected. The water in the river and canal is now very low and the condition of the water supply reported as being in bad condition. Reports from the weekly analysis from experts employed by the Borough Council show the water to be highly contaminated and the presence of sewage bacteria to an alarming extent.

MRS. BERTHA WAHL.

Somerville, July 11.—Mrs. Bertha M. Wahl, wife of the Rev. Henry J. Wahl, pastor of the Fourth Reformed German church of this place, died at her home on Middagh street, Wednesday night, after a protracted illness. The funeral will take place on Saturday, at 1 p. m., from the Fourth Reformed church. The interment will be at Newark.

JERSEY CENTRAL'S HUGE ROUNDHOUSES

Biggest in the World—Will Hold 66 Locomotives at Communipaw.

Jersey City, July 11.—The Jersey Central Railroad is rearing near its station at Communipaw an engine terminal, which is to be one of the big ones of the country. It will be in line with a great scheme of railroad facilities which the Jersey Central has already under way.

The group will include two roundhouses, with a capacity to provide for sixty-six engines. The present roundhouses are to be razed, and their site added to that of the present passenger train yards.

Simultaneously with this improvement work is being conducted on the passenger terminal, which will be the largest on this side of the Hudson River in train capacity.

The firm of Westinghouse, Church, Kerr & Co., of New York, is erecting the engine terminal.

COMPLAINT DISMISSED AND ACCUSER SCORED

Manning Claimed That Three Young Men Assaulted Him —Tables Changed.

Charged with beating Edward W. Manning while he was returning to his home on East Third street one night last week, William H. Stites, Frank H. Stites and Patrick Honan were arraigned before Judge DeMeza in the City Court this morning but the case against the two former was dismissed and Honan was given a suspended sentence. On the stand Manning admitted that he was under the influence of liquor when the offense he alleged was committed and further testimony revealed that he was the actual instigator of all of the trouble.

Manning has a habit of going to his home on East Third street in a drunken condition and arousing the neighbors by loud arguments with anyone he happens to run into on the street and it was while in one of these fits of drunkenness that he was attacked as he claims. After hearing both sides of the case Judge DeMeza severely lectured the complainant and upon his agreement to sign the pledge for one year he was allowed to go

OFFICERS INSTALLED BY CAMP NO. 1, P. O. OF A.

The monthly business session of Camp No. 1, P. O. of A., was held yesterday afternoon at the Babcock building, when officers were elected and installed. One proposition for membership was received. The ritualistic work of the installation was rendered by District President, Mrs. Helen Freeman.

The officers installed: Past-president, Mrs. Jennette Van Pelt; president, Mrs. Ida Tassmore; vice-president, Mrs. Delia McDowell; assistant vice-president, Mrs. Mary Clawson, chaplain, Mrs. Minnie Tolan; conductor, Mrs. Grace Cook; musician, Mrs. George Mobus; trustee for eighteen months, Mrs. Grace Cook; trustee for one year, Mrs. Mary Calkins, orator, Mrs. Andrew McDowell.

Mrs. Andrew McDowell was elected as representative to the National Camp, which will be held at Atlantic City in October. Mrs. George Tassmore was elected as alternate representative.

Several of the officers who were to have been installed yesterday were absent, among whom were the assistant treasurer, Mrs. Orra Eick; assistant conductor, Mrs. Charles Waldron; guide, Mrs. Sadie Emmons; sentinel, Mrs. Phoebe Harthin. The installation of these officers will be held at the next meeting of the lodge. The hold-over officers for six months are: Treasurer, Mrs. Mary Cable; financial secretary, Mrs. Lucittia Smith; recording secretary, Mrs. Howard Freeman.

FUNERAL OF G. M. R. MROSE.

The funeral service of George M. R. Morse was held at Grace church at 3 o'clock, yesterday afternoon, and was largely attended by relatives and friends. Rev. E. Vicars Stevenson, rector, officiated. The burial was in Hillside cemetery. A. G. Hagerdorn, Herbert Jackson, William Clark, Philip Foster, of this city, and Mr. Thompson, of Boston, were the pallbearers.

—The steamer of the North Plainfield fire department had a test run to Watchung and Codington avenues last night at 6:30.

DR. LAWSON GETS OFF WITH A FINE

Judge Says He Received Hundreds of Pleas for Mercy to Convicted Doctor.

ONLY HAS TO PAY $200

Petit Jury Returned Verdict That Negro Physician Had Been Guilty of Criminal Operation on a White Woman.

Elizabeth, July 11—Dr. James F. Lawson, a colored physician of Plainfield, who was recently convicted by a jury on a charge of malpractice on testimony given by Miss Karin Anderson, the complaining witness, was arraigned today in the county court for sentence. Judge James C. Connolly imposed a fine of $200, and in doing so called attention to the requests for leniency which he had received from all parts of the country, as well as Plainfield. There were two or three petitions from Plainfield, one of which was headed by Dr. William H. Murray.

Appearing in court with Dr. Lawson was his counsel, William Newcorn, who reviewed important features of the case, spoke of the physician's hitherto good reputation, and James E. Carr, colored, who is assistant corporation counsel of New York. He was not associated with Mr. Newcorn in the case, but being a life-long friend of the doctor, asked for the privilege of speaking in his behalf. The latter made a strong and what appeared to be convincing plea in behalf of the doctor, which undoubtedly had great weight with the court.

Judge Connolly in imposing sentence, referred to the hundreds of requests he has received, asking that leniency be shown the physician. It was generally considered by those in court that Dr. Lawson got off easy with a $200 fine. Mrs. Lawson, wife of the physician, was among those in court.

WILL BRING CROWELL FROM NEW ROCHELLE

Former Colored Resident Indicted by the Last Grand Jury for Serious Offense.

Sergeant Morris Higgins went to New Rochelle, N. Y., yesterday afternoon, to arrest James Crowell, colored, formerly of this city, who was indicted by the last Grand Jury on a serious charge preferred by a colored girl. Crowell was at one time a butler for a family on West Seventh street but later removed to New Rochelle where he has since been engaged in a like capacity for a hostelry in that town. When Higgins arrested him at the place of his employment yesterday afternoon he recognized the officer and appeared overjoyed to see him.

Crowell was arrested yesterday and committed to the jail in that town for thirty days during which time extradition papers will be filed for his removal to this State. He was willing to accompany Higgins to Plainfield, last night, and face the charge but according to the law extradition papers had to be first filed for his transfer into this State.

MRS. MARY A. CANFIELD.

Information has been received here of the death of Mrs. Mary A. Canfield, aged 77 years, widow of James W. Canfield, and mother of Mrs. M. E. Canfield, formerly of Plainfield, which occurred at the home of her son, Fred W. Canfield, 762 Mount Prospect avenue, Newark. She is survived by a son, two daughters, Mrs. Canfield and Mrs. Albert Carman, of Beechwood Heights. Burial was at Glendale cemetery, Newark.

BIRTHDAY SURPRISE PARTY.

William H. Hadley, of Helena avenue, was given a birthday surprise party at his home, last night. A company of twenty friends spent the evening playing games and enjoying instrumental and vocal music. During the evening refreshments were served. Mr. Hadley was presented with a set of sterling silver military brushes.

M'CARTER VIEWED PROPOSED ROUTE

Trade Board Committee Goes Over Suggested Line with P. S. C. Head.

HIS DECISION WITHHELD

Possible That Tracks May Be Laid to South Plainfield and Metuchen But it Will Not Be Known for Months What Will Be Done.

Thomas N. McCarter, president of the Public Service Corporation, came by automobile from his summer home on the Rumson road to Plainfield this morning, and in company with Wm. Jeffery, president of the Board of Trade, A. E. Force, A. M. Morrell, of South Plainfield; Percy Vail and Herbert Pierce, of New Market, took a trip over the several lines of the proposed trolley extension. Mr. McCarter came here upon the invitation of the above-named men. After the trip he would not commit himself regarding the proposition, except to say that a line to New Market was out of the question.

The party first went over the Arlington avenue line to South Plainfield and then to New Market and to Monroe avenue and West Seventh street. Mr. McCarter seemed to be very much impressed with the growth of South Plainfield and, especially the industry of the Spicer Manufacturing Company at that place. Mr. Morell, who is superintendent of the plant, intimated that if trolley connections could be had no doubt the company would remove its whole plant from Plainfield to South Plainfield.

Mr. McCarter informed the party that the cost of building the extension lines exclusive of rights of way, would be about $25,000 a mile. As to the New Market proposition, he said that that place was too near the main line service. After the trip the party went to the Queen City Hotel for dinner. Before leaving the city, Mr. McCarter said that he would notify the committee of the company's decision.

BIG BANK ACCOUNT OF JERSEY PEOPLE

Residents of State Have $540,212,988 on Deposit in Local Institutions.

Trenton, July 11.—The people of New Jersey have on deposit in all the financial institutions of the State $540,212,988.75. The total resources of all the banks and trust companies of the State amount to the amazing sum of $716,908,464.90.

State Banking and Insurance Commissioner George M. LaMonte today issued a report showing the condition of the trust companies, savings banks and State banks as presented by the responses to the call recently issued by him asking for a statement. This report states that the aggregate amount on deposit in all these institutions is $341,720,126.23, while their resources amount to $422,326,900.88.

The recent report of the Comptroller of the Currency at Washington on the condition of the national banks in New Jersey showed that they had deposits of $198,492,862.52. Their resources aggregated $294,581,564.02.

The resources of the 102 trust companies in the State amount to $270,272,722.27, and they have deposits of $205,363,834.26.

There are twenty-five State banks and they report deposits of $119,206,344.87. As the savings banks hold the savings of the small depositors, this showing is regarded as exceptionally good. The resources of the savings banks amount to $129,697,340.90.

The twenty-three State banks show that they have deposits of $17,149,947.10, while their resources aggregate $22,356,837.71.

COLLINS FOR FIELDER.

Elizabeth, July 11.—General Dennis F. Collins, treasurer of the Democratic State Committee, yesterday issued a personal statement indorsing Acting Governor James F. Fielder for the gubernatorial nomination, which confirms the statement issued by City Attorney Joseph T. Hague on behalf of General Collins several weeks ago.

WILL BE SENT AWAY.

Hannes Dennison, an habitual drunkard, who was arrested on June 28 and told to appear in court on the following Monday and failed to show up, was arraigned before Judge DeMeza this morning, and remanded for a further hearing tomorrow morning when he will be placed in some institution.

PLAN MEMORIAL TO PLAINFIELDER

In Honor of the Late Louise Andrews a Girls' Camp Will Be Established.

DR. SPEER SUGGESTS

Fund Started to Perpetuate Memory of a Faithful Bible Student in Northfield Who Was Beloved Here.

In a speech made during the young women's conference of Bible students which has just closed at Northfield, Mass., Dr. Robert E. Speer paid a glowing tribute to Miss Louise Andrews who recently died at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick H. Andrews, of Central avenue, telling briefly how she had influenced countless lives before she died although but twenty years of age. Following the talk which created a feeling of the deepest sympathy, it was decided to erect a suitable memorial to the faithful Bible student who had always been one of the regular attendants at the Northfield conference and the conference establish a girls' camp in her memory. The plan met with such enthusiastic approval that over $50 was pledged the same evening the project was suggested and it has been decided to open the camp for girls who would not otherwise get a vacation next year during the months of July and August.

Plainfield has always been well repesented at the Northfield gatherings and this year was no exception, a few of those from this city who attended the affair being Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Andrews, Miss Helen Hyde, Miss Leila Hedges, Miss Margaret Meade, Miss Marie Finch, Miss Winifred Rapalje, Miss Helen Smith and Miss Rachel Hughiltree. The conference this year was the largest gathering of its kind ever held in Northfield and the total registration was 605.

DEATH IS MERCIFUL TO THE 'CAGED BOY'

Mentally Defective He Existed All His Life Like an Animal in Westfield.

Westfield, July 11.—Death yesterday proved a merciful solution to a pitiful case which once aroused the sympathies of the county and possibly the State, when Roy H. Tisher, aged 25 years, of 315 Elmer street, succumbed after an illness of five weeks, and after spending much of his life in a cage. Absolutely without mental powers and refused admission by institutions in the State because of the peculiar features of his case, this unfortunate being was given the best care at home that the family was able to bestow.

About two years ago the case was given considerable prominence. At that time neighbors took up the matter with the local board of health. The young man was being kept in a large chicken coop. There was no spark of intelligence or recognition for those about him and he ate food much as an animal devours his meals. Every possible effort was made to secure a place in a State institution, but none of them would receive him. Newspapers referred to the case as a blot on the name of the State.

Tisher continued to be kept in strict confinement, as was absolutely necessary, and his death this morning was the result of a five weeks' illness of dropsy. The funeral will be held tomorrow night and will be private.

PROCTOR'S GREAT SHOW.

Proctor's big vaudeville show is perhaps one of the best of the many fine bills being offered this season. It includes LaGange & Gordon, xylophonists and musical bottle instrumentalists in a popular program; Craig & Overholt in song and dance flirtations, introducing many new dances and an eccentric one that is a scream; Grace St. Claire & Co., in a hilarious comedy sketch, "Married Life," in which there is a moral; Ed. Howard & Co in a comedy skit, "Those were Happy Days;" the "Three Kidlets," in a classy singing and dancing act, one of the best yet presented here. The feature reel for today is "The Battle Cry of Freedom," a sensational war drama in two reels. There are other excellent photoplays.

GRAMMAR SCHOOLS ALUMNI IS FORMED

Graduates of the Stillman and Jefferson Grammar Schools to the number of about fifty met last night at the Washington School and organized an alumni association, under the direction of the older graduates. After deciding to form a permanent organization, these officers were elected for the coming year:

President, Miss Irma Good; vice-president, Miss Adele Freeman; second vice-president, Morris Kunzman; secretary, Percy Stelle; treasurer, Miss Mary McCormick. Afterward the young people enjoyed folk dancing under the direction of Miss Lois Nutting, social supervisor of the schools. Miss Irene Day was at the piano and furnished music for dancing. The association will meet again in two weeks.

FRENCH ANNOUNCES BUSINESS CHANGE

Frederick A. Martin Company Purchases His Insurance Interests.

Elston M. French, who has conducted an insurance and real estate business at 171 North avenue, this city, has sold his business to George M. Clarke and Frederick A. Martin, both of this city. Mr. Martin has been borough clerk and associated with George F. Brown in the insurance and real estate business for several years and is well and favorably known. Mr. Clarke is well known as an active insurance man with offices in the Babcock Building.

The combined agencies will be the largest in this city. Mr. Martin will assume charge of the offices at 171 North avenue, which will be known as the Frederick A. Martin Co. Mr. Clarke will continue his offices in the Babcock Building. The business just sold is one of the oldest established insurance agencies in this city. It was started twenty years ago when Mr. French purchased the interests of the late Marvin M. Dunham and The Butler Agency.

A few years later Mr. French purchased the business of E. M. and L. H. Van Buren consolidating the three agencies. Twelve years ago Mr. French removed to 171 North avenue, where he has been ever since. He will continue to devote his time to developing and leasing of real estate at the same address and will also continue his office at 141 Broadway, New York city.

DUNHAM IS BACK IN THE OVERSEER'S OFFICE

Henry L. De Forest, as overseer-of-the-poor, has restored Garrett T. Dunham to the assistantship in his office. Mr. DeForest explained this change by saying today:

"Mr. Gilbert has asked me to relieve him from the work of the Poor Department which he took up July 1. He found that his lameness was a serious handicap to his work and too steady use of the leg might put him back in the doctor's care. I have reluctantly accepted his resignation and am much disappointed that the city should not have the benefit of his services. Mr Dunham who was with me prior to July 1 has vey kindly consented to take up the work again with me and will be in the office beginning this morning.

BILL BUELL BACK.

William Buell, formerly of this city, but who is now district manager of a telephone company in South Jersey, dropped into town yesterday afternoon to renew old acquaintances of which he has many hereabouts. Buell formerly attended the local public schools and was one of the most popular young men in the city when he lived here and had a host of friends in his boyhood days. Business brought him to town yesterday and he took the opportunity to make several calls while in town.

MACRORIE GETS A JAIL SENTENCE

Judge Connolly Sends Him up for Three Months But Minister Takes an Appeal.

OUT ON $1,000 BAIL

M. F. Codington Furnishes the Bond and Deposed Dominie is at Liberty Still—Nineteen Years Ald Girl Figured in Case.

Elizabeth, July 11.—Rev. Willis S. MacRorie, the deposed pastor of the Mt. Horeb and Springdale M. E. churches, who was found guilty of improper relations with nineteen-year-old Edith Nelson, was arraigned in the county court this morning for sentence. Judge James C. Connolly's sentence was that the minister should serve three months in the county jail. Through his counsel, former Judge Clarence Case, of Somerville, MacRorie announced that he would take the case up to the Supreme Court on a writ of error.

Judge Connolly, while expressing his regret over the whole affair, adding that he had always made it a point to take into consideration a recommendation of mercy from a jury, felt that inasmuch as the defendant held a high position, was supposed to be a teacher of morals, and being found guilty of the charge, that a sentence should be imposed. He said that he could give a sentence of six months and a fine of $50, but in view of the circumstances decided to make it three months in the county jail. Immediately following the sentence, notice of appeal was given. Judge Connolly then anonunced he would double the bail, making it $1,000. This was furnished by Manning F. Codington.

In view of the fact that both MacRorie and Dr. James F. Lawson, the Plainfield physician, were to be sentenced, the court room was crowded with a curious lot of people. Prior to the convening of court, MacRorie walked in and out of the room. He looked unusually well and was dressed in good style. Spectators were impressed with the apparent unconcerned appearance of the former pastor. He was not the least bit nervous to all outward appearance, and in fact seemed to possess a confidence that everything would turn out all right.

There were present a few officials of the churches of which MacRorie was pastor, including Manning F. Codington, who has been loyal to the minister and who furnished his bail bond when required. Miss Edith Nelson was not in court, neither was her mother.

COLORED BIKE THIEF GIVEN JAIL SENTENCE

Elizabeth, July 11.—William J. Turner, colored, found guilty of stealing a bicycle belonging to George T. Moore, of Hillside avenue, Plainfield, was arraigned in the county court, today, when Judge James C. Connolly sentenced him to from one to three years in State prison. Turner has a bad record, according to the police, and only recently completed serving a State Prison sentence for forgery.

Samuel Hennigan, of Plainfield, pleaded not guilty to breaking into a drug store in that city and stealing $4.80, and he was admitted to $300 bail for a trial on Friday, July 18.

FUNERAL OF MRS. W. D. PARLIN

The funeral of Mrs. Mary Brown Parlin, wife of Captain W. D. Parlin, who died Wednesday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Charles A. Eaton, at "Sunbright," Watchung, will be held at the late home tomorrow afternoon at 12.15 o'clock. Rev. J. W. Bastow, of Port Washington, L. I., a former pastor of Mrs. Parlin, will officiate. A second service, the burial, will be held at Natick, Mass., on Sunday.

COMMISSION GOV'T DISCUSSION.

Commission form of government will be discussed at a "social centre" meeting to be held at the Washington School, Thursday night, July 17. G. Stuart Simons will preside and among the speakers will be H. H. Williams, who favors the commission plan. It is possible that there will be another speaker, one who is opposed to that form of government. The public is invited.

AN ESKIMO DINNER

It Was Not Very Dainty, but It Was a Satisfying Feast.

SEAL MEAT AND BLOOD SOUP.

The First Course Was Served Out of Hand, and the Second In Musk Ox Horn Drinking Cups—The Hospitality Extended to Explorer Stefansson.

An interesting description of the hospitality of Eskimos is given by Vilhjalmar Stefansson in his paper, "My Quest In the Arctic," in Harper's Magazine. At one stage of his adventures the writer found himself among Eskimos who had never before seen white people. He says:

"Like our distant ancestors, no doubt, these people fear most of all things the evil spirits that are likely to appear to them at any time in any guise, and next to that they fear strangers. Our first greeting had been a bit doubtful and dramatic through our being mistaken for spirits, but now they had felt of us and talked with us and knew we were but common men. Strangers we were, it is true, but we were only three among forty of them and were therefore not to be feared. Besides, they told us they knew we could harbor no guile from the freedom and frankness with which we came among them; for, they said, a man who plots treachery never turns his back to those whom he intends to stab from behind.

"Before the house which they immediately built for us was quite ready for our occupancy children came running from the village to announce that their mothers had dinner ready. The houses were so small that it was not convenient to invite all three of us into the same one to eat; besides, it was not etiquette to do so, as we now know. Each of us was therefore taken to a different place. My host was the seal hunter whom we had first approached on the ice. His house would, he said, be a fitting one in which to offer me my first meal among them, for his wife had been born farther west on the mainland coast than any one else in their village, and it was even said that her ancestors had not belonged originally to their people, but were immigrants from the westward. She would therefore like to ask me questions.

"It turned out, however, that his wife was not a talkative person, but motherly, kindly and hospitable, like all her countrywomen. Her first questions were not of the land from which I came, but of my footgear. Weren't my feet just a little damp, and might she not pull my boots off for me and dry them over the lamp? She had boiled some seal meat for me, but she had not boiled any fat, for she did not know whether I preferred the blubber boiled or raw. They always cut it in small pieces and ate it raw themselves, but the pot still hung over the lamp, and anything she put into it would be cooked in a moment.

"When I told her that my tastes quite coincided with theirs, as in fact they did, she was delighted. People were much alike then, after all, though they came from a great distance. She would accordingly treat me exactly as if I were one of their own people come to visit them from afar.

"When we had entered the house the boiled pieces of seal meat had already been taken out of the pot and lay steaming on a sideboard. On being assured that my tastes in food were not likely to differ from theirs, my hostess picked out for me the lower joint of a seal's foreleg, squeezed it firmly between her hands to make sure nothing should later drip from it, and handed it to me, along with her own copper bladed knife. The next most desirable piece was similarly squeezed and handed to her husband, and others in turn to the rest of the family.

"As we ate we sat on the front edge of the bed platform, holding each his piece of meat in the left hand and the knife in the right. This was my first experience with a knife of native copper. I found it more than sharp enough and very serviceable.

"Our meal was of two courses—the first meat; the second, soup. The soup is made by pouring cold seal blood into the boiling broth immediately after the cooked meat has been taken out of the pot and stirring briskly until the whole comes nearly—but never quite—to a boil. This makes a soup of a thickness comparable to our English pea soup, but if the pot be allowed to come to a boil the blood will coagulate and settle to the bottom. When the soup is a few degrees from boiling the lamp above which the pot is swung is extinguished and a few handfuls of snow are stirred into the soup to bring it to a temperature at which it can be freely drunk. By means of a small dipper the housewife then fills the large musk ox horn drinking cups and assigns one to each person. If the number of cups is short two or more persons may share the contents of one cup or a cup may be refilled when one is through with it and passed to another.

"After I had eaten my fill of fresh seal meat and drunk two pint cupfuls of blood soup my host and I moved farther back on the bed platform, where we could sit comfortably, propped up against bundles of soft caribou skins, while we talked of various things."

Adversity has the effect of eliciting talents which in prosperous circumstances would have lain dormant.—Horace.

DEATH MYSTERY OF TWO MONEY LENDERS

Same Men Committed Murders in Two Distant Cities Police Believe.

Los Angeles, Cal., July 11.—More than two weeks have passed since Charles E. Pendell, a wealthy money lender, was found murdered in his office in this city, and the case remains as much a mystery as it was on the day the mutilated body was discovered. Of one thing, however, the police are thoroughly convinced. They beleive that when the person or persons who killed Pendell are found, then the long-sought murderes of Joseph Logue in Chicago will be found. Seldom have two crimes committed at points so far apart offered such a case of similarity in every important detail. That the two murders were committed by the same hand appears certain to those who have studied the two cases.

The murder of Joseph H. Logue occurred in Chicago on December 20 last. Logue was a money lender as was Pendell, the Los Angeles victim. Both also dealt in diamonds and jewelry. Both murders were committed in the offices of the victim. Both were committed in the middle of the day, Logue being killed at about the hour of noon and Pendell at about 2 o'clock in the afternoon. In each case the last person seen to enter the office was a well-dressed woman. Robbery is supposed to have furnished the motive in each case, though strangely enough the nature and amount of the booty have never been determined definitely either in the Logue or the Pendell case. Both victims were known to be in the habit of carrying considerable sums of money and large amounts of jewelry. The brutality of the murderer was evidenced in each case, both of the victims being shot, slashed and beaten.

The detectives are positive that the two murders were committed by the same skilled professional criminals—a man and a woman. But in neither case did there appear the slightest clue that might lead to the identity of the pair. The murderer or murderers committed their crimes so skilfully and so quietly that persons in adjoining offices heard no sound.

DOOMED TO A LIVING DEATH.

French Convicts Leave Hope Behind When They Enter Cayenne.

Cayenne—red pepper to the world at large—hell to the few thousand of convicts transported to this isolated northeastern corner of equatorial South America. Here, it was rumored, existed one of the world's most antiquated and revolting penal systems, where thousands of men are exiled and doomed to a living death. Men from French Guiana had intimated conditions which vied with the cruelties of the old convict ships.

Groups of convicts lounged about or lay sick and incapacitated on the verandas. At night the barred iron door of each dormitory is locked, and outside paces a guard, revolver in hand. Sometimes under cover of darkness the inmates settle feuds. Occasionally to establish leaders rival gangs fight with cudgels, knives and even paving stones. Some disabled, others dead, the most indomitable are reconciled and form a tyrannical secret society.

Many a poor wretch dreads the night hours, and one suspected of informing may be set upon by an enraged pack. Occasionally murder is committed in profound silence, and daylight finds a dead or dying convict in the passageway or entrance. Questioning is useless, and few guards will risk life in entering the barracks when smothered cries and cursings warn them of internal strife.

All the men I talked with were well disposed toward me, one in particular—a tall, well educated man with a pair of dark rimmed glasses and large eyes fearfully strained through inability to secure proper lenses.

"You must not lose hope," I told a group and almost swallowed my own words. "Hope!" burst out the rich, tremulous voice of the tall man. "It is always the same; there is no hope here." "No; no hope here!" was the echoed murmur of his comrades.—Charles Wellington Furlong in Harper's Magazine.

VARICOSE VEINS.

Their Causes and Effects and the Treatment They Require.

A varicose vein is an enlarged and twisted vein, generally in the leg. It is caused by stagnation of the blood. Often the patient has a hereditary predisposition to varicose veins or he has a weak heart, with a consequent tendency to sluggish venous circulation.

Anything that interferes with the flow of blood through the veins may bring on an attack. Pressure from a tight garter and very severe muscular exertion are often exciting causes. Persons who are obliged to stand for several hours at a time, like policemen, washerwomen and saleswomen, are often subject to this trouble. Under ordinary conditions the blood in the legs must run up hill constantly in order to regain the heart. In the case of those who stand most of the day the blood has to work hard hour after hour in order to overcome the force of gravity, and as a result the veins gradually enlarge and harden.

In mild cases of varicose veins, especially in young and otherwise healthy people, the symptoms are very slight. There is a feeling of weight in the leg and a dull ache toward the end of the day. The ache is soon relieved by the patient's resting with the leg somewhat raised so that the blood can flow back more easily. Sometimes painful cramps complicate the trouble, and the cramp is likely to return again and again until life becomes a burden.

More serious complications are thrombosis (or the clotting of the blood in the vein) and phlebitis (or inflammation of a vein). Often a form of eczema appears in the skin of the leg, or an ulcer may arise. When varicose veins are very troublesome surgical treatment is advisable, but the milder cases can be much relieved by rest and proper bandaging.—Youth's Companion.

Varlet and Valet.

"We have only ourselves, or, rather, our forefathers, to blame for the trouble about the pronunciation of 'valet,'" says the London Chronicle. "If they had stuck to 'varlet' there would have been no difficulty. 'Valet' and 'varlet' are the same word, meaning originally just a boy, the diminutive of 'vassal,' a man. Unfortunately when our ancestors applied a word meaning a boy to signify a servant they went on to make it bear a scornful sense. And so 'varlet' degenerated hopelessly, just as did 'knave,' which is simply the German 'knabe,' boy."

Indisputable Evidence.

"Say, father," said little Fred, "did you ever have another wife besides mother?"

"Why, certainly not," said the father. "How do you happen to ask such a question, my boy?"

"Well, father," continued the boy, "I saw in the family Bible that you married Anne Domini, 1892, and I know that wasn't mother, for her name was Mary Parsons when she was a girl."—Chicago Record-Herald.

Not Too Pushing.

"Madam, I must congratulate you on having such a pushing young fellow for a husband."

"Yes; George does very well with the lawn mower, but I have a time with him about the baby carriage."—Baltimore American.

NOTES FROM LABOR FIELD

In 1912 the total number of strikes and lockouts in Canada was 148, according to official reports.

The annual convention of the California State Federation of Labor will be held in Fresno, commencing October 6.

The Wyoming division of the United Mine Workers is erecting a $25,000 headquarters building in the city of Cheyenne.

The International Brewery Workers' Union now has a membership of nearly 60,000 in the United States and Canada.

The latset reports show that in the State of Maine there are 79,955 wage earners employed in 3,546 factories.

Demands for a minimum wage of 50 cents an hour have been made by the journeymen steamfitters of Oshkosh, Wis.

The Journeymen Stone Cutters' Association of North America has taken over the membership of the National Stone Cutters' Society.

Eight thousand raincoat makers in New York city have formed a union and are preparing a demand for higher wages and an eight-hour workday.

James O'Connell, one of the new members of the Federal Industrial Commission, has been president of the International Association of Machinists for over 20 years.

Seattle trades unions are making elaborate preparations to entertain the delegates to the annual convention of the American Federation of Labor which is to meet in that city in November.

Officials of the Wisconsin State Federation of Labor expect a record-breaking attendance at the coming annual convention of the organization, which will meet in Wausau on July 16.

The journeymen plumbers of Saskatoon, who have been out on a strike for some time, have now opened a co-operative shop and are actively competing for the business of the master plumbers.

The latest report of the Federation of Co-operative Societies of Great Britain shows that 1,520 co-operative societies existed at the end of 1912, with a total membership of nearly 3,000,000. During the past year the aggregate business of the societies amounted to more than $122,000,000, of which $13,000,000 represented the profits.

Two new laws regulating the employment of women and children recently went into effect in Rhode Island. One restricts the working hours of women and children under sixteen years to fifty-four hours a week, and not more than ten hours in any one day. The second law provides that no child under fourteen years shall be allowed to work in any mill factory or business establishment, and every child between the ages of fourteen and sixteen years must pass a physical examination before being allowed employment.

PERSONAL.

Mrs. J. L. Bennett, of Watchung avenue, is spending her vacation at Asbury Park.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Brokaw and sons, of New York, are visiting Mrs. Brokaw's aunt, Mrs. W. B. Vail, of Mountain avenue.

Miss Jessie Brown, of Newark, who has been spending the past week with friends here, has returned home.

Rev. Dr. and Mrs. C. E. Herring, of West Front street, are sojourning at their summer home in Spring Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. John Dorris, of Jersey City, have returned home after a visit with Plainfield friends.

STRANGE DISAPPEARANCE OF MAN DEEPENS MYSTERY IN DIVORCE CASE

Great mystery surrounds the disappearance of the corespondent in a divorce action brought by Richard Battin, Jr., of Whitestone, L. I., against Mrs. Battin, who is one of the most beautiful women of the vicinity. His name has been withheld, but the last time he was seen it was in the company of the defendant.

TAPS FROM THE GAVEL.

Unity lodge, No. 102, K. of P., met in regular session last night and transacted routine business. District Deputy Grand Chancellor Smalley, of Bound Brook, installed the recently elected officers, as follows; Master of work, J. J. Lake; chancellor-commander, G. Pickle; vice chancellor-commander, Harold Headbittle; prelate, Charles W. DeGraw; master-at-arms Jeremiah VanWinkle; inner guard, Joseph F. Shepard; outer guard, Alfred W. Drew.

Lydia Chapter, No. 41, O. E. S., will not meet tonight, as their meetings have suspended until fall.

Franklin Council, No. 41, Jr. O. U. A. M., initiated three candidates into the first and second degrees last night.

Three lodges are scheduled to meet tonight, all of which are to install their officers. They are Benevolent Council, No. 256, Jr. O. U. A. M., at Coward's Hall; Somerset Council, No. 104, Jr. O. U. A. M., at Junior Hall, and Perseverance lodge, No. 74, K. of P., in the Babcock building.

CHRISTIAN FIELD.

Holding their first business session, the new executive committee of the local C. E. Union met last night at the Y. W. C. A. parlors and appointed the standing committees to serve during the course of the coming fall and winter. President Carl Finkle presided. The committee appointed are as follows: Missionary, Claude Gonod, Miss Georgianna Ricker, Mrs. Edward Baker, Jr., Raymond Burdick; prayer meeting, William Latourette, Miss Lano Becker, Jesse Burdick, Miss Mae Randolph; temperance, Clarence LaRue, Fred Lounsberry, Jr., Walter Nelson, John A. Williams, Nathan Wardner and Ephriam Ackor. The lookout and press committees as well as vacancies on the above committees are to be appointed at the next meeting.

The Deciding Period of Contest

Extension Period is all that the name implies. You are licensed to avail yourself of the same large vote schedule that you received on your first subscriptions by going to your friends and having them extend the subscription they gave you in the earlier periods of the contest. Thereby you may, by properly concentrating your efforts, extend your present vote standing beyond the reach of all but a few of your competitors. So you see this narrows competition down to just those few who took advantage in a small way of the earlier periods of the contest.

If you are an active contestant you know how small that few is and if you will stop for a moment and figure, you will see that even though the result of your efforts in this last period is smaller than any of your few competitors in point of order you will at least receive $150 bank account.

You see that by devoting your time to furthering your candidacy in the next few days you place yourself in line to receive the lion's share of the prizes.

From present indications, this period will determine the car winners. Do you know of anything more alluring than a $150 bank account as a surety, with every opportunity to win any of the three cars, just for a few days' work.

What are you going to do, go in for one of these cars or dwindle along and get a $35 bank account or a scholarship?

"Of all sad words of mouth or pen,
The saddest of these 'it might have been.'"

A word to the wise, etc.

CLEAR THAT PLATFORM.

Some action should be taken at once to put an end to a dangerous situation at the North avenue station west bound platform at times when returning excursion trains are arriving. It is not an unusual thing for two or three hundred people to pack the platform to greet relatives and friends who have been on a single day's outing. As on previous occasions, last night several children were dragged from the tracks and even adults very foolishly got too close to the rails. Let there be some excitement on the platform and there would be a stampede for the crowd is mostly made up of women and children. What the result would be none could tell, but it would not be unlikely that some would lose their lives before the engine or under the cars.

For its own protection, if for no other reason, the Jersey Central Railroad Company should issue an order barring all, except those having business there, from the platform during the hours when excursion trains are due to arrive. Furthermore, the company should obtain the co-operation of the local police in enforcing the order to that effect. The people who flock to the station at such times have no business there and they should be made to understand that when they gather in such crowds they are jeopardizing human life. And the best way to make them realize this is to have a squad of police on hand to keep them away.

LINBARGER'S CLAIMS.

Certainly if party service counts for anything, Walter Linbarger, of North Plainfield, has come claim on the Democratic party nomination for county clerk in Somerset. Mr. Linbarger was on the firing line in the campaigns which meant inevitable defeat. In those dark days of the Democrats it meant some sacrifices to stand on the breastworks. The "kid glove" type of Democrat then was either conspicuous by his absence or was consorting with the enemy. But in the last few years he is making himself very prominent and has become the self-appointed leader. Consequently men like Linbarger, who have fought persistently under all sorts of conditions and have always followed the party's colors are getting mighty little recognition. It was a Democrat who proclaimed as a political theory, "To the victor belongs the spoils" and friends of Linbarger who subscribe to that belief consider that he should be regarded for his services.

William White bowled a score of 297 on the Coleman House alleys, Asbury Park, last Saturday morning. White made ten strikes straight.—Lakewood Times and Citizen.

Back to "The Three R's" for you Brother. "Billie" made eleven strikes or he did not make a 297, according to the figuring of our Scoop, who is some mathematician.

All the Saturday contributed editorials are good. They are written by able men and express ideas on important topics in such a way as to make our readers do some thinking. Read the editorial in tomorrow's issue.

For the first time in many years, the mayor of the municipality has not appointed a dog catcher. The nuisance now is worse than it usually is at this season of summer. Why does Mayor Stewart not act?

All is forgiven. Mr. DeForest has reappointed Garrett T. Dunham as his assistant in the office of the overseer-of-the-poor. A mighty fine Overseer we have, a mighty fine Overseer!

So Mr. Colby refuses to "bite;" in other words he declines to assist Mr. Osborne in advertising the latter and the latter's platform.

J. W. HARRISON TODAY CELEBRATES 76TH BIRTHDAY

J. W. Harrison, of Madison avenue, who has made two trips across the continent in a gospel wagon, traveling over 5,000 miles without taking collections, is today celebrating his seventh-sixth birthday.

Mr. Harrison has long been a member of the Christian church, and has been a resident of this city for the past seven years. Together with his wife, who died four years ago, Mr. Harrison left New York on September 19, 1903, on his first gospel trip, passing through thirteen states, preaching as they went. On that trip they were as far south as Atlanta, Ga., returning to New York in October of 1904. The second trip was cut short when they reached Waterville, Kansas, owing to the illness of Mrs. Harrison. They came to this city at that time, Mr. Harrison residing here ever since. Mr. Harrison is enjoying good health and still takes active interest in civic affairs and religious work.

MACHINISTS DEMANDS.

The conference held in New York yesterday betwen W. H. Johnson, of Washington, national president of the International Association of Machinists, and the heads of the local printing industries, was without result. Beyond that fact it was impossible to obtain a statement. Last night there was a meeting of the local union of machinists. They were addressed by Mr. Johnson and the situation was reviewed. Hugh V. Reilly, business agent of district No. 47, was also present and spoke to the men.

BAPTIST EXCURSION A SUCCESS.

The annual excursion of the First, Temple and South Plainfield Baptist churches to Asbury Park, yesterday, was one of the most enjoyable in the history of these churches. About one thousand excursionists made the trip without an accident of any kind. The committee of which John G. McLaughlin, was chairman, won much praise for the arrangement of details. All expenses were cleared.

A Park of Glaciers.

Glacier National park is situated in northern Montana, 260 miles northwest of Yellowstone park in an air line and 447 miles by railroad. It is under the control and supervision of the secretary of the interior, who is represented in the actual administration of the park by a superintendent, assisted by a number of park rangers who patrol the reservation. The park is bounded on the north by the Canadian line, on the east by the Blackfoot reservation and on the west and south by the Flathead river. It has an area of about 915,000 acres and derives its name from many glaciers which are scattered throughout its area. There are eighty glaciers between five square miles and a few acres in area. The park is a rugged mountainous region and contains over 250 lakes, which are surrounded by steep and beautifully wooded mountains.

Time in Teheran.

"Time is a difficult problem in Teheran," says the Baroness d'Hermalle in "Peeps Into Persia." "At approximately midday a cannon is fired on the Cossack parade ground, but the approximation depends entirely on the soldier who fires it. We all think he fires it when he feels hungry, as it is very erratic. Anyhow, when invited out to dinner we always inquire of our host whether he keeps legation or gun time. Sometimes there is half an hour's difference. Neither of these times is ordinarily correct. Correct time, not a commodity in request in Teheran, is kept by the Indo-European telegraphs, for whom it is telegraphed from London every morning at daybreak, when the line is clear, so that connection is practically instantaneous."

"Shouting" In Australia.

"Treating" is a form of hospitality that is perhaps more common in Australia than anywhere else. There it is known as "shouting." It is a legacy from the "flush times" of the goldfields—the "roaring fifties"—when to refuse to drink with a lucky digger meant running a risk of being shot on the spot. A writer says: "To shout means to insist on everybody present, friends and strangers alike, drinking at the shouter's expense, and as no one will allow himself to be outdone in this reckless sort of hospitality each one shouts in succession with too frequently deplorable consequences."

PERFECT SPHERES

With All His Scientific Skill Man Cannot Produce Them.

THE CURVING OF A BASEBALL.

It Is Possible Only Because the Ball Is an Imperfect Globe and In Comparison With Its Size Much Rougher Than the Surface of the Earth.

The real reason why a baseball can be thrown so that it will describe wonderful curves during its progress through the air is that every such ball has a surface made up of mountains, valleys, craters, canyons, gorges, plains and other irregularities of the surface that, when the difference in size is taken into consideration, makes the surface of the earth seem like plate glass.

If it were possible to make a perfect sphere—if it were possible to make a baseball with an absolutely smooth surface and an exact sphere—no pitcher in the world could make it curve. The very best pitchers baseball has ever known or probably ever will know could not make the ball deviate a hair's breadth in its flight.

And so while it is partly in the art or knack the professional pitcher has in holding and releasing the baseball as he throws it, it is also due to the fact that a baseball has a wonderfully rough surface against which the air catches and turns it that gives it the curve.

It you pass your hand over a plate glass it moves smoothly with nothing to retard it. If you pass your hand over an unplaned board you can feel the roughness—splinters we call them. You cannot move your hand as easily over the board. This is the same principle with the baseball. There is a roughness in its surface that catches in the air and forces one side about or retards that side. This has but one result—to make the baseball leave its straight course, and in doing this it describes a curve.

This does not detract in the least from the cleverness of the pitcher who can so accurately judge his muscular control as to make a baseball curve up or down, right or left. But the fact remains that it is the roughness of the baseball that makes all his pitching cleverness possible.

Take a brand new league ball in your hand. It looks to be a perfect sphere—that is, absolutely even and uniformly round and as "smooth as glass." And it may be as smooth as glass, for glass also has a rough surface.

Put a baseball under the most powerful microscope, enlarge it microscopically 10,000 diameters, and what do you see? The very thing mentioned in the first paragraph of this article. The surface is rough. It looks like the landscape in the Alps or Yellowstone park or any other rough section of the earth. It has peaks, ranges, ridges, valleys, plains and holes, gulches and all sorts of uneven places, and if the earth could be made as small as a baseball it would be practically a perfect sphere and absolutely smooth. This is because the highest mountains of the earth and the deepest valleys would be millions upon millions of times smaller in comparison with the rough uneven places on a baseball if either the earth were reduced to the size of a baseball or a baseball enlarged to the size of the earth.

If this were not true the earth would not revolve so regularly upon its axis. It would perform an "in shoot" or "out shoot" and curve off through space.

Even the billiard ball has a surface much rougher in comparison to its size than the surface of the earth, and we refer to a billiard ball as about the smoothest thing known. "As smooth as a billiard ball" is a well known simile. For the same reason that a perfectly smooth baseball could not be curved, a perfectly smooth and perfectly round billiard ball could not be made to curve on the table. It would not take "English," as billiard players call it when they make a ball go forward and then roll backward or in any direction just by the manner in which they strike it with a chalked cue.

This fact of roughness causing it to spin becomes all too evident when a player forgets to chalk his cue and plays several shots thereafter. If the leather tip of the cue becomes shiny it will slip on the ball. There is no purchase with which it can take hold. But chalk is sticky stuff, and the granules are large, so that a well chalked cue has a very rough surface, and this rough surface of the tip of the cue fits into the rough projections on the ball, and thereby a ball can be given a lot of twist. In order to accomplish this successfully, moreover, the billiard cloth nap must be new and therefore rough.

During recent experimentation with regard to the kinetic theory of gases a Belgian scientist desired to find out how perfect a sphere could be made in order that by the clashing of these together an idea might be secured of the effect of the collisions of the spherical atoms that make up a gas. The project had to be abandoned at last because no machinery could be constructed that would turn out a perfect sphere artificially, and nature has no perfect sphere of large size in all her many forms of matter. Perfect disks could be made, but a round ball was beyond the limits of human accomplishment.—New York American.

The greatest pleasure is the power to give it.

RAHWAY WILL CELEBRATE OPENING OF NEW STATION

Rahway, July 11.—Seeing a chance to advertise Rahway when the Pennsylvania Railroad completes its new $60,000 station and the elevation of the tracks through the city, Mayor Thomas A. Fyffe has decided to arrange a celebration of the opening of the station and the completion of the track work.

To make arrangements for a celebration the Mayor has appointed the following committee: John Farrell, William M. Davis, Stewart B. Mortet, president of the Common Council; Thomas W. Robinson, Sidney Harris, David H. Kennedy, William H. Cloke, Stephen B. Morse and City Treasurer George L. Kirchgasner.

TEACHERS END SESSIONS.

Salt Lake City, Utah, July 11.—Satisfied with the profit gained, and more than satisfied with the hospitality shown them, the delegates to the annual convention of the National Education Association held their concluding sessions today. Some of the teachers plan for another week or two of sightseeing in California and elsewhere, but the majority of the several thousand strangers who have been the guests of this city for a week will turn their faces homeward tomorrow.

GARRISON ON TOUR OF ARMY POSTS

Secretary of War After "Pork Barrels."

ABOLITION TO BE FOUGHT.

Representatives Whose Districts Are Affected Are Sure to Make Protest. Claimed That Seventy-five Per Cent of Posts Are Useless.

Washington, July 11.—Secretary of War Garrison announced his determination to eliminate the "pork barrel" army post.

Secretary Garrison will leave next Wednesday for a five weeks' tour of the country. He will visit most of the army posts in the United States. He will be accompanied on this inspection trip by Major General Leonard Wood, chief of staff, and Major General Alexaire, chief of the quartermaster corps.

The secretary has found that there are 167 army posts in the United States, or one post to every 250 soldiers of the mobile army. He agrees with General Wood that 75 per cent of these posts could be abandoned not only without impairing the efficiency of the army, but with most beneficial results both for the efficiency of the troops and for economy.

It is the secretary's plan to reduce the number of army posts just as rapidly as possible without upsetting conditions. He will endeavor to concentrate the troops in larger posts, and as soon as quarters can be found for the forces now scattered among the little posts the concentration will go forward.

Congressmen Will Protest.

The secretary considers that he has authority under existing law to put the troops where he sees fit without going to congress for any additional legislation. Congressional aid will be needed, however, in completing the concentration, as by law the United States cannot dispose of any property without the consent of congress.

The secretary will probably not begin any transfer of troops until he has returned from his tour of inspection. A protest from congressmen is certain as soon as he puts his present plan into effect, as members always have been found fighting for the retention of army posts in their districts. The money expended for army supplies as well as the expenditures by the soldiers themselves make the army posts popular in the cities where they are located.

The fight against the useless army post was begun by Secretary Dickinson and continued by Secretary Stimson. Mr. Stimson drew up a definite plan for relieving the situation, but was balked in his efforts by congress. General Wood has been behind the fight on the useless army post for the last three years.

GETS MRS. LONGSTREET'S JOB

Senate Confirms Mrs. Ham as Postmaster at Gainesville, Ga.

Washington, July 11.—The senate in executive session confirmed the nomination of Thomas Ewing, Jr., of New York, to be commissioner of patents.

Among other nominations confirmed were Mrs. W. J. Ham of Gainesville, Ga., postmaster, succeeding Mrs. Helen Longstreet, widow of General James Longstreet of Confederate fame. This nomination had been held up for several weeks to await publication of bearings at which Mrs. Longstreet defended herself against the charge of incompetency.

There was a feeling among some Republican senators that an attempt had been made to suppress publication of Mrs. Longstreet's defense, and they forced an agreement by which the report was published before favorable action was taken on the nomination of Mrs. Ham.

CHARLTON PAPERS HERE.

Wife Murderer Is Turned Over to Italian Authorities.

New York, July 11.—The last piece of red tape that has bound Porter Charlton, confessed wife slayer, to American shores for three years since the killing of Mrs. Charlton in Italy was unwound when Prosecutor Garven of Hudson county, N. J., placed in the hands of Acting Italian Consul General Giuseppe Gentile the final papers effecting the extradition of the American.

Mr. Gentile cabled to his government asking that two detectives be dispatched to get Charlton at once. They will arrive in ten or twelve days and will go to the Hudson county jail, where Charlton will be confined till their arrival.

BAR JAPANESE BATHERS.

Denver Park Board Adds to Alien Problem In the West.

Denver, July 11.—Japanese have been forbidden to bathe in the lake at Washington park, in accordance with an order issued by Park Commissioner Thum. The prohibition follows a complaint received from white bathers, who complained of the Japanese.

The park board has decided that, negroes not being allowed the use of the lake, the color line be drawn strictly, and the order followed.

3 KILLED, 6 INJURED WHEN TRAIN HITS AUTO

Motorcar Impaled on Long Island Locomotive.

New York, July 11.—Three men were killed and six injured late last night when a Long Island train bound for Oyster Bay struck an automobile on the Jericho turnpike grade crossing, a short distance from the Mineola station.

The train was that leaving New York at 10:25 o'clock and due at Mineola at 11:30 o'clock. It had just left Mineola and was making fast time when a big automobile of the touring car type shot on the tracks just in time to be caught in the middle by the engine. The machine was impaled on the locomotive, which dragged it 300 feet before the train could be stopped.

A call was immediately sent to the Nassau hospital, which sent an ambulance and removed the four most badly hurt to the hospital, later returning for the others. Of those in the hospital two are in a serious condition.

The chauffeur of the automobile escaped with but a comparatively slight cut on the head. He said the party was on its way to Glen Cove, but refused to go into further details.

According to witnesses of the accident, the occupants of the automobile could have seen the train in time to have avoided the accident, and the engineer was whistling as he approached the crossing.

WAS HAMLET FAT?

With His Own Words He Doth Proclaim the Fact Quite Pat.

The traditional Hamlet of our stage is a lean, ascetic young person, an idealized, etherealized, heroic creature evolved for the delectation of the matinee girl. He is a horrid sham. Is it credible that such a man would have lacked the determination, the purposefulness, to put his revenge into operation pat upon the discovery? It is all very well to argue about his mental balance. It was his sluggish liver that stayed him and hampered him.

Hamlet's father was a fat and lethargic man by his own account.

Sleeping within my orchard,
My custom always of the afternoon,

he says in his ghostly interview.

We may then look for some clew to Hamlet's character as soon as he is alone on the stage. What are his words?

Oh, that this too, too solid flesh would melt!

It is a keynote that may not be glossed over as a beautiful thought, for the same idea bursts out some lines farther on, where he says of the world:

Things rank and gross in nature
Possess it merely.

Is it credible that such thoughts are there for any purpose save to guide us as to the nature of this prince? They serve a double purpose. Not merely do we learn that Hamlet was a fat man, but also that he was an unhappy fat man. Hamlet was a man to whom his bulk was an affliction. He was handicapped by it and knew that he was. Some such idea is discernible in every one of the great soliloquies. He scorns himself for a sluggard:

What is a man
If his chief good and market of his time
Be but to sleep and feed?

His mind, unhinged or not, is obsessed by fatness, and in the mad turmoil of emotions after he has slain Polonius his thoughts run:

We fat all creatures else to fat us, and
We fat ourselves for maggots.

It bursts out again in the "Oh, what a rogue and peasant slave!" harangue.

Ere this
I should have fatted all the region's kites
With this slave's offal.

And who but a fat, lethargic man would have said in the "To be or not to be" speech:

Who would fardels bear
To grunt and sweat under a weary life.

Does not the phrase bring to mind at once the picture of a fat man toiling at some loathed task?—London Express.

WON BY A DOLL.

A Gift That Brought the Rebellious Apaches to Terms.

Major Bourke, as aid to General Crook, once showed himself an effective peacemaker. He persuaded a band of Apaches to go back to their reservation by presenting a doll to a papoose. The incident was as follows:

General Crook had been trying to put these Apaches back on the reserve, but could not catch them without killing them, an action that did not appeal to him. One day his forces captured a papoose and took her to the fort. She was quiet all day, but her black eyes watched everything. When night came the child broke down and sobbed just as any white youngster might.

The fort was in despair until Major Bourke had an idea. From the adjutant's wife he borrowed a doll that had come to her little girl the previous Christmas. When the young Apache understood that it was hers to keep her sobs ceased and she fell asleep.

When morning came the doll was still clasped tightly in her arms. She played with it all day, and seemingly all thought of ever getting back to the tribe had left her.

Several days passed with no sign of overture being made by the tribe, and finally in despair the papoose, with the doll still in her possession, was sent back. When the child reached the tribe with the prize grasped in her chubby hands it created a sensation among the native Americans, and her mother later went back to the post with it. She was received in a hospitable manner and kindly treated, and the effect of her visit was such that through her overtures were made, with the result that soon afterward the entire band moved back on the reserve.—St. Louis Republic.

The Money Tennyson Made.

Lord Tennyson made a great income from his poems. When Strahan & Co. took over the publication of the poems in the sixties they agreed to pay Tennyson $25,000 a year in respect to the books already issued and pay the poet all profits on new work, less a modest 10 per cent commission. This second item generally meant $30,000 for each new volume. For many years before his death Tennyson drew a steady $50,000 per annum from his publishers.

Just Like His Tooth.

Small Freddie had the toothtache one day, and his mother told him the tooth was hollow and needed to be pulled. A few days later the mother complained of a severe headache. "Mamma," said Freddie wisely, "I'll bet your head is hollow. You ought to go and get it pulled."—Chicago News.

A Bad Joke.

"A famous college president declares that there are no new jokes."

"Ah, he does, does he?" grimly returned the old codger. "Well, he ought to see the husband my niece has just married and brought home to live on me."—Judge.

A Damper.

Marion—I showed papa those verses you wrote me, and he seemed pleased. Harry—He did? Marion—Yes. He said he was so glad to see you were not a poet.

JOHN WANAMAKER 75.

Philadelphia, Pa., July 11.—Receiving congratulations from friends in all part of the country, John Wanamaker, the celebrated merchant and philanthropist, quietly observed his seventy-fifth birthday anniversary today. Mr. Wanamaker was born in Philadelphia and has passed the whole of his life here, with the exception of a year that he spent in Indiana in early manhood and the several years when his position as Postmaster General necessitated his residence in Washington. Since his serious illness of a year ago the famous merchant has withdrawn to some extent from active participation in business affairs. Much of his attention is given to the Y. M. C. A. the Sunday-schools and the numerous charities and philanthropies of which he has been a generous supporter for many years.

GRAND PRIX RACE.

Paris, July 11.—Hundreds of automobile enthusiasts left the capital today and journeyed northward to be on hand for the Grand Prix, the most important of the European road races, that is to be run on the nineteen-mile circuit near Amiens tomorrow. The race this year promises to be as speedy and as spectacular as the similar contests in the past. The leading makes of cars of France, England and Italy will be represented in the contest. The cars will be piloted by the best drivers in Europe, among them Georges Boillot, who won the race last year.

Of Interest to Women and the Home

The Housewife's Daily Economy Calendar

By FRANCES MARSHALL

Make the House Seem Cool.

Did it ever occur to you that although you can lower the temperature of your house only a degree or so, yet you can lower its apparent temperature many degrees? That you can make it seem cooler than it really is? Isn't that something like what the novelists call verisimilitude? And don't they say that that—recounting something, which could not have happened, in a way that makes it seem plausible— is a greater art than recounting what really could happen and has happened.

So, if you can make your house seem cooler than it really is, won't you be making it as attractive as if you really made it cooler?

Light and Air.

One way to make a room seem cool is to keep the air, no matter how warm it may be, circulating, and to keep the room shaed from the brightest rays of sunlight. In a bedroom it is not well to exclude too much of the sunshine, for in the summer as in the winter the room needs the sunlight to keep it in good condition; it needs all the air that wide-open windows can give it, even if there is no sun in its windows. But during the hot part of the day the windows in the living room should be well protected either with shades of dark green or with awnings from the sun's rays. A room so darkened in which the air is kept circulating with an electric fan, is almost as refreshing as a room really cool.

Another way to make a room seem really cool is to take advantage of each breeze. On a table near a window, where every moving breath of air will sway them, have a vase of flowers. Haven't you sometimes watched a swaying tree-top on a warm day, and felt cooler because you thought about the breeze its tall branches felt? The effect of a few long-stemmed flowers swaying in a breath of air is the same.

Summer Furnishings

Linen covers for the heavily upholstered chairs, if you live in the same house winter and summer, help make things really cooler. And surely striped tan linen is much cooler to look at than heavy rep or velours.

Empty spaces seem cooler than cluttered ones, and, better still from the housewife's point of view, are easier to care for. So remove unnecessary furniture, if there is any in your house. Put away ornaments excepting flower vases and a few necessary or very beautiful objects, until fall comes. They will be all the more interesting then, and the summer will be pleasanter without them. Take up heavy carpets, and in their place spread fiber, matting or rag rugs. These are really cooler than the heavy wooler rugs and carpets of winter.

Some Cookery Suggestions

WAYS WITH EGGPLANT.

BREAKFAST MENU.
Sliced Pineapples.
Cereal.
Egg Omelet.
Fried Eggplant.
Popovers.
Coffee or Cocoa.

THIS succulent vegetable seems to be growing in popularity. In England, where a white variety seldom seen in this country is available, it is a favorite breakfast food. The black and purple varieties are sold in our markets, and at this season the early dwarf purple is an excellent kind to select.

Stuffed Eggplant.—Cut an eggplant into halves, take out the fleshy part, chop it and mix an equal quantity of breadcrumbs with it. Add a teaspoonful of salt, two tablespoonfuls of melted butter, a quarter of a teaspoonful of black pepper and a dash of cayenne. Mix this well and put into the empty shell of the eggplant. Lay on top of it a thin slice of bacon and place in the oven. Bake until done.

A Nice Breakfast Dish.

Fried Eggplant.—Take an eggplant, an egg, a cupful of breadcrumbs, a teaspoonful of salt, a tablespoonful of milk and a dash of white pepper. Pare the eggplant and cut into thin slices, dust with the salt and pepper and dip in flour, then in the egg, which has been beaten with the milk. Then dip into the breadcrumbs. Fry in deep, hot fat.

Eggplant Dressing.—Eggplant makes a nice dressing to stuff in roast chicken. Bake the eggplant in the skin, then mash the pulp and mix it with breadcrumbs and egg and season highly with salt and pepper.

Browned In the Oven.

Baked Eggplant.—Take a medium sized eggplant and put it into a saucepan with water and cook it until tender enough to mash. Then take off the skin, which will come off easily, mash and season with salt and pepper and a piece of butter the size of an egg. Put into a buttered pudding dish and spread on top a layer of breadcrumbs half an inch thick; moisten with cream and put pieces of butter on top. Cook in the oven until brown.

Eggplant Fritters.—Carefully pare a medium sized eggplant and cut it into small pieces. Cook in salt water until sufficiently tender to press through a sieve. Add a little butter, white pepper and salt if necessary, also a pinch of sugar if desired. Break into this one egg, beat the mixture well and sift in sufficient flour, with a little soda, to hold the batter so that it may be dropped from the mixing spoon into a pan of deep, hot fat. Fry, drain and serve.

He Asked For a Sixteenth.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—

Why Daddy Got A Very Small Piece of Pie.

JACK sometimes made funny mistakes about figures. Evelyn often laughed at him and teased him about them.

"There!" said daddy one evening as the children came upstairs after having a little tiff as to whether a third was larger than a quarter of anything.

As daddy said "there" he took two apples and divided them into thirds and quarters. Then he offered Jack his choice of a piece of apple.

Jack giggled as he instantly replied that he would have a third of the apple. He could see that the third of an apple was larger than a quarter.

"That's the way I learned fractions," daddy explained.

"I remember that one day we had the most delicious peach pie. I was very fond of peach pie.

"When it was time to serve it mother asked grandpa how much he thought he could eat.

"'I'll take a quarter,' grandpa said. He also was very, very fond of peach pie and ate it with sugar and cream.

"It was father's turn next, and he said he thought a sixth of a pie would be about enough for him.

"Grandma laughed, for she didn't eat pie. Then she said to me, 'And how much will you take?'

"I thought very hard, for I wanted the very largest piece of pie I could get. The larger the number sounded the larger the piece of pie ought to be, according to the way I misunderstood fractions then.

"So I spoke right up and said I wanted a sixteenth of the pie.

"Grandpa looked surprised, and father, who understood my mistake, coughed to hide a laugh.

"'Are you quite sure you want a sixteenth of the pie?' grandma asked, looking very much puzzled.

"'Yes'm. I can eat it all myself,' I replied, supposing she thought a whole sixteenth too much for me.

"Mother merely smiled and took one of the little plates on which she gave us our pie. She measured the pie very carefully, so she could see just how much I ought to get. You can imagine how big one of the pieces would be if a pie was divided into sixteen whole pieces.

"She gravely put the morsel of pie on my plate and handed it to me. I ate it and was so ashamed of having made such a blunder that I didn't ask for any more. But the next time any one talked about sixteenths I knew what they meant."

VOTES FOR WOMEN

Conducted by the Equal Suffrage League of Plainfield and North Plainfield.

The Equal Franchise League of Cranford had a splendid float in the river carnival on July 5th. They will soon give the moving picture Suffrage Play with a good Suffrage speaker to intervene. Senator Robinson and Miss Alice Carpenter recently spoke at a large meeting given under the auspices of this League. The audience was enthusiastic.

Suffragists from different parts of the country will soon begin their pilgrimages to Washington to take part in the big demonstration to be held on July 30th, in support of the Constitutional Amendment now pending in Congress giving nation-wide votes to women.

On Saturday in Atlantic City, a "roller-chair" parade was held along the Boardwalk. Many prominent women from New York, Philadelphia, Washington and other cities took part in the parade.

Mrs. Ella. Q. Guilford, of New York, who is running a suffragists shop in Atlantic City, co-operated with the New Jeresy Woman Suffrage Association to make the affair a sucess and the parade started from her shop at 2523 Boardwalk.

Miss Mabel Vernon was in charge of the Washington delegation, and after the parade started out to visit many summer resorts along the Atlantic Coast, she will wind up her tour in Washington, July 30th.

The Pennsyvannia State Woman Suffrage Association also will send a delegation to take part in the July 30th demonstration.

Banners and petitions from various states have already begun to arrive at the Suffragists Headqquarters in Washington. One of the most beautiful banners which have arrived is that from Idaho, bearing the Idaho State Seal, which was designed by Mrs. James G. Green. It is the only State Seal designed by a woman.

A suffrage meeting was held in Goodwell Hall, Perth Amboy, on the evening of June 30th, under the auspices of the State Association. The speakers were the Hon. George M. LaMonte, Mr. C. L. Riley and Mrs. Feickert, President of the Association. The meeting was well attended by people from Perth and South Amboy, and a large number of people signified their intention of joining the Equal Suffrage League of the Amboys which is to be organized next week.

Referring to the decision of the State Association to oppose the nomination and election of Mr. W. A. Leonard, of Elizabeth, to the Assembly from Union County, because of Mr. Leonard's declaration at an Anti-Suffrage meeting in Elizabeth on June 9th that if elected he would work to defeat the suffrage amendment to the constitution, the Plainfield Daily Press says editorially. "It goes without saying that Leonard will have a hard fight to land a re-nomination and re-election to the Assembly."

The State Suffrage Association is beginning an active summer campaign at all the Jersey Shore resorts. It will have special representatives at practically all of them, who will and secure enrollments.

The State Suffrage Association is now settled in its new headquarters on the first floor of 33 Halsey street, Newark. It has a good supply of the latest literature, suffrage buttons suffrage stamps, postcards, etc., on hand, and the headquarters secretary, Mrs. Bonne, reports increasingly large sales of all these supplies, All inerested persons are cordially invited to visit hearquarters.

The outlook for the success of the men's convention in the Ocean Grove Auditorium on July 26th is very good indeed, and delegations of men from all parts of the state have signified their intention of being present. There will be two sessions, a business meeting at 10 o'clock in the morning and a public mass-meeting in the afternoon. At the same time in the morning there will be a conference for the women suffrage workers conucted by Mrs. Feickert, president of the State Association, at the headquarters of the North Jersey Shore League on Heck street, Asbury Park, which is just across the lake from the Ocean Grove Auditorium.

It has been decided to hold the annual convention of the New Jersey Woman Suffrage Association in Newark early in November. The Association will hold its annual parade in the same city the latter part of October.

BRIEF FASHION NOTES

The vogue of the double skirt seems to be increasing.

A new silk crepe has embroidered sprigs of flowers upon it.

Small leghorn hats are being veiled with printed chiffon.

Handbags are like hats and shoes in being as small as possible.

New York shops are showing some new blouse suits with pleated peplums.

Decorative sashes and belts are playing a big part in summer fashions.

Bayadere and Roman stripes are to be used this fall for girdles and sashes.

Broche crepes and brocade charmeuse in monotone colorings are among the fashionable silks.

The latest word from Paris is that tulle has quite displaced chiffon for drapery purposes.

The favorite shoe in Paris is the "cothurne"—a low shoe laced with ribbons high on the ankle.

Hawthorn, sweet peas and hedge roses are reported as being in favor in Paris for summer millinery.

One of the prettiest summer frocks seen lately was yellow voile with a white cotton velour stripe.

Among the attractive automobile caps seen this summer is one of two thicknesses of chiffon made like a sunbonnet.

For simple morning costumes many of the coats have martingale straps and lingerie collars and revers, hemstitched and laid on those of the material.

A novelty in parasols has a ferrule end which is an exact reproduction of the top of the Directoire walking sticks carried by the beauties of that period.

Boleros, blazers, Etons, Russian blouse coats and Norfolk jackets—all are seen on the summer suits of linen and cotton, silk and even lace.

Ratine so much used for summer frocks can be effectively buttonholed. A frock of ratine needs no other trimming than buttonholed collar and cuffs, buttonholed front closing on waist and skirt and a suede belt.

A dainty finish for net and lace blouses is a banding of tiny roses wrapped in a fold of net to edge the sleeves, neck and front of the blouse. The roses should be the little silk ones that are sold by the yard.

A sensible bathing suit for a little girl consists of mohair bloomers and a knitted woolen sweater matching in color. The sweaters worn for bathing with sailor collars and worn with a tie. For the smaller child the most comfortable and durable is the knitted woolen bathing suit, made in one piece and buttoned on the shoulders.

FASHION HINT

By JUDIC CHOLLET

Yokes and bosoms are very smart features of the new blouses, and this model shows both. The neck edge is finished with a pretty fancy collar, and the sleeves can be made either three-quarters or full length.

The blouse is closed at the back, although the arrangement of the bosom gives the effect of a front closing. The blouse illustrated is made of chiffon with trimming of lace and banding and the bosom and collar of messaline.

For the medium size the blouse will require three and one-quarter yards of material twenty-seven inches wide, with two yards for lining, one and five-eighths yards of lace eight inches wide and the same amount of banding and three-quarters of a yard of material twenty-one inches wide for the bosom.

This May Manton pattern is cut in sizes from 34 to 40 inches bust measure. Send 10 cents to this office, giving number, 7880, and it will be promptly forwarded to you by mail. If in haste send an additional two cent stamp for letter postage. When ordering use coupon.

Hope Chapel will endeavor to retrieve their defeat of last week at the hands of the First Baptist Sunday-school Leaguers when they line-up against the First Presbyterian boys on Hyde Oval. Last week's overwhelmingly defeat came as a surprise to the Chapelites and pushed them out of first place but they are back to even up matters this trip and a victory and return to first place.

First Baptist, now leading the league, will play the lowly Park Avenue Baptist aggregation and endeavor to keep that combination winless for a while longer.

DUNELLEN WILL TRY TO MOUNT HIGHER

Somerville Aggregation at That Burg for a Contest Tomorrow Afternoon.

With the games standing one all, the Dunellen and Somerville baseball teams of the Central New Jersey League will clash at the latter place tomorrow afternoon, both out to fight tooth and nail for the third and rubber game of the early season series. Somerville has recently been deposed by the Plainfield Pets as the league leaders and are anxious to return to the pinnacle of fame via the win route, but Bogardus and his crew cannot see it that way and will endeavor to show the Somervillians up tomorrow afternoon even worse than they were shown up at High Bridge last Friday afternoon.

The first game was won by Somerville with a score of 7 to 3 and the second clash went to the Dunellenites by a count of 3 to 2. In the event of Dunellen defeating Somerville the Bogardus crew will soar into second place.

Y. M. A. A. AT MT. PLEASANT.

With "Reg" Conger on the mound, the Y. M. A. A. baseball team will go to Mt. Pleasant tomorrow afternoon where it is due to clash with the Mt. Pleasant nine. Conger's "big" brother, who is manager of the Y. M. A. A. team, claims that his younger relative has a brilliant future before him, having made a study of Christy Mathewson's shoots and can fling them over as good as any veteran right now.

SOME OPEN DATES.

Manager William Conger, of the Y. M. A. A. baseball team, has the following dates for some good teams wanting games: July 19, 26, August 9, 30, September 1, 13, 20, 27. Address him at 331 East Third street.

HAND WILL CATCH.

Owing to an error, the Dunellen manager neglected to put Frank Hand's name in the lineup he submitted for publication this morning but the Scotch Plains' product will be right on deck nevertheless to hold up McLaughlin's shoots tomorrow afternoon.

PACKING GOLD LEAF.

It is "Handled," So to Speak, by the Aid of a Puff of Breath.

The gold reaches the "beaters" first in wide bars or nuggets. It must be weighed, melted and made into inch wide ribbons before the "beating" begins. The ribbon is then cut into inch squares and beaten with a hammer wielded by a stalwart workman. When each leaf has been beaten thin it is transferred to a mold, where it is beaten again for a period of four hours. The beating is accomplished by means of a wooden hammer weighing from seven to eighteen pounds on a sheepskin cushion resting on a granite block. The gold beaten is usually 22 or 23 carats fine. A little alloy of copper or silver is added to make it spread. It would be impossible for the beaters to handle perfectly pure gold.

Gold leaf is packed more by the aid of the breath than that of the hands. The operation of transferring a sheet of almost transparent gold leaf from one place to another is of such delicacy that it is possible to accomplish it only by a slight puff of the breath. The packers are for the most part girls, to whom, after beating, the gold leaf is handed.

The girls lift the unshaped leaf from the mold with a pair of wooden pincers, flatten it out on a sheepskin cushion by gently blowing on it, cut it into a perfect square, replace it between the leaves of the book and flatten it out with the breath. A "book" consists of twenty-five leaves, and a skilled girl operator can pack seventy books in a day.—Harper's Weekly.

LAYING A GHOST.

A Simple Solution to the Mystery of a "Haunted" House.

The mystery of a "haunted" house was explained in a recent number of Science. It was a large, handsome structure in Boston's Back Bay district. The trouble centered in the third and fourth stories, where the slumbers of servants and children were disturbed by strange sensations.

It was a common occurrence for them to awake in the night with a feeling of oppression, "as if some one were tapping upon me." Sounds also were heard, as if some one were walking about or overhead. Once a child rushed screaming into the nurse's room, crying that a man was waking him up and asking why she let him frighten him so. In the morning the children were pale and sluggish, even cold water lacking its usual power to enliven them.

Investigation at length revealed a comparatively simple, mechanistic solution in the escape of a large amount of furnace gas. Often the sulphur in it was so strong as to make the eyes water and to hurt the throat, while the sensations of oppression were typical of carbon monoxide. The noises may have been actual sounds coming from an adjoining house, although any noises at all would probably be exaggerated in the minds of persons awakened in the night while suffering from poisonous gas.

It is enough to chill one's passion for newspapers to read the mother-in-law quips, as they are sad, sad jokes. A mother-in-law is not funny afterward; she is only funny beforehand. In France, where they do so many things neatly, this is understood. Listen!

Young Raoul had gone down on his knees to madame, the Widow Lemoine, and begged leave to marry himself with her daughter.

"But no!" said the widow firmly. "It is impossible!"

Desolated, Raoul burst into tears.

"Don't take it so hard, mon gosse!" said she. "The petite Yvonne is exquisite, she is ravishing, yet there are many others in the France. A little of patience!"

"But, madame! my dear madame!" howled Raoul. "It is you that I regret!"—New York Tribune.

Buried In Installments.

A well known local character of Townsend, Mont., lost a leg in a switching yard on the railroad. The railroad boys raised a little purse for the victim, who was rather down on his luck in other ways aside from the accident. After paying his board and hospital bills he went down and bought a coffin and a lot in the cemetery, and had his amputated leg buried in good style.

"Now," he said, "when I cash in all they will have to do will be to dig up the coffin and put me in with the leg!"—Saturday Evening Post.

Blanche Bates is to appear in a new play next season, under the Frohman management.

Two plays which Charles Frohman will produce early in the season are "The Marriage Market" and "The Doll Girl."

"Seven Keys to Baldpate," a novel by Earl Derr Biggers has been made into a play by George M. Cohan and will be presented in September.

Leo Ditrichstein's new play, "Such Is Life," which has been tried out in the West, will be put on in New York early in the fall.

"The Man Inside" has been chosen as the title of the play which Roland B. Molineaux has written and which David Belasco will produce.

Porter Emerson Browne's new play, "What It Means to a Woman," is to serve Anne Meredith for her starring tour next season.

Louise Drew and Robert Kelly will be included in the cast of Philip Bartholomae's farce, "Kiss Me Quick," which will open in Boston early next month.

Detroit's latest playhouse, called the Washington Theatre, is to be opened next week with James K. Hackett in "Samson" as the initial attraction.

Henry Miller, in conjunction with Klaw & Erlanger, has arranged to produce "In the Vanguard," a play from the book written by Mrs. Spencer Trask.

Ann Douglas Sedgwick's study of the artistic temperament, "Tante" has been dramatized by Haddon Chambers and will be produced in America by Charles Frohman.

"General John Reagan," George Birmingham's comedy of Irish Life, which has met with much favor in London, is to be produced in the United States by the Lieblers.

Harry Mestayer is to have a leading part in "The Elixir of Youth," a farce by Zellah Covington and Jules Simonson, which is to be produced in Chicago next month.

"The Stolen Courtship," a romantic drama, is to be produced soon by Maude Leslie, formerly of Sir Herbert Tree's company at Her Majesty's Theatre London.

Maurice Campbell the manager and husband of Henrietta Crosman, will have three stars under his management the coming season and will make the production of three new plays.

A. H. Woods will make the first production of the theatrical season in New York, when he opens the Cohan Theatre on July 19 with "Potash and Perlmutter," a dramatization of the stories of Montague Glass.

JOHNS INNOCENT OF GIRL'S DEATH

Coroner's Jury Exculpates Miss Crispell's Lover.

MURDER MYSTERY DEEPER

Family Admits That Young Woman Was Wayward—Father Threatened to Shoot Her if She Didn't Give Up Her Associates.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., July 11.—Herbert Johns was exonerated by the coroner's jury of all blame for the death of seventeen-year-old Alice Crispell, his fiancee, on the night of July 4.

The jury found that murder had been committed and declared that the crime will probably be unsolved. This was the verdict:

"The evidence in this case fails to show any motive for crime on the part of Herbert Johns, and we feel certain that he had no part in the death of Alice Crispell, but we feel certain when we consider the evidence which showed the deceased to have always had a cheerful nature and therefore not subject to morose spells and therefore not liable to take her own life that a crime has been committed.

"However, we feel that this, as other crimes of its kind, will never be discovered, but that some evidence of guilt may subsequently be brought to light resulting in just punishment for the culprit."

Johns was taken back to jail and will have a hearing tonight before Alderman Frank Brown, when he probably will be released.

Girl Was Wayward.

There were startling developments in the case outside of the inquest. Instead of being only an innocent country girl, a worker in the church and a helper in all its social matters, Miss Crispell, it was made known, had a dual personality.

Proof of her waywardness was found in letters taken from the girl's trunk and in others found at the home of Herbert Johns, her lover.

Moreover, at the coroner's inquest William Crispell, the girl's father, and her sister testified that she was wild, and the sister said that because of that the father had once pointed a gun at her and threatened to kill her. This the father admitted. Johns attended the inquest only that he might be identified.

Pointed Revolver at Her.

Mr. Crispell had already told the county detectives about the revolver episode. He was angry, he said, because she spent her nights away from home and because she kept late hours.

He concealed these facts, but when confronted with some of the statements found in the letters he willingly confessed that Alice was wayward.

One hundred of the letters have been found and have been carefully read by Detectives James Holman and D. A. McKelvey. They lack the pleadings of a "Billy Brown," and while there is a vein of a lover's sincerity in them, they are full of vulgar writing that makes them unprintable.

In this connection it is positively stated that the case does not resemble the Grace Brown murder in the main motive.

More light was thrown on the girl's waywardness by Herbert Johns, who from the start has been shielding her dual life. From his cell in the county jail he told the county authorities that he and Alice spent the nights of July 2 and 3 together at the Germania hotel in this city. The register of the hotel shows they registered there as husband and wife.

Complained of Father.

In some of the letters found Alice wrote she led "a dog's life" at home, and she bitterly complained to her lover of the treatment she got from her father. She mentioned frequently that her father beat her, and she declared that she was tired of working and was willing to die.

Johns in answering these letters complained of troubles of his own and suggested that it might be a good thing for them to die together. These letters were written in March, but in the letters of later months there is no mention of suicide. In the later letters there is hint of a jealous rival on each side, Alice accusing her lover of being attentive to others and he making the same accusation against her.

SUFFRAGE HEARING PUT OFF.

Women Are Promised One by House Committee In December.

Washington, July 11.—Suffragette leaders were promised a chance to tell the house rules committee next December why a woman suffrage amendment should be tacked on to the constitution. The hearing was desired immediately by the suffragettes, but the Democratic caucus ban on general legislation forced postponement until the next session of congress.

Among the suffragettes who petitioned Chairman Henry of the rules committee for the hearing were the wives of Senator Shafroth of Colorado and Representatives Raker and Kent of California, Stone of Illinois and Taylor of Colorado.

MILITANT BOMB FOR REDMOND, IRISH M. P.

Mail Sorter Near Death as It Explodes.

Dublin, July 11.—A mail sorter in the postoffice narrowly escaped death and other workers were thrown into a panic when a suffragette bomb wrapped in "votes for women" literature and addressed to William H. K. Redmond exploded. The clerk was sorting mail addressed to members of parliament and tossing it into a large basket at his side. As he received the innocent looking package containing the bomb it exploded, injuring his hands and arms.

William Hoey Kearney Redmond, more familiarly known as Willie Redmond, M. P., has long been in the forefront of Irish politics. For more than twenty years he has sat in the house of commons as a Nationalist representative, sharing with Tim Healy and William O'Brien a reputation for vitriolic humor and ingenuity for obstructing parliamentary debates.

His more sober minded and more famous brother, John, is leader of the Irish party. Before entering parliament William Redmond studied for the bar and practiced for a time as barrister-at-law. He is now fifty-two years old, having been born in 1861.

Washington, July 11.—Expenditure of $220,000 to make its members more comfortable was begun by the house. Workmen started the job of adding an extra story containing forty-nine offices to the house office building.

The entire concrete roof, covering several acres, will be raised and the extra rooms tucked underneath. The new offices will house the "baby" representatives—these serving their first term—who are now housed in a ramshackle bulding several blocks from the capitol.

London, July 11.—A colossal hotel, the cost of which, together with the value of the site, will approximate $6,250,000, is to be erected on the ground now occupied by St. George's hospital on Constitution hill, opposite the entrance to Hyde park.

The magnificent site has been purchased by a syndicate, the governors of the hospital at a meeting agreeing to the sale, which has been the subject of negotiations for years. It is stated that the purchasers are not Americans.

WARREN LINER AFIRE IN DOCK

Freight Steamer Michigan Badly Damaged—Overhauling Necessary.

Boston, July 11.—The Warren liner Michigan, tied up at the Hoosac tunnel docks in Charleston, was damaged to the extent of several thousand dollars by fire in her hold. So much water was used in extinguishing the flames that the vessel took a bad list to port.

A complete overhauling of the Michigan will be necessary before she can put to sea again. The steamer was loaded with a heavy cargo of freight and was due to sail for Liverpool today. The cause of the fire is unknown.

Newark, N. J., July 11.—Because his sweetheart refused to elope with him, William H. Shauger of 632 Warren street drank carbolic acid before a Newark theater in Market street.

"I don't care what happens now," he said to a group of persons who surrounded him when he took the bottle from his pocket.

The next moment he lay in the street. He was dead a few moments later. In his pocket was found a wedding ring and a marriage license for his wedding to Miss Anna Yaeger of 2 Quimby street, West Orange.

At about the hour when the young man drank the poison his grandmother, Mrs. Dunlop, awoke in the home of Shauger. She and Shauger's mother had planned to go away for a vacation trip.

The grandmother told her daughter that she had had a terrifying dream.

"Something awful has happened," she said. "I can't quite make out what, but we won't be able to go away."

An investigation by the police and the county authorities showed that Shauger had planned to elope with Miss Yaeger. She had agreed to go with him from her West Orange home and be married in Newark.

But Mrs. Yaeger, the girl's mother, found a love letter written by Shauger to Miss Yaeger, in which the elopement was spoken of. The mother at once taxed the girl with it. The girl admitted freely that she was going to marry the young man, but said that they had hoped to keep it secret.

"You mustn't go away with that young man," said the mother. "He is a victim of hysteria, and he would change his mind about loving you once you were away."

After a little talk together, mother and daughter finally agreed that the marriage should not take place.

A little later Shauger called at the house, expecting to elope with the girl. She told him of her determination. He left her after a long effort to persuade her to change her mind.

GOV. FIELDER SEEKING VOTES

State Executive on "Handshaking Tour" of Gloucester County.

Gloucester, N. J., July 11.—Governor Fielder of New Jersey continued his campaign for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination by making a "handshaking and personal greeting tour" through Gloucester county. The governor is making no speeches, believing he can accomplish more in the interest of his candidacy by becoming more intimately acquainted with the voters.

The governor's party left Woodbury in five automobiles. The first stop was at Westville. The party then went to Hurffville, Cross Keys, Williamstown and Clayton. At noon the governor and those accompanying him had luncheon at the home of Harry W. Jones at Franklinville. The towns visited in the afternoon included Glassboro, Ridgewood, Ewan, Mullica Hill, Harrisonville, Swedesboro, Bridgeton, Gibbstown and Paulsboro.

WORKMEN IN A SANDSLIDE.

Four Partly Buried In Newark, but All Dug Out Alive.

Newark, N. J., July 11.—Four workmen were buried up to their necks in a slide of sand in an excavation in Market street. The men were rescued after two hours' digging and taken to the hospital. None of them is seriously injured. The excavation is for a new theater.

Heavy rains loosened the sand about the beam supports in the hole. When the men went into the excavation the shoring suddenly collapsed, and the workmen were caught in the drift. The accident created considerable excitement in the business section of Newark, early reports having several persons buried under the slide.

Passaic Truant Officer Shows Conditions of School Pupils.

Passaic, N. J., July 11.—When Mayor Seger of Passaic received the annual report of Truant Officer Weber he noticed an item that eighty-one cases of intoxication were found in the public schools during the year.

Weber was called on for an explanation. He said the majority of cases were from families of foreigners, in which intoxicating beverages are freely used.

COLONEL RUGG DIES ON TRAIN

On Way Home From Gettysburg. Fired First Shot In Battle.

Tacoma, Wash., July 11.—The Washington special train bringing home the state's quota of veterans from the Gettysburg reunion reached the city with the body of Colonel C. S. Rugg, who died en route.

Colonel Rugg claimed to have fired the first shot on the historic field. He later spent twenty-six months in Andersonville prison.

2 PLANTS AGREE TO LESS HOURS

Potter and Hall Concerns Grant Demands but Scott Shop is Closed.

CHANGES MADE TODAY

Machinists in Two Places Get 49½ Hours a Week—No Signs of Amicable Arrangement at the Scott Plant.

The Potter Printing Press Co. and the Hall Printing Press Company, following a conference yesterday with Hugh V. Reilly, business agent for district No. 47, International Association of Machinists, agreed to the requests of the machinists employed in those plants for a reduction to 49½ hours a week, and notices to that effect were immediately posted in the shops. The change becomes effective at once.

The Walter Scott Printing Machine Company has not yet granted the reduction. The matter is still pending with that concern and it is believed that the differences will be amicably settled soon. There was a verbal agreement, with certain provisions, that the 49½ hour a week schedule should become effective July1, 1913, but there was a hitch, which has since been straightened out at the Potter and Hall shops.

The Walter Scott Company posted a notice in its shop today notifying its employes that the plant would be shut down until the dispute is settled. This is the notice:

"This shop will close until the disputed eight-hour day arrangement made in June, 1912, with the Machinists' Union is settled."

Although the union's business manager appears hopeful that the demands will be granted there, the Scott company officials decline to make any comment further than to point to the posted notice.

HOLDING MEETINGS AT OCEAN GROVE NOW

Camp Meeting City Season Most Successful With a Busy Week Ahead.

Ocean Grove, July 12.—The Campmeeting City is experiencing one of its most successful seasons. The sermons in the auditorium and the Young People's Temple have been well attended. The Rev. Dr. Aaron E. Ballard, president of the Campmeeting Association, is preparing for a busy week. He will have for a visitor tomorrow the Rev. R. B. Urmy, D. D., of Moristown, who will be the principal speaker to start the week's work in the auditorium. Russian educators to the number of sixty-six arrived yesterday and will remain over Sunday. The party, which has been sent to this country by the Society for the Promotion of Technical Knowledge, included many college professors, educational directors and high school officials. They are from twenty-two provinces. From here the party will go to Princeton University.

Considerable interest is being displayed over the appearance of Beatrice Van Loon, one of the greatest sopranos of the country, who will be seen here a week from today. Miss Van Loon will sing with Innis' Band of fifty-five pieces from Chicago. From here the band will go to Willard Grove, Philadelphia. Next Wednesday Alexander Crooks, of Trenton, a thirteen year old boy, said to be the greatest boy soprano in the country, will be heard. Master Crooks has sung before big audiences. It will mark his first appearance in the Ocean Grove Auditorium.

On Monday the annual convention of Good Templars will begin. Over one hundred delegates from various sections of the country are expected. Last year the Templars held sway in Ocean Grove and enjoyed a profitable time.

Tuesday will see the Anti-Saloon League delegates in session with Dr. Stearns, who is superintendent, present. On Wednesday, Thursday and Friday the annual convention of the W. C. T. U. will be held. Officers will be elected. Dr. Aaron Ballard is interested in the W. C. T. U. work.

TOWN TO LOOSE SCHOOL MONEY

Trenton, July 12.—Because of failure to provide proper school accommodations Commissioner Calvin N. Kendall, of the State Department of Public Instruction, has announced that he will withhold State moneys from the township of Winslow, Camden county.

TO VOTE ONLY FOR FRIENDLY NOMINEES

Men's Equal Suffrage Association Convention Delegates to Be Pledged.

As chairman of the State Executive Committee, Champlain L. Riley, of North Plainfield, has received the credentials from seventeen out of the twenty-one counties for the big mass meeting and convention to be held under the auspices of the New Jersey Men's League for Woman Suffrage at the auditorium, Ocean Grove, on Saturday, July 26. Regardless of party affiliations, the delegates will pledge themselves only to vote for candidates at the November election who promise to support the "votes for women" movement.

The Progressive party, which polled 145,410 votes in New Jersey last fall, is going to formally endorse it, and Everett Colby, one of the candidates for the Progressive Governorship nomination, is going to be one of the speakers. E. B. Osborne, who also hopes to head the Progressive ticket, has put a strong suffrage plank in his platform, and the rapidly growing Socialist party is for it, of course.

The combined Progressive and Socialist vote of the State, which may be considered as a unit on the matter of suffrage, is something over 161,000.

Other organiaztions are already seriously considering the political expediency of following the example of the Progressives and trying to win the vote of the Men's League for Suffrage.

Former Governor Fort, chairman of the Bull Moose State Committee, says that between now and July 26, the Executive and State Committees of the Progressives will both pass the following resolutions:

"Whereas, the question of woman suffrage is now before the people of New Jersey, and

"Whereas, the Progressive party, both State and National, has always advocated woman suffrage;

"We therefore endorse the action of the New Jersey Men's League for Woman Suffrage in holding a convention at this time, and we pledge them the support of the Progressive party, to the end that New Jersey women may win the franchise by the vote of the Legislature this year, and later by popular vote."

N. J. PAINTERS ELECT NEWARKER SECRETARY

Asbury Park, July 12—Henry Witt, Jr., of Newark, was elected secretary of the New Jersey State Association of Master Painters and Decorators at the meeting of that body yesterday. Mr. Wit resides at 239 South Tenth street. Alexander Stewart, of Passaic, was elected president, succeeding Henry B. Brewster, of Newark. Charles Greenhaige, of Paterson, received the vice-presidency, while H. L. Bartholomew, of New Brunswick, was chosen treasurer.

The chief organizer of the State asociation will be C. E. Blakeslee, of Cranford. Two Newarkers were named as delegates to represent the New Jersey association at the national convention, which takes place in Indianapolis early in February. They were H. B. Brewster, former president, and Henry Witt, Jr., secretary-elect.

WELCOME-HOME SERVICE.

An open-air service to be held tomorrow afternoon at "Sunnyside," the home of Mrs. Frederick G. Meade, 537 East Front street, will be the occasion of welcoming home the Silver Bay Conference delegates from the local Y. W. C. A. who are to return home this afternoon. The delegates will give their impressions of the conference at the service to which the general public is invited. The delegates from this city were the Misses Parmelee, Gertrude Mair, Edna Greene, Beatrice Gardner, Adele Herrmann, Reba Kline, Evelyn Manley, Eva Terry and Isabel Scarborough.

WEST ENDS vs NEW YORKERS.

The West End Civic Association has arranged to play a baseball game on the West Seventh street grounds, this afternoon, with a team composed of the buyers of the Sachs, Gimbel and Wanamaker stores, New York. These buyers have organized a strong team and no doubt will make the locals extend themselves to win the contest. Thomas F. Hylan is the manager for the locals, and it was through his efforts the game was arranged.

SHOT IN A HOLDUP.

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

Colorado Springs, Col., July 12.—An attempt was made by a masked man to hold up the night clerk at a fashionable hotel at Manitou early today. In a struggle that ensued the night watchman was shot and killed. The bandit escaped to the hills. A posse is in pursuit.

COLORED MAN ARRESTED FOR STEALING AUTO TIRES

Somerville, July 12—Abram Crosby, colored, was locked up in the county jail early yesterday morning, charged with stealing two automobile tires and other articles from the buildings of C. A. Speer, on Mountavenue. Mr. Speer had been missing articles from his place for some time, and a watch was placed about his place, Marshals Holmes and Hanlon being detailed for this purpose. Crosby was suspected, and yesterday morning when he was seen coming from the direction of the Speer property with two auto tires over his shoulders was promptly placed under arrest. Crosby, who is of a professed religious turn of mind, is unmarried and lived in the "lottery field" section of the borough. On account of weak eyes he always wears a pair of blue glasses.

WOMEN FAINT WHEN THEIR AUTO STRIKES RAHWAY GIRL

Rahway, July 11—Lillian Welch, eight years old, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. Leslie Welch, of 172 Westfield avenue, Thursday afternoon jumped from the rear of a wagon directly in front of an automobile owned and driven by H. L. Underhill, of 11 Rockview avenue, North Plainfield. Two women in the car fainted as they saw the machine knock the little girl down.

It was found that the child had sustained a broken collar-bone and other injuries about the body.

The automobile, bystanders say, was running slowly at the time. Mr. Underhill sent for a doctor, engaged a nurse to care for the little girl and said he would pay all bills resulting from the accident.

FUNERAL SERVICES FOR MRS. MARION VAN DEVENTER

Private funeral services for Mrs. Marion Hall VanDeventer will be held at 3 o'clock this afternoon at the home of her uncle, Harry L Hall, 978 Woodland avenue. Rev. Evarts C. Conover, pastor of the Temple Baptist church, will officiate and the burial will be in the family plot in Hillside cemetery.

Mrs. VanDeventer, who was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Hall, of this city, was married in May, 1911, to J. L. VanDeventer, of Woodland avenue, and they lived for a time in a new home built for them on Park lane by Mrs. VanDeventer's father. Seventeen months ago she developed an illness which necessitated her going to Saranac, N. Y., where she died this week. Throughout her long illness she made a plucky fight to get well.

Mrs. VanDeventer was prominent here in all social and charitable affairs, taking an active part in the kirmes and other entertainments given for charity. She was a graduate of the Plainfield Seminary. She possessed a sunny disposition and was extremely popular with everyone who knew her, and her untimely death is a source of deep regret.

BASSFIELD—HARVEY.

Miss Julia Bassfield, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Patience Bassfield, of Virginia, and Samuel Harvey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henderson Harvey, of Florida, colored, were married at 11.15 o'clock yesterday morning, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Luther Brinkley, 410 East Third street, Rev. L. L. Crom, of this city, who is pastor of the Second Baptist church, Rahway, officiating. A reception was given after the ceremony by Mrs. Wilson Smith, Miss Lotta Smith and other friends at the residence of Mrs. Brinkley. The couple are spending their honeymoon at the seashore.

TAKEN TO HOSPITAL.

John Hennessey, a familiar figure in the east end of town, was taken to the hospital in the ambulance last night upon the advice of City Physicial N. W. Currie, who found him in a serious condition at his home on East Third street. Hennessey has been ill for some time past and his condition took a sudden turn for the worst last night.

SHILOH'S EXCURSION.

The Shiloh Baptist church in conjunction with several other churches of Cranford, Roselle and Newark, ran an excursion Thursday to Bellewood Park. The committee from the local church consisted of R. E. Randolph, A. S. Venable, E. Wilson and W. W. Burton.

NEXT EXCURSION TO THE SHORE

The annual excursion of the Sunday schools of the First Presbyterian, Congregational and Park Avenue Baptist churches to Asbury Park, is annouced for Thursday, July 17. The train will leave Dunellen in the morning at 8:04, and Plainfield at 8:15 o'clock, and returning leave Asbury Park at 6:30, stopping at Clinton and Grant avenue, both ways.

109 BALLOT BOXES FOR THE BULL MOOSE

J. T. MacMurray's Thoughtfulness Prompts Freeholders to Get More Boxes.

Elizabeth, July 12—Pending settlement of the question as to whether the Progressive party is entitled to ballot boxes at the coming primary and general election, the election committee of the Board of Freeholders authorized the securing of estimates to provide 109 additional ballot boxes. This number includes one for each election district.

The question was formally brought to the attention of the freeholders at the last meeting by James T. MacMurray, city clerk of Plainfield, advising the board that eighteen additional ballot boxes would be required there at the fall elections on account of the new party. His letter and request was referred to County Attorney Codington, and the election committee. As yet no opinion has been rendered.

So far as is known the Plainfield Common Council is the only municipal governing body in the county to receive a request from the Progressive party for separate ballot boxes, and it was due to the foresight of City Clerk MacMurray. The request in that instance was based on the vote cast last fall as compared with that for the Republican and Democrtic candidates.

CITY DIDN'T ORDER TWENTY ARC LIGHTS

Council May Arrange for Better Facilites but Has not Done So Yet.

The plan to provide a better electric lighting system for the streets of Plainfield, using a higher power lamp of a different type than the ordinary incandescent which is now used, has been temporarily held up owing to the increased expenses needed by the various city departments. Th Councilmanic light committee made an extensive investigation of various systems in use in New York and other places and had decided upon the style of lamp to recommend for Plainfield, when the matter of expense blocked the improvement.

There is an impression that the Common Council, a year ago, ordered the installation of twenty arc lights in the city, but while the matter was discussed, there is no record of such a resolution being passed. Councilmen who were questioned on the subject say that they do not recall the adoption of such resolution.

G. G. Andrews, of the electric department of the Public Service Corporation, also says that he never received any information regarding such action, and is sure that if such was the case the company would have been notified. The fact that another local newspaper stated yesterday that the arcs were ordered a year ago led Mr. Andrews to make a denial.

There is no doubt but that an improvement will be made in the street lighting just as soon as the Common Council can see its way clear to expend some extra money, and it is the intention to give better lighting in the business as well as the residential sections.

ANNUAL CONVENTION STATE DENTAL SOCIETY NEXT WEEK

Asbury Park, July 12—The forty-third annual convention of the New Jersey State Dental Society starts here Wednesday and will last for three days. The meetings will be held in the Beach Casino. A new feature of the convention will be the showing of moving pictures of clinics and lectures. The election of officers will probably take place Friday.

EMBEZZLER HELD TO AWAIT ACTION OF THE GRAND JURY

Charged with embezzlement by the L. F. Hersh & Bro., wholesale grocery company, of East Fourth street, Thomas Moore was arraigned before Judge DeMeza in the city court, yesterday morning, and held in bonds of $300 to await the action of the Grand Jury. Moore had been employed as a driver for the local firm, coming to this city about three weeks ago. During the last two weeks a discrepancy had been noted in his account by the company's bookkeeper and when approached for a deficiency which was alleged to have been unaccounted for, he claimed he had lost it.

His statement led to an investigation and this revealed the fact that his accounts were $70 in arrears and he was arrested on complaint of the manager of the firm.

REV. DR. C. M. ANDERSON TO SPEAK AT FRESH AIR HOME

Rev. Dr. Charles M. Anderson, pastor of the First Methodist church, will be the speaker at the service at the Netherwood Fresh Air Home, tomorrow afternoon, at 3.45, and the special music will be given by the quartet of the First Presbyterian church under the direction of Herbert J. Harold, organist. The program for the following week will include services on Tuesday, Thursday and Friday evenings, and the speakers on these evenings will be James McClymont, William D. Murray and Joseph W. Gavett. The usual entertainment on Wednesday evening will have the good services of Stanley Robins and Miss Pauline M. Gates in recitations, and Elmer D. Cutting will be the soloist. The public is invited to all of these services.

BELLEVILLE CLUB GUEST OF DUNBAR SOCIAL CLUB

The Dunbar Social Club held its weekly dance at the Washington School, last night, there being about one hundred and twenty-five members and friends present. The Belleville Social Club was a guest and was given a cordial reception by the hospitality committee.

During the evening there were recitations by Miss Leila Kling. The music for dancing was furnished by Edward Connett, this being a feature. It was announced that the Civic Club comprising members of the Dunbar Social Club, would hold a lawn party on Thursday night, July 17, at the home of A. B. Hill, 519 West Fourth street. There will be dancing on a platform on the lawn.

The executive committee met last night and arranged to have the constitution and by-laws' committee, composed of Miss Lois Nutting, William Page, Miss Leila Kling, Ralph Green and Dr. J. F. Lawson meet on Tuesday evening at the Washington School to complete its work.

FOR SPECIAL ELECTION.

Owing to a misunderstanding on the part of voters relative to the question of registration for the special election to be held in the borough of North Plainfield on Tuesday, Borough Clerk C. M. Dolliver, states that citizens who were not registered for the general election last November, may register by taking an affidavit before a district board of election at the proper polling place. Many of the borough voters were of the opinion that the Geran law made it necessary for them to appeal before the County Court, but this is not the case, as the act does not cover special elections on municipal questions.

"NEVER AGAIN" HE SAYS.

Hannes Dennison, of West Sixth street, when arraigned before Judge DeMeza in the City Court this morning on a charge of drunkenness, promised never to partake of the cup that cheers again and upon this condition, and the taking of the pledge, he was allowed to go on a suspended sentence.

PLACED ON PROBATION.

Elizabeth, July 12—Louis Morrell, of Scotch Plains, was placed on probation for six months in the Quarter Sessions Court by Judge James C. Connolly, yesterday, on a charge of assaulting Loyd Bogan, of this city, at the Hall Signal Works in Garwood, January 23.

REV. PARKER TO PREACH.

Rev. Edwin Shaw, of the Seventh-tucky, who preached at Holy Cross church, last Sunday, will again preach there at the 11 o'clock service tomorrow morning. During July and August only the one service will be held on Sunday.

MULFORD'S OFFENCE WAS NOT FLAGRANT

Court Issues Warning to Motorists Who Speed at the Bottom of Grades.

An auto speeder's case was disposed of in the city court this morning when Jesse Mulford, of Woodland avenue, the accused, was allowed to go on a suspended sentence. He was arrested by Patrolman Geeorge Muir, on Prospect avenue, when he was alleged to have been traveling at a speed exceeding thirty miles an hour. When arraigned in court yesterday morning he claimed that it was necessary for him to drive his machine at this rate in order to get up enough power to climb the steep Prospect avenue grade on high speed. He also stated that his speedometer registered twenty-two miles when he was apprehended and not thirty-five as the policeman judged.

Judge DeMeza went to the scene of the alleged offense in the same automobile yesterday morning and upon investigation found that young Mulford needed all of the speed he could get in order to get to the top of the hill on "high" and in disposing of the case he said that the accused was probably under the same impression that many other motorists have been in this and other cities, that of having the right to "get up speed to climb a grade."

"While this is a violation of the law," he said, "it was by no means of the flagrant nature for which I fined three other drivers $50 each during the past few weeks and young Mulford was probably innocent of any wrong doing. Traveling in excess of the established speed regulations is a violation of the law under any circumstances and motor car drivers should understand that they have no right to push their machines to limit at the bottom of a hill any more than on a level stretch What we are striving to stop in this city, however, are the flagrant offences committed on crowded thoroughfares endangering the lives of our citizens and children and I shall deal severely with every driver brought before me on this charge."

TO INTRODUCE NEW FEATURE OF LOCAL RECREATION WORK

A new feature of the recreation work in this city will be formally opened in this city tomorrow afternoon when the gates of Parker Field will be thrown open to the public for the first time on a Sunday afternoon. This has been agitated in Plainfield by the playground commissioneds for some time past and tomorrow's innovation comes after a month of preparation during which time a program of music appropriate to Sunday afternoon enjoyment has been laid out.

The easterly side of the playground has been transformed into a place for outings and rest and hereafter a band will be present every Sunday afternoon to render sacred music. The field will be opened at 2 o'clock and the concert which will be given by Naylor's band will start at 2:30 o'clock.

CONGREGATIONAL SUPPLIES.

The Sunday morning service and Sunday-school sessions will continue at the Congregational church during July. Rev. Paul Douglass, of New York, who has been heard here with considerable interest, will preach on Sunday, July 20. He is secretary of the American Missionary Association. Rev. Milton S. Littlefield, of Brooklyn, prominent in Sunday-school work, will preach on Sunday, July 27.

ACT ON WARNING OF DAILY PRESS

Authorities Get Busy After Reading Editorial on Condition at R. R. Station.

RANDOLPH'S COMMENT

Councilmanic Public Affairs Committee Chairman Gets in Touch With Mayor Stewart Who Will Confer With Gen. Mgr. Besler.

Commenting favorably on a Daily Press editorial in yesterday's issue which called attention to the danger of the Jersey Central Railroad Company permitting crowds to gather on its west-bound platform at the North avenue station at times when returning excursion trains are due to arrive, Councilman Charles Randolph, chairman of the councilmanic public affairs committee said today that he has already taken up the suggestion to the end that the condition be rectified.

"I thoroughly agree with the Daily Press and must commend it for calling attention to this situation of affairs at the North avenue station when excursion trains are pulling in there," said the popular councilman, "The Daily Press is right; this thing should be stopped. After reading your editorial, I got into communication with Mayor Stewart asking him to confer with out fellow-townsman, William G. Besler, who as you know is the vice-president and general manager of the road. The Mayor promised to do so at once. As you say, while it is not up to the local police to act, the Jersey Central should see that there is police protection against this condition. Sooner or later, otherwise, there will be a loss of life. The situation is just as bad when the excursion trains depart. I suggest that the road use a temporary fence at such times as a means of protection."

The Daily Press acknowledges in this way several communications from citizens thanking this paper for its editorial comment in this matter.

RETREATING BULGARS MASSACRED WOMEN

Powers Advise Greece and Servia to Make Peace With the Bulgarian Government.

London, July 12.—Advices from Athens today declared that Greek and Servian forces in Central Macedonia has effected a junction making an army of 150,000. It was said that 200 Greeks, both men and women, had been massacred near Serres by the retreating Bulgarians.

The Great Powers have advised Greece to make peace with Bulgaria. Foreign Minister Coromilas, of Greece, has received a note from the European nations advising Greece to join with Servia in ending hostilities. It is said that France would probably become the protector of Greece, now that the Balkan League has been disrupted. Messages from Sofia are to the effect that a Roumanian army is marching upon the Bulgarian capital and that unless a settlement is reached in the meantime, Sofia will be occupied next week.

MADE UP IN COURTROOM.

Charged with fighting and creating a disturbance at Park avenue and Front street last night, John Canary and Frank Arndorff were arraigned before Judge DeMeza in the city court this morning and allowed to go on a suspended sentence after shaking hands in the court room and promising to keep the peace in the future. They were arrested in the midst of a wrestling match on the sidewalk at Kenney's corner by Patrolman Saffron.

FORMER PLAINFIELDERS HERE.

Mrs. Charles E. Buell, formerly of Craig place, the borough, but now of Millville, who has been visiting friends here, left this week on the Campania for a trip through Europe. Her son, William Buell and wife, also of Millville, who have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Joseph, of Sycamore avenue, went to New York to see Mrs. Buell leave on her trip, and today accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Joseph they returned to Millville.

CHARLES DAVIS IMPROVING.

Charles Davis, organist of Holy Cross church, who was severely injured while stopping a runaway horse in Brooklyn, several weeks ago, has left the hospital and returned to Plainfield. He is slowly recovering from his injuries.

BRAKEMAN CONVICTED OF STEALING SHOES FROM CAR

Freehold, July 12.—James Duffy and J. B. Norton, Pennsylvania Railroad freight brakemen, were found guilty by a jury before Judge John E. Foster of stealing eight pairs of shoes valued at $2.40 a pair. The shoes were stolen February 1 last from a freight car at the Red Bank Station.

The shoes were shipped from Auburn, Me., and were consigned to Goldstein & Son, of Long Branch. The shoes were found under the freight station platform at Red Bank by two boys and were replaced there after the police had taken a description of the stolen goods. The two men were caught, it is alleged, when they went to procure the shoes from under the platform upon the arrival of their train the following night. The jury recommended the mercy of the court. Duffy and Norton will be arraigned for sentence next Thursday.

IN PLAINFIELD.

The Evidence Is Supplied by Local Testimony.

If the reader wants stronger proof than the following statement and experience of a resident of Plainfield, what can it be?

Mrs. S. Driscoll, 1009 S. Second St., Plainfield, N. J., says: "There was a dull pain across the small of my back and in my sides that clung to me constantly and any hard work made me worse. I was subject to headaches and dizzy spells, especially when stooping or lifting and I felt weak and run down. I tried plasters and various other remedies but nothing helped me until I procured Doan's Kidney Pills at Randolph's drug store. They made a lasting cure. I can recommend Doan's Kidney Pills just as highly today as I have been for the past five years."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.—Adv.

STYLISH—RELIABLE

SUCCESS AND HONOR

Madam De Stael relates that Napoleon admired the English because they combined success with honor.

Combining success with honor is not to be admired; it is rather to be expected.

And rightly understood, one cannot be achieved without the other.

Had our business been built on deceit and deception it would have been a moral failure, no matter how great would be our sales.

To those who purpose purchasing Clothing and Fixings for Young and Old Youths, we recommend for your protection our unfailing devotion to the ethical side of business—that side which considers the "other fellow."

THOUGH RED BANK'S MAYOR GOT BLACK EYE, HE WINS

Freehold, July 12.—Acting Mayor Horace P. Cook, of Red Bank, despite a black eye and cuts on his face, is smiling because his contention that six of Red Bank5s eight policemen should not be brought to court here was sustained by Judge Foster when Fred Bruno was refused a renewal of his wholesale liquor license in Red Bank.

It was Mr. Cook's denunciation of Joseph Reilly, a Red Bank lawyer, for summoning the policemen that led to the fight which resulted in Red Bank's acting Mayor getting a black eye.

Later Mr. Reilly secured affidavits from the policemen purporting to show that Bruno's place had not caused the Red Bank police any trouble.

The affidavits of the policemen, not only contradicted the testimony of their superior officer, but went so far as to say that it was the belief of the signers that the place would be for the public good.

One of the policemen, however, Joseph Imlay, when put on the stand by Chief of Police Arthur Wymbs, said he hadn't paid much attention to the contents of the affidavit before signing it. Judge foster immediately told the lawyers not to question him any further as he refused to be guided by any evidence which "such a man" might give.

ADVERTISING TALKS.

The duck waddles to her nest, lays an egg and then waddles away. The hen goes to the nest, lays an egg, gets up and cackles and cackles and cackles. You can hardly give duck eggs away, but hen's eggs bring fifty cents a dozen.

It was once said that P. T. Barnum knew how to advertise; that Hammerstein knows how to advertise and that Gillette knows how to advertise. These three and Theodore Roosevelt are the six best advertisers that the United States has ever known.

The above are striking examples of self-advertising.

What Plainfield needs is a similar kind of advertising through people who know the beauties and advantages of Plainfield, "The City-by-the-Hills," backed up by a persistent campaign apportioned where it will do the most good.

Merchandise advertising has come to be looked upon as business insurance which insures manufactured goods on the shelves of the best dealers throughout the United States, and insures the retail dealers a steady sale and demand for advertised merchandise. It insures both manufacturer and dealer against hard times, failure, and is practically an insurance of a steady growth in profits. It insures the buyer against poorly made merchandise because the advertiser cannot exist unless he furnishes a better grade of goods than the non-advertiser.

If this is true, and it is true of merchandise, the same thing can be said for advertising the advantages of a community with possibilities far and away above the average as is presented in our City-by-the-Hills.

If there is one thing that will attract the better class of man who simply exists in New York or Brooklyn, it is the alluring thought of the hills, affording shade, cool breezes, divine health and protection which they offer to humanity.

Plainfield is a misnomer, as it gives one the idea that it is nothing but what the name implies, a plain field, whereas the truth of the matter is that we are surrounded by the most beautiful hills in this part of the country and it behooves everyone of us who has a spark of civic pride within us to emulate the hen and communicate the advantages to our less fortunate fellow beings; get together and work for Plainfield, "The City-by-the Hills."

Back of every advertisement must be merit, not only in what is offered but a clean cut original and truthful statement of facts.

There are just three processes the human brain must go through before making a purchase of anything.

Confidence.
Interest.
Desire.

Confidence is the cornerstone. One could not sell a $5 gold piece on the busiest corner in New York city for fifty cents, for people would not believe they were genuine, not knowing the honesty of the seller, and in this respect advertising does its greatest work in establishing confidence.

After this comes the interest for what is offered, and after the interest has been centered then a desire to acquire is the final step in consummating a sale.

The producer is the successful business man and the one who gets the business and completes the transaction. Other help is necessary and worthy of sincere respect, but they never get the big plums on the salary tree because they are on the side of expense and not income. The bigger the sales the larger the reward and how much greater the efficiency the salesmanship or clerk would get out of their ability if they would but keep in mind these three great principles of salesmanship.

Never in the history of the world was real ability, honesty and hard work given a greater reward than today, and if the clerk would but stop to consider the tremendous advantage and aid that advertising supplies him with and would but grasp the real principles of advertising we would see in the next decade in every locality successful merchandizers that would make it practically impossible for the large stores of the Metropolitan cities to in any way detract or secure the business from the smaller centers.

With advertising, parcels post, greater selling efficiency and broader methods accepted and practiced by the merchants of the smaller towns, presents an opportunity of making money today which has been undreamed of in the past.

All this made possible through and by advertising.

AUTO BREAKS PLATE GLASS.

The large plate glass window in the real estate office of Charles H. Hand, of Watchung avenue, was broken in a peculiar way, yesterday afternoon. A passing automobile struck a large stone in the roadway in such a way as to hurl it through the window. The machine was traveling so fast that it disappeared before anyone could get the number or learn the name of the owner.

A CHAIN OF FAME.

The Barrier Washington Erected Across the Hudson.

ARNOLD REMOVED ONE LINK.

Still the Monster Cable, In Spite of the Traitor's Act, Served Its Purpose and Blocked the Progress of the British Ships Up the River.

Somewhere in the bed of the Hudson river just off of West Point lies buried the larger part of a great iron chain, one of several ordered by General Washington during the Revolution to be constructed to prevent the enemy from ascending certain rivers to accomplish strategic points of vantage.

The British were making strenuous efforts to get hold of the Hudson in order to keep free communication with Canada by the additional channels of the St. Lawrence and Lake Champlain, and so it was determined to obstruct the Hudson by a great chain crossing from Fort Montgomery to Anthony's Nose.

But this was a failure. The chain parted within a week after it had been stretched, and, although subsequently raised and again placed, it was destroyed by the British.

Finally Washington decided to forge another and obstruct the river between West Point and Constitution island, for here there was an abrupt change of course, and a heavy tide reduced the speed of any ship encountering it. Besides, the channel was 300 feet narrower at this crossing.

The forging of a chain such as was contemplated was then no small undertaking. Requests were secretly sent to various iron companies, and among the bids the most favorable came from the Sterling Iron works, situated in one of the most beautiful regions of the east, now within the fashionable domains of Tuxedo Park.

It was originally organized by Lord Sterling in 1751, a well known officer in the Revolutionary army, and continued in operation for more than a hundred years, meanwhile passing into the possession of Abel Noble, who married a niece of Peter Townsend and who now in association with the latter increased the capacity of the works which eventually came into the entire possession of Peter Townsend, a patriot and filled with the spirit of the time.

He finally obtained a few Welsh miners from Pennsylvania for the heavy handling in the forging and a number of men from Connecticut with their ox teams to do the hauling, and when the chain was ready it was drawn over the rough mountainous roads and through forests that had to be purposely cut in many places and so on to New Windsor, the nearest river point, and towed to West Point.

It was a strenuous undertaking from the very start. Each link weighed 300 pounds, was two feet in length and two and a quarter inches square, and each 100 feet was secured by a swivel, a twisting link, and at every thousand feet there was a clevis. The whole of this weighed 185 tons. When it was stretched across from West Point to Constitution island it was buoyed up by large sixteen foot logs, and these were in turn held in place by the anchors.

The British made no specific attack on this then invincible obstacle, for it must be remembered that in those days there was no dynamite nor torpedoes, and none of the enemy's prows would have pushed their way through such a barrier.

Although the British did not succeed in passing the big Hudson river chain, the American traitor Arnold gave it his particular attention and removed a link of it under the pretense of having it repaired for weakness at a nearby smithy. He wrote to Major Andre that it would not be replaced until the forts were surrendered to the British. But somehow the chain stood for its purpose, and Sir Henry Clinton did not attempt to relieve Burgoyne.

Parts of this celebrated chain are to be seen among various historical curios of prominent societies. A number of years ago Mayor Hewitt of New York, then the owner of a mine near the Sterling properties, became interested in finding out the whereabouts of the remaining portions of the chain. A large part of it lies at the bottom of the river, about thirty tons were in various possessions, and at West Point there are thirteen links, and a staple placed near the spot where the chain was anchored and a plate tells of the date and place of forging.—Boston Herald.

No Primaries For Her.

"Are you going to the primaries tonight, Ethelinda?" asked the husband of his suffragette wife.

"Indeed I am not!" replied the lady. "Do you suppose that after I have attended the postgraduate courses in political science for two years I'm going to waste my time on those primary classes? I guess not! They're good enough for you men, but we women have progressed beyond that!"—Harper's Weekly.

Two Failures.

"I married for beauty alone," said a presumably happy benedict to an old chum. "And yet you remind me of a friend of mine who married for money," was the rejoinder. "How's that?" "He didn't get it," said the chum sarcastically.

The preservation of health is a duty. Few seem conscious that there is such a thing as physical morality.—Spencer.

GUARD AGAINST LEAKS.

New York, July 12.—In order, as they alleged, to forestal any attempt to place dictagraphs in their meeting hall, the 800 local committeemen of the Order of Railroad Conductors and the Brotherhood of Railway Trainman were not told of the meeting place until they assembled formally at the Broadway Central this morning. The Broadway Central was found inadequate for the accommodations of this number of men and they adjourned to Webster Hall. The full committee has not arrived in town as yet and will not until this evening when it is expected that additional delegates from the districts around Chicago will arrive.

The officers were as follows: Councilor, George J. Robbins; vice-councilor, George Patterson; recording secretary, Walter C. Walker; assistant recording secretary, Guy E. Thomas; treasurer, F. L. Soper; warden, Edward Dunham; conductor, W. S. England; inside sentinel, Ray Lyons; outside sentinel, Joseph Martin; trustee for three years, William Iseman; representative to State Council, George Wilson; representative to Funeral Benefit Association, George Watts.

Two Strenuous Lives.

Clovis Hughes, the French journalist, poet and duelist, filled his fifty-five years of life with sufficient excitement to make him worthy of special mention. One of his claims to distinction was that he had engaged in a French duel which resulted fatally—for the other man. He was a tempestuous radical and was once suspended from the chamber of deputies for insulting remarks to the president, which did not at all curb him. He wrote a number of novels, poems and plays in which he sought to spread socialistic propaganda, and he wrote a pretentious five act drama in verse called "Le Sommeil de Danton" ("The Sleep of Danton"), which was produced at the Opera Comique. His wife contributed her share of excitement by killing a public official in the palace of justice because of an alleged insult. Before she was tried she wrote and acted "La Vegeance de Mme. Clovis Hughes." The play depicted her sensational act and represented her as triumphantly exonerated by the court. When her trial came the court did as predicted.

The John Wanamaker Store

Formerly A. T. Stewart & Co.

Broadway and Ninth, New York

New Sale of Men's Suits

Larger and Better in Economies, than Any that Has Preceded, Including

9,127 Suits, Not on Sale Before

$16.50 to $25 Grades for $11.50

New Store for Men, Eighth street corner Broadway.

$25 to $35 Grades for $15.50

Burlington Arcade Floor, New Building.

No Charge for Alterations

Three and two-piece suits of worsteds, cheviots, cassimeres, crashes and homespuns in mixtures, plaids, stripes and checks—hundreds of patterns to suit every taste.

Half-lined suits, quarter-lined suits and full-lined suits.

All sizes including stouts, longs and shorts.

In the lot are 700 cool mohairs rarely offered in a sale.

"Day of Courtesy," Monday, July 14th

the men of New York are cordially invited to visit the Wanamaker Auditorium and make advance selections of these suits, thus getting first pick of the remarkable values.

The coats can be fitted on Monday and measurements taken for the trousers so that all alterations may be started early and delivery quickly made.

This will relieve the usual congestion unavoidable on the first day of a sale of this magnitude, and will get our tailors started on alteration ahead of the rush.

We have installed additional tailor shops and extra fitting rooms, and have brought in many additional salesmen of experience, but it will be a favor—to us and to themselves—if those who can will come Monday and make their advance selections.

On Tuesday, July 15, the Men's Store Opens at 7:30 A. M.

to give the opportunity of visiting the sale before business hours. The store will remain open until all are served.

Why This Is, in Many Ways, the Best Sale of the Year

The old custom of putting the biggest apples at the top of the barrel is reversed in the clothing manufacturing business.

There, when it comes to the end of the season, the makers hold back and keep out of sight their best suits getting full price for them as long as they can.

These 9,127 suits are the surplus stock from one of the largest clothing concerns in the country. The season's output was over 150,000 suits, sold by retailers for $16.50 to $35.

Now We Offer These Same Grades for $11.50 and $15.50

It is a nationally advertised brand of clothing which shall be rameless in this announcement so that the many dealers over the country still selling the suits at full prices may be protected.

It is a clothing concern that we have worked with for many years, always bettering their product.

At first they installed a private tailoring shop to make our clothing

THE WANAMAKER WAY

They did it under protest, saying we were crazy to pay so much for making clothes; that no other dealer insisted on such strict specifications.

Now they make ALL their better grades of clothing the Wanamaker way.

The Wanamaker Guarantee is back of every suit—all goods returnable for cash refund within two weeks after purchase.

WILSON'S AUTO ESCAPES WRECK

Run Down Embankment to Avoid Collision.

PRESIDENT PRAISES PILOT

Chauffeur Dexterously Switches Machine and Earns Commendation of Executive—Later on High Spirited Horse Tries to Climb Into the Presidential Car.

Windsor, Vt., July 12.—To avoid collision with a wagon traveling in the opposite direction President Wilson narrowly escaped injury in an automobile wreck when his chauffeur had to drive off the road, crash down an embankment into a yard and run flush against a house.

The automobile carrying the secret service men had to be sent down the same embankment in the same manner. The president was returning from a golf game at Hanover and was a few miles out of that place when the accident occurred. Mr. Wilson was rather severely bumped about in the car.

The wagon approaching from the opposite direction was on a narrow bridge and all three vehicles were going at a fair rate of speed. There was no chance for the approaching wagon to swerve from its course on the narrow bridge roadway. The president's chauffeur realized the situation instantly.

The embankment was not high, and he was certain that he could take it without serious danger, but as the big motor went down the slope it jarred the occupants, including the president, so that they were bounced about and almost thrown from their seats.

Couldn't Stop the Car.

One of the secret service men said that the president's car had just turned a sharp curve when it was confronted by the wagon If the chauffeur had been making his accustomed high speed, he said, a serious accident could not have been avoided. The secret service car was running about fifty feet behind the president's car and followed its course down the slight embankment into the yard.

The momentum of the car made it impossible for the chauffeur to stop until he had run across the yard and squarely up to the house.

The experience of the secret service men in their car was practically the same as that of the president.

Later, on the way back to Harlakenden, the presidential car met a horse unaccustomed to automobiles. The narrow mountain road made it very difficult to pass. As the presidential car approached the horse reared on its hind legs and pawed the air with its fore feet, threatening to strike the president or his chauffeur. The party had to stop, and the secret service men got out and held the horse.

Even then, as the president passed the frightened animal, it seemed to want to try to climb into the car by again rearing on its hind legs.

The president arrived here without further mishap. He was inclined to pass off the incident as not worthy of attention. He was forced, however, to laugh at his plight and the excitement of the thrilling journey from the links.

RATE ADVANCE JUSTIFIED.

Commerce Commission Decision on Lumber and Staves.

Washington, July 12.—Proposed advances in rates on lumber, staves and headings from Memphis to New Orleans were declared justified in an interstate commerce commission decision.

The commission, however, denied the request of the Illinois Central for permission to continue through rates between Memphis and New Orleans, which were less than the total of local rates between the two cities, the permission being asked under the discretionary section of the long and short haul clause of the railway rate act.

BROOKLYN HAS 'FATTEST ELK'

Prizes Are Awarded at Order's Rochester Convention.

Rochester, N. Y., July 12.—The Elks who are in convention here awarded prizes. Denver won the $500 prize for excelling in the competitive drills. Seattle won the $250 "greatest aggregate mileage" prize and the $500 prize for having the most attractive float.

Buffalo was first for "best appearance in line." Utica for "greatest number in line," with New York third. The "fattest Elk" is Cupid Smith of Brooklyn, and he gets $10 for the distinction.

The Brooklyn lodge went to Niagara Falls on the way to Toronto.

COHALAN ON STAND.

Supreme Court Justice Snapped at Hearing in Albany Yesterday.

Supreme Court Justice Daniel F. Cohalan is to be exonerated of the graft charge against him, the Albany legislature judiciary committee almost unanimously decided last night. John A. Connolly, president of the Victor Heating company, who accused Justice Cohalan of demanding and accepting 55 per cent of the profits of city contracts Cohalan secured for that company, will be accused of perjury in the New York city courts as a result of testimony he gave at the hearing, according to Isador J. Keisel of counsel for Mr. Cohalan.

TELLS OF FRIEND'S DEATH BY MOTOR

May Duryea's Companion Swears Car Wasn't Stopped.

TRIAL BEGINS IN TRENTON

Friend of Victim of Brooklyn Man's Automobile Sure Three Persons Were In Machine at Time of Fatality—Not Positive Whether Third Was Man or Woman.

Trenton, N. J., July 12.—Frank G. Scammell, county physician, was the first witness called at the trial of Ivan F. Hoffman of Brooklyn, a chauffeur, and his employer, Joseph F. Moran, also of Brooklyn, upon indictments found in connection with the death two months ago of Miss May Duryea.

Miss Duryea was struck by an automobile owned by Moran and driven by Hoffman as she was walking near Princeton. It is alleged that besides the two men there was a woman in the car. There was no woman in the car when it was stopped by a policeman near Brunswick as a result of a telephoned alarm to look out for the fleeing machine. Hoffman is charged with manslaughter and Moran with being an accessory.

Dr. Scammell testified that the autopsy showed Miss Duryea's skull was fractured and her face and shoulders were lacerated, as if she had been dragged along the ground for some distance.

Miss Grace Lloyd told of walking with Miss Duryea and said they were on the way back to Princeton when two automobiles, both traveling fast, came up behind them. She ran to one side of the road and Miss Duryea to the other. The Moran car hit Miss Duryea. It did not stop, and she screamed to the occupants, of whom she swore there were three, that they had killed her friend. The car was not stopped.

She was positive there were three persons in the car, but could not say whether the third was a man or a woman.

JERSEY WATER DEAL LEGAL.

Chancellor Walker Upholds Commission in Purchase of Wharton Lands.

Trenton, N. J., July 12.—Chancellor Walker in the court of chancery here upheld the right of the state water supply commission to purchase the Wharton lands in Atlantic and Burlington counties, which are intended to be used as water sheds for supplying water to cities in southern New Jersey.

The consideration to be paid for the acquiring of the lands is $1,000,000, to be procured by bonds issued by the commission, which are to be a lien on the property.

The attorney general of the state instituted a friendly suit to test the right of the state water supply commission to issue bonds in excess of $100,000.

The chancellor in his opinion said: "The commission in executing the contracts has not attempted to fine the state, but has made ample provision for the protection of the state against any debt or liability in respect to the property acquired.

JOHNS HELD FOR MURDER OF GIRL

Police Seeking Fanatical Relative of Victim.

PLAN TO EXHUME REMAINS

Mother of Johns Collapses When Court Decides to Hold Him on Charge of First Degree Murder—Sensation Is Promised.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., July 12.—In Alderman Brown's court Herbert Johns, the fiance of Alice Crispell, whose body was found last Monday in Harvey's lake, was held on a charge of first degree murder.

The hearing was short. The testimony was the same as before the coroner's jury at Harvey's lake when Johns was exonerated.

The decision crushed the prisoner, and he wept bitterly. His aged mother became hysterical and was taken into an adjoining room.

John's attorney, Frank A. McGuigan, declared he would get a writ of habeas corpus. District Attorney John Bigelow declared a long step toward clearing the mystery had been taken.

Mr. Bigelow declared the body of Alice Crispell would be exhumed and that Dr. Otto H. Schultze, the New York cororer's physician, would be asked to come to Wilkesbarre and perform an autopsy. He said:

"The autopsy conducted by Dr. Higgins was incomplete and his testimony unconvincing. He made no examination of the stomach, lungs or throat.

Hint of Religious Fanatic.

"I do not yet wish to declare that the evidence against Johns is overwhelming. Several things have been brought to our attention that complicate the case and cloak it in greater mystery.

"I have reason to believe that the girl may have been murdered by a religious fanatic who thought by killing her that he was saving her soul. We have startling facts and information. I have ordered Detectives Price, Holman and McKelvey to watch the man whom we suspect.

"I do not believe that Johns has told all he knows. I believe that if he did not murder the girl he knows who did."

A high county official said that one of the reasons that Johns is being held was to throw off his guard a religious maniac said to be a relative of the girl. This relative, the police think, was the mysterious man who was hiding near Weckessers boat landing.

It is the theory of the police that Johns, leading the girl to the landing, was suddenly confronted by the fanatical relative and ran terror stricken, leaving his sweetheart to her fate.

The police say the threats of this relative came at a crucial point in the girl's life. She had reached the cross roads and sought a hand that would guide and protect.

FIGHT SULZER NOMINEES.

Organization Leaders Seeking Cause to Reject Them.

Albany, N. Y., July 12.—There is beginning to be talk here that the Democratic legislature does not intend to confirm several of the nominations sent in by the governor on Wednesday. Lynch for labor commissioner may get through, but it is said there is partisan opposition to at least one of the nominees for up state public service commissioner and murmurs are heard also against one or two of the names proposed for minor offices.

The leaders have more than a suspicion that Governor Sulzer was looking far ahead when he sent in the names. It is said that all the resources of the organization have been exhausted in trying to find ammunition to use in rejecting several of the nominations, but that the search has failed. Accordingly the leaders are far from happy, while the governor repeats his remark, "The nominees are all good men and good Democrats."

COOL WEATHER AIDS POPE.

Health of Pontiff Continues Good—He Regrets Balkan War.

Rome, July 12.—The pope's physicians dissuaded him from taking his usual drive and walk in the gardens of the Vatican owing to the violence of the storm and the heavy rain. His holiness continues perfectly well, and the exceptionally cool weather conduces partly to keep him in good health.

The pontiff is deeply concerned about the situation in the Balkans. He expressed regret that both Bulgaria and Roumania, the two most advanced of the Balkan nations, should engage in a fratricidal war.

McCombs Fast Recovering.

Paris, July 12.—So satisfactory is the progress made by William F. McCombs, chairman of the Democratic national committee, toward convalescence since his recent operation for appendicitis that the surgeons in attendance believe he will be able to leave the hospital at a comparatively early date.

Weather Forecast.

Fair today, probably followed by thunder showers by night; tomorrow showers; moderate variable winds.

Happenings Due Next Week

Washington, D. C., July 12.—It has been a long time since the national capital has seen so much official activity in mid-summer as is the case at present. Ordinarily at this season of the year the machinery of government slows down almost to a standstill. But the Congress in session and the President, cabinet members and heads of departments on the job the Washingtonian might mistake the season for mid-winter—were it not for the extreme heat.

The hot weather of the past few weeks has imbued the powers with a strong desire to get away on their vacations before vacation time is entirely ended, and in consequence it is likely that the congressional mill will be speeded up from now on. During the coming week the senatorial debates on the tariff measure will begin in earnest, while the recess program of the House is likely to be ended with the bringing in of the report of the currency committee.

A special election will be held in Texas Friday to vote upon several amendments to the State constitution proposed in joint resolutions adopted by the recent session of the legislature.

Few large conventions or other gatherings are scheduled for the week. The national assembly of the Knights of Khorassen will hold its annual meeting in Minneapolis. At Winnipeg will be held the thirteenth annual convention of the Union Canadian Municipalities.

Events of the week in sports and athletics will include the Grand Circuit meeting at Pittsburgh, the Northwestern rowing regatta at St Paul and numerous State golf and tennis tournaments.

Among the events of the week abroad will be the celebration of the French national holiday, marking the anniversary of the fall of the Bastile; the World Congress of Free Christianity and Religious Progress, which will be held in Paris and which will be attended by many delegates from America; a yacht race from Cowes to Havre, for the King Edward VII. Challenge Cup; the Imperial Motor Transport Conference in London, and the second quinquennial European Baptist Congress, which will assemble in Stockholm.

HOBSON FEELS SURE OF U. S. SENATORSHIP

Congressman, Hero of the Merrimac, Likely to Represent Alabama in Upper House.

Montgomery, Ala, July 12.—Capt. Richmond Pearson Hobson, congressman from the Sixth Alabama district, is confident that he will be elected to succeed Joseph F. Johnston in the United States Senate. Senator Johnston's term will not expire until March, 1915, but the primary to select his successor will be held next year, so the campaign for the toga is already on. The indications are that it will be a straight-out fight between Johnston and Hobson.

Capt. Hobson already has stumped a large part of the State and he plans to continue an active and aggressive campaign until the date of the primary election. In making formal announcement of his candidacy for the Senate he outlined his policies as follows: The upbuilding of the navy, improvement in the education of the masses, a vigorous policy of developing the State's resources, and, in general, the restoration of the government to the hands of the people and purging the government of men who serve special interests, especially those who do the bidding of sinister liquor interests and depend for their success upon the debauching of the morals of the people and the corruption of the electorate.

In his fight for re-election Senator Johnston is standing on a platform constructed of his military record and public service. He is a defender of corporate interests against radical legislation, does not readily fall in with pyrotechnic reform movements, and advocates local option as a safe method of handling the aggravating liquor problem in Alabama.

At first glance it would seem that Hobson stands little show of success against the veteran Johnston. The latter has the prestige that is naturally attached to a brilliant record in the Confederate army. He served from the beginning to the end of the four years' conflict, was four times wounded in battle and rose from a private in the ranks to the grade of captain. As a business man and financier he has been conspicuously successful, while his record in the public sehvice embraces two terms as Governor of Alabama in addition to six years in the United States Senate.

On the other hand, it is not to be forgotten that Hobson won his seat in Congress by defeating John R. Bankhead, who admittedly outclasses Johnston as a veteran campaigner and astute politician. In his contest with Hobson Bankhead possessed the advantages of a Confederate record, a public career covering forty years or more, and strong political connections and powerful family influences. Despite these advantages, young Hobson, in what was virtually his first whirl at practical politics, won the nomination and election.

Hobson's chief asset is his ability as a stump speaker. While far from possessing any power of oratory he seldom fails to make a favorable impression on his audience, not so much by force of argument as by his apparent earnestness and undoubted enthusiasm. His policy of "progress," as opposed to the conservatism of Johnston, is also reckoned as a point in his favor, in view of the present trend in American politics.

WALLINGTON IS BANKRUPT, AVERS PROTESTING SOLON

Passaic, July 12.—The little town of Wallington is bankrupt, according to a statement made at the Borough Council meeting by Councilman William H. Mayer. The councilman further said that if the officials of the State knew of the true conditions of affairs the government would be taken out of the hands of the Mayor and Council. Mayer was contradicted by Mayor John McMahon and several other councilmen.

Mr. Mayer made his assertion after recommendation to install a fire alarm system in the borough had been made. He objected to any action being taken on the committee's report, and added that for several years the town's resources have not been equal to its expenditures. Thousands of dollars, he said, are being paid annually in interest on the sinking fund, but not a cent on the principal.

Mayor McMahon tried to convince the councilmen that Wallington was no worse off than any other town of its size in this State, and that the borough's debts were nearly all contracted by former administrations.

Mayer replied that every inch of ground in the borough was mortgaged and the owners of the mortgaged property, nearly all mill workers, were having a hard time meeting the interest on their homes and paying their taxes. The cause, the councilman said, was the flood ten years ago, after which several factories moved.

—Renting a flat, or house, or other property, is strictly "a classified advertising matter." Any other way of finding tenants is impracticable, costly and—sometimes—impossible.

100,000 TRAINMEN TO DECIDE STRIKE TODAY

Great Walkout May Occur Next Week.

New York, July 12.—Quick action is expected in the threatened strike of 100,000 conductors and trainmen on the forty-two eastern railroads after the final meeting this afternoon at the Broadway Central hotel of the men's representatives, upon whose shoulders rests responsibility for determining the date for the strike to begin, if such action be taken. This committee numbers about a thousand.

A. B. Garretson, representing the conductors, and W. G. Lee, for the trainmen, issued a formal statement relative to reports of the conference to be held in Washington on Monday. The statement reads:

"If the president of the United States has considered or called a conference to avert an industrial conflict we have never heard of it directly or indirectly nor have we commented upon or refused to attend any such conference notwithstanding quoted utterances to the contrary."

It seems that a strike is certain by the middle of next week unless some unexpected move is made on Monday by the railroad managers.

The leaders of the men say they understand the Washington conference on Monday will be to discuss amendment of the Erdman act, under which federal arbitration may be arranged.

Today's meeting of representatives of the conductors and trainmen will be the most important held since the strike situation became acute. Action then taken will be communicated officially to the railroad managers on Monday.

Albert Phillips, first vice president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen, said that the eastern railroads are not living up to the findings of the recent arbitration commission, which decided in favor of the firemen.

Chicago Police Say Prisoner Is D. J. Thompson of New York.

Chicago, July 12.—A man who the police say is D. J. Thompson, said to be the son of a wealthy silk dealer of New York and who, the police charge, has passed bogus checks in almost every large city west of Boston, is under arrest here. Thompson was arrested by detectives after he had taken apartments at the Lastrain hotel.

When taken to the station he refused to talk much with the police, although he is said to have admitted his home was in the east and that his father was well connected there. He denied he passed the checks. The checks had been passed on the Auditorium hotel, the Lastrain hotel and a dozen other concerns, the amounts varying from $10 to $25.

AMERICANS CHARGED WITH AIDING REBELS

Bryan Calls on Consular Agent For Explanation.

Washington, July 12.—Secretary Bryan has called upon Charles L. Montague, American consular agent at Cananea, to answer charges transmitted to the state department through Senators Fall and Smith of meddling with the political situation in Mexico. Montague's superior, Consul Simpich, also has been called upon to report on the case. News dispatches have stated that Montague incurred the displeasure of the Mexican state officials of Cananea by refusing to cash drafts in his capacity as cashier of an American banking company.

City of Mexico, July 12.—Much space is devoted by the newspapers here to articles in support of charges that American citizens are aiding the rebels. Alleged specific instances are given, the material for which in part, at least, has been supplied from official sources.

The official correspondence is given in the case of Jesse H. Johnson, United States consul at Matamoras, whom Elias, the Mexican inspector of consuls, charges with attempting to induce federal troops to join the rebels who had captured that town. Elias also accuses Frank Raab, whose probable appointment as port collector at Laredo, Tex., was recently under discussion.

The charge is brought that an American warship at Guaymas threw the rays of its searchlight on the city during the recent fight, thus enabling the rebels to take better aim.

Of Interest to Women and the Home

The Housewife's Daily Economy Calendar

By FRANCES MARSHALL

Making the Most of a Chicken.

There are so many ways of making the most of chicken that every housewife or cook ought to know at least a few of them.

For one thing, when you are roasting a chicken roast it in the usual way until it is golden brown, then turn the breast downward, back upward, and cook it in this position until it is done. In this position the gravy will run into the breast and make it tender and juicy.

Another thing to remember when cooking a chicken is to wash it quickly, and never let it stand in water for any length of time. Soaking takes out the flavor.

Pressed Chicken.

Pressed chicken "goes farther" than cold chicken, and is delicious to boot. To make it, joint a young chicken, and cover it with boiling water. Cut up a stalk of celery, a few young carrots and an onion and add to the water. Simmer until it is tender and then remove the skin and bones, and return them to the broth. Reduce it to about a cupful, strain it and stand it aside to let the grease rise. Cut the flesh into little cubes. Reheat the broth, mince the fat, put the meat into it, add salt, pepper, celery salt and paprika. Pack the hot chicken into a mould decorated with sliced olives and hard boiled eggs. Let it get cold and serve it in thin slices.

The way to make the most of a chicken, in a family of two—and it is often in the smallest families that it is really the most difficult to be economical—is this: After the chicken is dressed, cut off the two legs and joint them. Add the upper part of the wings. Put these six pieces on the ice. Then cut the breast, whole, from the chicken. It is easy to cut through the soft bones around it. Cook this in a casserole, with a small sliced onion, a small tomato sliced, and half a shredded sweet green pepper. Pour over it a cupful of milk and a half cupful of water, cover it, and cook until tender. Thicken the gravy and serve with boiled rice. The next day, stew the legs and wings like fricasseed chicken. In the meantime, add vegetables—a sliced carrot, and onion, a tomato, a diced turnip—to the rest of the chicken and stew and simmer it slowly for soup stock.

Dumplings served with chicken are an economical addition. So is the sort of batter used in the following chicken pudding: Cut a young chicken into small pieces and stew it until tender and salted wated. Sift two cupfuls of flour with two teaspoonsful of baking powder and a pinch of salt. Add two beaten eggs, two tablespoonsful of melted butter and a cupful and a half of milk. Butter a baking dish well and put a layer of the cooked chicken in it. Pour over it a layer of batter, a cupful. Then in another layer of chicken, and alternate until the dish is full. Dust each layer of batter with salt and pepper. Use melted butter, pouring a little over each layer of chicken. Bake until batter is done. Thicken the liquid in which the chicken was cooked to serve as a gravy.

FASHION HINT

By JUDIC CHOLLET

Both middy and Russian blouses are attractive for the little tots, and this model can be made in either way.

The middy blouse is made with a short laced opening, with the seams laced at the sides, and is a very attractive midsummer garment.

The Russian blouse suggests cooler weather and can be utilized for immediate needs and for future use.

The use of two materials made in one view makes a good suggestion. The treatment is fashionable, and it is practical enough to appeal to every mother of little girls. The belt may be worn or omitted.

For the four year size to make of one material the dress will require three yards of material twenty-seven inches wide.

This May Manton pattern is cut in sizes for girls from two to six years of age. Send 10 cents to this office, giving number, 7891, and it will be promptly forwarded to you by mail. If in haste send an additional two cent stamp for letter postage. When ordering use coupon.

Some Cookery Suggestions

FOR LOVERS OF GINGERBREAD.

GINGERBREAD never loses its popularity. Good old fashioned gingerbread is as wholesome as it is delicious. The little folks are always fond of it, and it has none of the harmful effects of many rich cakes. With a few currants and raisins in it a fruit cake that will satisfy the youngsters may be supplied.

Gingerbread may be baked in sheets, in the form of a loaf or small cakes, as you prefer it.

Old Fashioned Recipes.

Plain Gingerbread.—Add to one cupful of molasses one cupful of cream or half a cupful of softened butter or lard, filling up the cup in which it is measured with boiling water. Add two even teaspoonfuls of soda, a small teaspoonful of ginger, a pinch of salt, one beaten egg and two heaping cupfuls of sifted flour. Beat lightly and bake in a moderate oven.

Spiced Gingerbread.—Take one cupful of light brown sugar, one cupful of molasses, three-fourths of a cupful of butter, three eggs, one cupful of sour cream, one-half teaspoonful of soda, one heaping teaspoonful of ginger, one teaspoonful of cinnamon, one teaspoonful of cloves and three cupfuls of flour.

Ginger Cake.—Take half a pound of butter, half a pound of sifted sugar, beat together; add three eggs, beating the whole up till light. Take one pound of flour, half a pound of preserved ginger, cut small, and one pint of milk. Mix all up lightly and bake at once in a moderate oven.

A Fruit Loaf.

Gingerbread Loaf.—Melt four ounces of butter in a basin and stir into it by degrees a teacupful of molasses. Add half a teaspoonful of mixed spice, one teaspoonful of ground ginger, one teaspoonful of baking soda and a teacupful of warm milk. Sprinkle in sufficient flour (stirring the ingredients all the time) to bring the cake mixture to the consistency of a thick batter, beat it well, add two tablespoonfuls of seeded raisins which have been lightly dredged with flour and a tablespoonful of chopped candied lemon peel. Butter a cake tin, dust it with flour, pour in the mixture and bake it in a moderately quick oven.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—

The Little Ants Have Their Troubles Too.

The Drug Will Kill the Insects.

"AS I was coming home this evening," said daddy to Jack and Evelyn, "I saw an odd sight. A little brown ant was rushing around wildly as I came along the path.

"'Oh, dear; oh, dear,' he was crying; 'some one has spilled the sand into our halls! The queen and all the children are alone in there and hungry! Whatever shall we do?'

"Just then another little brown ant came rushing up and then another and another. Soon they all were at work carrying the sand out of the passageways to their home.

"By and by they had builded one of those little heaps of sand which we call ant hills, but which are only the dirt which the ants carry away when they are tunneling out their real homes underground.

"The first little brown ant stayed out to fan himself after his work, while the other ants when they had opened up the halls rushed in to see how their dear queen and the children were getting along.

"I made bold to ask him what the trouble had all been about, and he said that a boy had trodden down the sand that the ants who carried it out had carelessly left too near to the door of their house. Some of the sand had rolled into their doorway and filled up the hall so they could not get in while the ants who were in could not get out.

"'You see, we were out looking after the cattle today,' the little ant said.

"'Cattle?' your daddy queried.

"'To be sure,' my little brown friend made reply. 'We have a splendid drove of them on that rosebush over there.'

"I looked, but could see nothing but the little white insects that have been eating my rose leaves.

"I murmured that I could see no cattle, and the ant was quite annoyed.

"'Why, you were looking right at them,' he insisted. Then he told me that the white bugs were the ant cattle and that I must be very, very careful not to bother them.

"You may be sure that I felt quite guilty, for I had in my pocket at that very moment a package of white hellebore to put in water and sprinkle over the rosebushes. Hellebore will kill the little insects.

"You see, the ants milk the little white bugs just as cows are milked. They are very fond of the sweet milk which they get in this way.

"I didn't promise the little ant; but, now that I think it over, it does seem rather mean to go and kill off the little ants' cows, doesn't it?"

ANTI-SUFFRAGE

Conducted by Plainfield Branch New Jersey Association Opposed to Woman Suffrage.

The other day when doing my housekeeping errands (one of the home duties that has not yet been taken away from us) I fell into conversation on the suffrage question with the proprietor of one of the shops in which I found myself. After a minute or two of talks, the situation was summed up from one man's point of view as follows:

"Well, of you want my idea on the subject, it is this. If the women get the vote, the sensible, thinking ones will stay at home, and we'll be governed by the harum, scarum, hysterical women who just love excitement and publicity."

We, opposed to woman suffrage, do not agree with him, but we must allow that there is always a possibility of two much emotional, hasty legislation if women have the vote. The very quality that makes them useful in using public opinion might make them dangerous in carrying out reforms.

Then I went to another shop, and while waiting for a bit of work, again fell to talking. I repeated what I had just heard. "There's something in that," said the clerk with whom I was talking; "when you read the promises that are made as to what will happen when women vote you really don't know what you may look for."

"Then you don't thing wages for women will be raised by equal suffrage?"

"Sure not. What has the vote to do with wages? If women's wages go up, men's wages must come down and that means that more women must work."

Then another man said: "I'm quite open to conviction on the subject. Personally, I don't think it women to vote and don't think it would do either them or the State any good, but if they want it, I'm willing—only, I shall not be convinced that they want it until it has been put up fairly and squarely to the women to vote on."

And that seems to be just what the suffragists don't want. They prefer to rush it through a legislature where a well planned lobby can wear out the patience of the men, or can convince them that a voluble minority really represents the wishes of the whole. Here are a few facts about the Illinois "victory" taken from the Remonstrance for July.

Last fall, the suffragists tried hard to get enough signatures to a petition asking for the submission of the suffrage question to the voters under the so-called "public policy" Act. Only 100,000 signatures were needed; but the suffragists were able to get only 70,000, and this notwithstanding their offer of $1.00 for every hundred names. Illinois has about one and a half million voters, so the suffrage petition represented less than 1 to 20.

At the Chicago primary in April, last year, when the voters expressed their opinion on the suffrage question, the anti-suffrage majority was nearly two to one—71,354 in favor to 135,410 opposed—and every ward in the city declared against suffrage.

It was, doubtless, because they knew that public sentiment was overwhelmingly against them that the suffragists in Illinois abandoned their usual policy of asking for a constitutional amendment and worked instead for this partial measure, which does not require a popular vote.

The Attorney General of Illinois gives it as his official opinion that the Supreme Court of the State will declare the bill unconstitutional.

Already the women are talking of office and expressing a wish that Jane Addams should run for mayor. She does not favor the proposal, we are told, and thinks the women want two or three years in politics before attempting to hold elective offices.

YOUTH SEEKS TO ESCAPE ON MOVING LOCOMOTIVE'S PILOT

Trenton, July 12.—Leaping to the pilot of a moving locomotive after he had dodged in front of an approaching express train, John O'Brien, eighteen years old, who said he lived in Pittsburgh, sought to escape from a policeman who alleged the youth was trying to break into a sealed express car on the Philadelphia and Reading Railroad. O'Brien's attempt at flight, however, did not succeed.

Special Officer Hitchcock says he saw O'Brien tampering with the car. As soon as the policeman started after O'Brien, the latter dodged in front of a train, pursued along the roofs of the cars by the police, and finally leaped to the cow-catcher of a train just pulling out. He was dragged off before the train picked up headway.

O'Brien was sentenced to three months on the county farm by Justice Naar. An investigation will be made of his record.

RAID ANNIVERSARY.

Lawrenceburg, Ind., July 12.—Dr. John W. Kilgour, who was a lieutenant of Morgan's Confederate cavalry during the Civil War, has arranged to hold a reunion of the Blue and Gray veterans on his large estate near here tomorrow, to celebrate the forty-ninth anniversary of Morgan's march through Dearborn county. He has invited all of the war veterans of this section to attend the reunion and will furnish a big barbecue for the entertainment of his guests.

BIG STAKES OFFERED.

Pittsburg, Pa., July 12.—Today saw the arrival of numerous large strings of fast pacers and trotters that will participate in the meeting to open at the Brunot Island track here Monday. The meeting will mark the second link in the chain of Grand Circuit meetings for the season. The Pittsburgh Driving Club, under whose auspices the meeting will be conducted, has provided a program of seven big stake events, worth a total of $25,000, of which $14,000 is to go to the trotters and $11,000 to the pacers.

Queries, Comment and Answers

Sporting Editor:

Query—Kindly give me the correct manner of expressing the following sentence: "Is it too hot to stay in Plainfield two days." The sentence has three "two's" in it. V. N. L.

Answer—Your system of using the words to, too and two is O. K. and looks all right to me.

Sporting Editor:

Query—To whom must I write in order to find out the name of a sailor on board one of the ships that were anchored at Brooklyn last week? G. T.

Answer—Write to the captain of the ship in question, with a description of the sailor boy, and the captain may help you. Where did you meet the young man Gertie?

Sporting Editor:

Query—Has the average length of life in the United States increased or decreased in the last ten years? Kindly state the percentage.

Answer—The average for 1890 was 21.1 years. In 1900 it was 35, an increase of 14.1 years. This information is based on the United States census.

Sporting Editor:

Query—What is the value of a half a dollar dated 1837, and a quarter of 1834? B. M.

Answer—There are no premiums on the coins you mention.

Sporting Editor:

Query—Is the subway quicker than the "L" if one wanted to go to the Polo Grounds? F. W.

Answer—No, I tried it yesterday. The "L" is just as quick and more convenient.

Sporting Editor:

Query—Which is correct, Imper'ator or Impera'tor?

Answer—The latter is correct. Latin dictionary is my authority.

Sporting Editor:

Query—Is a bird a type of animal? A bets it is an animal and B says it is not. V. H. N.

Answer—The Standard dictionary describes a bird as a feathered flying animal, having two legs and two wings. An animal is defined as a living being, having sensation and voluntary motion. It would seem from this that a bird is a form of animal.

Sporting Editor:

Query—Is there a baseball club in Plainfield for girls? If so, who is the manager? D. H.

Answer—Ah! A future Christine Mathewson. We haven't any such thing as yet but may be able to advise you in the affirmative after the women get the ballot.

Sporting Editor:

Query—Can you give me the individual scores made by the sharpshooters at Sea Girt last week? C. F. M.

Answer—General Burd W. Spencer, inspector of small arms, Sea Girt, N. J., has the scores and he may furnish you with a copy if you communicate with him.

Sporting Editor:

Query—What is the value of a dime dated 1838?

Answer—Ten cents.

BASEBALL NOTES

The Athletics have five men—Collins, Strunk, McInnes, Baker and Oldring—batting over the .300 mark.

The champion New Haven team is showing the way and burning up the Eastern Association again this year.

The price paid Superior by the New York Giants for "Rube" Schauer has now been cut from $10,000 to $7,500.

The St. Thomas team now has the call in the Canadian League, with Guelph and Hamilton the runners-up.

For the third time in as many seasons the Chicago Cubs have shipped Pitcher Fred Toney to the Louisville team.

Manager "Whoa Bill" Phillips' team at Indianapolis is out in front and going strong in the new Federal League.

Otis Clymer, now with the Boston Braves, has played in the past with the Chicago Cubs, Pittsburgh Pirates and Washington Nationals.

Mr. Pipp, the new Detroit first basemen, is pastiming about as well as the other Tigers. He comes from the Catholic university at Washington.

With "Big Ed" Walsh, Eddie Cicotte and "Buck" O'Brien, the Chicago White Sox have a swell trio of moist ball flingers.

Duluth, in the Nortnern League, has three sweet hitters in Smith, Miller and Rhoades. Together they have poled out 24 home runs this season.

Larry Lajoie ventures the prediction that in another season or two Ray Morgan, of the Washington team will be the leading second basemen in the American League.

Outfielder Mann, of the Boston Braves, has put himself in the honor list by making five hits in five times up in a recent game at Brooklyn.

Cliff Blankenship's Missoula team, which was a pennant winner last season, is having a hard struggle in the Union Association this year.

It begins to look as though the Phillies have cracked. After the Superbas gave the Doolin crew a wicked walloping the Giants stepped in and delivered the knockout.

Recent American Association batting averages show a large crop of stickers in the .300 or better class, Miller, of Columbus; Hemphill, of St. Paul, and Chappelle, of Milwaukee, are the top-notchers.

Crandall, of the Giants, and Rudolph and Hess, of the Braves, are the only pitchers in the National League who are batting in the .300 list. Blanding, of Cleveland, and Willett, of Detroit, are the only American League heavers in the charmed circle.

Twice this season have Walter Johnson, of Washington, and Ray Collins, of the Red Sox, hitched up in great pitching duels that ended in 1 to 0 scores. Collins won the first great battle and Johnson copped the second in fifteen innings.

Wonder what caused High Bridge to suddenly decide that it didn't want the Plainfield Pets to appear on the High Bridge grounds this afternoon. Evidently that 11 to 1 beating over Somerville did not inject much confidence as we thought.

Even baseball managers take vacations sometimes. Bob Bogardus is back on the job after a couple of weeks he has spent in dodging the spotlight.

Evidently the Pets look like wild beasts to the Walton crew.

We will see our old friend "Nibs" Hand catching for Dunellen this afternoon. The veteran of the backstop art is being handed around this season like a novel in a circulating library. Hand is a fine addition to any team, however, and as he is used to Warry McLaughlin it is likely that he will shine forth in brilliancy this P. M.

But for his speed Cliff Randolph would not be much of a twirler, avers a fan. Granted, but then again, John D. would not be much of a millionaire without his money.

Dave Driscoll's supporters in New Brunswick are saying some wierd things about the Central New Jersey League since their favorites were dropped. Let's see didn't Doc Cook say he discovered the barber's sign in the far north.

The weather man has at least sense enough not to interfere with the baseball schedule today. Some day for the national pastime.

This time last year a set of sturdy Scotchmen could be seen every Saturday afternoon assaulting a leather sphere on a west end gridiron. Soccer is so sturdy a game that it renders an athlete immune to any hardship. How about a revival?

What doth it profit a man if he maketh a base hit and be caught flatfooted three parasongs off second?

PLAINFIELD TO PLAY ON 'PLAINS FIELD

Local Aggregation Will Make the Albert's Crew Hustle to Win Battle.

Plainfield—Stallings, 2b.; Englebrandt, ss.; Boyd, 3b.; Torpey, c.; Porter, cf.; Ortlieb, rf.; Garretson, 1b.; Moran, lf.; Randolph, p.

Scotch Plains—DeNitzio, ss.; Gray 3b.; J. Alberts, lf.; J. Walton, 2b.; Frentz, 1b.; H. Alberts, cf.; Hand, c.; Baldwin rf.; McLaughlin, p.

Manager Dorflinger's Plainfield Pets and Alberts' Scotch Plains Sunday-school pupils will meet in a regular old-fashioned hit-em-where-they-aint battle on the famous Scotch Plains diamond tomorrow afternoon, both regiments presenting a first-class array of talent that is pretty sure to produce some interesting baseball from a spectator's point of view. The Queen City delegation will sprout forth with about the same registration as trounced the Elizabeth abstainers a couple of weeks ago in a Sunday contest, and the 'Plains' diamond trotters will no doubt have to hustle to keep in the running on this occasion, even more so than they have had to against the many speedy nines that have spent Sunday afternoon's in that burg during the past two months when games have been won and lost by margins of one, two and three counters.

While the Plainfield line-up looks good in print, the 'Plains' contingent has proved its ability on the diamond and the Pets have had but one trial on Sunday afternoon playing together. Nevertheless the locals are optimistic of their chances and expect to have some bright red marks on the credit side of the ledger when the battle is completed.

SAW THE GIANTS WIN.

A number of Plainfield fans witnessed the final game of the Chicago-New York series at the Polo Grounds yesterday afternoon and saw the McGrawites get a volley of healthy bingles out of their system at the expense of the Cubs heavers. While the contest was one-sided, it presented every phase of baseball imaginable, including Evers' usual Friday afternoon discharge to the clubhouse, a few spasmodic strike-out sessions in which individuals starred, some long and lusty swats and a plentiful array of tallies.

POLICEMAN IS SUSPENDED.

New Brunswick, July 12—Finding Patrolman John Lyons intoxicated while on duty, Chief of Police Michael A. O'Connell relieved him of his club and badge and sent him home. Charges will be preferred and the police committee will give the officer a hearing. Patrolman John Vliet is also under charges made by former Alderman Thomas Kinney, who alleges he did not give all the attention he should to a sick child when on duty on George street.

ASBURY PARK PASTOR QUITS AS CLIMAX TO DIFFERENCES

Asbury Park, July 12—Following differences with a faction of his congregation, Rev. Lester Gerard Leggett, formerly of Plainfield has resigned as pastor of the First Congregational church. The resignation has been accepted and there will be a supply in the pulpit tomorrow.

Members of the church who had been opposing the pastor blame him for an unsatisfactory condition in the church finances. The friends of Mr. Leggett, however, declare that faults found with him are due to his attack upon the city administration last winter. Mayor Reginald S. Bennett, President J. Otto Rhome, of the City Council, and Councilman Willard Hagerman are members of the congregation.

At a meeting of the congregation in February the question of the church's finances was taken up and a committee was appointed to suggest to the pastor that to help in the curtailment of expenses his salary be cut from $1,500 to $1,200 a year. The pastor did not take kindly to the suggestion. It was asserted at the meeting that the church was $14,000 in debt.

ONE ACCUSED GEM THIEF IS COMMITTED TO JAIL

Long Branch, July 12.—James McIntyre, one of the trio arrested for the theft of $50,000 worth of jewels from the summer home of Harry L. Haas in Norwood and Hollywood avenues, on the night of July 3, was committed yesterday to the county jail at Freehold.

McIntyre was brough to Freehold Thursday night by Captain William D. Walling, of the Greenwich, Conn., police. He did not fight extradition, as did Reginald Rhind and Marie Krueger the other members of the trio. The three were indicted Tuesday by the Monmouth Grand Jury, the indictments being handed into court Thursday. An effort will be made for trial next month.

Mrs. Haas, whose jewels were stolen, is a daughter of Isaac Guggenheim and a niece of former United States Senator Simon Guggenheim.

LEGS CAUGHT IN MOWER.

Lakewood, July 12—While mowing a field of grain on his farm, Alexander Conklin, of Whitesville, near Lakewood, was caught in his mowing machine and both his legs were nearly cut off. A piece of wire became enstood in front of the mowing blades to remove it. The horses became frightened and jumped ahead, throwing Conklin, his legs falling among the blades. The horses dragged Conklin 150 yards before a farmhand stopped them. D. W. G. Lawrence, of Lakewood, treated Conklin's wounds. His legs were so badly mutilated that it is feared an amputation may be necessary.

AUTO TRAFFIC AT SHORE.

Asbury Park, July 12.—The heavy auto traffic through this and surrounding resorts on Sundays is shown by a report just made of a count last Sunday. An employe of James A. Bradley, stationed at the Park avenue bridge over Deal Lake, counted 5,482 machines between 7 o'clock in the morning and 7 o'clock at night. Of these 3,067 went north. On this day last year the number of machines passing over the stream was 1,362 less than that.

MONUMENT TO A PIG.

Berlin, July 12.—Luneberg, in Hanover, boasts of having what is probably the most unique monument ever erected to an animal. In the ancient town hall in Luneberg there is a mausoleum containing a costly glass structure. This contains a ham, and is a monument to a pig. There is an inscription engraved upon a marble slab as follows: "Passers-by! Contemplate herein the mortal remains of the pig which won for itself imperishable glory by its discovery of the salt springs of Luneberg."

BELT PARTS, MAN HURLED 30 FEET BY FLYING END

Washington, N. J., July 12.—Struck across the chest and arm by the flying end of a parted engine belt, Ervin De Remer, of Washington, was hurled thirty feet yesterday on the farm, near Port Murray, of Mrs. Robert M. Petty, wife of the former bank president.

De Remer was superintending the threshing of the wheat crop in the field. The separaeor was propelled by a gasoline engine, the belt of which snapped. Despite Mr. De Remer's weight of 225 pounds the end struck him with such force that he was thrown and knocked unconscious.

Mr. De Remer was taken home in his automobile and did not regain consciousness for two hours. In addition to bruises it is feared he is injured internally.

PERSONAL.

Mrs. Mary Bonnell, of Short Hills, has been visiting her brother, Augustus J. Brunson, of Greenbrook road.

Howard Boss, of the First National Bank, is spending his vacation at Asbury Park.

Russell Houston, of the First National Bank, will leave Monday for the seashore, where he will spend his vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. William Newcorn, of West Front street, will leave next Tuesday for Atlantic City, where they will spend the remainder of the summer.

William M. Cunningham, of Rockland, Maine, is visiting his daughter, Mrs. Guy E. Thomas, of Dupont street. Mr. Cunningham is a veteran of the 15th Maine Regiment, and came here after attending the Gettysburg reunion.

PASTOR WILL RETIRE.

Hackettstown, July 12.—Rev. M. P. Julian, pastor of the Vienna Christian church, has informed his congregation that he will retire from the pastorship. His resignation will become effective October 1. This will complete Mr. Julian's year's pastorate of the church, having preached his first sermon in the church as pastor the first Sunday in October last. He came to the local church from South Berne, N. Y., where he was pastor for two years.

ELBERFELD DECLARES LAJOIE HARDEST HITTER

KID ELBERFELD, late of the New York and Washington Americans, now managing Chattanooga, in the Southern league, is the greatest fan in the country, according to the majority of ball players in the big circuit. He eats, sleeps and dreams baseball all the time, off the field and on it. He has also had a very long career on the diamond, and for that reason knows whereof he speaks.

It happened at a Cleveland hotel during one of the series of games Washington was playing in that city. The talk had turned to the hardest hits ever made, and every one was having his say, the "Kid" alone excepted. Finally, when the other players had noticed that he was strangely quiet in a conversation on a theme of which he was as well qualified to speak as any present, they all turned to him with one accord and demanded his opinion. He pondered a second before beginning, then said slowly:

"Well, boys, I've seen ball players come and go, many of them mighty hitters, but when it comes to right down picking the hardest hitter of them all you've got to hand it to the big Frenchman right here in Cleveland. He hit the hardest ball I ever saw hit, and may the saints keep me from ever becoming mixed up with another such drive as he slammed at me several years ago on the hilltop in New York.

"It happened in about the seventh inning of a hotly contested game. Larry had been hitting the ball on the 'pick' all through the game, as he usually does when in New York, and I, from my position at third base, was thankful that none of his drives had come anywhere near my territory.

"In this inning the 'king' was up first, and I recall that I was playing back rather deep at the time. The pitcher, I don't remember now who he was, put one in the 'alley,' and Lajoie took a mighty poke at it. I was bent over with a hand on each knee, and the sound of wood and leather had hardly reached me before I saw that ball come shooting through the air toward me with the speed of a rifle bullet. All I had time to do was to take my hands off my knees and close them between my legs, when the ball reached me, struck fairly in the center of my glove and stuck, but I went on. I went right up into the air and came right down flat on my back on the grass about three feet back of the place where I had been crouching.

"For a moment I was stunned. The first thing I knew the Cleveland coacher was standing over me and demanding to know where I was hurt. But I wasn't, though I was dazed a little by the shock of my fall. I took the ball out of my glove and wrung my hand to see whether I had broken any of the bones in it. Luckily my glove had borne all the shock, though the member felt numb for several hours. Clark Griffith ran out from the 'dugout' and shook me by the hand, while all the other players congratulated me. But, boys," and the "Kid" wagged his head with emphasis, "if I could have got out of the way of that ball I would never have made the catch. That is why I say Larry is the hardest hitter. And I shall believe he is, too, to my dying day."

Slumps Strike Every Team

THE Pirates have not only been affected by the accidents to Catcher Gibson and Hans Wagner this season, but they have been suffering from a batting slump. These periods are not unique. They come to every team every season, and they affect every individual on every team at some period. Sometimes few of the players are affected at the same time, and the effect of the slump is, therefore, not felt so severely. But when five or six of the regulars lose their batting eyes at the same time the result is discouraging while the slump lasts.

A good team which is not hitting may look like an aggregation of genuine dubs against a tailender when the latter bunch is in a batting mood. This has been demonstrated times without number. Any team which is hitting at its best gait and its pitchers going well at the same time is indeed fortunate and is bound to make a good showing.

Criticism has been meted out to the Pirates, much of it undeserved. However, fandom is the same every year, and nothing counts with the average patron but the final score. If a game is lost, it's lost, and that is all there is to it. The facts that hard luck entered into the outcome and that the loser really outplayed the winner do not figure in the estimate of the average patron.

The fans seldom stop to consider that the average ball player couldn't stall along if he wanted to. Baseball is a sport of precipitate action. It requires quick thinking, and the trained player's brain works almost automatically when a certain situation arises. If he is having a slump the harder he tries the worse things pan out, and this very fact often prolongs his slump, because he feels that, no matter what he may try, he cannot regain his stride. The more phlegmatic tossers, the ones who worry the least, recover from their slumps the more quickly.

Should Pitcher Purposely Pass Heavy Batter?

Ty Cobb at Bat---Should the Pitcher Pass Him?

THERE is one battle that baseball fans have never won.

They have forced big league club owners to pay their stars bigger salaries than they thought they could; they have forced them to hire and fire managers; they have forced players and umpires to give them everything possible in the way of quick action and snappy ball games.

But they never yet have forced a pitcher to pitch to a man if he wanted to pass him purposely. Crowds have hissed indignantly; they have howled and threatened to mob the pitcher, but he has thrown four impossible ones to the batter and passed his man.

Passing good hitters purposely when there are men on the bases ahead of them waiting to score has been a thorn in the side of every fan for years. All kinds of schemes have been suggested to make it impossible to do this, but nobody has been smart enough as yet to think up any system whereby pitchers could be forced to pitch to their batters.

Cobb, Jackson, Lajoie, Collins and Baker are the swatters in the American league whose value to their clubs has been diminished most regularly by the refusal of pitchers to put the ball where they can hit it in crises.

Hitting is one of the most enjoyable parts of the game, and it detracts much from the pleasure of a contest to see a couple of men get on only to have a favorite slugger walked on purpose.

Following Cobb, as does Bobby Veach, places a greater burden upon Robert than if he were in any other place in the batting order as far as hitting in a pinch comes. Every time that Tyrus is presented with a duly countersigned pass it means that Veach must hit in the pinch that Cobb escaped.

If the burden bearer makes good the greater is the praise coming to him, but if he falls down there is a feeling of unatonable resentment just as if the umpire had robbed the Tigers of the contest.

Manager Jennings of the Tigers has said that there is no scheme whereby the passing of men purposely could be prohibited. They do it openly now, because it is considered part of baseball. If they were not allowed to do it openly they would do so under cover of wildness.

There is no doubt that the practice robs baseball of a great deal, but what can be done about it?

SLOW BALL MADE PITCHER OF DUBUC

JEAN DUBUC of Detroit attributes his success as an American league pitcher to the fact that he can deliver his curves, his slow ball and his fast ball with three different motions and have control of the ball by each motion.

"Years ago, when I was pitching with Notre Dame college, I learned that speed without control was valueless. I always had pretty fair control of my delivery, but with the acquired knowledge I began perfecting different deliveries and control of the ball in each," says Jean.

"It took years of patient effort to acquire the delivery I now have, but I believe it is one of the least trying on the arm and shoulder muscles, for the reason that I put the weight of my body behind the pitches and do not depend on the strength of my arm to send up a fast ball.

"I worked with my slow ball for three months before I could get a curve to it, and after that it took me three years to perfect the delivery."

Dubuc declares that his delivery would be an ideal one for a left hander, inasmuch as hitting such a ball from a left handed pitcher would be much harder. The ball would come up to the batter on an entirely new angle, and Jean insists that the best batters in the major leagues would be puzzled.

Various persons have been given credit for developing Dubuc, and among those honored is Hugh Jennings. Hugh, however, declares that Dubuc alone is responsible.

"Jean is one of those players who never wastes a moment," says Hugh. "When he is on the bench and another man is pitching the Frenchman is always figuring what he would throw the batter. What is more valuable, he makes his comments aloud, and the young pitchers on the club can gain valuable hints by listening to the sensation of 1912."

JEAN DUBUC, DETROIT AMERICANS' STAR TWIRLER.

SOME FAMOUS FOUR BAGGERS

HANS WAGNER'S four base swat in Pittsburgh which broke the wind shield of an automobile standing outside the grounds.

Chief Wilson's drive which landed 320 feet from the St. Louis Cardinal park home plate.

Gus Williams' drive over the right field wall of the St. Louis American league park. It also was a 320 footer.

Alva Williams' heart breaking homer which sailed over Buddy Ryan's head and won a game for Washington, which the Naps seemed to have sewed up.

"Big Bill" Lange's homer over the center field fence in Cincinnati. It smashed through a plate glass window of a saloon and broke up a pinochle party.

Bud McLean's peculiar wallop made on the coast. The ball went through the only knot hole in a short right field fence.

Jake Stahl's homer at Hot Springs. It sailed over a tree fifty feet from the fence and splashed into a creek.

Billy Alvord's homer at the old Cleveland ball park. It knocked three bricks off a chimney near the fence.

"Home Run" Baker's world series drive that broke Christy Mathewson's heart.

"Red" Ames' four bagger at the Polo grounds. It was one of about four hits he made during the season.

Heinie Zimmerman's two homers made over the left field fence in Cincinnati. He was the only player who ever put the ball over that wall.

Cy Seymour's hit from Boston to New York. The ball fell into a coal car attached to a fast freight and was found by a brakeman when the train reached New York.

Nap Lajoie's drive which stuck in the screen in the old left center subway at league park in Cleveland.

Buddy Ryan's smash over the right field wall at Somers' park with the bases full.

Mike Tiernan's smash over the fence at the old Cleveland park. It's traveling yet.

Frank Baker's crash over the right field wall in Washington off Walter Johnson which made the management decide to enlarge the park.

Miller Huggins' hit in Cincinnati which fell twenty feet behind the right fielder, who lost the ball in the sun and didn't locate it until "Hug" had crossed the plate.

Fred Clarke's circuit swat in the Detroit-Pittsburgh world's series, the hit that shook the Tigers' confidence.

Walter Johnson's drive in Washington. The force of the blow tore the cover off the ball.

Athletics Could Have Used Joe Jackson

IT was undoubtedly a fortunate thing for the American league when Connie Mack allowed Joe Jackson to go to Cleveland. Had the wonderful hitter been retained by Mack the Athletics would have made a runaway race of every flag race during the past three years.

Why Sam Langford Remains In Australia

THE real reason why Sam Langford, the colored heavyweight, is held in Australia, a virtual prisoner, is given in an interview with Hugh McIntosh by T. P. Magilligan of San Francisco. McIntosh has sold out his ring interests to "Snowy" Baker and is in San Francisco on business.

"The black men—Langford, McVey and Johnson—drove me out of business. You see these blacks have absolutely no sense of business, and they have an idea that money flows in Australia like water in America," said McIntosh to Magilligan.

"And they play a peculiar system, the black boys. They always wait until they think they have a promoter in the hole, and then they come along with outrageous demands for more money at the eleventh hour.

"McVey is one of the worst in this respect, but they are all bad. It's nothing at all for one of these black fellows to make a demand for $2,000 or $3,000 a few days before the match, and that, too, after they have signed to fight for a certain amount.

"Langford is a regular baby when it comes to financial matters. One day this black fellow came into my offices in Sydney and borrowed $1,500 off me. Before the night was over he was around for another $500. Naturally enough I could not give him all the money he wanted, and we had a falling out.

"At that," continued Mr. McIntosh, "I will say this for Langford, he is far and away the best heavyweight in the world now. I have tried time and again to get Jack Johnson to meet Langford, but Jack would never accept terms or sign for a meeting with the little black fellow from Boston.

"When I would get Johnson near the point of a match with Langford he would stall me off with some excuse. Finally I made things so hot for Johnson that he admitted to me that Langford was too tough a game to tackle, and he passed the little fellow up.

"A match between Langford and Johnson would have drawn no end of money in Australia. The Australians are great sportsmen, and they patronize boxing liberally. A good man can make a lot of money in my country, and had Johnson boxed Langford in Australia he could easily have carried off $50,000 for his end."

McIntosh admitted that he still has Langford and Joe Woodman tied up in a lawsuit in Australia, and this, he says, is one of the reasons that Langford has not returned to America. At that McIntosh declares that he would not keep Langford in the Antipodes a moment if he could get a settlement out of him.

The former Australian boxing promoter alleges that Joe Woodman is the most natural born spendthrift he has ever met. "That man does not know the value of money," declared McIntosh. "He has got himself involved with a money lender in Australia, and he must settle before he can leave the country. I took over some of his debts and am interested in the suit.

"Woodman is a fiend for the horse racing game. He played the races like a millionaire, and, though he took vast sums of money out of the boxing game, he put it all back in the racing sport, and when he didn't have money of his own he borrowed money to play the races. He is flat broke now."

Here Is the Longest Drive In Baseball

SEVERAL papers have been debating as to the longest hit ever made in any game. Jokes about hits that traveled 4,000 miles, the ball falling on a car bound from Boston to California, are of course in order, but there have been some noble wallops judged by the feet they covered before they lit.

Many of the fattest hits have never been measured, as they passed over fences and were lost to view. Absolutely the longest hit of any kind that many ever saw was made in Chicago, in 1888. The batter was Irvin McDowell, a high school player who could have been a big leaguer if he hadn't been rich and had to attend to business, and the pitcher was Willie McGill, afterward famous in fast company.

That hit—a home run on an open field—traveled on a powerful wind and seemed to gain speed as it traveled. Three throws were needed to take it back into the diamond, and the distance, as paced off by several spectators, was approximately 620 feet.

BOBBY BYRNE ONCE A CATCHER

FEW people know how Bobby Byrne, the Pittsburgh Pirates' little third sacker, broke into the big league. He was originally a catcher, and even in his town lot days in St. Louis, when he weighed from 125 to 130 pounds, he acquired a reputation for gameness through handling the smoky shoots of flingers nearly twice his weight. He did not carry any more avoirdupois when he secured his engagement with Shreveport, La., but he signed up as an infielder and played third for Shreveport most of the time.

Byrne's work at Shreveport attracted the attention of friends of McCloskey, who had the Cardinals, and he sent a scout down to look Bobby over. He had met with an accident which deprived him of the free use of his legs, and he had one finger in a bandage, but it happened that when the scout arrived the Shreveport catcher had a wooden arm and was unable to stop the pilfering of bases by the opposing club. The manager asked Byrne if he felt that he could replace him. Bobby replied that he could not move without suffering excruciating pain, but that his arm was good and he could stop the base stealing. So he was substituted for the catcher who was on the blink.

When the Cardinal scout saw the condition Bobby was in and coupled it up with the excellent game he caught he concluded that Byrne had the stuff in him out of which major league ball players are made, and he signed him. Bobby's subsequent career is familiar to all the followers of the Pirates.

The gameness Bobby displayed at the outset of his career got him a merited promotion, and the gameness he showed will not bring him a demotion. Other players may be made "ball shy" by blows on the head, but not Robert. He figures that it may never occur to him again, but realizes that it may happen in any game he plays. It was the same philosophy which caused him to remark while he was holding out for a higher salary this season that a player's career is short at best and that he owes it to himself to get all the remuneration he can while he is useful.

SINCE there have been National and American leagues only two clubs have twice won world's championships in successive years, the Chicago Cubs, in 1907 and 1908, and the Philadelphia Americans in 1910 and 1911. Chicago beat Detroit, which every National league champion seems able to soak, while the Philadelphians had the task of downing different champions—Chicago in 1910 and New York in 1911.

But it is worthy of note that in virtually every case where a team has gone through the strain of winning the championship in its own race, and then has captured the highest honors of the game, in the succeeding year it undergoes a slump.

BOBBY BYRNE.

This was the experience of the Giants in 1906, after they had overwhelmed the Philadelphia Americans in 1905. The Chicago White Sox, who flashed brilliantly to the fore in 1906 by taking the series from the Cubs, were unable to repeat in 1907, though they were in the race for a good part of the year.

The Cubs swatted Detroit in 1907 and 1908, but then fell down in 1909, permitting the Pirates to capture the pennant. Pittsburgh was able to throw the harpoon in Jennings' men, but then dropped out of the race in 1910.

Connie Mack's great team, after winning brilliantly in 1910 and 1911 from Chicago and New York, was picked by virtually all the critics to be the American league champions in 1912, but failed ignominiously.

Carl Morris Has Boosts For the Fight Managers

"FOUR-FIFTHS of a boxer's equipment is his manager. If he has a good man to direct him and to look after his business affairs he's all right. If he has a man who doesn't know how to do such things he can't make a success in the ring," declared Carl Morris the other day.

"Just look around you at the champions and the successful pugilists of today," continued the Sapulpa engineer. "There's not one of them but has a good manager, and in a lot of instances the manager more than the boxer who has done most of the work. boxer has done most of the work.

"Take little Johnny Kilbane. You've great little man. But likewise he has one of the shrewdest managers in the game, and you've got to give a lot of the credit for Johnny's success to Jimmy Dunn.

"Johnny Coulon is another game little scrapper, and it was his father that developed and managed him until a couple of years ago, when the elder Coulon died.

"And a poor manager can do more harm than an outsider believes possible. Look at the fighters who have died of consumption—Joe Gans and Jim Hall, for notable examples. It was overtraining and pulling down weight that did it. A good manager has to look out for the condition of his charge just as much as directing his business.

"That was a great stunt O'Rourke, Palzer's manager, pulled off out on the coast when McCarty whipped Al. There sat O'Rourke at the ringside with a megaphone, through which he called out directions to Palzer during the fight.

"'Play for his face,' he would shout. 'Rush him to the ropes, now. Take it easy.' Great business. I wonder if O'Rourke didn't get hep to the fact that McCarty had a couple of ears and that his directions helped McCarty more than they did Palzer."

Baseball Managers Have Hard Tasks

THE fan who believes that a baseball manager's duty consists merely in giving orders is away off the track. That is only a small part of the arduous task and one which causes the smallest amount of worry.

On nearly every ball team there is a ball player with a "temperament," as it has in these enlightened days come to be called. In the olden days it was referred to plainly and simply as a "queer streak," but by whatever name it is known such players are difficult to manage.

John McGraw has two or three such individuals on his New York roster, notably among them being Rube Marquard and Arthur Shafer. Charley Dooin has two in Earl Moore and Sherwood Magee. Johnny Evers has at least one in Heinie Zimmerman. Hughey Jennings has his burden to bear in dealing with Tyrus Raymond Cobb.

It usually happens that the "temperament" does not show itself until after the player has acquired more or less of a reputation following one or two superlatively good seasons on the diamond, for the very good reasons that an erratic outburst would not be tolerated for a moment from a mediocre performer.

Evers is having the time of his life trying to keep Zimmerman within bounds. Whether Zim or Evers is most to blame is an open question, but the fact remains that there is friction between them and that it is not doing the Chicago team any good.

McGraw had his troubles with Marquard before the season opened, but the Rube appears to have settled down now. That is well, for Shafer has taken his place as the cut up kid, and McGraw is worried lest some morning he will awake to find that the coast lad has actually embarked for the Pacific slope.

Do the fans know the reason for the outbreaks of these players? Well, the hero worship given players is largely responsible. Some of these fellows, possessing no prize winning amount of gray matter, became rank egotists after the patrons of the sport have fawned upon them for a few months and imagine that they are greater than the club which employs them. They try to prove it by disregarding and disobeying orders, and then comes the showdown.

WHY WALTER JOHNSON IS SUCCESSFUL

WALTER JOHNSON, who does not make it a rule to talk about himself, offers the following explanation of the wonderful form he has shown this year:

"I was born on a farm, and I love the life. A good many ball players don't, but I do. When the baseball season is over I go back to our farm out in Kansas and work on the place right through the winter, just like any of the men. I get enough of the big towns and the bright lights during the summer, and I am glad to get back to the farm and to farm work just as soon as I can. And I always hate to come back east every spring to begin playing baseball again.

"I have often said, and no one has ever disputed me, that I work harder every winter than any other ball player. The result is that in the spring I am just as hard as I was in the fall. Instead of hanging around hotels and poolrooms in some big city, like so many players do, I am out on the farm, getting up every morning before daylight and going out to help feed the stock. Then I come back to the house for breakfast, have a good healthy appetite and eat accordingly. After that there is a lot more work to be done around the place. I put in a good hard day every day in the week and by the time night comes I am ready to turn in early, for I know that the next morning I must get up just as early and start out again, lantern in hand, sometimes with the thermometer way down below zero, for we have it cold out our way lots of the time during the winter. I don't do it so much because I have to as because I like to, and I haven't yet run across any ball player with whom I would swap places during the off season."

WILSON EXPECTS TO AVOID STRIKE

Thinks Railroad Men Will Agree to Arbitrate at Today's Conference.

52 LINES ARE AFFECTED

Both Sides Are Determined, and Employes' Officials Have Fixed Tomorrow For Threatened Tie-Up—Railroad Officials at Washington.

WHAT STRIKE WOULD MEAN TO BOTH SIDES.

TO THE RAILROADS.

Railroads affected, fifty-two, operating 60,000 miles of track in eighteen states, including New England, middle Atlantic states, Michigan, Illinois, Ohio, Kentucky and Indiana.

To gross income, $957,190,000.

Annual payroll of conductors and trainmen on present basis of pay, approximately $85,000,000.

Increase men now ask, $17,000,000.

TO THE EMPLOYEES.

The employees affected, 90,000.

Number voting for strike, 75,734; conductors, 11,808; trainmen, referring to brakemen and flagmen, 60,929.

Number voting against strike, 1,667; conductors, 1,446; trainmen, 1,021.

Their chief demands are 20 per cent wage increase and readjustment of working hours.

Organizations involved, Order of Railroad Conductors and Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen.

Washington, July 14.—President Wilson said this morning that in his opinion the railway men who threaten to strike will agree to arbitration of their differences either under existing conditions or after satisfactory amendment of the Erdman Act. President Wilson privately believes a strike will be averted. The President met the railway officials and employes this afternoon at three o'clock.

In speaking to the Washington correspondents the President said this morning that he did not consider that the personnel of the arbitration board is a matter for either side to become greatly excited about. The President feels certain that justice will be done to both sides.

President W. C. Brown, of the New York Central Railroad, passed through Philadelphia this morning on his way to Washington to take part in the Railroad Labor Conference this afternoon in that city. He was joined by President Rea, of the Pennsylvania Railroad, and at Baltimore where the train bearing Presidents Brown and Rea arrived, it was boarded by President Willard of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad.

New York, July 14.—The committee of 1,000, representing the Order of Railroad Conductors and the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen employed on fifty-two roads east of the Mississippi river and north of the Ohio, yesterday ratified the strike vote taken by both organizations when their demands for an increase of 20 per cent in wages and better working conditions were refused, and a strike tying up the entire eastern section of the country was ordered unless the Erdman act is speedily amended and the roads offer to arbitrate under its provisions.

The railroads were given until tomorrow noon to make any peace offerings they may desire. If no word is heard from the roads by that time it is practically certain that the strike will be called immediately.

The result of the meeting will be formally transmitted to Elisha Lee, chairman of the conference committee of the board of railroad managers. Although the men have voted to strike, such a move may yet be averted if the eastern railroads consent to the arbitration of the questions at issue, as provided for in the Erdman act.

This course was followed by the railroads when demands for more money and changes in working conditions were made by the engine drivers and subsequently by the firemen, when the men got on substantially that for which they asked. Under the Erdman act the arbitration board in such disputes shall consist of three men. The railroads contend that a board of three men is unjust to both sides and that as the third member of the board has the deciding vote it places too much responsibility on him.

Puts It Up to Roads.

As soon as the result of the vote had been made known and the cheering had subsided in the hall, the committeemen left the building rapidly, preparing to leave the city at once. A. B. Garretson, representing the conductors, and W. G. Lee, representing the trainmen, were in high spirits.

"If the railroads persist in their attitude," declared Mr. Garretson, "there will be a strike on the forty-five eastern roads this week."

"Yes," agreed Mr. Lee, "and we know the date on which the strike will be called, as the Eastern association has given us full permission to decide on the date.

"We have asked each man to leave

'KNOCKED OUT' BY TROLLEY CONDUCTOR

Abused by Drunken Passenger Coyne Retaliates With Hard Blow.

While under the influence of liquor, Bertram Stackhouse, who claimed that he was a former railroad employee, engaged in a fight with Thomas F. Coyne, a conductor of a Main Line trolley at Lincoln Saturday night and ended up in Muhlenberg Hospital. Stackhouse, who gave his place of residence as on Lexington avenue, New York, boarded the car at Somerset street, this city, and said that he was going to Trenton. He insisted on yelling at the top of his voice and hurling abuse at the conductor all the way to Lincoln, it is said. When the trolley arrived at that place the conductor, upon the advice of several of the passengers left the car to telephone for the police.

Coyne was followed by Stackhouse nearly to Bound Brook where Coyne was bound to ask for help. While traveling through a dark portion of the road Stackhouse leaped from behind and struck the conductor. Coyne retaliated, catching Stackhouse unawares and a fist fight ensued in which Stackhouse was dealt a knockout blow. Coyne, in the meantime, summoned the police and when they arrived they found the troublemaker unconscious in the road, due partly, it is said, to stimulants he had previously imbibed.

Word was sent to the local police and the patrol wagon was dispatched to get Stackhouse, who was said to be in a serious condition. When examined at Muhlenberg Hospital late Saturday night his injuries were found to consist of two black eyes and contusions. He was taken to police headquarters and lodged in a cell last night upon the request of the hospital authorities who claimed that he was causing another disturbance at that place. The prisoner will be arraigned before Recorder Campbell in Dunellen at 5 o'clock this afternoon. Coyne, the conductor, was held in $200 bail for his appearance at that time.

BLUE SOCK INFECTS WOUND AND CAUSES BOOD POISONING

While on an outing at Lake Hopatcong two weeks ago, Edward Norman of South Plainfield, walked so much during the course of the day that he got a blister on the sole of his foot and owing to an infection caused by a pair of blue socks he wore on that date he is having considerable trouble with his foot as a result. Blood poisoning has set in and Mr. Norman has been confined to his home for the past week although he is slightly improved now.

When he first noticed the blister it had burst and putting a piece of adhesive plaster over it he thought nothing further of the incident until his leg began to swell and he sought the advice of a physician.

PROMISED TO ABSTAIN.

Joseph Reardon and Edward Conkling, arraigned before City Judge DeMeza in the City Court this morning on a charge of being helplessly drunk Saturday night, pleaded guilty and were allowed to go after taking the pledge.

MRS. MENGER IS IN HER 92ND YR.

She Passes 91st Birthday Anniversary Quietly at Daughter's Home.

IS UNUSUALLY ACTIVE

A Great Reader, This Venerable Woman Takes Keen Interest In Current Events—Her Eyesight Is Particularly Good.

Mrs. Eliza Jane Menger quietly celebrated the ninety-first aniversary of her birthday yesterday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Cornelia A. Zabriskie, at 11 West End avenue, with whom she has lived for the past seventeen years. Mrs. Menger is particularly active and hearty for one of her age. She occupies her time mostly in reading and sewing. She is especially fond of reading, and keeps abreast of the times and in touch with current events.

Mrs. Menger yesterday enjoyed a visit from her son, Louis Menger, of New York, and her grandson, Albert Zabriskie, and his wife, spent the afternoon and evening with her. She received a number of congratulatory telegrams, letters and post-cards, all of which she read with great interest. In addition she received many handsome and appropriate gifts from relatives and friends and pleasant reminders of the day.

Mrs. Menger was born in New York, where she spent the greater part of her life. Seventeen years ago she removed to Plainfield, where she has made her home since with her daughter. She has three children, Louis Menger, of New York city; Mrs. Charles Smith, of Sound Beach, Conn., and Mrs. Cornelia A. Zabriskie, of this city; one sister living in New York, five grandchildren and one great-granddaughter.

COLORED BIKE THIEF TRIED TO BREAK JAIL

Detected by Jail Warden After He Had Pried a Brick Loose From Cell Wall.

William Turner, colored, of this city, who was sentenced to a term in the Union County Jail, at Elizabeth, for stealing a bicycle in this city last month, was detected in the midst of an attempt at jail breaking last night before he could complete some carefully laid plans that would have given him his freedom had they been carried out. When the jail warden was making his rounds late last night he noticed some mortar laying in a heap outside of Turner's cell and upon investigation found that the prisoner had pried a brick loose and had a portion of the cell wall scattered around his cell.

Turner had been working diligently for over an hour when detected and had been using a button hook and long mop handle in his work. The cell wall had been loosened in several places and it required only a little more picking to make a hole large enough for Turner to push his body through. One brick had been entirely removed and laid on the cell floor.

When confronted by the prison authorities, who were notified by the warden, Turner slunk in a corner of his cell, refusing to speak. He was removed to another portion of the prison where a careful watch will be kept on his actions. He has previously served a term in State's prison for forgery, having been released on parole last February.

ANNOUNCE THEIR MARRIAGE WHICH TOOK PLACE IN MAY

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Mantz, of Jackson avenue, North Plainfield, received a telegram from their daughter, Dolly, last night, notifying them of her marriage to Thomas Kennedy, of Newark, which took place on Decoration Day in that city. The announcement came as a complete surprise to Mr. and Mrs. Mantz and accounts for their daughter's sudden trip to Syracuse N. Y., last week, where she had gone to join her husband, who is in business in that city.

No further particulars are known concerning the marriage except that the couple will make their future home in Syracuse. The bride is well known in this city and borough, she having attended the North Plainfield public schools.
